1. The Minutes of the Meeting of the Legislative Council held on the 8th of January, 1954, were confirmed.

2. His Excellency the Governor addressed the Council as follows :—

Honourable Members of the Legislative Council :

It is rather more than seven years ago since I arrived in the Colony and as this is the last occasion on which I shall have the privilege of addressing you it is fitting that I should render you an account of my administration, and in the course of that relation I shall take the opportunity of expressing some ideas about the future which, rather than the immediate present, has been the true object of my concern.

AGRICULTURE. You will recall that in 1946 the Department had lost its Director and that it was costing a good deal of money for what had become a quite unremunerative return. That situation has been redressed and expenditure cut to a minimum; the present Agricultural Officer—the term “Director” appeared to me to be inappropriate—ensures that the few, but important, Regulations in force are complied with: he deals with quarantine and administers The Common in the interests of the Dairymen; he also spends a lot of his time on tour in the Camp where I believe that his visits and the practical assistance he is able to give have been welcome. In the process he has acquired a knowledge of the farms and their needs which few can rival and his advice in this respect has been most valuable to me. It cannot be said that these limited functions represent a whole-time job for an energetic officer to whom, indeed, they must at times have appeared both frustrating and disheartening so I was not surprised, albeit genuinely sorry, to hear that he is leaving us. Our loss is the Colony's gain and I have no doubt that Honourable Members will join me in wishing Mr. Oliver every success in the future. I have recommended that on his departure he should be replaced, for a year or so at least, by a Veterinary Officer who will not only be able to satisfy the meat inspection requirements of the Ministry of Food but will be able to look more closely into the question of animal health, which, we must suppose, has some bearing on our very depressing annual losses.

And here I must say something of which I have long been conscious, and that is that the Department is not playing the part that it should do in a Colony dependent entirely upon stockbreeding and the right use of its land: its proper role, surely, is the initiation in close co-operation with the farmers of long-range experiments of a practical order designed to further the fortunes of the industry: with the Freezer in being, though as yet ill-supported, this becomes more than ever important and I have been “thinking on paper” about these matters to the Secretary of State's Agricultural Adviser to whom some helpful suggestions have recently been made by our old friend Professor Davies which will be discussed with the Sheepowners' Association. Here, also, I must record my regret at the decision of the Governor of that day, within six weeks of his arrival in the Colony, to close down the Anson Experimental Farm before its wheels had begun to turn; for the help which such an institution might have afforded to the industry is incalculable.

Farm wages have been greatly enhanced during the past year or so which have also witnessed a timely and desirable attempt by most farms to improve conditions for their workers. I would offer the opinion, myself, that present wages in association with the annual bonus, the cost of living allowance and opportunities for contract work in the winter provide a very fair livelihood and a margin for savings which would be the envy of many another community. But this is no less, surely, than we would wish for it is a hard life and those who follow it deserve to be generously rewarded.

The labour situation none the less gives cause for grave concern and unless steps are taken—and taken very soon—to augment our steadily dwindling labour force, it is quite certain that the efficiency and hence the prosperity of the industry, and in consequence the wellbeing of the rest of the Colony, will be seriously affected. Short-term contracts, too often uncompleted, are no answer to the long-term problem for what is needed is a small but steady annual intake of workers with their families; so only can we build up a population sufficient for our needs. That we should follow the lead of the great Dominions in extending a welcome to dispossessed agricultural workers from other lands would seem to be commonsense for, carefully selected as they would be, such persons make excellent settlers, as history has so often shown, and what is more important they have some incentive to come here. Many of our people, as we all know, had their origins in other lands but their descendants are none the less good Falkland Islanders today and we should not allow narrow prejudice to operate to the Colony's disadvantage. This is not to suggest that we should not continue to make every effort to attract suitable workers from the United Kingdom but let us not lose sight of our real need which is for an increased permanent population.

Before leaving the subject of Agriculture I must mention the importation of Trout Ova and distribution of fingerlings which have been handled by the Department in recent years; the indications are that these good fish are establishing themselves and that they should provide excellent sport and a welcome addition to the table in good time; I have appointed Dr. Hamilton who, more than anyone, was responsible for this innovation to carry out an investigation and I shall await his report with interest. On the same topic, I have little doubt that most Honourable Members share my regret that we were led to abandon my proposal to introduce a professional fisherman with his boat and gear and one day, perhaps, when you have disposed of more important matters you may care to think about this again; medical opinion is solidly in favour of it.

ARMS. The Colony Coat of Arms was somewhat unattractive and a new one was devised and approved in 1948; the present version has the further merit of being more appropriate.

AUDIT. The Colony's accounts were previously audited in England which had certain disadvantages – notably delay – so I asked the Auditor General to second an experienced member of his staff who would examine our system of accounting, find out if and where it was at fault and get it put on the right lines; this he did and that officer was assisted in his task by being called upon to act as Treasurer for some months which was a unique, and possibly wholesome, experience for an Auditor. Mr. Gleadell, a local clerical officer with special aptitudes, was attached to him for training, was later sent to the Central Audit Office and subsequently for further instruction to Gibraltar. On Mr. Boumpfrey's departure this officer was promoted to the post of Local Auditor and has amply justified his selection; we can now reckon on the audit of our accounts being reasonably up-to-date instead of several years in arrears.

CUSTOMS. The work of the Customs Department is necessarily stereotyped and its only variation has been caused by the introduction of sliding scale export tax on wool and oil products which has not, however, added substantially to the Collector's burden. There have also been modest increases in the duty on spirits and tobacco but, generally speaking, the Colony remains blessedly free from Customs imposts which must be a rare and happy circumstance in these days, and is something to reflect upon.

CIVIL SERVICE. New conditions for the local Civil Service were devised in 1948 and were accepted by the majority; their main objects were to remove the disparity of reward between the clerical and technical employments; to put an end to the system whereunder pensionability – by adding to or subtracting from a small list of scheduled posts – lay within the discretion of the Governor; to reduce the number of grades in the service and by providing more generous increments and shortening the incremental range, to give employees an assured position earlier in life; they were further amended, in 1951, to make promotion automatic up to Grade II which I felt to be desirable in so small a Service where vacancies occur infrequently and, finally, to provide additional personal allowances to senior officials after five and ten years respectively at the top of Special Grade. These conditions were undoubtedly a substantial improvement, and at the time were all we could afford, but economic circumstances have also changed substantially since they were introduced, so that a further revision has been undertaken to meet them and to meet future requirements as far as the Government can foresee. These I will not dwell upon as the report of the Commission which I appointed to review them, after the last session of Council, will be considered by Honourable Members later this morning. But I would wish, in passing, to pay a tribute to the Treasurer who was responsible for working out all the details of this revision and its financial implications. His, as I know from personal experience, was no easy task and I know too what a great deal of work and thought he put into it. I must also take the opportunity to express your thanks, and mine, to the Commission for accepting this unenviable responsibility; and particularly to its Chairman, Mr. Bonner, who has come in at some inconvenience in the midst of shearing.

COMMUNICATIONS. One of the Colony's greatest handicaps – perhaps the greatest – has been the poverty of its communications and the feeling of isolation which this imposed, especially for those living in the Camp. Roads were out of the question for there was neither the labour to make nor to maintain them nor, had there been, could their very great cost have been justified. Campers were therefore dependent upon occasional visits of the Company's steamers or even rarer visits by the few cutter boats plying for hire; the only alternative being long hours, or days, in the saddle which during the winter or if in poor health was something of an ordeal. Such isolation was not only productive of much inconvenience for one might be delayed for weeks waiting for transport but in the case of sickness it was responsible for a great deal of anxiety, if nothing worse. My first step, therefore, was to cancel an order that had been placed for an inspection launch, which could never have put her nose outside the harbour, and to bespeak instead an ex-naval Motor Fishing Vessel which would be capable of going anywhere in almost any weather: her single cabin was converted for the carriage of sick persons and although she suffered from teething troubles to begin with after the long voyage out from England she has done some excellent work and should serve you well for many years to come. The cost was met from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund. When I returned from leave last year there was some talk of disposing of her as an economy: I considered this proposal with my advisers and I can only counsel you firmly to reject any such idea for while she was not intended as a commercial proposition – and hence cannot be expected to pay her way – there is no stouter little ship afloat in these waters: she has plenty to occupy herself usefully with on Government account and she will always be available to help the Farms if other small ships should go out of commission which, as we know only too well, they are very apt to do. To dispose of her would be, in my opinion, a very false economy.

My next step was the inauguration of an internal air service through the purchase of two ex-RAF land Austers which were brought out with a Pilot in the "John Biscoe" in 1948 and you will all remember the dramatic first flight to bring in a small girl from North Arm who must surely otherwise have died. In the following year we were able to charter a Norseman float plane and an Auster, similarly equipped, from FIDS and with the erection of a hangar and slipway in 1951 FIGAS really began to get into its stride. We were fortunate with our first pilot but had bad luck with the second and his invaliding put the service out of commission for months, so to guard against any further mischance of this nature I decided to have the Harbour Master trained as a relief Pilot; he was by then in administrative charge of the Communications Department and the intimate knowledge he had acquired of our coasts and the weather around the Islands, in the "Penelope" and "Philomet", would obviously be of use. He passed out of the Training School very creditably, as I anticipated that he would do, and we are now not only insured against having the service put out of action again but are also able to do more flying – as an example, last month no less than 155 passengers were carried and judging by the bookings, it looks as though we will have to stay around this figure if we are to keep pace with the demand. In 1949 I had occasion to visit Canada where I was able to inspect and fly for some hours in the de Havilland Beaver which experience had convinced me that when the Norseman had served her time, here was the obvious replacement; she might have been designed for our needs. We acquired one last year and she has amply confirmed my estimate of her capabilities: 25 miles an hour faster than the Norseman, she uses a third less petrol and her performance and comfort are incomparably superior. Honourable Members will agree that the Air Service has made an immense difference to the Colony and it has been gratifying to note how quickly it has become a part of our way of life, young and old taking to it as to the manner born.

Weather conditions are not of course ideal – anything but, as Honourable Members who have been struggling to get in for the past week know only too well – and there must always be spells when no flying is possible which is, of course, another very good reason for not getting rid of the “Philomel”. Neither service is self supporting – neither can be – but one cannot reckon human life, or health, or relief from anxiety in pounds, shillings and pence. To combine these two activities in a single department was an obvious economy as well as being an entirely logical arrangement and I am sure that the Honourable Member who expressed concern about it at our last meeting did not intend his remark to be taken seriously for I think that nowhere in the world could two such services comprising three aircraft, a coast-wise ship and a launch be run on such a slender establishment: one pilot, one engineer, a mechanic, a handyman, the crews of the two vessels, one clerk and the Harbourmaster who controls and co-ordinates the services and flies, frequently, as relief pilot. When the additional equipment, recently ordered, arrives we shall be undertaking C. of A. maintenance Departmentally just as the “Mert” has been overhauled Departmentally and fitted with a new Diesel engine which should guarantee her at least another twenty years of life. With the additional responsibility of C. of A. maintenance, and if the present demand for passages continues, it may well be that we will need to employ a second mechanic more especially to allow for leave incidence; equally, if the present demand continues the Service will be earning more money and can afford the additional expense. I might add, here, that the combined loss on the two services is a mere fraction of what we would have to pay for the maintenance of all-weather roads.

Looking to the future, I have little doubt that we shall ultimately turn to the Helicopter but they are as yet in limited production, are expensive to buy and expensive and difficult to maintain; nor, until development of this type is further advanced, do I think that it would be capable of competing with our high winds. Meanwhile the Beaver and the Austers do us well enough and there can be no doubt that FIGAS has come to stay.

DEFENCE FORCE. With the departure of Colonel Butler and the unwillingness of others to assume the responsibility, I have had to fall back on the expedient of appointing the Colonial Secretary as Commandant: this is not intended as a permanent arrangement but until we can put our hands on someone with the requisite military experience there seems to be no alternative. I am grateful to Mr. Campbell for assuming this added responsibility. The Ordinance passed at the last Session should go some way toward improving discipline and the proper functioning of the various institutions which the Force has given birth to. Its principal merit, perhaps, though not its raison d'être, is the stimulus which it continues to give to rifle-shooting for which there is still much enthusiasm and continued high performance; I wish that it were possible to send a truly representative team to Bisley where I have no doubt that it would acquit itself as creditably as any in the past.

EDUCATION. In 1947 I appointed a Committee to study the Colony's educational needs and the conclusions which it reached still form the basis of the Government's policy. The standard of education in the Stanley schools has improved as, I am glad to say, has the standard of discipline which had been deplorable; there is still room for improvement which is not, however, to be looked for until more parents appreciate that discipline must also be inculcated in the home. We need to remind ourselves of the old warning that “as the twig is bent so will the tree grow” for much of the irresponsible behaviour by adolescents, of which their elders complain, can be ascribed to their own shortcomings as parents.

I cannot report any improvement in Camp education and the experiment of introducing a Teacher Trainer failed on account of the poverty of the material she had to work upon and the dearth of interest among young people in teaching as a career. We have at least succeeded in improving the standard of efficiency of those who do adopt it as they are not now accepted until they have completed two years in Continuation Class, followed by two years as a pupil teacher; hitherto it had been, more often than not, a case of the blind leading the blind. I am hopeful that a solution to the Camp problem will lie in the projected boarding school at Darwin in which the Government is co-operating with the Falkland Islands Company; if it proves a success there will clearly be a demand for a similar institution on the West. Meanwhile the Government has expressed its willingness to contribute to the maintenance of Teacher/Storekeepers, where they can be suitably employed, and several Farms, notably Port Howard, have provided excellent schoolroom accommodation.

The new arrangement whereunder Scholarship children are admitted for secondary education to schools in Dorset marks a definite advance and the children have made a good impression; I suggest that there is much advantage in forging a permanent link of this nature and I hope that as the years go by some of these young people will return to us and, in due season, attain to positions of responsibility in the Colony.

I regret that the junior pupils in Stanley, and their teachers, should still be working in such squalid surroundings but their new school should be ready for occupation in the winter and when completed will stand comparison with any; it has cost a great deal more than the original estimate which was however prepared in 1947 when materials, equipment, freight and labour were all much less expensive. Its completion will leave the Senior School with room to re-organise its accommodation and plans have been laid for its general refurbishing; it is, at present, altogether too dark and depressing.

Attendance at evening classes, held during the winter, has been uniformly disappointing and this is regrettable in a community in which schooling for the majority ends at age 14; attendance has been made obligatory for recruits to the Government Service, up to the age of 18.

There is little enough in the way of organised recreational activities outside school hours, with the notable exception of the Boys' Brigade which continues to flourish since its inauguration by Captain D. McCubbing during the war and I am very happy to know that through the generous support of the public it will be possible to send representatives to the National Camp in June. I am glad to hear, also, of the formation of a Girls' Section and hope that it will prove equally successful – it is badly needed.

FIREARMS. The registration and licensing of Firearms was found to be extremely lax; this has been regularised and appropriate legislation enacted.

HOUSING AND OFFICE ACCOMMODATION. Two new quarters have been built and two purchased; Government properties are undergoing a systematic process of redecoration and repair to catch up with the inevitable arrears of maintenance brought about by the War, but labour shortage has hampered this programme. Suggestions have been made, from time to time, that Government House should be pulled down and replaced by a new building; having lived in it for seven years, I must advise most strongly against this for the house has a pleasant atmosphere and, as now arranged, is suitable and convenient. It needs re-roofing along with other Government buildings in Stanley and would be greatly improved by the provision of a suite of rooms over the north-east corner, for which plans are on the file; the present bedroom accommodation is very inadequate and has prevented me from entertaining visiting farmers and their wives and families as I and Lady Clifford would have wished to do. A modern heating system is also badly needed and would pay for itself in a year or so as the present system is not only inefficient but grossly extravagant in fuel. The improvements I have proposed may cost as much as £6,000; a new Government House as much as £20,000.

The Secretariat has been much improved by the addition of a second floor and a permanent building has been made available for the Public Works Department. The Harbour Master has been given a new office at the head of the Government Jetty from which he can keep an eye on both Harbour and Air Service activities; the building includes a warehouse for the safe-custody of goods arriving in, or for shipment by, the "Philomel" and a crane has been provided for their convenient handling. Both building and crane were obtained at very small cost from Admiralty surplus.

INDUSTRY. The British American Kelp Company, in 1947, conducted a small-scale investigation into the possibility of processing the Macrocystis which grows so abundantly around these Islands. They were offered generous conditions and every possible assistance by the Government but abandoned the project owing to the high cost of capital equipment, the difficulty of obtaining and housing the necessary labour and the cost and uncertainties of shipping the product. I hope that it may one day be revived.

A sealing company was established at Albemarle by the Colonial Development Corporation in 1948, against my advice, and has since been wound up. A more hopeful proposition has been made to us recently by whaling interests in South Georgia and is under active consideration; if it should materialise I think it quite possible that a small whaling venture might develop from it which would be a good thing indeed.

The Colonial Development Corporation's freezer at Ajax Bay went into limited production last year and, as was to be expected, various difficulties were encountered which should however be readily overcome; certain capital improvements including, particularly, a suitable jetty to facilitate loading are still required and the loan authorised by Council at the last Session should ensure their provision. That the day-to-day supervision of its affairs should be in the hands of local Directors who are all practical men was decided upon at my request and is a matter for satisfaction. There can be no doubt at all that if this venture is supported by the Farms with determination and adequate planning it will be a great help to them when, as is inevitable, wool prices decline. As I have said so often before, to be wholly dependent upon one product is never a comfortable position to find oneself in and especially is this so when that product is threatened by artificial substitutes; there is no substitute for meat and no likelihood, in our time, that supply will overtake demand. The wool market is all too susceptible.

I see no prospect of any other form of commercial or industrial development here; in view of the doubts as to the presence of mineral oil which had been left unresolved by the Baker Report I thought it well to have the critical area re-examined by Dr. Adie, the F.I.D.S. geologist, who has stated categorically that there is no likelihood of oil being found here and that it would be waste of money to look. This was also the opinion of an American geophysicist at Punta Arenas with whom I discussed the possibility. The inference to be drawn from all this is that we should make quite sure of the only alternative open to us – MEAT.

LAWS. As no edition of the laws had been produced since 1915, a solicitor with drafting experience was appointed as Legal Secretary in 1947 with this as his principal task; a final revision was undertaken in England by Sir Henry Webb, a former Chief Justice in the Colonial Service, and the new edition was published in 1951.

LEGAL. On the completion of this task, the retention of a Legal Secretary did not appear to me to be justified and with the Secretary of State's approval Sir Henry Webb was appointed to undertake these duties in absentia; correspondence can be conducted at need by telegram and the arrangement has worked satisfactorily. Since then, too, the Colonial Secretary has discharged the functions of Magistrate and so long as the office of Colonial Secretary is filled by secondment from the Administrative Service, which ensures that its holder has had instruction in and almost certainly experience of magisterial duties, this should be adequate; there is not sufficient work to justify the cost of a whole-time appointment.

A number of Ordinances have been enacted to improve the administration of justice, and the appointment in April, 1951, of a Public Trustee, whose services are freely available should be of benefit. These duties are discharged by the Registrar of the Supreme Court, a post formerly filled by recruitment from overseas but now occupied by a local officer, Mr. Bennett. He is competent to advise on the drawing of wills and if so consulted the Court and potential legatees are likely to be spared an infinity of trouble – leading, perhaps, to bad feeling within families. The employment of legal phraseology by those who draft their own wills, without appreciating the implications of the terms they use, can be productive of much confusion which with the passage of time it is often impossible for the Court to repair. As Judge here for the past seven years I can speak with some feeling on this matter.

MEDICAL. One of the most important contributions the Government can make to the well-being of the people lies in its care for the sick and suffering and that we have made such marked progress in this field must surely be cause for satisfaction. The King Edward VII Memorial Hospital, completed in 1915, had served its purpose well enough but was so poorly designed as not to allow of the proper segregation of the different types of case we have to deal with and it lacked the amenities and conveniences, normally provided, which make for the comfort of the patient and ease the labours of the staff. There was, for instance, only one bath for everyone; the Nurses and Maids had all to live out while stores were kept in a dust-ridden loft approached by a vertical ladder through a hole in the ceiling.

Proposed plans for a new Hospital had been rejected by the Secretary of State's Adviser shortly before my arrival so that all was to do again; the new plan, duly approved, comprised medical, surgical and maternity wards; a children's ward; private rooms; theatre and X-Ray block; a ray therapy room; laboratory, dispensary and out-patients' department; S.M.O.'s office; a dental surgery and workshop; a self-contained flat for the Matron; dining room and sitting room for the nurses; an all-electric kitchen – which I added later – bulk and ready-use storage and a laundry. This new wing, which Sir Winston Churchill honoured us by lending his name to, was opened on May 23rd, 1953, the Dental block having been in operation during the previous year; some work, mostly exterior, remains to be done and Admiralty Cottage has still to be enlarged and adapted as a Nurses' Home. The old hospital building was in a dilapidated and, indeed, precarious state and upon examination it was found that the foundations were completely rotten: they have been renewed throughout, in brick and concrete, and the rooms redecorated and adapted for T.B. accommodation while two revolving chalets have been erected to the north of the solarium which will enable those patients who need it to enjoy open-air treatment. The Hospital and Dental Surgery have been re-equipped with all they need, including modern X-Ray plant and other necessary apparatus, and the institution as a whole should meet all foreseeable needs.

Staff difficulties have been acute from time to time as Honourable Members are aware but, by general consent, we are blessed with as able and as devoted a body of doctors and nurses as we could wish to find. I have been greatly disappointed by the lack of interest in nursing displayed by the younger generation but am still unwilling to believe that local girls are completely indifferent to the urgent call which has been addressed to them: it is true that nursing demands a good deal of self-sacrifice and, of necessity, a high standard of discipline but these ought not to act as a deterrent when it is one's own kith and kin who are needing help. If it demands sacrifices there is, on the other hand, no calling which can offer the same personal satisfaction and as I have said before it will be no credit to us as a community if we are compelled to recruit unskilled assistance in the United Kingdom or elsewhere.

And here I would remind you that some years ago I suggested in Council that the incidence of T.B. was higher here than it should be in a rural population and that it required our urgent attention; a comment which was not, I believe, generally accepted at the time. We were able, last year, to recruit a chest specialist from Western Germany and the intention is that he should make a complete survey of the Colony. Residents in Stanley, and such Camp visitors as have been able to spare the time, have responded wonderfully and Dr. Richter has already examined more than 1,000 persons; he has also vaccinated 97% of the children attending school who needed this protection. His preliminary report has amply justified his engagement and the indications are that the T.B. wing will be full for some years to come; but there is equally no doubt that if the presence of the disease can be discovered in sufficient time there is every possibility of alleviation and ultimate cure and it is certain, also, that we can do much to circumvent its spread. As soon as he has finished in Stanley it is intended that Dr. Richter shall visit the Camp settlements and I urge all concerned to co-operate so that he is quite certain of being able to examine everybody. To facilitate his work and to make it easier for individuals to present themselves for examination, the "Philomet" is being adapted as a travelling X-Ray laboratory which provides yet another example of her usefulness.

Successful treatment of this disease entails, almost always, a longish period in Hospital under proper care which where a bread-winner is concerned may mean hardship for his family and anxiety for himself; as such financial anxiety is a notable deterrent to recovery. I have appointed a Committee to study ways and means of assisting persons so afflicted and have accepted its recommendations which will be published shortly. Treatment is free. This, in my view, has been a most important step and one which will confer far-reaching benefits on the Colony.

To assist persons in Stanley who may be bed-ridden at home but who are not ill enough for admission to Hospital, a District Nurse was appointed in 1952 and this innovation has been as useful to the Doctors as, I am well aware, it has been gratefully received by the Community.

Medical work in the Camp has been greatly facilitated by our improved communications, and with the issue of standard medical chests to Farm Managers, minor ills and injuries can now often be treated over the R/T.

The backlog of necessary dental attention in the Camp, especially amongst children, was very serious indeed and to deal with this a travelling Dentist was recruited in 1952, an appointment which it is proposed to continue until the leeway has been made up; for there are few greater menaces to good health than bad teeth. Incidentally, parents could help a lot by discouraging the present tendency towards over-indulgence in sweets.

A remaining step which we ought to take, when we can, is a detailed investigation into the cause of the recurrent gastro-enteritis – known locally as THE sickness – which seems to afflict us all at one time or another; I retained a F.I.D.S. doctor for this purpose in 1951 but unfortunately his secondment coincided, as it would do, with an unusual period of freedom from this ailment.

METEOROLOGICAL. The Meteorological Service, which came into being in 1950, is primarily concerned with the operation of stations in our Antarctic Dependencies and with the provision of forecasts for the whaling fleets operating in those waters. Hence, although its Headquarters is in Stanley, the service is constituted as an integral part of F.I.D.S. and almost the whole of its cost is borne on the Dependencies budget.

However, the presence of technical staff in Stanley provides an excellent opportunity of rendering a useful service to the Colony at very modest cost. Five voluntary observing stations are maintained – at Goose Green, Pebble Island, Fox Bay, West Point and until recently at Port Stephens and I would like to express my appreciation to the observers at those stations who undertake this duty for a nominal remuneration. Their reports form the basis of local forecasts and for briefing the Air Service while in due course they will provide the material for a climatological study of the Islands.

NAVIGATION. In the interest of safe navigation, and with the advice of Trinity House, new coastal lights are to be installed at Cape Carysfort, Cape Dolphin, Ajax Bay and Fox Bay; they will be maintained by the "Philomele" supplemented, when available, by the R.R.S. "John Biscoe". To ease the growing maintenance problem, it is proposed to replace the gas-operated lights at The Narrows and at Blanco Bay by simple, battery-operated winker lights and a similar type is to be installed at Fox Bay.

POLICE AND PRISON. I have no comment other than to remark, as my predecessors have done, upon the lack of support afforded by the public in the prevention and detection of offences which makes it very difficult for the Police to carry out their duties effectively. Serious crime, happily, is almost non-existent but there are repeated incidents of hooliganism which have a considerable nuisance value and there is also too much petty thieving in a small community which was at one time renowned for its honesty. Until public opinion is better educated in this regard, there can be no prospect of amelioration.

The Prison is in sad need of improvement, particularly to the women's quarters, but the building is very rarely occupied and must needs await the completion of more urgent tasks.

POSTS AND TELEGRAPHS. The Posts and Telegraphs Department was established under Mr. Mercer as Superintendent, in 1950, and as the term implies is responsible for all postal and telegraphic communications within the Colony and Dependencies and with the outside world; and as our communications are dependent on Wireless, it is responsible also for the technical and operative aspects of Broadcasting. A new and up-to-date Post Office has been provided, equipped with such labour-saving devices as are necessary, and with private letter boxes which have proved popular. Postal traffic has grown substantially in recent years, especially Air Mail and parcels post which latter medium is increasingly patronised by shopkeepers.

In 1946 the Wireless Station at the Head of the Bay was still being operated by the Navy with an establishment of about seventy ratings having been taken over from the Administration on the outbreak of war when it was greatly enlarged, most of our equipment being scrapped in the process. In August, 1947, I was informed that the Navy proposed to pull out in the following January and since I could not contemplate running this much more elaborate organisation, some three and a half miles from Stanley, with a handful of civilian operators I decided to build a new station nearer to hand. It was improvised out of two old Army huts, equipment was borrowed from the Admiralty – to whom as in so many ways we are so much indebted – and I was able to acquire two diesel generators at very small cost to provide the power. The new "VPC" went into operation on 16th April, 1948, and there has never been a day's failure. The installation has since been greatly improved, for with the completion of the new Power House we were able to switch over to mains supply while the Old Power House was dismantled and re-erected at the station to provide additional accommodation; equipment of the most modern type has been introduced, including automatic sending and receiving gear and Adastral rhombic aerials. The station has cost a fraction of its true value and should meet the Colony's needs for years to come. A new Wireless Station is also in process of installation at Fox Bay to serve the West Falkland and is being similarly re-equipped.

To improve communications with the Camp I appointed a Committee, in 1947, to advise on suitable characteristics for a standard Radio Telephone set; manufacture was put out to tender in England and sets and masts have been provided free to all Settlements, including the outlying Islands. The sets, which depend on wind-chargers and batteries, operate on two frequencies – one for daily intercourse with the Stanley Broadcasting Studio, and so at need with the Medical Department, and the other for inter-settlement communications. I think that no measure has done more to abolish the former feeling of isolation under which Camp residents have suffered so acutely in the past and, combined with the Air Service, it has already saved a number of lives.

The Stanley telephone service also comes under the Posts and Telegraphs Department; it leaves a good deal to be desired, particularly in regard to the absence of an efficient service at night, and I have recommended that further consideration be given to my earlier proposal for the installation of an automatic exchange, which I am convinced is not only practicable but would, in the long run, prove an economy.

PRINTING. The Government Press is a sub-Department of the Secretariat and the Head Printer's meticulous work has been turned out year after year on the most antiquated hand machines; he has now been provided with a power-driven Wharfedale Press which with a mechanised guillotine expected shortly should ease his task considerably. The printing shop is to be re-arranged within, to make for easier working; it is also to be re-decorated, an experience which has not come its way for the past twenty years, I believe.

PUBLIC UTILITIES. The most important development under this heading has been the new Power Station made possible by the acquisition, in 1947, of three 150 kilowatt Blackstone diesel generators which I was able to obtain from the Admiralty with the assistance of a grant from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund. At about the same time I was also able to recruit a young diesel mechanic-cum-electrician from F.I.D.S. who was sent to Blackstones for a course of instruction; he returned here to direct and supervise the erection of the new plant and transformers, the laying of the overhead power lines, installation of meters and the extensive re-wiring entailed. This was a first class job of work and I am happy to inform Honourable Members that Mr. Gutteridge, who left here last year on the completion of his contract and took up employment in Uganda, will be returning to us in the very near future. I should add that, as in the case of "VPC", this up-to-date installation has cost us a fraction of its true value and that £10,715 of that cost was met by the C.D.W. grant.

The use of electric labour-saving devices is increasing – consumption has more than doubled since 1951 – and with the growing demands by Government Departments, the Falkland Islands Company and the Town Council it is clear that the existing supply will be inadequate; this had been foreseen during the planning stage and an additional 75 kilowatt unit awaits installation – I have little doubt that we shall need yet another. The most urgent need is to bring down the unit cost of electricity and this we hope to do by buying oil in bulk through the Admiralty who have generously promised their co-operation; we have a 300 ton tank – representing, roughly, a year's supply – awaiting erection and propose to instal a second, and the necessary pump and pipe-line have been obtained. The present system of obtaining oil in drums from Montevideo is altogether uneconomical and unsatisfactory and should be discontinued at the earliest possible moment. With electric power available at a more reasonable rate, the lot of the Stanley housewife should be a good deal easier; some revision of the tariff will, I think, be necessary.

There is a possibility that additional power could be obtained from wind generation in which field of research we are co-operating with the British Electrical and Allied Industries Research Association. This method appears to offer the greatest promise when used in supplementation of some other system and the records we are making at Sappers Hill should be of considerable interest.

When the new Wireless Station is installed at Fox Bay opportunity will be taken to provide electric light to the houses in the settlement.

WATER. The Stanley water supply comes in for a good deal of well-merited criticism as regards both its quality and quantity and I arranged, therefore, to have this problem investigated professionally: the engineer so employed, Major Pape, produced a most helpful report and it is intended to put his recommendations into effect as soon as possible. On the completion of this undertaking, Stanley will have both an ample and a clear supply; this in turn will enable us to bring about a much needed improvement in the sanitation of the Town.

JETTIES. Provision has been made for the repair of the Government Jetty and the Public Jetty, with the assistance of a grant from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund; the first of these has already been completed under contract and the second is to be undertaken by the same contractor during the coming winter – safety rails will be provided to guard against such accidents as have happened in the past and a watermain will be incorporated for the convenience of ships. The jetty at Fox Bay East has been extended to enable the "Fitzroy" to berth alongside, the greater part of the cost being met by Government.

PEAT. The peat situation threatens to get more and more difficult with the steady decrease in the number of available cutters. To go some way towards meeting this problem, the Government has invested in a peat-winning machine and proposes also to share with the Falkland Islands Company the cost of getting out a peat expert to advise us on the best use of our bogs. As the usual wild stories are circulating about the peat machine, which we have thus far only toyed with, let me say at once that there is not the least doubt that it will do all that is claimed for it but that we must first devise some means of removing the top layer of matted grass, pig-vine and, more particularly, diddle-dee; this can be quite readily removed by a bulldozer with blade attachment which we will need, in any case, for the road programme. We have decided to substitute Rayburn cookers in all Government quarters for the time-honoured, but greedy, "Stanley" range which will lead to a considerable saving of peat and also make life a lot easier for the housewife.

PUBLIC WORKS. I have little to say about this Department other than, metaphorically, to take off my hat to its members for disposing of such a multiplicity and variety of tasks under conditions more difficult than any in my experience. When I consider the shortage of labour, both skilled and unskilled, the lack of mechanised plant to offset this disadvantage – I well remember the foundations at the Wireless Station and at the Power House being pecked out with a hammer and cold chisel and a crowbar – and recall the delays in obtaining essential supplies, delays which were often aggravated by breakages and pilferage en route, their achievement is the more remarkable; and still more remarkable if one considers the continuous demands on the Department for maintenance which had got so sadly in arrears during and immediately after the War and, on top of all this, the annual drain of peat cutting which coincides with the best time of the year for building. I think, sometimes, that the public while very ready to criticise gives them little enough credit.

A minimum number of skilled artisans have been recruited on contract to assist with the development programme and each of these has been required to train an apprentice, whenever applicants could be found, with the object of increasing the cadre of skilled workers in the Colony: there has been a reluctance to enter apprenticeship in plumbing and painting which is unfortunate since both are very necessary trades here and the first is likely to become increasingly important.

I have endeavoured to lighten the Departmental load by relieving the P.W.D. of responsibility for Harbour activities which it was, in any case, quite incompetent to handle – and by the provision of mechanised plant: the projected re-organisation of the P.W.D. yard and concentration of its stores, which are at present scattered all over the Town, will also help.

Construction work tackled by the Department during the period of my review includes the addition of a second storey to the Secretariat, a new Town Hall, new Wireless Station, new Power House, Hangar and Slipway for the Air Service, office accommodation at Government House, the Churchill wing, extensive repairs to the old Hospital building including accommodation for the domestic staff, the new Junior School and three new Government quarters; many minor works have been undertaken, in addition.

In building construction we have made extensive use of block-work and cavity walls and in every case, as the foundations rest on peat, there is subsequent settlement and cracks develop here and there in the fabric but these cease as soon as the settling process is completed, it then being only necessary to grout the few cracks with cement. While I am satisfied that the traditional timber built structure is, in the end, best suited for local conditions it is more expensive to maintain and where it has to house large numbers of persons such as in a Hospital or other public building one has to reckon with fire risk which, with our high prevailing wind, is a very serious risk; the loss of our Town Hall, through someone's carelessness with a cigarette-end, is still fresh in the memory of most of you.

ROADS. The Stanley roads were ruined by heavy military vehicles during the war; they were never designed for such traffic or, indeed, for the number of heavy lorries in operation since the war. They have, in consequence, steadily deteriorated and there has been criticism in some quarters because we have done nothing about them. For that, I accept full responsibility; I have had a great deal of experience of making roads in my time and realised that to tinker with them, which was all that we could do, was utterly useless and a complete waste of money; we had not the labour to rebuild them and it is that and nothing less that is required, but there were other and far more urgent commitments. It will be a major undertaking for hand in hand with it must go the tasks of paving, realignment of the road trace, storm drainage, sewerage and the laying of power cables and water mains. At the last meeting of Council we confirmed our intention to treat this and the new Water Supply system as a "combined operation" for which we would recruit an Engineer and the necessary labour force, and these arrangements are now in train. I have asked that the Engineer should be sent out as quickly as possible to make his preliminary reconnaissance and prepare the estimates on which to base our financial provision, which Honourable Members also approved in principle at that meeting. Some part of the cost may be met from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds, part I would suggest by loan and the balance can, I hope, be found from revenue.

The programme is intended to include all the Town roads and – purely as an amenity – to continue the main road west as far as the Head of the Bay and east to the beach at Rookery Bay; it should also, I suggest, provide one or two tracks to the peat bogs and include service roads to the Wireless Station and Power House. At a guess, provided that a good, hard-working labour force is obtainable it should be possible to complete the programme within four years; meanwhile, motor licence fees have been suspended and will presumably be proportionately restored as the work progresses.

As to roads in the Camp, I can only repeat that I do not regard this as a practical proposition; where adjoining Farms choose to make a communicating track for Jeep-type vehicles, it might be reasonable to seek Government assistance for the construction of light bridging or culverting.

SOCIAL AMENITIES. TOWN HALL. The old Town Hall, a handsome double-storied timber building which had been the hub of the Colony's social life, was completely destroyed by fire in 1944. On my arrival I found that plans had been prepared for a replacement but they were too ambitious so two alternative designs were produced for final acceptance at a public meeting. The new building, in concrete block, was opened on 20th May, 1950, and comprises a fine dance-hall with stage and dressing rooms, restaurant and cloak-rooms upstairs and, below, a Post Office, Town Clerk's Office, Library and Reading Room, Museum and Council Chamber in which the Supreme Court also sits. The new building was financed in part by the insurance on the old, with the balance as a free gift from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund. Mahogany panelling for the Council chamber, still to be installed, came as a gift from the Nigerian Government and a very handsome clock from The Falkland Islands Company, while the British Council have given generous assistance in replacing the library most, if not all, of which was destroyed in the fire. The Town Hall was opened before it was really complete and some re-decoration, both internal and external, remains to be done: aesthetically it is less attractive than its predecessor but it gives a deal of pleasure, meets an urgent need and has the great advantage over the old building that it will not burn down.

CINEMA. Several Farms having invested in 16mm projectors, and Mr. Hardy having switched over to this size, the Government has established a central film library from which programmes are provided at cost to exhibitors; the films are obtained from J. Arthur Rank and from the Central Office of Information. This works out much more cheaply than any arrangements which they could make for themselves and while it may be argued that Government should not go into the film business, one must remember that no charge is made by the Farms who provide this as a free and much-valued amenity for their workers; I hope that more of them will be encouraged to do so. In Stanley, Mr. Hardy has sunk a lot of money in his new equipment and as I am satisfied that it will take him a long time to get it back again I supported his request to be allowed to exhibit in the Town Hall and the Government has also met the cost of incorporating a projection box at the back of the stage; his patrons are now able to enjoy their cinema shows in comfort.

BROADCASTING. Local broadcasting has depended, hitherto, on old low-power equipment taken over from the Army and although it has done yeoman work it has had its day and the standard of reception is, on the whole, poor, particularly in the Camp. A grant of £10,000 was made from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund Reserve and this has enabled us to obtain a modern 5 kw. medium wave transmitter which has now been erected up at the Wireless Station; the Government has contributed a further £12,700 for the purchase of ancillary equipment – including masts which are an expensive item – and for the replacement of the local re-diffusion system; standard receivers will be available to the public for a modest monthly rental. With the new Transmitter in view, opportunity was taken to purchase the old Roman Catholic gymnasium which with the necessary adaption, now in hand, will serve admirably as a Studio and there is every reason to hope that long before the winter sets in both the Camp and Stanley will be enjoying much better reception. Honourable Members concurred in my proposal at the last Session that we should get a G.P.O. engineer out to supervise the final details of the installation and I am glad to report that Mr. Hatfield, who surveyed and assembled all this equipment in England before it was shipped, has been kindly seconded to us by the Postmaster General. I have suggested that when his work in Stanley is done he should pay a brief visit to both East and West Falkland to check up on reception there; he is due here next month and I am sure that we will find his visit most helpful in many ways.

A Broadcasting Committee was set up in November, 1950, with the object of improving the standard of programmes and Mr. McNaughton was appointed as Director; there is, I suggest, no doubt that this Committee has done a good job and I am most grateful to them. Their work carries its own reward in the pleasure that it gives, especially in the Camp where there is so little else in the way of entertainment; and by placing their help at the disposal of this Committee, Stanley residents can do much for their friends and relatives in the Settlements.

A Henschreiber wireless teleprinter was presented to us some considerable time ago by Reuters and now that we have somewhere to instal it we hope to have it in operation soon; this will be of considerable help if we can persuade some public-minded citizen to start a local newspaper again – there is a definite demand for one.

A new and welcome amenity is the Squash Court, presented by the Falkland Islands Company as part of its Centenary benefactions, for it is a game which the younger Falkland Islander should take to very readily.

I had noted, as something for the future, the conversion of the Gymnasium into a Swimming Bath and suggest that you should bear this in mind – for deaths from drowning are all too frequent and most of them could be averted with a quite modest proficiency in swimming; as so many of our people are compelled to spend much of their time in small boats, and on jetties, it would seem only prudent to give young folk the opportunity of learning to swim. The open sea is much too cold for most of us to learn in, and a Swimming Bath is the only alternative; incidentally, it would provide yet another welcome, and very healthy, pastime. It might be possible to consider this on the completion of the roads and water supply programme, using part of the same labour force.

SOCIAL SECURITY. I found very little here that could be properly included under this heading apart from a Provident Fund operated by the Government and some Farms which, however, failed of its intention since it could be drawn upon and squandered whenever a contributor left his employment.

As it was very early apparent to me that the married man with children was at a disadvantage in the rising costs which had set in with the end of the War, I proposed, and you approved, the introduction of a non-contributory family allowance approximating to that in force in the United Kingdom and I have no doubt that it has been of considerable help; in only one or two cases has it been apparent that the money is not being used for the purpose for which it was intended and it must be clearly understood that authority vests in the Government to withhold the allowance in such cases and to take steps, itself, to ensure that it is applied directly to the needs of the children.

The next steps were to improve basic wages which had stood still since long before the War, and to introduce a sliding scale percentage award to compensate for fluctuations in the cost of living. But my principal concern was the lack of any real provision for old age which was forcing workers to continue in employment long after they were physically fit to do so. In July, 1952, therefore, an Ordinance was introduced to provide for the payment of pensions to all male persons resident in the Colony on attaining the age of 65, on the scale of £1 a week for a bachelor or widower and 30/- a week for a married man, whose widow would receive 10/- a week. The pension is secured by a weekly tax of 2/- on every employee, of 3/- on his employer (including the Government, of course) and of 5/- for every self-employed man within the permitted age limits; provision being made for men who had passed the ages of 50 when the Ordinance came into force to buy themselves in on very favourable terms. The revenue so derived is separately funded and a quinquennial review by the Government Actuary in the United Kingdom which the Ordinance requires will ensure that the scheme is kept on the right lines. This, I suggest, is one of the most beneficial measures that the House has authorised and one for which the public will have long cause to be grateful.

With so much money about these days, and a good deal of it being spent on somewhat frivolous objects, I would urge more widespread support of the Stanley Benefit Club which was established some 25 years ago; it is a most useful institution to which every worker should belong, for the benefits furnished by the Club however small provide present help in time of trouble and cater for circumstances for which the Government cannot possibly provide. With a membership of, say, three times the size, it would obviously afford more generous benefits.

FINANCE. I must not forestall the Treasurer who will shortly be introducing the Budget and will confine myself, therefore, to a very brief comment.

When I arrived in Stanley, just in time for my first Budget Session, the Colony's finances were in a distinctly depressed condition; I was confronted with a deficit for the ensuing year amounting to some £24,000 and the future prospect looked altogether gloomy. I anticipate that the current financial year will close with a Surplus of £17,000 and we are again budgeting for a Surplus next year after investment from revenue of £50,000 in the Freezer. If wool stays above 50 pence, then there will be a sum of £50,000 available from revenue for Development needs and if it should fall to 40 pence, the sum of £30,000 so that until it falls below that figure a substantial part of the Roads and Water Supply programme can be financed – as it should be, in accordance with our policy – from revenue.

Our Reserve Fund, in 1946, stood at £258,000 while at the end of this year – despite the steeply rising costs of materials, freight and wages and money devoted to development – we expect that they will be not less than £729,000. This is a very different picture, is it not? But let us not forget that the primary object of building up this Reserve is to tide us over difficult times when they come – as come they will.

CONSTITUTION. I turn, finally, to the changes which have taken place in our Constitution. In 1946 the Executive Council consisted of the Governor with the Colonial Secretary and the Senior Medical Officer, by virtue of office, and two other officials appointed by Warrant and my first step was to add two Unofficial Members, one representing the Camp and the other Stanley. Legislative Council comprised precisely the same official membership with, in addition, two Unofficial Members appointed by Warrant one of whom was recorded as having attended only once due, doubtless, to the difficulty of getting in to Stanley: its proceedings were perfunctory, with little or no attempt at debating the measures which came before it. It did not appear to me to be wholesome or in accordance with the spirit of the times that this community, all white and mainly of British descent, should have no say whatever in the direction of its affairs and the Stanley Town Council was therefore established, as an interim measure, in 1947, with a membership of nine, of whom six are elected and three (two of them technical – the S.M.O. and the Supt. of Works) are appointed by the Governor. The Chairman and his Deputy are chosen from the ranks of the elected members and are appointed by them. The Council administers the day-to-day affairs of the Town with a budget sufficient for its present needs; the scope of its activities and the funds to support them can both be increased as experience and capacity develop. This institution is, so to speak, a training ground for political leadership and its special need is to attract the services of the younger citizen.

On the 25th February, 1949, the electoral principle was extended to the Colony as a whole, on a basis of universal adult suffrage; the Legislative Council then comprising 6 Official, 4 Elected and 2 Nominated Unofficial members sitting with the Governor as President who held both an original and a casting vote. As this arrangement enabled him to force legislation through in the face of unofficial objection, which occasioned some quite understandable heartburning, I recommended that the official team should be reduced to 5 and that the Governor should relinquish his original vote thus securing a majority – if all of them should choose to attend – for the Unofficial Members. There is, in addition, a Standing Committee consisting of the Unofficial Members of Council sitting with the Colonial Secretary, to which the Colony's financial requirements are submitted for approval. Thus, I think it may now be said that the will of the people in the business of Government is as firmly reflected as is possible in so small a community; and I have no doubt that the Colony's affairs will be prosecuted with greater interest, and more and more effectively, as the years go by.

That, Honourable Members, concludes the account of my stewardship and if it has taken long in the telling I hope you will forgive me and that you may feel that the Colony has made some progress during these years; do not imagine for one moment that the Government, much less myself, entertains any feeling of complacency for we are all of us only too conscious of how much remains to do. But I do suggest to you that there is no aspect of the Colony's life whether it be in the field of Government or of the Constitution, Health or Communications, Social Security or our Financial and Economic status which is not materially better today and that we of this House may justly claim that we have together under God's help and guidance, laid a more solid foundation for future Administrations to build upon. I feel, therefore, that if conditions remain fairly stable and if we can but find some way to overcome the serious problem of under-population we may look to the future with sober confidence.

There is this, too, to be remembered; that in a troubled and uneasy world this Colony of the Falkland Islands remains – thanks to the strong arm of the British Navy – a peaceful, prosperous and I hope and believe a contented little oasis. Let us all value this at its true worth, for that strong arm is something to which we do not contribute one penny piece and it might be well to ask ourselves from time to time where we would be, what would happen to our peace, our prosperity and contentment if it were not there for us to lean upon? I think that you all know the answer to that question as well as I do.

As a last word, may I offer to all Honourable Members and to every servant of the Government my thanks and appreciation for the help which each, in his or her degree, has given in the tasks which have confronted us and I bespeak with confidence – from all – that same help and support for my successor.

For myself, I shall watch the future of the Colony with lively interest and with the utmost goodwill.

3. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the table the following Papers :—

- (i) Report of the Auditor on the accounts of the Falkland Islands for the period 1st January, 1951, to the 31st March, 1952.
- (ii) Report of the Standing Finance Committee for the period December, 1953, to January, 1954.
- (iii) Report of the Commission of Enquiry on Revised Conditions of Service for the Civil Service.
- (iv) Certificate of Urgency signed by His Excellency in respect of one Resolution additional to the Order Paper.

4. The Honourable Mr. J. E. Briscoe, seconded by the Honourable the Senior Medical Officer, moved the adoption of the following Resolution :—

BE IT RESOLVED—

That the Report of the Commission of Enquiry as laid on the table be adopted and that the Revised Conditions for the Civil Service as proposed and presented to the Legislative Council on the 8th of January, 1954, and as subsequently amended by a memorandum dated the 23rd of February, 1954, be approved with effect from the 1st of October, 1953.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary proposed that, in view of the number of important principles involved in the proposed Revised Conditions of Service, the Resolution be referred to a Committee of the whole Council and that strangers should be required to withdraw.

On the motion being seconded by the Honourable Mr. A. Mercer, the Council adjourned.

When the Council resumed the Resolution was unanimously adopted.

5. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary seconded by the Honourable Mr. J. E. Briscoe moved the first reading of the Bill "To Amend the Customs Ordinance" and explained that the Bill sought to extend to certain countries, which were no longer members of the British Commonwealth, the advantages of preferential tariff.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and passed through all its stages.

6. The Honourable Mr. J. E. Briscoe introduced the Bill "To legalise certain payments made in the year 1952–1953 in excess of the Expenditure sanctioned by Ordinance No. 4 of 1952" and proposed its first reading.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary seconded the Bill and it was read a second time and passed through all its stages.

7. On the motion of the Honourable Mr. J. E. Briscoe, seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary, a Bill "To provide for the service of the year 1954–1955" was read a first time. In moving the first reading the Honourable Mr. J. E. Briscoe said :—

Your Excellency,

This Bill is the main business of our present meeting which is to approve the Budget for the coming year. The Budget is mostly of a bread and butter nature but it does have a small sprinkling of jam for the Civil Service and most important for the unfortunate sufferer from Tuberculosis. However as Honourable Members will have opportunity for discussing its details in Select Committee I will confine myself to its general aspect and our Financial Position.

In 1952 we budgeted for a total revenue of £312,000 whereas the total collected was £377,000. Last year we budgeted for a total of £227,000 and I anticipate that by the end of March we will collect about £232,000, which is of course on the right side but if we examine the fluctuating items in our budget we will find that Company and Income Tax which in 1952 produced over one quarter of a million pounds and which we anticipated would produce £110,000 during the current year is now only expected to realise £75,000. The short fall of £35,000 this year has been offset by increased receipts from Estate Duty which normally does not produce more than one or two thousand pounds.

In the coming financial year I estimate that we will receive in ordinary revenue a sum of £254,000 against an amount of £232,000 for the current year, an increase of £22,000. Practically the whole of this increase is accounted for by a higher anticipated revenue to be derived from Company and Income Tax as a result of last year's rise in the price of wool.

Our recurrent expenditure is £171,000 which leaves us with £80,000 to finance capital and development works during this year, and which sum is estimated to be sufficient, and as the only major capital work looming ahead is the Stanley Improvement Scheme it appears that we can look forward to completing our Capital projects without depleting our Reserves. We must however not forget that the completion of the Improvement Scheme will bring with it a rise in recurrent expenditure to provide for maintenance.

Turning to the question of Reserves, it is of course impossible to say at what figure these should be maintained. By the end of March they will be about £720,000 – I see little prospect of this amount being added to in the foreseeable future.

Now £720,000 sounds a lot of money but Sir, it has less value than that of the Colony's Reserve which stood at £311,000 in 1939 and which kept us free from debt during the war period, when recurrent expenditure rose from £50,000 to £104,000.

Against the figure of £50,000 recurrent expenditure in 1939 we have a present day level of £171,000 and whilst admittedly some part of the increase arises from social progress in the Colony the major portion can be attributed to the war and its aftermath, and under present World conditions I consider that we would be failing in our duty if we for one moment contemplated depleting the present Reserve or not adding to it should opportunity offer.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, seconded by the Honourable Mr. A. Mercer, then moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee of the House, and the Council adjourned.

On Council re-assembling the Honourable the Colonial Secretary reported back from the Select Committee.

Clause 1 was agreed to. On motion made consideration of Clause 2 was postponed until after consideration of the Schedule.

The Schedule was agreed to with the following amendments :-

Number and Head of Service	Delete	Substitute therefor
IX. Military	£ 878	£ 888
XVIII. Extraordinary Expenditure	82,250	82,770
Total	£253,398	£253,928
Total Expenditure	£284,118	£284,648

Clause 2 was recommitted and agreed to with the following amendment. By the deletion of the words "TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTY FOUR THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED AND EIGHTEEN POUNDS" in the third and fourth lines and the substitution of the words "TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTY FOUR THOUSAND SIX HUNDRED AND FORTY EIGHT POUNDS"; and by the deletion of the figure "£284,188" in the side notes, and the substitution therefor of the figure "£284,648".

The Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

In conclusion His Excellency expressed to Honourable Members his appreciation of the careful consideration which they have given to all the matters placed before them.

Referring to the Revised Conditions for the Civil Service His Excellency said he was very pleased that his proposals had met with Council's approval before his departure and in particular he wished to thank the Honourable Member for the East Falkland for his suggestion at the previous meeting that the proposed revision should be referred to an independent Commission of Enquiry.

In moving the final adjournment, the Honourable the Colonial Secretary said :-

Your Excellency,

This Meeting will be the last occasion on which Your Excellency will preside over this Council and I would like to express on behalf of All Honourable Members their very sincere appreciation of the wise and patient direction which you have accorded to their deliberations during the past seven years. On your departure, Your Excellency will leave behind an impressive record of advancement and achievement in the Colony and it is our intention that the foundations of progress and development which have been so well laid, will not only stand firm but also be built upon.

On behalf of this Council and the people whom we represent I would like to offer to you, Sir, and to Lady Clifford our very best wishes for your future health, happiness and prosperity, wherever you may be and in whatever vocation you may choose to interest yourself during your retirement.

The Council then adjourned sine die.

Annual Report on the Education Department, 1953

Historical

1. There is no record of any school having existed at Port Louis, the first capital of the Falklands, and it is unlikely that there was one. But by 1846, three years after the transfer of the capital from Anson to Stanley, the room used as a church served during the week as a school-room. The fourteen pupils, nine of whom were girls, contributed £18. 4s. towards the salary of the schoolmaster and Government made an annual grant of £20. Three years later the school had grown to 28, there being an equal number of boys and girls. In 1850 the children were being taught by a Chelsea pensioner, one of a number which had been sent to the Colony to form a small garrison. Two years later Government reduced its grant to £18 but contributions from the parents gave the master a total salary of £44. In 1853 there were 47 pupils of whom "twenty can read and write".

2. In 1855 the first of several short-lived private schools was opened, this one was for "young female scholars" and seven children attended it. Six years later the Government School had a roll of 117, attendance was voluntary, and the schoolmaster started evening classes.

3. Meantime no provision of any kind had been made for educating children in the Camp, the countryside outside Stanley, but Governor Callaghan in 1876 suggested the employment of travelling teachers. His preoccupation with the Colony's finances probably prevented him from putting his suggestion into effect. The first step in this direction came a few years later when the Falkland Islands Company built a school at Darwin, its farming centre on the East Falkland, and supplied a schoolmaster. Thus by 1880 there were three schools in the islands: two in Stanley and one at Darwin. But for the West Falkland and the outlying parts of the East Falkland nothing was being done.

4. In 1885 the Colonial Chaplain, Dean Brandon, who in his thirty years residence in the Colony, was a tower of strength both spiritually and culturally, reported that the Government School in Stanley was well attended and that the teaching was thorough, but that in the Camp education was in a very backward state. Two years later he again drew attention to the fact that neither Government nor the sheepowners, with the exception of the Falkland Islands Company, were doing anything for the Camp children. Even in Stanley some children did not go to school and he urged that attendance be made compulsory.

5. In 1891 a Roman Catholic School was opened in Stanley and continued in existence until the early days of the last war. Three years later Stanley possessed four schools: two run by Government, the Roman Catholic School and a short-lived, Baptist School. Yet another private school closed during the same year.

6. In 1896, twenty years after Governor Callaghan's recommendation, two itinerant teachers were appointed by Government for the West Falkland and a few years later the Falkland Islands Company started to recruit travelling teachers for Lafonia, that part of the East Falkland south of Darwin.

7. In 1909 an Education Ordinance came into force making provision for the employment of pupil-teachers and raising the school-leaving age to 14. The travelling schoolmasters continued to carry on their difficult work and made fair progress where the co-operation of parents was forthcoming. The same is true to-day. By the end of 1919 there were two travelling teachers on the East Falkland and three on the West. Five years earlier two farms had engaged governesses for the instruction of the managers' children. A few other farms followed suit and some allowed the other children in the Settlement to benefit from their action. The outbreak of the first world war put an end to this useful fillip to Camp Education.

8. In 1947 a new Education Ordinance was introduced under the terms of which all education, up to school leaving age, was to become free by 1949. In 1948 Government became responsible for education throughout the Falklands and the Falkland Islands Company ceased to employ teachers. During 1952 and 1953, however, owing to Government's difficulties with recruitment in the United Kingdom, the Company has again engaged teachers for service in Lafonia and at present has three travelling teachers and, at Goose Green, one resident teacher. Government has decided, however, that the Colony is too small to contain two educational authorities, however close the liaison, and in consequence arrangements are being made to incorporate these teachers in the Education Department.

9. In Stanley, as in the Camp, education is free, and compulsory between the ages of 5 and 14; and in the Camp compulsory for all children of 5 to 14 living within one mile of a Settlement School and for all children of 7 to 14 living within two miles. Shepherds with children on a travelling teacher's beat are expected to board the visiting teacher, the teacher pays for his board, but large families and small houses - and in a few cases difficult parents - make this, at times, impossible.

10. During 1953 the Government Schools in Stanley had an average of 155 pupils of whom 23 were Infants. The staff averaged 10 and there was for a period a teacher in training.

11. Settlement Schools were in existence for the whole, or part of the year, at: Goose Green (Darwin), Teal Inlet, Douglas Station, San Salvador, Ajax Bay and Mount Pleasant on the East Falkland and at Fox Bay, Hill Cove and Kelp Creek on the West Falkland. The staffs of these, together with travelling teachers, including those employed by the Falkland Islands Company, totalled at one time nineteen.

12. The standard of education in Stanley compares favourably with that of an all-range school in England. There is a two year course available above the statutory school-leaving age allowing more advanced work which in some subjects reaches G.C.E. standard. Unfortunately few stay the course.

13. Camp education continues to be a serious problem, aggravated by a certain disinterestedness and apathy among some sections of the population. Government has sought to improve the standard by the employment, under a grant from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund, of travelling teachers from England and a teacher-trainer in Stanley. The experiment has, however, been beset by recruiting difficulties.

14. The school year commenced on February 9th and ended on December 19th. There were breaks of one week each in July and October.

PART 2

II. General Survey of the Educational System and Policy

15. Education in the Colony falls into three categories :

- a. Compulsory education in Stanley,
- b. Camp Education,
- c. Further Education.

16. The Government School in Stanley is an all-range school providing compulsory education to the age of 14 with voluntary extension to 16. The seniors and juniors occupy one building, the infants another. The average attendance in 1953 was 155 of whom 23 were infants. The average number of pupils staying on after 14 was 10. On September 30th the actual number of children attending school was 162 of whom 78 were girls and 84 boys. The average attendance for the whole year was 92.2%.

17. Free education was provided in Stanley from June 1st, 1949 for all pupils of 14 years of age or under, those over 14 paid one shilling a week. This was raised to 2/6 on February 1st, 1950. The purpose of this charge is to ensure that children are not kept at school merely to mark time until some employment is found. As this purpose was not at first entirely achieved an Order in Council of 1952 allowed those children receiving an average of 60% and over in the annual examinations to have their fees returned, which has acted as a spur to the less diligent pupils.

18. This Continuation Class, as it is called, was formed in the time of Governor Cardinall to provide a secondary standard of education, the Colony being too small to support a secondary grammar school. In the same Governor's term of office scholarships to the British School at Montevideo were commenced. (see para. 56). The aim of the Education Department has been to prepare the pupils of the Continuation Class for the General Certificate of Education Examination. Unfortunately, staffing difficulties apart, few stay the two year course for neither parents nor children appear to see any advantage in the possession of an education certificate. Their argument is that it has no value in the Colony and the cultural value of the course leading to it is ignored. This attitude appears to be linked up with the general malaise from which the Falklands suffer and which in turn may, perhaps, be traced to the fact that it is almost impossible for a Falkland born boy to achieve a position in the Colony's sole industry, that of sheep-farming, above that of a shepherd or navvy "boss." The plums of the industry, the managementships, are almost entirely filled by sons of former managers or cadets from overseas. This fact has in all probability contributed to the steady migration of many of the abler men and women of the Falklands; a movement which has been going on for many years, though the United Kingdom and Australasia have displaced Canada as the destination of the emigrants. The disastrous effect of this loss of ability and intelligence is obvious.

III. Camp Education

19. During 1953 full-time schooling was provided at six Settlement Schools and part-time at three others. In addition a maximum of ten travelling teachers were visiting children in outlying houses and in settlements without resident teachers.

20. Certain shepherds change employment frequently and the rolls of even Settlement Schools are never very stable. This almost nomadic habit together with poor communications makes it very difficult to keep track of children, especially as it is common for children to stay with friends and relations for many months on end. Travelling teachers have, therefore, to use their initiative and vary their beats to meet the circumstances. Children living on remote islands are the most difficult to cater for, but by the end of 1953 there was no child living on any island who was not on the beat of a travelling teacher.

21. During the past year the number of children in the Camp of school age has varied between 164 and 169. Of these 101 to 154 have received regular education from either travelling teachers or in Settlement Schools; 12 to 14 have been in houses where teachers are for some reason unable to stay; 3 to 12 have been educated by parents with assistance from the Education Department and 12 to 37 have received no education at all. At the end of 1953 the position of Camp Education was better than it has been for a number of years. What would appear to be an obvious remedy, correspondence courses, is out of the question for two reasons: the poor postal communications and the fact that many parents are themselves unable to give the assistance that such courses require.

22. In para. 23 of the Report for 1952 it was stated that broadcasting to the Camp had been commenced and that it was meeting with some measure of success. Unfortunately the number of listeners declined instead of increasing and by June it was found that there were only three groups of children listening regularly. On the West Falkland the programme seemed to be completely unknown or was not listened to because of bad atmospheric conditions. The matter obviously cannot rest here as wireless proves a useful educational medium and when the new 5 kw. transmitter comes into use it is intended to start again.

23. By way of encouragement, a board allowance of £2 per month is paid during term time for Camp children who live in private households in Stanley in order to attend the Government Schools, whilst the guardians of children sent in from outlying houses to Settlement Schools receive an allowance of fivepence per main meal.

IV. Present Practice

24. Government has provided education for all children in Stanley but its aim to cover the islands adequately has been achieved to a limited extent only by the provision of Settlement Schools and travelling teachers.

25. Children in Stanley are expected to enter the Infant School at the commencement of the term in which they reach the age of five, they must do so in any case on their fifth birthday, and most parents co-operate in seeing that they do. They leave for primary classes between seven and eight. During 1953 the average attendance at the Infants School was 91%.

26. The building at present in use as an Infant School is rented from the Roman Catholic Church; it is cramped and squalid and totally unsuitable, having at one time formed a corridor between the nuns' quarters and the church. A new school, built under a grant received from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund, is in course of erection and should be ready for occupation by the middle of 1954. It is an exceptionally fine building and will compare very favourably indeed with any school building in the United Kingdom. As the building is larger than is required for an Infant School alone it is proposed to move two of the junior classes from the "Senior" School into it, thereby relieving the pressure in the main school building. This move will allow a room in the latter to be set aside for art and handicrafts, which is very necessary, and will provide additional storage space for the very large stock of materials that the school must carry.

27. The "Senior" School is at present overcrowded and the design is primitive but it is warm in winter and for the time being serves its purpose; it is to be re-roofed and redecorated during 1954.

28. The curriculum of the Government School in 1953 comprised: Religious Knowledge, English, Arithmetic, History, Geography, Biology, Arts and Crafts, Music, Games and Physical Training. The older children in addition took Gardening, Mathematics and Woodwork.

29. In order that the Superintendent of Education may keep in touch with standards in the Camp he conducts each year a written examination of all Camp children over the age of seven. In addition he undertakes an annual tour of the East and West Falkland which he tries to make as complete as possible. Teachers in the Camp use syllabuses prepared by the Education Department. Those for travelling teachers lay down certain minimum standards which their pupils are expected to reach; a much higher performance is expected from children in Settlement Schools. All teachers have instructions to encourage their pupils in craftwork and natural history and there is a steady flow of library books to the Camp.

V. Policy and Future Aims

30. The present system of education can be described as adequate in Stanley and in those Settlements where there are full-time schools under competent teachers. But the system of travelling teachers is both educationally and economically unsound. It has been the policy of the Education Department in the past few years to restrict the length of a beat to four houses. This has not always been possible. The Department is sometimes criticised because its teachers no longer cover the distances they used to, but beats so long that a teacher visits a house for a fortnight once in eight months are unlikely to produce any useful results.

31. To overcome this unsatisfactory method of education it was decided to build eight Settlement Schools, four on each main island, to which children would go from adjacent settlements and outlying houses. It was intended that some of the children should go as boarders in the settlements, receiving financial assistance from Government. Experience with three schools over four years has shown that the co-operation promised has not been forthcoming and that very few children go to the settlements to board. The reasons may be summarised as: the unwillingness of some parents to take the children of others, lack of accommodation due to elderly householders or big families in small houses, the reluctance of some parents to send their children to live with others and in addition a good deal of apathy.

32. At the time of the decision to build Settlement Schools Government had considered the provision of boarding schools but did not pursue the matter owing to the high cost involved. The Falkland Islands Company, whose present Chairman has shown much interest in the Colony's education plan, offered as part of its Centenary benefactions to build a boarding school on the East Falkland and hand it over to Government to equip and run. This building, the estimated cost of which was £15,000 (later increased to £20,000) has been prefabricated in Sweden and will arrive in the Colony in early 1954. It is doubtful whether even £20,000 will cover the capital commitment and the Government has agreed to contribute any excess up to a maximum of £10,000. Erection is expected to commence in the spring of 1954 and the school, which will have accommodation for 40 boarders, should be ready for occupation in 1956.

33. The construction of a boarding school on the West Falkland (see para. 30 of 1951 Report and paras. 37 and 38 of that for 1952) has been left in abeyance until it is seen how the Darwin school progresses. Meantime J. C. Waldron and Co., the owners of Port Howard farm, have built a model Settlement School at a cost of £837. It caters adequately for the twenty children on the farm, is a pleasant building and its siting and interior facilities are in every way excellent. At San Carlos, on the East Falkland, the farm has built a "village" hall which includes accommodation for a teacher-storekeeper and a good hall with sliding doors making conversion to a class-room easy. A schoolroom with accommodation for the teacher has also been erected at Weddell Island.

34. The proposed establishment of Settlement Schools meant that local teachers had to receive adequate training to man them and in order to release them for this purpose a grant was made under the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund (D/970) for the provision for six years (in two periods of three years each) of six teachers and one teacher-trainer from the United Kingdom. Some of the recruits proved unsatisfactory but others have done splendid work and brought useful experience and fresh ideas into Camp teaching.

VI. Evening Classes

35. Evening classes were held in Stanley in the winter months. The subjects were mathematics, typing and shorthand. They were attended compulsorily by all Government employees under the age of 18. Others attending were, in the main, young apprentices. But, as in previous years, they were mostly ignored by the public at large.

VII. Films

36. During the year a 16 mm. Bell & Howell projector which had been ordered for the Government School arrived. It has been put to good use not only in school but in the showing of films to groups of parents who during the winter months were invited weekly to a programme of films obtained from the Central Office of Information and the British Council. All of these films were of a semi-educational nature and the evenings were popular.

37. Government has now established a Central Film Library which is run by the Superintendent of Education. There are now five sound projectors in the Camp, the property of the farms, and there will soon be seven or eight. The films sent out to the Camp include not only long feature films but a selection of the many C.O.I. films the Library possesses. This innovation is both culturally and educationally useful.

38. Certain of the Settlement Schools, and some teachers in the Camp, have strip projectors and make use of the generous supply of films received from the Central Office of Information. These projectors are not, however, very popular as they consume too much current from batteries which are dependent on wind chargers.

VIII. Broadcasting

39. See para 22. The Broadcasting Committee has continued its efforts to improve the general cultural level of the programmes by the introduction of periods devoted to serious music, talks, forums, wireless games, book reviews and discussions. On the whole it may be said to have succeeded.

IX. Youth Activities

40. The Boys' Brigade and the Junior Football League continue to flourish and the former intends to send a large contingent, for the size of the Company, to the 1954 International Camp at Eton College. The Girls' Club founded last year has maintained its numbers and progress. Badminton and Folk-Dancing continue to attract large numbers of young people and ball-room dancing remains as popular as ever. The late hour at which these dances begin and to which they continue is a cause of concern to those interested in the well-being of the younger members of the community.

X. Teachers - Conditions of Service

41. The senior classes in the Stanley School are taken by qualified teachers recruited from, or trained in, the United Kingdom. The arrangement made with the Education Committee of the Dorset County Council to advertise vacancies for teachers in that County has not been a success, only one teacher having been obtained in two years. Despite the fact that Burnham Scale, a local cost of living bonus and full superannuation contributions are paid recruiting is becoming increasingly difficult. The shortage of teachers in England together with the fact that wealthier Colonies are able to offer more attractive salaries may, in part, account for this.

42. The scale of pay for locally recruited teachers is from £78 per annum, as teachers-in-training, to £200 for women, and £360 for men. At all levels a cost of living bonus is paid in addition.

XI. Qualifications

43. Teachers recruited from the United Kingdom must be certificated, locally recruited teachers undergo a period of two years training.

XII. Legislation & Administration

44. No legislation directly concerned with education was passed in 1953.

45. There are no educational establishments in the Colony other than those provided by Government and the Superintendent of Education is responsible for education standards throughout the Colony. Some people make use of overseas correspondence courses, but the long delay in the receipt and despatch of mails acts as a deterrent.

46. Under the Education Ordinance of 1947 parents are required to have their children educated wherever there is a recognised school and wherever classes are held by a recognised teacher.

47. Parents are encouraged to send their children to school at the beginning of the term in which they reach the age of five and they are required to stay at school to the end of the term in which they reach the age of 14. They may, if they choose, stay on for a further two years doing more advanced work. In the Camp some children continue to attend classes long after they have reached the statutory school-leaving age.

48. The Falkland Islands Company now employs four teachers on their large farm in Lafonia on the East Falkland. The work of these teachers is open to inspection by the Superintendent of Education and they work in close co-operation with the Government Education Department. (See para. 8.)

49. The Staff of the Government Schools in Stanley on September 30th consisted of the Superintendent of Education, who is also Headmaster, three assistant masters and six assistant mistresses. In the Camp on the same date there were, excluding the employees of the Falkland Islands Company, three male and four female teachers. In addition there were six temporary teachers employed in settlements or outside houses.

XIII. Advisory Boards and Committees.

50. The Scholarship Committee consists of the Colonial Secretary, the Superintendent of Education and two members nominated by the Governor. (See para. 56).

XIV. Finance.

51. Expenditure from Colonial Revenue for the period 1952/53 amounted to £8,350 and under the Colonial Development and Welfare Scheme D/970 to £2,262. It is not possible to give separate figures for primary and secondary education as all schools are all-range.

52. Overseas scholarships in the financial period under review cost £231 and Administration for the same period £480.

XV. Primary Education.

53. The Infants Department at Stanley contains two classes and, when numbers justify, three. Numbers in the "Senior" School are large enough to allow of four classes in its 'Junior' section and the standard of work compares very favourably with that of primary schools in England. Teaching method varies, naturally, with the teacher. Generally speaking it can be said to be not entirely formal, but it has not gone over whole-heartedly to activity methods.

54. In the Settlement Schools, where numbers are small, work is entirely on an individual basis and there are no primary and secondary sections.

XVI. Secondary and Technical Education.

55. There is no secondary grammar and technical school education in the Colony. Children may, however, stay on at school over the statutory school-leaving age (see para. 48) and if they do so and complete the two year course they reach a standard in most subjects comparable with G.C.E. ordinary level. In the Senior section of the school a full curriculum is followed which is outlined in para. 29.

XVII. Overseas Scholarships.

56. Until 1951 it had been the practice to send up to two children annually to the British School in Montevideo. It was found, among other things however, that the climate was unsuitable for these children and they suffered a good deal in health. In consequence an arrangement was made in that year with the Education Committee of Dorset County Council for a similar number of children to be admitted to its boarding grammar schools. At present three children are at schools in Dorset, two boys and a girl, and from reports received they are doing well. There is also a boy at a grammar school in Manchester. Selection for these scholarships is made by an advisory board (see para 51) and the children who sit the examination, which is set by the Superintendent of Education, must be between the ages of 12 and 14 on August 31st in the year preceding the September in which the scholarship is taken up. As this age limit has made it possible for candidates to enter who would be 15 before going to England, which is considered to be too old, it has been decided to restrict the candidate's age to 12 to 13½ in 1954 and from 12 to 13 in succeeding years.

XVIII. Training of Teachers.

57. A mistress was appointed in 1950, under a grant from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund, to train local students as teachers. As there has been a dearth of applicants her services have not been required whole-time and she has taken a normal class as well. Locally recruited teachers receive training lasting two years, one of which is spent in Stanley and the other either in Stanley or in the Camp, when the class taken is under supervision. This training is subsequent to a period of two years in the Continuation Class, or its Camp equivalent.

XIX. Physical Conditions in Schools

58. The Government School in Stanley is a 47 year old wooden building. It has three large and four small class-rooms all but one of which are unfortunately away from the sunny side of the building. The cloakrooms are small and rather inadequate but there is a drying system for coats and a hot-water apparatus has recently been installed. The school is centrally heated and is comfortably warm, but there is no assembly hall and the accommodation is somewhat cramped. In particular the furnishing is poor and the desks are antiquated and too small. The woodwork room is far too small but plans are in hand to enlarge it and to provide a domestic science centre.

59. The new infant school will allow sufficient room for two classes to be moved from the Senior School and thus permit a craft-room to be established there. The present Infant School consists of a large room, 75 feet long and only 13 feet wide, which has to accommodate two age groups.

60. Many of the Settlement Schools are in buildings provided by the farms. They consist generally of a single room heated by a peat fire or stove. In some cases a room in the Manager's house or a converted Nissen hut is used. Some of the teachers have spent much time in making the rooms attractive and all are well supplied with both stock and wall illustrations.

61. At Hill Cove, Fox Bay and Weddell Island the schools are provided with bedrooms for the teachers whilst during the year under review the owners of Port Howard have erected a model school. It has one large class-room with linoleum on the floor, panelled walls and an open fire-place, an entrance lobby, excellent indoor toilet facilities and a school garden. The teacher has taken out her own piano from Stanley. The total cost was £837. At San Carlos the farm has erected a village hall, it contains rooms for a teacher-storekeeper and a sliding screen allows part of the hall to be converted into a class-room. The building, which forms a most useful community centre, has cost some £2,000.

XX. Playing Fields

62. The children in Stanley make use of the playing fields in the Government House paddocks; in the Camp organised games are only possible where numbers allow. Every Camp child is an expert rider and most are capable of walking long distances, except, too often, when this is necessary to go to school.

XXI. Social and Moral Welfare

63. Religious Knowledge forms an important part of the syllabus of the schools in Stanley and the Camp, and in Stanley facilities are provided for the ministers of religion to visit the Senior School once a week to teach children belonging to their own persuasions.

64. There are no facilities for the education of the physically and mentally defective in the Colony of which happily there are practically none. There is an annual medical examination of all school-children in Stanley which in 1953 included a thorough examination by the chest specialist who is visiting the Colony. In the Camp, children are seen whenever the doctor is visiting the house or settlement.

65. The School Savings Scheme, which was started in 1951, has continued to flourish and is now well established. In the Camp, where all purchases from the stores and all wages are mainly book entries, and where little cash is handled the volume of savings is less.

66. The Boys' Brigade, which has no connection with the school, provides many opportunities for leadership and the Girls' Club, mentioned as having been newly formed in the last report of this Department (see Report for 1952, para. 84) is apparently on a sound footing. A cause of considerable concern to the more responsible members of the community are the acts of vandalism which occur from time to time and which appear to be, in the main, the work of youths. It is hoped that the better spirit appearing among the older children will in time eliminate this evil habit.

67. A prefect system exists in the Stanley School and there is a parents' association which meets in the winter months. A very large number of children are interested in philately and the number with 'pen-friends' abroad is quite remarkable. It is not un-common for a child to have as many as seven such pen-friends and some have even more.

XXII. Adult Education

68. See para. 35. There is a local branch of the Red Cross and Order of St. John and a Spinning and Weaving Guild; the latter held an exhibition of its members' work during the year.

69. Stanley has a very adequate public library with good reference and children's sections. There are plans to replace the Museum, which was lost by fire. This is very necessary as there is no doubt that there is much interest among the public in natural history and the early years of the Colony.

70. The Broadcast Advisory Committee has continued to provide good material in its programmes, much of which has real educational value. Of especial value are the many pamphlets received from the Central Office of Information.

No. 45. 30th July, 1954.

The following message from the Right Honourable Oliver Lyttleton, P.C., D.S.O., M.C., M.P., retiring Secretary of State for the Colonies, is published for general information:—

*Following from retiring Secretary of State:

It is with keen regret that I lay down office of Secretary of State for the Colonies. In this 3 years I have been able to visit many of the Colonial territories and to meet both here and Overseas a large number of people from all parts of the world. I have been fortunate to make a great many friends of all races during my term of office and I have learned much about difficult problems and golden opportunities which face you all. All that I have seen and done has confirmed my deep faith, wisdom and rightness of far sighted policy for Colonial territories to which all parties in Great Britain subscribe. I am certain social progress economic prosperity and political advancement will grow and flourish in Colonial territories if we work together and are patient with each other.

Now I have to say goodbye and thank you. I know at first hand all the devoted work which the Colonial Service in all its branches and so many men and women outside the Government service are patiently pursuing. I wish all of them unqualified success in one of the greatest tasks which can fall to Statesmen and Administrators. My regrets at leaving is only mitigated by my confidence in my successor. Mr. Lennox-Boyd has served with me as Minister of State and his is a true friendliness of people of Colonial territories.

I send to you all my warmest thanks and my best wishes for the future. Oliver Lyttleton."

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Present: His Excellency the Governor.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary.

The Honourable the Senior Medical Officer.

The Honourable Mr. A. Mercer, O.B.E.

The Honourable Mr. J. E. Briscoe.

The Honourable Mr. E. M. Cawkell.

The Honourable Mr. K. W. Luxton, J.P.

The Honourable Mr. S. C. Luxton.

The Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy, B.E.M., J.P.

The Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth, J.P.

The Honourable Mr. W. F. McWhan, M.B.E.

The Honourable Mr. W. W. Blake, J.P.

The Meeting opened with Prayers read by the Honourable Mr. W. F. McWhan, M.B.E.

1. The Honourable Mr. E. M. Cawkell, after taking the prescribed oaths, assumed his seat in Council.

Mr. W. Hirtle was sworn in as Acting Clerk to the Council.

2. The Minutes of the Legislative Council Meeting, held on the 3rd of March, 1954, were confirmed.

3. His Excellency the Governor delivered the following address to the Council:-

I do not propose to delay the work of this Council by long speech-making, but there are one or two things I should like to say before we proceed. Firstly we must welcome back among us the Honourable Member for West Falkland and the Honourable the Second Nominated Unofficial Member. I fear that they have perhaps regretted their rashness in exchanging the balmy climate of these Islands for the rigours of an English summer. I must also welcome our new member the Honourable Mr. Cawkell.

Next I should like to take this opportunity of thanking everyone in the Falklands for their kindness to me personally. From the Honourable Members of Executive Council, whose advice, co-operation and support have been of inestimable value to me, to the shepherds whose hospitality I have enjoyed on the track, I have received nothing but friendliness and hospitality personally, and co-operation and sound advice officially. Thank you all very much.

The measures which will be laid before you at this meeting will be explained by the Honourable Member in charge of each and I do not propose to touch on them now except to say that in proposing a small reduction in Income Tax we hope we are setting a new fashion which will be welcome to all.

As regards other matters of public interest, in agriculture we are still trying to recruit a Veterinary Officer and have scored one or two near misses. A little while ago we thought we had a highly suitable candidate but, unfortunately, at the last moment unexpected domestic difficulties made him withdraw.

The Freezer will now, we hope, function at any rate for a while and indeed if it succeeds it should prove of great long-term benefit to the Colony. We have, however, at any rate for the present, reached the limits of the assistance which this Government could and should give and it lies with the Freezer Company to make it a success.

As regards education we still suffer from an acute shortage of teachers, since local recruits are not forthcoming and attempts to recruit from U.K. have not met with much success either. The Honourable the Superintendent of Education has devoted much of his leave to exertions in this direction, for which I should like to thank him on behalf of the Colony. He succeeded in finding two camp teachers who have now been offered appointments, that is something though not enough. I understand that the Falkland Islands Company intends to start work on the Darwin School shortly, which should be of substantial permanent benefit to the Colony.

The air service seems to become more and more popular, and I must congratulate the Harbour Master and the staff of the service for carrying substantially increased numbers of passengers this year. Demand for passages still exceeds supply and the question of how this demand is to be met is under immediate consideration.

The T.B. Survey which has now virtually reached a successful conclusion has marked a big step forward in the health of the Colony. The Public is primarily responsible for the success of the Survey and is to be heartily congratulated for the readiness with which it has grasped the benefits to be obtained and has come forward for examination. Dr. Richter is also to be heartily commended on the success of the Survey. In other respects the department is also in a prosperous condition. Work on the old wing of the hospital has now been practically completed and I am happy to record that the personnel of the department is actually up to strength.

As regards Posts & Telegraphs the new transmitter has proved an unqualified success and so has the appointment of a full time salaried Secretary of the Broadcasting Advisory Committee. I should like to mention the excellent work done by the Director of Broadcasting who has voluntarily devoted much of his spare time and energy to this work. In the Falklands the Broadcasting Service has to rely on local talent to provide it with artists and in this direction the Falklanders have shown their abilities. I hope the public will continue to come forward and offer its services in this way.

The ambitious programme of new public buildings on which the Colony embarked after the war, with aid from Colonial Development and Welfare funds, is now virtually completed but this has been done, possibly rightly and inevitably done, at the expense of maintenance of existing works. We are left with a terrible back-log of such maintenance. We have been trying to secure the services of a qualified Engineer and have even gone so far as to offer a salary somewhat in excess of my own. We have, however, found no takers. The Superintendent of Works has recently visited the U.K. in order to recruit artisans and examine the possibilities of recruiting other labour. As regards artisans he has met with some success having secured six carpenters and two painters. As regards other labour the prospects do not seem at all favourable, and what is to be done next must be considered. It may be that we shall have to consider recruiting labour from Germany or some other foreign country, the Honourable Mr. Barton and the Honourable Mr. Luxton have been making enquiries about this matter, the upshot of which I do not yet know. In the meantime we shall have to tackle the work as and how we can. Roads, water, drainage and sewerage all need to be done. They cannot be attacked altogether and the most we can hope for, for the present, is that we shall be able to start on them piecemeal, perhaps beginning with the roads.

I have discussed with Honourable Members the proposals for giving assistance to farmers to make Land Rover tracks in the Camp and Honourable Members are fully aware of what is being done. The chief initial difficulty is the track from Stanley to Fitzroy. I have appointed a joint Committee of unofficial Members of Executive and Legislative Councils to advise Government in this matter and I hope that this innovation of associating unofficial Members of both Councils more closely with the work of Government will prove a success. The Secretary of State has recently approved of the necessary expenditure to start work on the Fitzroy track and the matter can now go forward.

4. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the Table the following papers :—

- (i) Copies of subsidiary Legislation made or approved by the Governor in Executive Council since the last Meeting of the Legislative Council.
- (ii) Savings Bank Report, 1952.
- (iii) Report of the Director of Colonial Audit on the accounts of the Falkland Islands for the period 1st January, 1951, to 31st March, 1952.

5. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the Table the following Questions, together with replies thereto :—

By the Honourable Mr. S. C. Luxton.

Question I. Why a man employed on a Farm Station was selected for appointment as Coxswain, m.v. "Alert"?

Reply by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary.

The post of Coxswain, m.v. "Alert", is a permanent and pensionable one for which any person holding the requisite qualifications may apply.

The successful applicant (who had already served three years in the Harbour Department from 1948 to 1951) was considered to be the most suitable candidate by the Appointments' Board.

Question II. What steps Government is taking to repair the Gymnasium which is gradually falling into a dilapidated condition both internally and externally?

Reply by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary.

The responsibility for the efficient maintenance and control of the Gymnasium is vested in the Town Council by virtue of Section 34, Cap. 69, Revised Laws. It is understood that the Town Council are anxious to effect necessary repairs at an early date, but the shortage of labour and the high cost occasioned by an accumulation of arrears of maintenance will necessitate their seeking assistance from Government.

6. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, in moving the first reading of the Bill "To amend the Land Ordinance", explained that as the law stood at present certain powers of disposition over Crown Lands were vested solely in the Governor.

Clause 2 of the Bill now vested all such powers in the Governor in Council.

Clause 3 of the Bill repealed Section 19 of the Ordinance since the Section is now incorporated in the new Section 18.

Clause 4 removed the arbitrary limitation on the length of leases other than leases of Reserves.

Clause 5 repealed Section 24 which, in view of the new Section 18, became redundant.

The Honourable Mr. McWhan seconded the Bill and it was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 to 3 and 5, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

Clause 4 was agreed to with the following amendment :

By the insertion of the word "or" between the words "suburban land" and the inverted commas immediately following.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

7. On the motion of the Honourable Mr. Briscoe, seconded by the Honourable the Senior Medical Officer, the Bill "To amend the Pensions Ordinance" was read a first time. The Honourable Mr. Briscoe informed Council that the Bill was designed to ensure that should an officer die before reaching pensionable age his estate would not receive less than he would have received had he retired on the day he died, and to provide also that, if a pensioner died, his estate would receive a sum equal to his annual pensionable emoluments less any payments received in respect of pension or gratuity.

The Bill was read a second time and committed. Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

8. In moving the first reading of the Bill "To apply certain specified Acts of Parliament to the Colony" the Honourable the Colonial Secretary stated that all English Statute law prior to 1900 was automatically applied to the Colony. He went on to explain that the Bill had the effect of applying such post 1900 English Statutes as were considered necessary and suitable for the Colony.

The Honourable Mr. Hardy seconded the motion and the Bill was read for the first time. On further motion being made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 and 2, the Schedule, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

9. The Honourable Mr. Briscoe moved the first reading of the Bill "Further to amend the Income Tax Ordinance" and the Honourable Mr. Blake seconded the motion. The Honourable Mr. Briscoe explained that the Bill was designed to provide a measure of relief for taxpayers in 1955 by increasing the allowance for children from £40 for the first child and £25 for other children to £70 for each child, and also by increasing the earned income allowance from one tenth to one fifth.

At the second reading the Honourable Mr. Gilruth stated that in his opinion income tax on salaries and wages should, and could, be abolished completely. No further opinions being expressed the Bill was committed.

Clauses 1 to 3, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

10. In moving the first reading of the Bill "Further to amend the Interpretation and General Law Ordinance" the Honourable the Colonial Secretary explained that the Bill extended the powers of Magistrates and Justices of the Peace to dispose of certain minor cases summarily.

The Honourable Mr. K. Luxton seconded the motion and the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was passed after a third reading.

11. On the motion of the Honourable Mr. Briscoe, seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary, the Bill "To amend the Savings Bank Ordinance" was read a first time. The Honourable Mr. Briscoe explained to Council that the Bill was introduced in order to bring into coincidence the Colony's and Savings Bank's financial year.

The Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 to 3, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

12. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary moved the first reading of the Bill "To amend the Administration of Justice Ordinance" and explained that the purpose of the Bill was to clarify the civil and criminal powers of Justices of the Peace.

The Honourable Mr. Gilruth seconded the motion and the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 to 3, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was passed after being read a third time.

13. In moving the first reading of the Bill "To amend the Currency Notes Ordinance" the Honourable Mr. Briscoe stated that the Bill was designed to improve the accounting procedure and to ensure that the Colony's Note Issue was at all times at least one hundred per cent covered.

The Honourable Mr. Mercer seconded the motion and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion being made the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 to 3, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

Assented to in Her Majesty's name this 1st day of November, 1954.

Dr. Richter, Tuberculosis Officer, arrived in the Colony in September. He will be engaged in a T. B. Survey of the Falklands during the greater part of his tour.

Only two nurses were recruited locally during the year. There is so little interest taken in nursing that it has been decided to employ two State Enrolled Assistant nurses from the United Kingdom.

Births (live)	46	20.72
Deaths	27	12.16
Maternal deaths	0
Neo-natal deaths	3

III. PUBLIC HEALTH.

The General health of the Community was good, but the incidence of minor ailments, such as colds and gastro-enteritis, remained relatively high. Cases of German Measles occurred till the end of May, and an outbreak of Chickenpox occurred in June, with cases appearing till the end of September.

There was one death from Pulmonary Tuberculosis, as compared with an average of almost four annually for the past fifteen years. The T. B. survey, started by Dr. Richter in October, has shown that the incidence of tuberculosis is higher than the previously-known cases had indicated.

The T.B. survey of the Colony is being greatly helped by the interest the Public are taking in it, and by their willingness to come forward for examination.

IV. HYGIENE AND SANITATION.

1. SEWAGE DISPOSAL. Two men are employed by the Town Council on night soil collection. There are now only 60 houses in Stanley in which a flush closet has not been installed.

2. WATER SUPPLY. The water supply is inadequate for all the needs of the town. The reservoirs are not large enough to meet the demands in periods of drought, and considerable difficulty is found in maintaining a workable level in the storage tanks when the usual sources of water have dried up.

Owing to lack of labour, it has not been possible to start work on the new water supply, recommended by Major Pape.

The following data have been supplied by the Town Clerk :

Average daily water consumption	30,000 gals.	30,000 gals.
Total number of houses in Stanley	340	342
Properties connected to main water supply ...	311	315
Water connected to the mains	1	4
Reservoir Storage	481,000 gals.	481,000 gals.
Hydrants on Water main	38	38
Connections to main sewer	269	282
Water closets installed	4	13

3. DAIRIES. There are three licensed dairies in Stanley, which are inspected by the Agricultural Officer. The dairy herds are also examined by him, and all cattle are Tuberculin-tested. There were no reactors in 1953.

4. SLAUGHTER-HOUSES. There are two slaughter-houses in Stanley, which are inspected by the Sanitary Inspector regularly.

5. HOUSING. The housing shortage in Stanley is still acute. Two houses were completed and occupied during the year.

6. RATS. Regular and methodical laying of poison in the rubbish dumps keeps the rat population down, and there is little trouble from rats in the town.

V. SCHOOL INSPECTION.

All school children in Stanley were examined medically during the year. The standard of health of the children is considered good. Free milk is given to a few children at school who are considered to need extra nourishment.

VI. PORT HEALTH.

The health of the port has been good throughout the year. All ships arriving from South America are visited by the S.M.O. on their entering port.

VII. MATERNITY AND CHILD WELFARE.

The attendance at the Pre-natal and Child Welfare Clinics, which are held at the Hospital weekly, is very good. Expectant mothers in the Camp are seen by the M.O. on his rounds, and are encouraged to have their confinements in the hospital in Stanley. Free transport to and from Stanley is provided for them.

VIII. K. E. M. HOSPITAL.

The extension to the hospital, known as the Churchill Wing, was formally opened by His Excellency the Governor on the 23rd May, 1953. The new wing is a most welcome addition to the hospital. The wards are bright and cheery and the theatre, X-Ray department and the Dental surgery are fully equipped with modern appliances and instruments. It is safe to say, I think, that no small community anywhere could have better hospital facilities than those to be found here.

Once the patients had been transferred from the old to the Churchill Wing, work was started on converting the old part of the building to make it suitable for the treatment of T.B. patients. This work is still continuing.

IX. MEDICAL SERVICES IN THE CAMP.

Dr. Szeley has been stationed at Fox Bay, in the West Falkland, throughout the year. The Falkland Islands Company has its own doctor stationed at Darwin.

X. PRISONS AND ASYLUMS.

The gaol in Stanley is the only one in the Falklands. The building is old, and badly in need of alteration and repair. A new roof was put on early in the year.

There is no asylum in the Colony. Cases requiring institutional care and treatment are accommodated in the United Kingdom. No cases were certified during the year.

XI. METEOROLOGICAL.

The weather of the Falklands is colder than in the corresponding latitude in England, and much more windy. The weather of 1953 was better than average.

The following data have been supplied by the Chief Meteorological Officer :-

Total annual rainfall	25.63 inches
Average daily sunshine	4.51 hours
Maximum temperature	77°F.
Minimum "	23°F.
Mean relative humidity	85%
Mean wind speed	15.1 knots
Number of periods of calm	4 per month.

XII. DEPENDENCIES.

Each Whaling Station at South Georgia has its own medical organisation, and no medical returns are received from them.

A dental surgeon has been appointed by the Falkland Islands Government to work in South Georgia and he is expected to arrive in the Island early in January, 1954.

Four medical practitioners were registered to practise in the Dependencies in 1953. One medical practitioner was registered to practise in the Falkland Islands and Dependencies. Dr. Marsh, a member of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey, was stationed at Hope Bay during the year.

INTERIM REPORT ON THE TUBERCULOSIS SURVEY OF THE FALKLAND ISLANDS.

Dr. P. K. E. Richter has submitted the following report on his work, from 1st October till 31st December, 1953.

(a) Number of persons examined radiologically	684
(b) Number of cases of tuberculosis discovered	47
(c) Number of cases of active tuberculosis – included in (b)	11
(d) Number of children Tuberculin-tested	232
(e) Number of positive reactors to Tuberculin test	42

The majority of persons examined are resident in Stanley. Some Camp residents, known or suspected to have tuberculosis, were brought to Stanley for examination.

The cases discovered so far indicate a higher incidence of tuberculosis in the total population than is probable, as all known and suspected cases of tuberculosis have now been seen.

As the T.B. Wing of the hospital was not ready for patients, only two cases of active tuberculosis could be admitted to hospital for treatment; all other active cases have been treated at home. The District Nurse has attended those cases daily. All patients have responded well to treatment.

It is planned to vaccinate with B.C.G. all children in Stanley, who showed negative Tuberculin-test reactions, early in the New Year.

The population has taken a keen interest in the survey, and there has been no lack of people coming forward for examination.

Plans have been prepared for the installation of the portable X-Ray machine in the M.V. "Philomel", and for the alteration of the hold, to provide an examination-room, a dark room and a dressing-room. The "Philomel" will be used for the survey round the islands when the work in Stanley has been completed.

(b) In the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland :

The income tax (including sur-tax) and the profits tax (hereinafter referred to as "United Kingdom tax").

2. The present Convention shall also apply to any other taxes of a substantial similar character imposed in the United Kingdom or Sweden subsequently to the date of signature of the present Convention.

ARTICLE II

In this connexion -

3. Where an enterprise of one of the territories carries on a trade or business in the other territory through a permanent establishment situated therein, there shall be attributed to that permanent establishment the industrial or commercial profits which it might be expected to derive in that other territory if it were an independent enterprise engaged in the same or similar activities under the same or similar conditions and dealing at arm's length with the enterprise of which it is a permanent establishment.

ARTICLE V

The industrial and commercial profits of a Swedish enterprise shall, so long as undistributed profits of United Kingdom enterprises are effectively charged to United Kingdom profits tax at a lower rate than distributed profits of such enterprises, be charged to United Kingdom profits tax only at that lower rate.

2. Where a company which is a resident of Sweden controls, directly or indirectly, not less than 50 per cent. of the entire voting power of a company which is a resident of the United Kingdom,

Harbour and Aviation Department Annual Report, 1954.

General Review.

The main emphasis of the work of the department this year has again been centred on the operation of the M.F.V. "Philomel" and the M.L. "Alert" on the marine side, and the Beaver and Auster seaplanes on the aviation side. In both spheres the results obtained during the year have proved to be the most successful to date, and although it has been found impossible for any one section of the department to become self-supporting, it is felt that the benefit to the community at large amply justifies the loss sustained.

It is interesting to note that the staff of the whole department consists of only fourteen men at present, and throughout much of the period under review has, through leave and undermanning aboard the "Philomel" been reduced to twelve effectives. This comparatively small number have operated both vessels and aircraft, only one member of the department not being actually engaged in active operations – the clerk. From time to time even he has been called upon to act as co-pilot with the Beaver and more frequently to assist the crew of the "Alert" on long voyages for which the two man crew is inadequate.

The list of equipment operated by the department is formidable: there is the 75 ton M.F.V. "Philomel", the 3 ton launch "Alert", two motor boats, three dinghies, three light beacons in the camp, three harbour lights, four navigational beacons, and, on the aviation side the Beaver and Auster seaplanes with their associated equipment. It is therefore hardly surprising that although the improvement in the operation of the equipment of most service to the public has been maintained, little has been done during the year to improve the efficiency of the other departmental duties, namely those of Registrar of Shipping, Receiver of Wrecks and Naval Reporting Officer. Favourable mention should however be made of the particularly capable work of the clerk in attending to the accounts of the "Philomel", "Alert" and the Air Service, where a great change for the better may be seen.

M.F.V. "Philomel".

The year under review started with the "Philomel" but recently withdrawn from the coasting trade in order that Government operations should not embarrass the newly established private ventures the Inter-Coastal Trading Company and the "Gambler". This withdrawal gave the engineer an opportunity to overhaul the vessel's engines and auxiliaries, many vitally required spare parts at last being available in the Colony. This overhaul has subsequently proved its worth by nine months trouble-free operation of the "Philomel".

After this refit, which included alteration of the hold to form a mobile X-ray department, the vessel was controlled for three months by the medical department carrying out a T.B. survey of the settlements. This survey was most successfully completed, and indeed were it not for the availability of the "Philomel" for this task, it is difficult to visualise how this work could have been done either as expeditiously or economically. The actual cost involved to the Government in fuel, wages, victualling and sundry charges amounted to little more than £1,000 altogether, and by this means it was possible for over 800 persons to be examined in the camp by the Chest Specialist, 35 settlements in all being visited in a voyage of 1,522 miles.

At the completion of the survey it was hoped that the ship could be used exclusively for the maintenance and erection of the coastal lights which have, since the outbreak of the war, been sadly neglected. A start was made on this work, but before it could be completed the "Philomel" was again called upon to take part in the coasting trade when the Inter-Coastal Trading Company operating the "Protector III" suspended their traffic sine die at the end of September. Since that date it is satisfactory to note that the "Philomel" has been able to help the farmers considerably with coastal voyages, particularly in so far as Christmas mail deliveries were concerned, and has also been able to fit into some very full itineraries the maintenance of the coastal lights, only one of which now requires attention.

With a system of accounting which does not charge other Government departments for work carried out, the revenue figures for the year appear disappointing at first sight. But the only fair way to judge these now is to review the work carried out, and I feel confident that the majority of the settlers in the camp will confirm the vessel's utility to the Colony.

One last point of interest concerning the "Philomel": the vessel earned a poor reputation at one stage for the manner in which the crew (with a few exceptions) was constantly changing. These alterations in the crew naturally detracted from the efficiency of the vessel as a whole, and it is encouraging to note that under the present conditions of service only two changes have occurred during the past twelve months, one caused by dismissal. This new found stability is the more surprising in view of the high wages paid to seamen in certain other vessels, and the retention of a full crew of good quality by the Government may be attributed in large measure to the personal qualities of the Master of the "Philomel".

M.L. "Alert".

Here again the work achieved during the twelve months has been most encouraging. The "Alert" was completely refitted by the department at the end of the previous year, and among the alterations was the installation of a new Lister diesel engine – the first production model to be fitted in a boat – and the improvement of the cockpit canopy. Both caused considerable controversy and have fortunately completely vindicated themselves. The new engine has given perfect service since its installation, which is much to the credit of the mechanic who undertook the fitting without external assistance. The spare parts for this engine are interchangeable with those for the "Philomel's" winch engine, making for economy in spares holdings.

The first major duty for the "Alert" after her refit was a survey of the entrance to Salvador Waters, which was successfully carried out by a Royal Naval party from H.M.S. "St. Austell Bay". By using the chart produced the frigate was able to visit settlements in these waters shortly afterwards – the first time a warship has ventured through this confined channel for many years.

The "Alert" has also made many voyages to settlements in Berkeley Sound during the past year - generally in an effort to cut out some of the short distance passengers from the Air Service waiting list. In all over one hundred passengers have been carried in this way, not always in comfort, but at least more quickly than other means of transport would allow, and the fact that frequent visits by ministers of the Roman Catholic Church have been possible at Johnson's Harbour has been greatly appreciated by that settlement where nearly all the residents are of that persuasion.

Lights and Beacons.

As has been mentioned earlier a considerable effort has been made during the past year to square up the position regarding coastal lights - a situation which has required attention for a considerable time, but which, like much other maintenance work in the Colony, has had to give place to more urgent tasks. Belatedly this work has now been undertaken and the position is that all but one of the established lights and beacons are in operation and have received attention such as chipping and painting. If no further difficulty is experienced in maintaining these lights, the establishment of further coastal lights will be undertaken during the coming year provided this adequate maintenance can be assured.

The Air Service.

F.I.G.A.S. has now operated for six years, and during this time problems have arisen which tended to detract from the efficiency of the service provided to the public. It is only during the past twelve months that the solutions to many of these have been found, and it is now possible to say with confidence that the Air Service has passed from the experimental to the permanent stage. The late Governor, Sir Miles Clifford, stated early in 1954 "the Air Service has come to stay". So far as popular demand was concerned that assertion was as true then as it is today, but it must be admitted that in the minds of some of the more professional critics there were at the time doubts concerning the handling, servicing and flying of the aircraft which still required solution before the service could be regarded as permanent in the full sense of the word. These solutions have now been reached, or are at least in sight, and the public can look forward with confidence to a steadily improving Air Service.

Appendix 'A' to this report presents in tabular form the progress made since the inception of the service six years ago, and as can be seen, the results obtained since December 1953, have considerably exceeded those in any previous year and it is worth noting that whereas in the previous five years a total of more than one hundred passengers per month was only achieved twice, during the thirteen months December 1953 - December 1954 this figure has been reached eight times.

Examining the reasons for this rise in efficiency in detail it is found that on the operational side the utilisation of two aircraft simultaneously, better flight planning and to some extent early morning flying have been the main contributory factors. The training of the Harbour Master as a pilot has enabled the Beaver and the Auster to fly at the same time, and more than that, it has released the pilot from many comparatively unproductive flights such as mail dropping and 'of-the-route' medical calls. Unfortunately it is impossible to calculate exactly what difference there would have been in the final total had there been only one pilot available, but it can be confidently stated that there would have been a drop of at least 35% in the number of passengers carried. Tied in with aircraft utilisation is flight planning, to which more thought was given in the past year than previously, resulting in a better 'load/mileage flown' ratio. Some improvement is still necessary in this sphere and the subject is reviewed continuously in the light of widening experience. Early morning flying has to some extent increased the volume of traffic, although during the past year it was essentially only an experiment with the Auster to check the theory that the early morning weather was more suitable for flying operations. In all, early flights were made on sixty five days during 1954: none resulted in the aircraft becoming weatherbound, and on eighteen days flying was impossible later in the day. This experiment has now been extended to the Beaver, and although positive assertions are inadvisable on the meagre evidence available, it appears that it will prove most useful.

One retrograde step, if it may be called such, has occurred in the flying operations: this concerns the payload of the Beaver seaplane when compared with that of the Norseman. Strictly speaking the carrying capacity of the Beaver is only half that of the Norseman, so that in the same number of hours flying only half the number of passengers can be carried with the new aircraft. Fortunately this reduction is offset by the easier maintenance of the Beaver which has considerably increased its availability, and it must also be remembered that it was often impossible to utilise all the seats in the Norseman during a flight owing to the number of stops this would entail.

Improvement in the system of maintenance has also contributed to the achievements of the Air Service. Less time is now lost than ever before through breakdowns and lack of spare parts, although this will inevitably continue to happen as the cost of carrying complete spares would be prohibitive. Inspections of the Beaver and Auster are carried out now after 25 and 50 hours flying respectively and are rigidly adhered to in order to eliminate salt water corrosion. The use of lanoline to protect susceptible parts has proved invaluable, and after a slight amount of superficial corrosion soon after the Beaver was assembled, this problem has practically ceased to exist.

The Certificate of Airworthiness overhaul of both aircraft has been satisfactorily undertaken and that of the Beaver completed. As this involves both aircraft in turn being laid up for an appreciable period and the reasons are not always understood by the public, some explanation of the work involved is felt to be necessary in this report. In the United Kingdom, whose legislation in aeronautical matters is followed by the Colonial Empire, an annual overhaul of an aircraft is obligatory to ensure its compliance with the safety regulations. This overhaul requires an almost complete strip-down to the component parts, and the inspection is made, not only by the maintenance staff of the company concerned, but is checked by a qualified representative of the Air Registration Board, which is a Government department responsible for the constructional and maintenance regulations governing aircraft and also the licensing of ground staff and pilots in these subjects. It is outside the jurisdiction of, but works in close conjunction with, the Ministry of Transport and Civil Aviation. This independent check by a Government department safeguards against the unscrupulous operator neglecting essential repair work during the overhaul.

In this Colony no supervisory inspection is possible: for this reason the maintenance staff err, if error it can be called, on the side of safety and in cases of any doubt repair or replacement is effected.

And the fact that the pilots are on the spot to see for themselves the condition of the aircraft components does to some extent provide the independent check as there can be no one more interested in an aircraft's safety than the pilot who is flying it.

These annual overhauls will without doubt contribute greatly to the safety and operational life of the aircraft: without them the Norseman became unserviceable and a total loss after a mere three years during which it flew barely 750 hours. Ten years of life is not an over-ambitious target for the Beaver, during which it is hoped to fly at least 4,000 hours. When more adequate equipment is available in the Colony, these annual overhauls will be speeded up to some extent.

In addition to the normal routine operations of F.I.G.A.S. outlined above, one or two specialised items of work have been undertaken during the year and are worthy of brief mention: the Royal Naval survey of the entrance to Salvador Waters was greatly assisted by a mosaic of some thirty aerial photographs of the coastline taken from the Auster flying at 5,000 feet, and without these the ground party would have been involved in at least a fortnight's extra work to attain the same degree of accuracy. These photographs were taken after the party was established in Salvador Waters and their exact requirements were known, and after processing in Stanley proofs were available to the party in the field 48 hours later. A similar operation was when the Auster carried the manager of Fitzroy Farm on an inspection flight over the ditches used for draining the camp. The value of these ditches can best be appreciated by aerial observation, and it is not only the results to date that the farmer is able to evaluate, but aerial reconnaissance is useful for planning future ditching policy.

The personnel of the Air Service now consists of the Pilot, Engineer, Second Engineer and Coxswain while the Harbour Master and the Clerk also take part in the activities. Mr. Devrell completed his contract in September, his relief, Mr. Kerr, having arrived by the previous "Fitzroy" sailing. The relief was carried out smoothly without any undue interruption in the passenger services and Mr. Kerr has now settled down to his duties in the Colony with complete success. The Engineer has been placed in the permanent establishment (he was previously employed on contract) and his management of the maintenance work during the mechanic's seven months leave deserves considerable praise as extremely few flying days have been lost owing to inspections and breakdowns during the year.

Mr. Jones qualified for his engineer's licences ('A' & 'C') while on leave and has now been re-designated "Second Engineer". He is also on the permanent staff, so stability in the aircraft maintenance staff is assured for some years ahead. During his leave Mr. Jones also undertook a short welding course as it was considered desirable that one of the engineers at least should have qualifications in this subject.

Despite the failure of the apprenticeship scheme for an engineer the Government has now embarked upon a scheme to train a pilot for the Air Service from local aspirants. Past experience has proved that to obtain pilot replacements for F.I.G.A.S. is neither easy nor reliable. When the Air Service was started Mr. Spencer was obtained through the Crown Agents at a time when ex-service pilots with civil licences were finding it difficult to obtain posts in the United Kingdom since commercial flying had not then recovered from the chaos of war. By the time his three year contract had expired however, this position had radically altered and there was a growing shortage of commercial pilots in the United Kingdom. Despite attractive offers to renew his contract, Mr. Spencer left the Colony and his successor, Mr. Halls, could only be engaged for twelve months as the Crown Agents were unable to discover any pilot willing to except a longer term contract. Halls' failure here as a pilot due to medical unfitness is too well known to reiterate, and the Air Service remained virtually without a pilot until Mr. Devrell was obtained, and after a short seaplane conversion course in Norway, arrived out here. The available pilots were still strictly limited and Mr. Devrell also could only be persuaded to engage for twelve months, although he later extended his contract for a further twelve months.

A replacement for Mr. Devrell was not quite so difficult to obtain as the acute pilot shortage in Britain has been eased temporarily by the dismissal of 250 instructors employed by the civilian contract training establishments of the R.A.F., thus releasing this number of pilots onto the commercial market. Despite this temporary surplus, F.I.G.A.S. received only one suitable application for the final interview, and it should be remembered that the gross salary now offered is almost double that advertised when Mr. Spencer's services were obtained six years earlier.

From this it can be seen that the problem of pilot replacement is a very real one, which is liable to become even more acute in the future since the annual wastage of pilots in Britain exceeds the supply from the civil training establishments. A scheme was therefore drafted to train a Falkland Islander as a pilot, which had the following advantages:-

(a) by undertaking to train a local recruit the Air Service could engage the candidate on a contract for a considerably longer period than has proved possible with United Kingdom candidates. In fact, with his roots in the Colony there is an excellent chance of his remaining as a permanency and thus saving much anxiety about replacement;

(b) by establishing continuity in this way, disruption of the Service while a new pilot "feels his way" is eliminated, and it was also hoped that because he was brought up to endure the rather severe weather of the Colony a local recruit would prove less susceptible to the nerve strain of flying here than a pilot from the United Kingdom, all of whom in the past were adversely affected by this to a greater or lesser extent before the termination of their contract;

(c) the scheme accorded with the policy of training local recruits for senior Government posts.

(a) and (c) above are unquestionable: (b) remains to be proved by the success of the scheme now in hand. The cost to the Colony is negligible - the total additional expenditure necessary amounting to little more than £200 per annum for three years.

Little remains to be said about the Air Service: the reorganisation of the stores is now completed, and the accounting system is improved sufficiently to reach the standard required by the Auditor. Some useful modifications have been made to the installations during the year: a toilet for the use of the hangar staff and passengers has been provided at the hangar: petrol tanks are in the process of being sunk in the ground to the eastward of the slipway to obviate the dangerous necessity of storing high octane petrol in the hangar: with Royal Navy assistance many rocks have been blasted from the approach to the slipway, making it possible to be used at all states of the tide, although the final six feet of concrete still requires attention. A further aid to slipping and unslipping has been the provision of waist-length waders which enable the beaching gear to be quickly put on even in the roughest weather without the ground crew getting soaked. A small electric power pump has been mounted in the hangar to provide quicker and better facilities for washing the aircraft with fresh water at the end of a days flying. A landrover has been provided for the use of the staff, but it is unfortunately not always appreciated that this is intended primarily to speed up actual flying operations and not to provide a public taxi service.

During the year the Senior Meteorological Officer and his staff have made a considerable effort to improve the forecasting services provided for the pilots which has been of great assistance in enabling the Air Service to utilise the maximum possible amount of flying weather. In particular, it is hoped that the experiment of having a trained observer with pilot balloon equipment stationed at Fox Bay may be continued, as this will enable early morning flying to extend further afield with safety.

Although this is a report of past activities, some mention should be made here concerning future policy as much time and thought has been given to this matter during the past year. Basically the Air Service is faced with the problem that the present demand for passages exceeds the facilities that can be offered by the existing staff and equipment, and even those services at present provided are carried out to the detriment of various other departmental duties.

To satisfy the present demand for passages, it is probable that two Beaver seaplanes will be required with possibly two full-time pilots and the Harbour Master acting as stand-in for leaves, sickness and other occasional duties. With this establishment it is believed that the service required by the public could be provided. The operating loss would be further increased by approximately £1,000 per annum.

However before any further extension of the existing service takes place, it would be necessary to assess more accurately the effect on the Air Service of two outside factors :-

- (a) the effect of the proposed camp tracks upon the demand for passages.
- (b) the effect of a private aircraft being operated.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Minutes of the Meeting held on the 17th of February, 1955.

Present : His Excellency the Governor.

The Honourable Mr. W. F. McWhan, M.B.E.

The Honourable Mr. W. W. Blake, J.P.

The Meeting opened with Prayers read by the Honourable Mr. W. F. McWhan, M.B.E.

1. The Honourable Mr. E. T. Fern and the Honourable Mr. S. G. Trees, M.V.O., after taking the prescribed oaths, assumed their seats in Council.

2. The Minutes of the Legislative Council Meeting, held on the 26th October, 1954, were confirmed.

3. His Excellency the Governor delivered the following address to Council :—

I should not wish this Council to approach its duties in the Budget Session, the most important and onerous of the year, with its powers impaired by the enervating effects of listening to prolonged gubernatorial oratory. I therefore propose to cut this speech to the minimum.

I should first like to record our regret at the departure of the Honourable Mr. J. E. Briscoe who has been a member of this Council for the past three years. He has served this Colony well and we wish him success in his new post in Nigeria.

At the same time we welcome the Honourable Mr. E. T. Fern and the Honourable Mr. S. G. Trees and hope they will be happy among us here in the Falkland Islands.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer will introduce the Budget later and detailed examination of it will take place in select committee, it is not therefore necessary for me to do more than touch upon one or two outstanding points. The Budget provides for a deficit of about £80,000 to which will be added a further £20,000 if you approve of the purchase of a second Beaver aircraft to which I shall refer again later. The Colony has piled up a reserve of over £750,000 because our physical resources have not been such that the money could have been spent in the past in the way that it should. We hope this year to be in a position to undertake much work which would normally have been done year by year in the past and it is only to be expected in the circumstances that a deficit should be estimated for, and only right that part of the reserve should be spent in this way. In all, the estimates will provide for £125,000 extraordinary expenditure and taking this into account a deficit of £100,000 is by no means unsatisfactory. I must emphasize that the estimates present a picture of the worst which can reasonably be expected to occur. The estimates of revenue are very conservative and in practice it may well be possible to effect savings in expenditure.

The Major Works Programme, which is the largest single item of expenditure in the estimates, is intended to make good long arrears of maintenance which should have been carried out from year to year but which have been set aside for other work which it was considered should take priority. It is also intended to deal with the difficulties of water supply and sewage disposal in Stanley, matters again which would normally have been dealt with long ago but which have been set aside for other work. The labour problem has at last been tackled and steps have been taken to secure a gang of twenty-five from Germany which will include men who already have experience of the sort of work they will be expected to do. They are being engaged on a three year contract and the first arrivals should take place about the middle of this year. I am sorry to say that we have not yet succeeded in finding an Engineer to supervise the work although the salary offered should be sufficiently attractive. Nevertheless efforts still continue and in the meantime a start can be made on the large amount of work which does not require the services of a qualified Engineer.

You will be asked to provide £35,000 to assist with the construction and improvement of Land Rover tracks connecting the farm settlements. These tracks should be of great use in making more readily available services such as medical, educational and veterinary for which Government has at present to rely on the air service which is dependent on the notoriously fickle Falklands weather. In addition these tracks should provide a considerable amenity for people living in the Camp. I am indebted to the Honourable Mr. K. W. Luxton for the original idea which is that Government should not attempt to construct these tracks which would have meant expenditure beyond what Government could afford and would represent an undertaking that Government has not the means to supervise and carry out efficiently. Instead it is proposed that Government should assist the farmers themselves to construct the tracks, by providing machinery and men to work it and by assistance in the provision of materials for bridging. The machinery which has already been ordered would also be suitable for Camp drainage if and when it is no longer required for track making. We are further indebted to the Honourable Mr. A. G. Barton and the Honourable Mr. K. W. Luxton for taking a very great deal of trouble and spending a substantial part of their leave in the United Kingdom on ensuring that the equipment ordered should be the best and most suitable for the work.

The sum of £18,000 is included in the estimates for repairs to Government buildings. This again represents money which should have been spent bit by bit over many years. Instead of this it has been piling up in the reserve and Government buildings have been falling into disrepair. Energetic steps have now been taken to set matters right and there seems a fair prospect that substantial improvements will take place during the course of the year.

£9,000 is included for settlement schools. This will be used to provide equipment for the new school at Darwin and to establish a school on the West which will include facilities for taking in a small number of boarders. The building has been so planned that it can be expanded if it is found that there is a demand for more boarders to be taken in. It is not intended that this school on the West should supersede the system of travelling Camp teachers but to provide facilities in a boarding school for those children whose parents consider that they can be better educated in this way.

The last big item of expenditure which I propose to mention is on the air service. This air service has proved a great success for which the Harbour Master and the whole of his staff deserve our thanks. The demand for passages has increased rapidly, four hundred passengers being carried in the two months following the Beaver overhaul last December as compared with two hundred and sixty-five in the same period last year. This has only been possible owing to the exertions of the staff of the Falkland Islands Government Air Service. The time has now come when the Auster aircraft must be completely renovated or replaced. The matter has received prolonged and anxious consideration as a result of which you will be asked to provide £20,000 for the purchase of another Beaver aircraft as being the most efficient and economical arrangement.

The Freezer at Ajax Bay will not operate this year in spite of the fact that this Government lent the Freezer Company £50,000 on Debenture for the specific purpose of keeping it open. The matter is now the subject of urgent correspondence and negotiation. It is as yet too early to say what the result will be. I am convinced, and I believe the majority of farmers agree with me, that a freezer would be of great benefit to farming in these Islands and that it is by no means impossible to work one as an economic proposition. How exactly this is going to come about is not yet clear but we must not let ourselves be deceived into thinking that because the Freezer at Ajax Bay, which was recklessly planned and extravagantly and inefficiently constructed, has proved a failure that it is impossible for any freezer to succeed.

As regards the activities of the various departments of Government it might be desirable to say a few words. As regards the Agricultural Department, unfortunately there will be no work for Mr. Fern to do in connexion with meat inspection at the Freezer but there is almost unlimited scope for a Veterinary Officer in the Camp particularly in efforts to eradicate worms and to improve pasture.

Education still suffers from a shortage of Camp teachers. Vigorous efforts were made to recruit teachers from the United Kingdom but they have proved on the whole unsuccessful. We are now attempting to recruit them by a new method using, with the consent of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, a private agency unconnected with the Colonial Office or the Crown Agents. We hope that by this means a greater degree of success will be secured. On the other side of the balance sheet handsome progress is being made on Darwin school which should prove of real and lasting benefit to the Colony.

The Medical Department has had a thoroughly successful year. The T. B. Survey has turned out an unqualified success owing to the fine work of the T. B. Officer and the co-operation he has received from the public. The new T. B. wing of the hospital is open and is full. In the Camp, medical services can be said to be now thoroughly satisfactory and I congratulate the Senior Medical Officer and all his staff on the work done by the Department during the course of the year.

The Harbour and Aviation Department has also had a thoroughly satisfactory year about which I have already said something. The Beaver aircraft has proved an unqualified success. The vessels of the Department have also done a lot of work. The T. B. Survey could not have been carried out without the "Philomel" and there is now a large demand for her services in the Camp. The retention of this vessel has been fully justified. The "Alert" has also had a busy and successful year.

The new Wireless Transmitter of the Posts and Telegraphs Department has proved a great success. If aërials are faulty and wireless sets have no "earth", reception will never be satisfactory, but it can safely be said that where sets are in good order and properly installed reception is now satisfactory everywhere in the Colony. It is hoped next year to instal new equipment in the Stanley Telephone Exchange which should greatly improve telephone facilities.

I have already spoken of the Major Works Programme which will be begun by the Public Works Department next year and of the increased work being done on arrears of maintenance of public buildings. The task of the Superintendent of Works has not been at all easy. Until recently he has been understaffed and in these circumstances it is difficult for work to proceed regularly and satisfactorily, since every time workmen are put on to a major job they are liable to be called off to set right some emergency such as a leaking roof or a defective plumbing system and while they are employed on this, other work comes to a standstill. However the prospects for the future seem to be much improved. Work has also been started on the new oil tanks and is proceeding rapidly and well. These tanks should effect substantial economy in running the Power Station.

Revised Conditions of Service were introduced into the Civil Service last year and in consequence the Service can generally be said to be contented and working well. A discontented Service is a waste of money and I am convinced that expenditure on the Revised Conditions will prove in practice a wise economy. The Secretariat has functioned through the year as Secretariats do, unobtrusively and efficiently. Before this Council is likely to meet again we shall have lost the services of the present Colonial Secretary, the Honourable Mr. C. Campbell. His departure will be a sad loss to this Colony which he has served faithfully and efficiently for the last three years. He takes with him the good wishes of us all.

In general it can be said that the prospects for next year are not too bad. There will doubtless again be the disappointments and delays which have irritated and disheartened us in the past but we can reasonably look forward to a substantial amount of progress being made during the year.

4. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the Table the following papers :—

- (i) Copies of subsidiary legislation made or approved by the Governor in Executive Council since the last meeting of the Legislative Council.
- (ii) Savings Bank Report, 1953.
- (iii) Report of the Director of Colonial Audit on the Accounts of the Falkland Islands for the period 1st April, 1952, to 31st March, 1953.
- (iv) Report of the Auditor on the accounts of the Falkland Islands for the period 1st April, 1952, to 31st March, 1953.
- (v) Report of the Standing Finance Committee for period February, 1954, to February 1955.

5. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, in moving the Bill "To amend the Interpretation and General Law Ordinance" said that the object of the Bill was to repeal and re-enact the Interpretation and General Law (Amendment) Ordinance, 1954. This was made necessary by an amendment to the Falkland Islands Letters Patent, 1948, and the Bill also sought to make provision to safeguard the pension of and legalize acts done by an officer appointed substantively to a post during the period when the holder is on leave pending final retirement.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary then proposed the first reading of the Bill — this was seconded by the Honourable the Senior Medical Officer and no objection being made the Bill was read accordingly.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clause 1 was agreed to with the following amendment :

By the deletion of the brackets, word and figure "(No. 2)".

Clauses 2 and 3, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

6. Introducing the Bill "To amend the Application of Enactments Ordinance, 1954", the Honourable the Colonial Secretary stated that the Bill sought to apply to the Colony similar protective measures regarding merchandise marks as exist in the United Kingdom, since it has always been customary to follow the United Kingdom law in this respect.

The Honourable Mr. A. Mercer seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

The Bill was read a second time, committed and passed through all its stages, read a third time and passed.

7. The Honourable Mr. S. G. Trees introduced the Bill "To legalise certain payments made in the year 1953-54 in excess of the Expenditure sanctioned by Ordinance No. 9 of 1953" and stated that the Bill was a formal act which sought to appropriate out of Public Revenue for 1953-54 £12,047 : 5 : 2 for certain services set out in the Schedule to the Bill which had already been approved by the Standing Finance Committee.

On being seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary the Bill was read a first time.

The Bill was read a second time and Council resolved itself into Committee.

The Bill passed the Committee without amendment and was read a third time and passed.

8. In introducing the Bill "To provide for the service of the period 1955-56" the Honourable Mr. S. G. Trees said :—

Your Excellency,

The Bill now under consideration constitutes the main business of the present meeting. I may say at the outset that the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the coming year were prepared by my predecessor, Mr. J. E. Briscoe, prior to his departure last month.

With the approval of the Secretary of State for the Colonies the present Budget covers a period of fifteen months from 1st April next until the 30th June, 1956. Honourable Members will appreciate the reason for changing the financial year which is necessitated by the difficulty of arranging a mutually convenient day for the Budget Session within the financial year as it now stands.

The effect of the alteration on the Budget to be considered is that fifteen months expenditure has to be met from little more than twelve months revenue. While the level of expenditure remains more or less constant each month, the collection of revenue does not conform as the principal items of revenue tend to be collected in the latter part of the calendar year.

I will now comment on the financial position of the Colony. In 1953 we budgeted for a revenue of £227,000. The total collected was £231,000. In 1954 we budgeted for ordinary revenue amounting to £254,000 and it is estimated that by the end of March we shall have collected £260,000. The Reserves at the 31st March are estimated at £758,000. This figure compares favourably with the Reserve of £287,000 which was held at the end of 1950. To be set off against this increased Reserve, however, is the lower purchasing power of the pound.

Turning now to the Budget for 1955/56, ordinary revenue is estimated to yield £254,000. Recurrent expenditure is £230,000 while it is estimated that capital and development works will cost £106,000, resulting in a deficit of approximately £81,000.

As I mentioned earlier the Budget now being considered covers a period of fifteen months and Honourable Members may be interested in the following comparisons of expenditure with the twelve months period ending the 31st March :—

- (a) In 1954 Personal Emoluments amounted to £66,000.
In 1955 „ „ amount to £84,000, an increase of approximately 27%.
Taking 25% as the normal increase to be expected for a fifteen months period the additional 2% is attributed to the revised and improved salaries of Civil Servants.
- (b) In 1954 Other Charges amounted to £104,000.
In 1955 „ „ amount to £145,000, an increase of approximately 39%.
The difference between an additional 25% which might normally be expected and the increase of 39% is brought about mainly by Other Charges and Recurrent Expenditure of the Department of Public Works such as an increase of £5,000 in the maintenance of the Power Plant and an additional £14,000 for repairs and maintenance to Government Buildings.
- (c) Extraordinary Expenditure in 1954 was estimated at £82,000 which included the purchase of £50,000 debenture stock in the Falkland Islands Freezer Company Limited. In the Budget now under consideration Extraordinary Expenditure amounts to £105,000, the major items of which include £40,000 for re-making the roads in Stanley, £35,000 for Camp Tracks of which £16,000 will be spent on the purchase of special machinery and £9,000 for settlement schools.

I regret that in presenting my first Budget I am unable to reveal a surplus but bearing in mind that a period of fifteen months is involved and that capital and development works include a number of items of major importance to the Colony, the overall financial position appears to be reasonably satisfactory.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, seconded by the Honourable Mr. S. G. Trees, then moved that the Bill and the draft Estimates for 1955-56 be referred to a Select Committee of the House and the Council adjourned.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary on reporting back to Council stated that the Select Committee had unanimously agreed on the following alterations and additions to the draft Estimates :—

Head V.	Education	4. Travelling Teachers' Expenses	— from £100 to £50.
Head VI.	Harbour & Aviation	26. Renewals Fund	— from £2,000 to £3,500.
Head X.	Miscellaneous	4. Subventions	— from £390 to £393.
Head X.	Miscellaneous	27. Survey of Freezer	— £1,000 (new item).
Head XVIII.	Extraord. Expenditure	10. Motor Vehicle	— £700 (new item).
Head XVIII.	Extraord. Expenditure	16. Purchase of Beaver Aircraft	— £20,000 (new item).

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary also reported that the Committee wished to put forward the following recommendations :—

- (a) That balance sheets showing the operating costs of the Air Service and M.V. "Philomel" should be prepared annually and made available to Members to enable them to obtain a more realistic picture of the costs of these services.
- (b) That, if the Harbour Master were to keep up his present average of flying hours, additional clerical assistance should be provided in his office.
- (c) That an investigation should be made into the present rate of Estate Duty with a view to reducing the rate substantially, and
- (d) That Government should not establish a Museum in the room originally earmarked for it in the Town Hall since this room could be more profitably used for other purposes.

The President then declared the Council to be in Committee.

Clause 1 was agreed to and Clause 2 was postponed until after consideration of the Schedule.

The Schedule was agreed to with the following amendments :—

Number and Head of Service.	Delete.	Substitute therefor.
V. Education	£ 15,731	£ 15,681
VI. Harbour & Aviation	22,008	23,508
X. Miscellaneous	22,554	23,557
XVIII. Extraordinary Expenditure	105,950	126,650
Total	£336,149	£359,302
Total Expenditure	£379,787	£402,940

Clause 2 was agreed to with the following amendments :—

By the deletion of the words "Three hundred and seventy-nine thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven pounds" in the fourth and fifth lines and the substitution of the words "Four hundred and two thousand nine hundred and forty pounds"; and by the deletion of the figure "£379,787" in the side notes, and the substitution therefor of the figure "£402,940".

The Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

The Council then adjourned sine die.

Annual Report on the Education Department, 1954

Historical

1. There is no record of any school having existed at Port Louis, the first capital of the Falklands, and as Darwin on his visit described the population as "rather more than half runaway murderers and rebels", it is unlikely that there was one. But by 1846, three years after the transfer of the capital from Anson to Stanley, the room used as a church served during the week as a class-room. The fourteen pupils, nine of whom were girls, contributed £18. 4s. towards the salary of the schoolmaster and Government made an annual grant of £20. Three years later the school had grown to 28, there being an equal number of boys and girls. In 1850 the children were being taught by a Chelsea pensioner, one of a number which had been sent to the Colony to form a small garrison. Two years later Government reduced its grant to £18 but contributions from parents gave the master a total salary of £44. In 1853 there were 47 pupils of whom "twenty can read and write".

2. In 1855 the first of several short-lived private schools was opened, this one was for "young female scholars" and seven children attended it. Six years later the Government School had a roll of 117, attendance was voluntary, and the schoolmaster started evening classes.

3. Meanwhile no provision whatsoever had been made for educating children in the Camp, the countryside outside Stanley, but Governor Callaghan in 1876 suggested the employment of travelling teachers. His preoccupation with the Colony's finances probably prevented him from putting this suggestion into effect. The first step in this direction came a few years later when the Falkland Islands Company built a school at Darwin, its farming centre on the East Falkland, and supplied a schoolmaster. Thus by 1880 there were three schools in the Islands: two in Stanley and one in Darwin. But for the West Falkland and the outlying parts of the East Falkland nothing was being done.

4. In 1885, the Colonial Chaplain, Dean Brandon, who in his thirty years residence in the Colony was a tower of strength both spiritually and culturally, reported that the Government School in Stanley was well attended and that the teaching was thorough, but that in the Camp education was in a very backward state. Two years later he again drew attention to the fact that neither Government nor the sheepowners, with the exception of the Falkland Islands Company, were doing anything for the Camp children. Even in Stanley some children did not go to school and he urged that attendance be made compulsory.

5. In 1891 a Roman Catholic School was opened in Stanley and continued in existence as a school for girls and younger boys until the early days of the last war. Three years later Stanley possessed five schools: two run by Government, the Roman Catholic School, a short-lived Baptist School, and a private school which was to close during the same year.

6. In 1896, twenty years after Governor Callaghan's recommendation, two itinerant teachers were appointed by Government for the West Falkland, and a few years later the Falkland Islands Company started to recruit teachers for Lafonia, that part of the East Falkland south of Darwin.

7. In 1909 an Education Ordinance came into force making provision for the employment of pupil-teachers and raising the school-leaving age to 14. The travelling schoolmasters continued their difficult work and made some progress where the co-operation of parents was forthcoming. The same is true to-day. By the end of 1919 there were two travelling teachers on the East Falkland and three on the West. Five years earlier two farms had engaged governesses for the instruction of the managers' children. A few other farms followed suit and, where the other children in the settlement were allowed to attend the governess's classes, taxation relief was forthcoming. The outbreak of the first world war seems to have put an end to this useful filip to Camp Education, though one farm is now intending to engage a governess.

8. In 1947 a new Education Ordinance was introduced under the terms of which all education, up to school-leaving age, was to become free by 1949. In 1948 Government became responsible for education throughout the Falklands and the Falkland Islands Company ceased to employ teachers. During 1952 and 1953, however, owing to Government's difficulties with recruitment in the United Kingdom, the Company again engaged teachers for service in Lafonia and at present has three travelling teachers, whose salaries are paid from public funds, and, at Goose Green, one resident teacher.

9. In Stanley, as in the Camp, education is free, and compulsory between the ages of 5 and 14; and in the Camp compulsory for all children of 5 to 14 living within one mile of a Settlement School and for all children of 7 to 14 living within two miles. Shepherds with children on a travelling teacher's beat are expected to board the visiting teacher, the teacher pays up to 25/- a week for his board, but large families and small houses - and in a few cases difficult parents - make this, at times, impossible.

10. During 1954 the Government Schools in Stanley had an average of 150 pupils of whom 25 were Infants. The Staff averaged 11, of whom two were on leave.

11. Settlement Schools were in existence for the whole of the year at: Goose Green (Darwin), Teal Inlet, San Salvador, Mount Pleasant & Port San Carlos on the East Falkland and for part of the year at Douglas Station. On the West Falkland a Settlement School was open for the whole year at Fox Bay and for part of the year there were schools at Kelp Creek and Port Howard. The staffs of these, together with travelling teachers, including those employed by the Falkland Islands Company, averaged 16.

12. The standard of education in Stanley compares very favourably with that of an all-range school in England. There is a two-year course available beyond the statutory school-leaving age allowing for more advanced work which in some subjects reaches G.C.E. ordinary standard. A pleasing feature is the increasing number of children staying on after the age of 14.

13. Camp education continues to be a serious problem. It is aggravated by the extreme difficulty of recruiting teachers both locally and overseas and by a disinterestedness and apathy among some sections of the population. There is no doubt that much of the work of travelling teachers is hampered by the attitude of illiterate or semi-illiterate parents who are too indifferent to see that their children do the homework left by the teacher and are too ill-educated themselves to be able to give the children any assistance.

14. The school year commenced on February 8th and finished on December 17th. In Stanley there were breaks of one week each in July and October and in the Camp similar breaks at times to suit local arrangements.

PART 2

II. General Survey of the Educational System and Policy

15. Education in the Colony falls into three categories :

- a. Education in Stanley
- b. Education in the Camp
- c. Further Education.

16. The Government Schools in Stanley provide education to the age of 14 with voluntary extension to 16. The seniors and juniors occupy one building, the infants another. The average roll in 1954 was 150 of whom 25 were infants. The average number of pupils staying on after 14 was 12. On September 30th the actual number of children attending the "senior" school was 136 of whom 63 were girls and 73 boys. The average attendance for the whole year was 92.7%.

17. Children over the age of 14 at school in Stanley pay 2/6 a week towards the cost of their education. This money is refunded at the end of the school year if the child's average percentage in the annual examinations exceeds 60.

18. As the Colony is too small to support a secondary grammar school a Continuation Class, as it is called, was formed in the time of Governor Cardinall to provide in some subjects a secondary grammar standard of education. It was intended solely for children of 14 to 16 years of age. In the same Governor's term of office scholarships to the British School in Montevideo were commenced. It has been the aim of the Education Department to provide as good a standard of education as staffing will allow up to the age of 14 and to raise the standard of work in the Continuation Class so that in the final year the G.C.E. could be taken at ordinary level.

19. Unfortunately the recruitment of qualified expatriate teachers has practically ceased and with such a small and fluctuating staff, a position aggravated by overseas leave, it has been found that it would not be possible to plan courses sufficiently far ahead for the examination to be taken other than in a very few subjects. Further, there is no guarantee that children will remain the necessary two years at school (see para. 18 of the Report for 1953). Though the increasing number of children staying at school in Stanley over the age of 14 shows that some parents at any rate realise that it is better for a child to be at school than to idle at home waiting for employment to turn up or to take on a dead-end job.

20. Because children are now moved up according to their ability as well as their age children of less than 14 are entering the Continuation Class. This is essential if the high standard of the overseas scholarship examination is to be maintained and if children are not to lose interest by being kept back in a class where the work is below their capabilities.

21. Since 1951 the overseas scholarships, two places each year, have been awarded to schools controlled by the Dorset Education Committee and the pupils who have taken them up have without exception done well.

III. Camp Education

22. During 1954 full-time schooling was provided at 6 Settlement Schools and part-time at three others. In addition a maximum of 7 travelling teachers were visiting children in outlying houses and in settlements without resident teachers.

23. During the past year the number of children in the Camp of school age has varied between 148 and 164. Of these 123 to 159 have received education from either travelling teachers or in settlement Schools; and 0 to 4 have been in houses where teachers are for some reason unable to stay.

24. With the coming into operation of the new 5 k.w. transmitter broadcasts to the Camp were resumed. These are on an experimental basis and take place for one and a half hours once a week. Use is made of transcriptions received from the B.B.C. as these are obviously better than anything that can be produced with the limited local resources. Where they are listened to these programmes are appreciated, but it is found that in many cases unless a teacher is present in the house or settlement the parents and children "forget" to switch on their sets.

25. A boarding allowance of £2 per month is paid during term time for Camp children who live in private households in Stanley in order to attend school there, whilst the guardians of children sent in from outlying houses to Settlement Schools receive five-pence per meal or 1/3 per day.

IV. Present Practice

26. Educational facilities have been provided for all children in Stanley, but in the Camp only to a limited extent by the provision of travelling teachers and Settlement Schools.

27. Children in Stanley are expected to enter the Infants School at the commencement of the term in which they reach the age of 5 and most parents co-operate in seeing that they do. They must in any case attend from their fifth birthdays. They leave for primary classes at 7+. During 1954 the average attendance at the Infants School was 91%.

28. The building at present in use as an Infant School is rented from the Roman Catholic Church. It was formerly a corridor between the nuns' quarters and the church buildings and is squalid, in ill-repair and totally unsuitable. The new building, which has been mentioned in these Reports since 1950 is still in course of construction.

29. The "senior" school is at present overcrowded and the design is primitive. It is in a bad state of repair and in wet weather some rooms are almost unusable.

30. The curriculum of the Government School in 1954 comprised: Religious Knowledge, English, Arithmetic, Mathematics, Geography, History, Arts and Crafts, Music, Gardening, Woodwork, Games and Physical Training.

31. In order that the Superintendent of Education may keep in touch with standards in the Camp he conducts each year a written examination of all Camp children over the age of seven. In addition he undertakes a tour of the West and East Falklands, which is as complete as possible. Teachers in the Camp use syllabuses prepared by the Education Department. Travelling teachers are given certain minimum standards that their pupils are expected to reach, a much higher standard is, of course, expected from teachers in Settlement Schools. All teachers have instructions to encourage their pupils in craft-work and natural history and there is a steady flow of library books to the Camp.

V. Policy and Future Aims

32. Education can be described as adequate in Stanley and in those settlements where there are full time teachers. But the system of travelling teachers is educationally and economically unsound. The Department has tried to keep all "beats" down to four houses, even so it means a teacher only two weeks out of every eight and the homework left is frequently not touched. A scheme for the establishment of Settlement Schools came into being in 1949 but has been a partial failure through lack of co-operation on the part of parents and those with whom it was hoped the children would live in settlements.

33. As part of their centenary gift the Falkland Islands Company offered to erect a boarding school at Goose Green on the East Falkland, the fabric up to the first £20,000 to be the expense of the Company, Government to be responsible for the next £10,000 and the Company to pay any sum above this total. The building is to be furnished by Government and will be maintained and run by it. Children of employees of the Falkland Islands Company may occupy up to two thirds of the 40 boarding places in the school. Work has commenced on the school and it is hoped to open it in early 1956.

34. Plans are now going ahead for the construction of a boarding school on the West Falkland. In the Report for 1953 (para. 33) mention was made of the model boarding school erected at Fort Howard by the owners of the farm, J. C. Waldron & Co. It is hoped that the boarding school when built will incorporate this school. It is not, at the outset, to be on such a large scale as the Darwin School.

35. A number of farms have provided school-rooms and some of them have accommodation for the teacher. They range from the "village hall" type of building with class-room and teacher's room erected at San Carlos to more simple single room buildings of sheet metal.

36. The proposed establishment of Settlement Schools (see para. 32) meant that the local teachers had to receive adequate training to man them and in order to release them for this purpose a grant was made under the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund (D/970) for the provision for six years (in two periods of three years each) of six teachers and one teacher-trainer from the United Kingdom. Owing to the fact that the scheme got away to a late start permission was recently obtained for it to continue for another year. It has been difficult to get recruits, only recently two who had been appointed withdrew their acceptances before the boat sailed, and some have proved unsatisfactory. Others have done splendid work and have brought useful experiences and fresh ideas into Camp teaching. Meanwhile, although the Settlement School scheme has to some extent failed, they are holding the fort until the boarding schools and more local teachers give Camp education a firmer basis.

VI. Evening Classes

37. These are held in the winter months in Stanley only. Attendance at certain classes by all Government employees under the age of 18 is obligatory. In 1953 the public at large suddenly took an interest in them and the number of classes and the attendances has much increased. Instruction was provided in : shorthand, typing, English, mathematics, needlework, art, navigation and Spanish.

VII. Films

38. The School in Stanley has a projector and certain schools in the Camp have strip projectors which make use of the strip-films provided by the Central Office of Information. It is intended to augment this library of 35 mm strips when funds allow. The Education Department runs Governments' Central Film Library which supplies 16 mm films to many farms and the Stanley cinema on a rental basis. The library contains films supplied by J. Arthur Rank and Co. and by the Central Office of Information. These latter films are semi-educational "shorts" and newsreels. The provision of these film projectors is a useful educational and cultural innovation besides providing a very necessary source of entertainment.

VIII. Broadcasting

39. See para. 24. Although the Broadcasting Committee arranges a good and varied series of programmes, listening, especially in the Camp, can only be said to be selective and the programmes chosen are decidedly the lighter ones. In many houses talks, plays or even light classical concerts are never listened to.

IX. Youth Activities

40. During 1954 a party of lads from the local Boys' Brigade attended the International Camp at Eton College. They spent 8 weeks in England and Scotland, travelled extensively and much enjoyed their holiday. The Girls' Club and the Crusaders' Club, the latter founded in the year under review, continue to flourish as does the Junior Football League. All these are Stanley activities, there is no scope for them in the Camp, though Folk-Dancing, which together with Badminton is very popular amongst young people in Stanley, is to commence at Port Howard. As has been mentioned before in these Reports, dancing is the main form of entertainment, both in the Camp and Stanley, and the late hour at which these functions start and the very much later hour at which they finish cannot have a good effect on the health of young people; Especially is this so in the Camp where the rule that no child under 16 may attend is not applied and where young children are kept up to the early hours of the morning.

X. Teachers - Conditions of Service

41. The senior classes in Stanley are taught by qualified teachers recruited from, or trained in, the United Kingdom. The arrangement made with the Education Committee of the Dorset County Council by which it was hoped that teachers would be seconded to the Falklands has not succeeded. During the year under review new salary scales have been introduced. Certificated women teachers receive £400 - £460 per annum and, if eligible, an expatriation allowance of £100. Certificated men £420 - £650 together with, if entitled to it, an expatriation allowance of £100 in the lower parts of the scale and £140 in the upper. Locally recruited or uncertificated male teachers receive £180 - £400 and women £180 to £350. Expatriation allowances may be paid.

42. Despite these new salary scales recruitment overseas becomes increasingly difficult and each revision of the Burnham Scale makes the position worse.

XI. Qualifications

43. Both certificated and uncertificated teachers are recruited, from the United Kingdom. Locally recruited teachers must now have spent at least two years in the Continuation Class (see para. 18) or its equivalent, they then receive two years training, one year in the Stanley schools with a teacher-trainer and one year with a class.

XII. Legislation and Administration

44. No legislation directly concerned with Education or the welfare of young people was passed in 1954.

45. The Superintendent of Education is responsible for education throughout the Colony, the work of the teachers employed by the Falkland Islands Company being subject to inspection by him. The majority of premises used as school-rooms on farms are the property of the farms.

46. Under the Education Ordinance of 1947 parents are required to have their children educated wherever there is a school and wherever classes are held by a teacher (see para. 9).

47. Parents are encouraged to send their children to school at the commencement of the term in which they reach the age of five and they must remain at school until the end of the term in which they reach the age of 14. They may, if they choose, stay on a further two years doing more advanced work in the Continuation Class (see para. 18).

48. The Falkland Islands Company now employs four teachers on their large farm in Lafonia on the East Falkland. Syllabuses prepared in the Education Department are used.

49. The staff of the Government Schools in Stanley on September 30th, 1954 consisted of the Superintendent of Education, who is also headmaster, three assistant masters and six assistant mistresses. In the Camp on the same date there were, excluding the employees of the Falkland Islands Company, two male and four female teachers. In addition there were five temporary teachers and one honorary teacher employed in settlements or outlying houses.

XIII. Advisory Boards and Committees

50. The Scholarship Committee consists of the Colonial Secretary, two members nominated by the Governor and the Superintendent of Education. (see para. 55).

XIV. Finance

51. Expenditure from Colonial Revenue for the period 1953/54 amounted to £9247 and under the Colonial Development and Welfare Scheme D/970 to £1131. As all schools are "all-range" it is not possible to give separate figures for secondary and primary education.

52. Overseas scholarships in the financial period under review cost £781 and administration for the same period £616.

XV. Primary Education

53. The Infants' Department in Stanley usually contains three classes and numbers in the "senior" school are sufficiently high to allow of four classes in the primary section. In the Camp numbers are so small that work is on an individual basis and there are no defined junior and senior sections.

XVI. Secondary and Technical Education

54. There is no secondary grammar and technical education in the Colony. (See para. 18).

XVII. Overseas Scholarships

55. Up to two scholarships are awarded annually to boarding grammar schools in England controlled by the Dorset County Council. Two Scholarships are not necessarily awarded each year, not because there is a dearth of suitable children but because there is an unwillingness on the part of many intelligent children to enter for a scholarship which will take them away from home for three years. Those children who have taken up scholarships have, without exception, done very well.

XVIII. Training of Teachers

56. The shortage of local applicants for teaching posts is almost as serious as that for posts advertised in the United Kingdom. Locally recruited teachers must have spent two years in the Continuation Class, or its equivalent and then receive two years training, one year being in Stanley under a teacher-trainer and the second year with a class which is kept under supervision.

XIX. Physical Conditions in Schools

57. The Government School in Stanley is a wooden building nearly 50 years old, which has served its purpose and requires replacement.

58. The Infants' School is an even worse building, the state of which has been described in previous reports. The construction of a new Infants' School is nearing completion.

59. Many of the farms have school-rooms which have been erected by the owners. Some are converted Nissen huts, others are more elaborate building (see para. 35) Peat is used for heating. (See para. 61 of 1953 Report).

XX. Playing Fields

60. The children in Stanley may make use of the playing fields in the Government House paddocks. In the Camp organised games are only possible where numbers allow. Almost without exception the children in the Camp are good riders and walkers and get plenty of out-door exercise.

XXI. Social and Moral Welfare

61. Religious Knowledge forms an important part of the syllabus of the schools in Stanley and it is included in the syllabus of all Camp teachers. Unfortunately there are changes of teacher and periods when there is no teacher and as a result the Camp teacher tends to concentrate, and rightly on the Three R's. The position on the West is much worse than on the East and for that reason it is hoped that the headmaster of the new boarding school there will be a parson (see para. 34).

62. There are no facilities for the education of the physically or mentally defective in the Colony, of which there are practically none. There is an annual medical and dental inspection of all school children in Stanley whilst children in the Camp are seen whenever the doctor or dentist is visiting the settlement. The chest specialist continued and completed his examination of children during 1954.

63. The School Savings Scheme, which commenced in 1951, has continued to flourish and the amount saved is nearly £2000.

64. The Boys' Brigade, the Girl's Club and the Crusaders' Class, none of which are directly connected with the Education Department, offer valuable opportunities for leadership and the Department gives any assistance required of it.

XXII. Adult Education

65. See para. 37. There is a local branch of the Red Cross and Order of St. John and a Spinners and Weavers Guild. Stanley has an excellent public library, with a children's section, and the Falkland Islands Company has a good subscription library. The Superintendent of Education has recently been appointed honorary curator of the museum. This was destroyed by fire some years ago and the exhibition must be rebuilt from scratch. There is a keen local interest in natural history. The Broadcast Advisory Committee has continued to provide good material in its programmes, many of which are of real educational value (see para. 24).

STAFF CHANGES.

With the resumption of the Government Medical Service in Lafonia, the vacancy at Darwin was filled by Dr. Ashmore, who arrived in the Colony on the 10th February. Dr. Grave arrived on the 21st February, and relieved Dr. Szeley at Fox Bay. Dr. Szeley left the Colony on 9.3.54. Dr. Hillenbrand left the Colony in May, travelling to the U.K. as M.O. in the R.R.S. "John Biscoe". Dr. Grave remained at Fox Bay till 7.8.54, when he was transferred to Stanley. His place in the West Falkland was taken by Dr. Greenaway, who arrived from England on the 29th July.

Dr. Richter completed his T.B. Survey of the Islands in November, and went on leave on the 20th November.

The Colonial Dentist, Mr. Laternmann, went on leave in March. Just before he was due to return to the Colony, he fell ill, and terminated his contract.

Dr. Schönfeld arrived in the Colony in February. In the absence of the Colonial Dentist, he remained in Stanley.

NURSING STAFF. Miss Mackintosh arrived in the Colony on 16.9.54, to relieve Miss Johnston, who went on leave in October. Mrs. Fleuret went on leave in June. Miss Stellfeld arrived at the end of July, as Tuberculosis Sister. This is a new appointment, made necessary by the opening of the T.B. Wing of the hospital.

The local recruitment of nurses has been very much better, and four Falkland Island nurses were appointed on probation during the year.

III. PUBLIC HEALTH.

There were no epidemics during the year. The general health of the community was good, in spite of a long Winter and much less sunshine than usual. The incidence of upper respiratory tract infections was above average, but in most cases the illness was not severe.

The investigation and treatment of tuberculosis was a major work in the Medical Department programme. Dr. Richter completed the T.B. survey of the Falklands in November. A summary of his report is as follows :

Number of persons examined in Stanley	1,109
" " " " " the Camp	972
Total	2,081
Total population on 31.10.54	2,230
Percentage of the total population examined	93%

Result of the examination :

(1) Pulmonary tuberculosis
(a) active	39
(b) inactive	60
(c) doubtful	21
Total	120
(2) Extra-pulmonary tuberculosis
(a) bone	4
(b) T.B. Laryngitis	1
(c) T.B. peri-anal abscess	2
(d) T.B. cervical gland	1
Total	8

In 4 of these 8 cases, pulmonary tuberculosis was also present.

(3) Non-tubercular disease	16.

Tuberculin tests. 606 persons were tested for Tuberculin sensitivity. 579 were examined after the test. Of these, 81 showed positive reactions, and 498 had no reaction.

B.C.G. vaccination. All Tuberculin-negative reactors in Stanley, with three exceptions, and all at Goose Green and Port Stephens – a total of 304 – were vaccinated with "B.C.G. Dry frozen Vaccine Behringwerke". The conversion rate in 65 persons, tested 6 to 8 months after B.C.G. vaccination, was 92.3%.

Treatment. With the completion of the T.B. Wing of the hospital in August, 1954, 10 beds and 3 cots became available for the treatment of tuberculous patients. 18 patients were treated in hospital, and 17 in their own homes. Two cases were sent to England for major surgical treatment, which has been successfully carried out.

The treatment of all T.B. patients is free, and Government introduced a scheme to give financial help to T.B. parents and their dependents.

The T.B. survey has shown that the incidence of tuberculosis is more than twice as high in Stanley than in the Camp, and much higher than in the U.K. The actual numbers, however, are such that all cases can be closely watched and treated.

Dr. Richter concluded his report as follows :

"It can be assumed that, after the nearly complete survey of the population, the isolation and treatment of the infectious cases, the B.C.G. vaccination of most of the negative reactors in Stanley children, there will be a marked decrease of mortality and morbidity in subsequent years."

IV. HYGIENE AND SANITATION.

1. SEWAGE DISPOSAL. The Town Council employs two night soil collectors. Householders who have not installed modern conveniences in their homes are encouraged to do so.

2. WATER SUPPLY. The water supply for Stanley is inadequate. Not only are the storage tanks and reservoirs too small, but the supply of water is not sufficient at times. There was an acute water shortage in November, following six weeks of drought, and fire-pumps were in almost continuous use to pump water from the Moody Valley stream. This stream will be the source of water in the scheme planned by Major Pape. There has been no labour available to start on the new water scheme, and efforts to recruit labour from Britain have failed.

The following data have been supplied by the Town Clerk :

Average daily water consumption	30,000 gals.	35,000 gals.
Total number of houses in Stanley	342	343
Properties connected to main water supply ...	315	318
Water connected to the mains	4	3
Reservoir Storage	481,000 gals.	481,000 gals.
Hydrants on Water main	38	38
Connections to main sewer	282	289
Water closets installed	13	7

3. DAIRIES. There are three licensed dairies in Stanley, which are inspected by the Sanitary Inspector. The dairy herds are inspected by the Agricultural Department, and all animals are Tuberculin-tested. There were no reactors.

4. SLAUGHTER-HOUSES. There are two slaughter-houses in Stanley, which are regularly inspected by the Sanitary Inspector.

V. K. E. M. HOSPITAL.

All major alterations and additions to the hospital were completed in the course of the year, with the exception of the laundry, on which work is still continuing. The laundry will be an all-electric one, and its completion will lessen one of the major difficulties we have in running the hospital.

Much work had to be done on the old hospital building. The wooden piles on which the structure was built had all to be replaced ; the corridor had to be re-floored ; several partitions were pulled down and others erected. Now, on the North side, are four wards with ten beds for T.B. patients and, adjoining the Churchill Wing, a private maternity ward and the labour ward. On the North side, too, is a large sitting-room for convalescent T.B. patients. On the South side there are three small wards for T.B. cases, sluice-rooms, bath-rooms and a large store-room. In the fore-ground of the hospital two revolving chalets have been built. These are used by day only, and have proved most useful.

VI. MEDICAL SERVICES IN THE CAMP.

For Medical purposes, the Falklands are divided into three areas – Stanley and the North Camp, Lafonia and West Falklands. The S.M.O. and one M.O. are stationed in Stanley and see all the patients in Stanley and the North Camp. One M.O. lives at Darwin, in Lafonia, and deals with all the medical cases in his area. In the West Falkland, a doctor is stationed at Fox Bay. His patients live in the West Falkland and in the many islands to the North and West of it.

All settlements on the main East and West Falklands can communicate direct with a doctor by telephone; out-lying houses and the islands have radio-telephones.

Standard Medical Chests are provided at all settlements. When necessary, advice on the use of their contents – medicines, splints and dressings – can be given by telephone or R/T.

The Government Air Service is available for the transport of doctors and patients. As a rule, the Camp doctors ride to their patients but, when it is convenient, or necessary, they are flown. The Government-owned M.V. "Philomel" is also at the call of the Medical Department, and is used in emergency when the aircraft can not be used.

The system is practical and efficiently meets the peculiar needs of a roadless country of mountain ranges, great areas of peat bog and many islands, inhabited by a widely-scattered population.

VII. PRISONS AND ASYLUMS.

The gaol in Stanley is the only one in the Colony. The building is old, and would be much improved by some major alterations.

There is no asylum in the Colony. Cases requiring institutional care and treatment are accommodated in the United Kingdom. No cases were certified during 1954.

VIII. METEOROLOGICAL.

The following data have been supplied by the Chief Meteorological Officer :-

		1953.	1954.
Total annual rainfall	25.63 inches	25.21 inches
Average daily sunshine	4.51 hours	4.77 hours
Maximum temperature	77°F.	69°F.
Minimum ,,	23°F.	23°F.
Mean relative humidity	85%	85%
Mean wind speed	15.1 knots	16.8 knots
Number of periods of calm	4 per month.	3 per month

IX. DEPENDENCIES.

The three Whaling Stations at South Georgia have their own medical organisation, and no returns are received from them.

A new hospital has been built at Leith Harbour ; it is commodious, and well equipped.

Mr. R. A. Duncan, B.D.S., was appointed Dental Surgeon for South Georgia and arrived on the island in January, 1954. He found much work to be done, and had a busy year. His salary has been paid from Dependencies Funds.

Four medical practitioners were registered to practise in the Dependencies in 1954. Dr. W. Turner was stationed at Hope Bay, Grahamland, throughout the year.

DENTAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1954.

Mr. Latermann, Colonial Dentist, went on leave in March, and was unable to return to the Colony. Dr. Schönfeld, who came out in February as Camp Dentist, had to remain in Stanley for the greater part of the year. He made several short emergency visits to various settlements and, in December, started his long-delayed tour of the West Falkland. He has submitted the following report :

1. STAFF.

Colonial Dentist	...	E. Latermann
Camp Dentist	...	L. Schönfeld
Dental Mechanic	...	W. Hasenhöller
Dental Apprentice	...	N. Bennett

2. EQUIPMENT. The Dental Surgery and laboratory are well equipped. New equipment for metal casting was obtained and was much used.

3. STOCKS. Much inconvenience was caused by the late arrival of orders from Britain and some items, urgently required, had to be bought in Uruguay.

4. DENTAL HEALTH OF THE COLONY.

(a) Stanley. The present state of dental health in Stanley is good, but it is regrettable to find so many people wearing dentures. Now that more conservative treatment can be given by the fitting of crowns and bridges, people are keener to have these than to lose their teeth.

Children are still not paying sufficient attention to the care of their teeth, and parents should be encouraged to insist on their children brushing their teeth regularly.

(b) Camp. The dental position in the Camp is poor. Too often, teeth are found so badly decayed that extraction and the fitting of a denture is the only treatment possible. Although much was done by the Camp Dentist last year, there still remains much to do.

5. SUMMARY OF TREATMENT AND WORK.

(a) Oral surgery.

Resection of gum	5
Excision of fibroma	6
„ „ peri-apical cyst	3
„ „ submucous cyst	2
Levelling of mandible	7
Removal of foreign body from jaw	1

Extraction of buried roots	8

CONVENTION BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED KINGDOM OF GREAT BRITAIN AND NORTHERN IRELAND AND THE GOVERNMENT OF THE KINGDOM OF DENMARK FOR THE AVOIDANCE OF DOUBLE TAXATION AND THE PREVENTION OF FISCAL EVASION WITH RESPECT TO TAXES ON INCOME.

Desiring to conclude a Convention for the avoidance of double taxation and the prevention of fiscal evasion with respect to taxes on income,

Have appointed for that purpose as their Plenipotentiaries :

The Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland :

The Right Honourable Ernest Bevin, M.P., Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs ;

The Government of the Kingdom of Denmark :

His Excellency Count Eduard Reventlow, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of Denmark in London :

ARTICLE I

1. The taxes which are the subject of the present Convention are :

- (a) In Denmark :

The national income tax (including the extraordinary company tax) (hereinafter referred to as "Danish tax").

- (b) In the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland :

The income tax (including sur-tax) and the profits tax (hereinafter referred to as "United Kingdom tax").

2. The present Convention shall also apply to any other taxes of a substantially similar character imposed in Denmark or the United Kingdom subsequently to the date of signature of the present Convention.

ARTICLE II

1. In the present Convention, unless the context otherwise requires :

- (a) The term "United Kingdom" means Great Britain and Northern Ireland, excluding the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man ;
 - (b) The term "Denmark" means the Kingdom of Denmark, excluding the Faroe Islands and Greenland ;
 - (c) The terms "one of the territories" and "the other territory" mean the United Kingdom or Denmark, as the context requires ;
 - (d) The term "tax" means United Kingdom tax or Danish tax, as the context requires ;
 - (e) The term "person" includes any body of persons, corporate or not corporate ;
 - (f) The term "company" means any body corporate ;
 - (g) The terms "resident of the United Kingdom" and "resident of Denmark" mean respectively any person who is resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax and not resident in Denmark for the purposes of Danish tax, and any person who is resident in Denmark for the purposes of Danish tax and not resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of the United Kingdom tax ; a company shall be regarded as resident in the United Kingdom if its business is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom and as resident in Denmark if its business is managed and controlled in Denmark ;
 - (h) The terms "resident of one of the territories" and "resident of the other territory" mean a person who is a resident of the United Kingdom or a person who is a resident of Denmark, as the context requires ;
 - (i) The terms "United Kingdom enterprise" and "Danish enterprise" mean respectively an industrial or commercial enterprise or undertaking carried on by a resident of the United Kingdom and an industrial or commercial enterprise or undertaking carried on by a resident of Denmark, and the terms "enterprise of one of the territories" and "enterprise of the other territory" mean a United Kingdom enterprise or a Danish enterprise, as the context requires ;
 - (j) The term "industrial or commercial profits" includes rents or royalties in respect of cinematograph films ;
 - (k) The term "permanent establishment" when used with respect to an enterprise of one of the territories, means a branch, management, factory, or other fixed place of business but does not include an agency unless the agent has, and habitually exercises, a general authority to negotiate and conclude contracts on behalf of such enterprise or has a stock of merchandise from which he regularly fills orders on its behalf. In this connexion—

- (i) An enterprise of one of the territories shall not be deemed to have a permanent establishment in the other territory merely because it carries on business dealings in that other territory through a bona fide broker or general commission agent acting in the ordinary course of his business as such ;
- (ii) The fact that an enterprise of one of the territories maintains in the other territory a fixed place of business exclusively for the purchase of goods or merchandise shall not of itself constitute that fixed place of business a permanent establishment of the enterprise ;
- (iii) The fact that a company which is a resident of one of the territories has a subsidiary company which is a resident of the other territory or which carries on a trade or business in that other territory (whether through a permanent establishment or otherwise) shall not of itself constitute that subsidiary company a permanent establishment of its parent company.

2. Where under this Convention any income is exempt from tax in one of the territories if (with or without other conditions) it is subject to tax in the other territory, and that income is subject to tax in that other territory by reference only to the amount thereof which is remitted to or received in that other territory, the exemption to be allowed under this Convention in the first-mentioned territory shall apply only to the amount so remitted or received.

3. In the application of the provisions of the present Convention by one of the High Contracting Parties any term not otherwise defined shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the meaning which it has under the laws in force in the territory of that Party relating to the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention.

ARTICLE III

1. The industrial or commercial profits of a United Kingdom enterprise shall not be subject to Danish tax unless the enterprise carries on a trade or business in Denmark through a permanent establishment situated therein. If it carries on a trade or business as aforesaid, tax may be imposed on those profits by Denmark, but only on so much of them as is attributable to that permanent establishment.

2. The industrial or commercial profits of a Danish enterprise shall not be subject to United Kingdom tax unless the enterprise carries on a trade or business in the United Kingdom through a permanent establishment situated therein. If it carries on a trade or business as aforesaid, tax may be imposed on those profits by the United Kingdom, but only on so much of them as is attributable to that permanent establishment.

3. Where an enterprise of one of the territories carries on a trade or business in the other territory through a permanent establishment situated therein, there shall be attributed to that permanent establishment the industrial or commercial profits which it might be expected to derive in that other territory if it were an independent enterprise engaged in the same or similar activities under the same or similar conditions and dealing at arm's length with the enterprise of which it is a permanent establishment.

4. Where an enterprise of one of the territories derives profits, under contracts concluded in that territory, from sales of goods or merchandise stocked in a warehouse in the other territory for convenience of delivery and not for purposes of display, those profits shall not be attributed to a permanent establishment of the enterprise in that other territory, notwithstanding that the offers of purchase have been obtained by an agent in that other territory and transmitted by him to the enterprise for acceptance.

5. No portion of any profits arising to an enterprise of one of the territories shall be attributed to a permanent establishment situated in the other territory by reason of the mere purchase of goods or merchandise within that other territory by the enterprise.

ARTICLE IV

Where —

- (a) an enterprise of one of the territories participates directly or indirectly in the management, control or capital of an enterprise of the other territory, or
- (b) the same persons participate directly or indirectly in the management, control or capital of an enterprise of one of the territories and an enterprise of the other territory.

and in either case, conditions are made or imposed between the two enterprises, in their commercial or financial relations, which differ from those which would be made between independent enterprises, then any profits which would but for those conditions have accrued to one of the enterprises but by reason of those conditions have not so accrued may be included in the profits of that enterprise and taxed accordingly.

ARTICLE V

1. The industrial and commercial profits of a company which is a resident of Denmark shall, so long as undistributed profits of United Kingdom enterprises are effectively charged to United Kingdom Profits Tax at a lower rate than distributed profits of such enterprises, be charged to United Kingdom Profits Tax only at that lower rate.

2. Where a company which is a resident of Denmark controls, directly or indirectly, not less than 50 per cent. of the entire voting power of a company which is a resident of the United Kingdom, distributions by the latter company to the former company shall be left out of account in computing United Kingdom Profits Tax effectively chargeable on the latter company at the rate appropriate to distributed profits.

3. If the industrial and commercial profits of a company which is a resident of the United Kingdom become chargeable to a form of Danish tax under which, in the case of companies which are residents of Denmark, the undistributed or undistributable income is charged to tax at a lower rate than the distributed or distributable income of such companies, these industrial and commercial profits shall be charged to Danish tax only at the lower rate.

4. Where a company which is a resident of the United Kingdom beneficially owns not less than 50 per cent. of the entire ordinary share capital of a company which is a resident of Denmark, distributed or distributable income payable by the latter company to the former company shall be left out of account in computing the liability of the latter company to Danish tax at any higher rate appropriate to distributed or distributable income, and this shall apply, in particular, in computing the liability of the latter company to that part of the Danish extraordinary tax on companies known as Udbyttelste.

ARTICLE VI

1. Notwithstanding the provisions of Articles III, IV and V, profits which a resident of one of the territories derives from operating ships or aircraft shall be exempt from tax in the other territory.

2. The Agreement dated 18th December, 1924, between the United Kingdom and Denmark for the reciprocal exemption from Income Tax in certain cases of profits accruing from the business of shipping shall not have effect for any year or period for which the present Convention has effect.

ARTICLE VII

1. (a) Dividends paid by a company which is a resident of the United Kingdom to a resident of Denmark, who is subject to tax in Denmark in respect thereof and does not carry on a trade or business in the United Kingdom through a permanent establishment situated therein, shall be exempt from United Kingdom sur-tax.

(b) Dividends paid by a company which is a resident of Denmark to a resident of the United Kingdom, who is subject to tax in the United Kingdom in respect thereof and does not carry on a trade or business in Denmark through a permanent establishment situated therein, shall not be chargeable to tax in addition to the tax on the profits out of which the dividends are paid at a rate exceeding 5 per cent. : Provided that where the resident of the United Kingdom is a company which beneficially owns not less than 50 per cent. of the entire ordinary share capital of the company paying the dividends, the dividends shall be exempt from any such tax on dividends.

2. Where a company which is a resident of one of the territories derives profits or income from sources within the other territory, there shall not be imposed in that other territory any form of taxation on dividends paid by the company to persons not resident in that other territory, or any tax in the nature of undistributed profits tax on undistributed profits of the company, whether or not those dividends or undistributed profits represent, in whole or in part, profits or income so derived.

ARTICLE VIII

1. Any interest or royalty derived from sources within one of the territories by a resident of the other territory, who is subject to tax in that other territory in respect thereof and does not carry on a trade or business in the first-mentioned territory through a permanent establishment situated therein, shall be exempt from tax in that first-mentioned territory ; but no exemption shall be allowed in respect of interest paid by a company which is a resident of one of the territories to a company which is a resident of the other territory where the latter company controls, either directly or indirectly, more than 50 per cent. of the entire voting power of the former company.

2. In this Article—

3. Where any interest or royalty exceeds a fair and reasonable consideration in respect of the indebtedness or rights for which it is paid, the exemption provided by the present Article shall apply only to so much of the interest or royalty as represents such fair and reasonable consideration.

4. Any capital sum derived from one of the territories from the sale of patent rights by a resident of the other territory, who does not carry on a trade or business in the first-mentioned territory through a permanent establishment situated therein, shall be exempt from tax in that first-mentioned territory.

2. Subject to the provisions of the law of the United Kingdom regarding the allowance as a credit against United Kingdom tax of tax payable in a territory outside the United Kingdom, Danish tax payable, whether directly or by deduction, in respect of income from sources within Denmark shall be allowed as a credit against the United Kingdom tax payable in respect of that income. Where such income is an ordinary dividend paid by a company resident in Denmark, the credit shall take into account (in addition to any Danish tax appropriate to the dividend) the Danish tax payable by the company in respect of its profits; and, where it is a dividend paid on participating preference shares and representing both a dividend at the fixed rate to which the shares are entitled and an additional participation in profits, the Danish tax so payable by the company shall likewise be taken into account in so far as the dividend exceeds that fixed rate.

3. United Kingdom tax payable, whether directly or by deduction, in respect of income from sources within the United Kingdom shall be allowed as a deduction from the Danish tax payable in respect of that income. Provided that the amount of the deduction shall not exceed the proportion of the Danish tax which such income chargeable to Danish tax bears to the total income chargeable to Danish tax. For the purposes of this paragraph only, the expression "Danish tax" shall include the Danish inter-municipal income tax.

4. In the case of a person who is resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax and is also resident in Denmark for the purposes of Danish tax, the provisions of paragraph 2 of this article shall apply in relation to income which that person derives from sources within Denmark, and the provisions of paragraph 3 of this Article shall apply in relation to income which he derives from sources within the United Kingdom. If such person derives income from sources outside both the United Kingdom and Denmark, tax may be imposed on that income in both the territories (subject to the laws in force in the territories and to any Convention which may exist between either of the High Contracting Parties and the territory from which the income is derived). A credit shall be allowed in accordance with paragraph 2 of this Article against any United Kingdom tax payable in respect of that income, equal to that proportion of the United Kingdom tax or the Danish tax on that income, whichever is the less, which such person's income from sources within the United Kingdom bears to the sum of his income from sources within the United Kingdom and his income from sources within Denmark; and a deduction shall be allowed in accordance with paragraph 3 of this Article against any Danish tax payable in respect of that income equal to that proportion of the United Kingdom tax or the Danish tax on that income, whichever is the less, which such person's income from sources within Denmark bears to the sum of his income from sources within the United Kingdom and his income from sources within Denmark.

5. For the purposes of this Article, profits or remuneration for personal (including professional) services performed in one of the territories shall be deemed to be income from sources within that territory, and the services of an individual whose services are wholly or mainly performed in ships or aircraft operated by a resident of one of the territories shall be deemed to be performed in that territory.

ARTICLE XVIII

1. The taxation authorities of the High Contracting Parties shall exchange such information (being information which is at their disposal under their respective taxation laws in the normal course of administration) as is necessary for carrying out the provisions of the present Convention or for the prevention of fraud or for the administration of statutory provisions against legal avoidance in relation to the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention. Any information so exchanged shall be treated as secret and shall not be disclosed to any persons other than those concerned with the assessment and collection of the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention. No information as aforesaid shall be exchanged which would disclose any trade, business, industrial or professional secret or trade process.

2. As used in this Article, the term "taxation authorities" means, in the case of the United Kingdom, the Commissioners of Inland Revenue or their authorised representatives; in the case of Denmark, the Director-General of Taxation or his authorised representative; and, in the case of any territory to which the present Convention is extended under Article XX, the competent authority for the administration in such territory of the taxes to which the present Convention applies.

ARTICLE XIX

1. The nationals of one of the High Contracting Parties shall not be subjected in the territory of the other High Contracting Party to any taxation or any requirement connected therewith which is other, higher, or more burdensome than the taxation and connected requirements to which the nationals of the latter Party are or may be subjected.

2. The enterprises of one of the territories, whether carried on by a company, a body of persons or by individuals alone or in partnership, shall not be subjected in the other territory, in respect of profits or capital attributable to their permanent establishments in that other territory, to any taxation which is other, higher or more burdensome than the taxation to which the enterprises of that other territory similarly carried on are or may be subjected in respect of the like profits or capital.

3. The income, profits and capital of an enterprise of one of the territories, the capital of which is wholly or partly owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by a resident or residents of the other territory shall not be subjected in the first-mentioned territory to any taxation which is other, higher or more burdensome than the taxation to which other enterprises of that first-mentioned territory are or may be subjected in respect of the like income, profits and capital.

4. Nothing in paragraph 1 or paragraph 2 of this Article shall be construed as obliging one of the High Contracting Parties to grant to nationals of the other High Contracting Party who are not resident in the territory of the former Party the same personal allowances, reliefs and reductions for tax purposes as are granted to His own nationals.

5. In this Article the term "nationals" means —

- (a) in relation to Denmark, all Danish citizens and all legal persons, partnerships, associations and other entities deriving their status as such from the law in force in Denmark or in any Danish territory to which the present Convention applies by reason of extension made under Article XX;
- (b) in relation to the United Kingdom, all British subjects and British-protected persons residing in the United Kingdom or any British territory to which the present Convention applies by reason of extension made under Article XX, and all legal persons, partnerships, associations and other entities deriving their status as such from the law in force in any British territory to which the present Convention applies.

6. In this Article the term "taxation" means taxes of every kind and description levied on behalf of any authority whatsoever.

ARTICLE XX

1. The present Convention may be extended, either in its entirety or with modifications, to any territory of one of the High Contracting Parties to which this Article applies and which imposes taxes substantially similar in character to those which are the subject of the present Convention, and any such extension shall take effect from such date and subject to such modifications and conditions (including conditions as to termination) as may be specified and agreed between the High Contracting Parties in notes to be exchanged for this purpose.

2. The termination in respect of Denmark or the United Kingdom of the present Convention under Article XXII shall, unless otherwise expressly agreed by both High Contracting Parties, terminate the application of the present Convention to any territory to which the Convention has been extended under this Article.

3. The territories to which this Article applies are :

- (a) in relation to the United Kingdom : any territory other than the United Kingdom for whose international relations the United Kingdom is responsible ;
- (b) in relation to Denmark : any territory other than Denmark for whose international relations Denmark is responsible.

ARTICLE XXI

(b) In Denmark :

as respects Danish tax for any taxation year beginning on or after the 1st April, 1949.

ARTICLE XXII

The present Convention shall continue in effect indefinitely but either of the High Contracting Parties may, on or before the 30th June in any calendar year not earlier than the year 1953, give to the other High Contracting Party, through diplomatic channels, written notice of termination and, in such event, the present Convention shall cease to be effective—

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Minutes of the Meeting held on the 16th of December, 1955.

Present: His Excellency the Governor.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary.

The Honourable the Senior Medical Officer.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer.

The Honourable Mr. A. Mercer, O.B.E.

The Honourable Mr. E. T. Fern.

The Honourable Mr. S. C. Luxton.

The Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy, B.E.M., J.P.

The Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth, J.P.

The Honourable Mr. W. F. McWhan, M.B.E.

The Meeting opened with Prayers read by the Honourable Mr. W. F. McWhan, M.B.E.

1. The Honourable Mr. A. G. Denton-Thompson, M.C., after taking the prescribed oath, assumed his seat in Council.
2. The Minutes of the Legislative Council Meeting, held on 17th February 1955, were confirmed.
3. His Excellency the Governor delivered the following address to Council:—

In the first place I should like to express our sympathy with the Honourable the Elected Member for West Falkland, Mr. Keith Luxton, who has been ill. We hope that he will recover soon and completely. Mr. John Bonner, a former Member of this Council is also ill and we hope that he too will soon be restored to full health.

It is usual for the Governor in his opening address to this Council to review the activities of Government since the last meeting. I shall try to do so as briefly as possible.

There have been a number of important developments in connexion with Education in the Falkland Islands. The new Infants' School was opened on the 11th June and this has made a marked difference to the educational facilities for the younger children in Stanley. The new Boarding School at Darwin, which marks a most important development in the history of Education in the Falkland Islands has now been completed and it is hoped that it will be possible to open it early in 1956. Mr. Honeyman has been appointed Headmaster and I have just learned from the Secretary of State that suitable candidates for appointment to the staff are now under consideration. Plans have been received and approved for the proposed new Boarding School to be situated at Port Howard in the West Falklands. This will take the form of a combined residence for the Headmaster and his wife and accommodation for a small number of boarders which can be extended as and when the need arises. Efforts are now being made to find a suitable candidate for the post of school teacher, and I am happy to say that prospects seem quite good. It is hoped that this school will be opened in 1956. A new School-house, to replace the present hut at Fox Bay is to be constructed in the new year. As Honourable Members are aware, Mr. Cawkell, our Superintendent of Education, has been appointed an Inspector of Rural Schools in the Gambia and will shortly be leaving us. During the last five years Mr. Cawkell has served this Colony well. He is a fine schoolmaster and good administrator, and in addition has outside interests which have been of much value to the Colony. I am certain that he will carry with him the best wishes of everybody in the Falkland Islands.

The main group of German labourers arrived in July for the Stanley roads and water supply projects. A Nissen Hut Camp had to be built in Stanley to accommodate them and once that was completed they were diverted to the stone quarries where it has been necessary to undertake a considerable amount of preliminary work for the roads scheme. In view of the serious shortage of water that developed in September and October of this year and the bad state of repair of the mains supply pipes running into Stanley it was decided to proceed concurrently with the roads and water projects so that a new pipe line at least could be laid and if necessary emergency pumping machinery installed in advance of the construction of the main water filtration plant. A trench digging machine operated by two of the German labour gang has now reached a point near the aircraft hangar. Preliminary work on foundations for the stone crushers and on the loading ramp is now nearing completion. It is hoped that the water filtration project will be completed by September of next year and it is estimated that the roads project will take another 2½ to 3 years to complete.

The water buffalo tractors which have been purchased for the Camp Tracks scheme have now arrived in Stanley together with their ancillary equipment. Two skilled operators have also arrived and one of them has already left for the West Falkland. It is Government's intention that in the West Falklands the first track to be drained and constructed should be that running from Fox Bay to Chartres. In the East Falklands arrangements are being made for work to start on the San Carlos/Darwin track.

We are fortunate in our Doctors and Medical staff and the Medical Service in these Islands is now of a high standard. Hospital facilities have recently been improved by the installation of the steam laundry and work has just started on the roof of the Tuberculosis wing of the hospital and on the extension to the Nurses' Home. The work of eradicating Tuberculosis has continued on the lines laid down by Dr. Richter and there are now only four patients under treatment. Routine tests on cured or suspected cases continue to be undertaken as a precaution. The Agricultural Officer is engaged in a campaign of carrying out Tuberculosis tests on as many of the dairy cattle as possible. Tests and work already done indicate that the percentage of infection amongst the dairy herds is as high as about 10%. This figure is much too high and everything possible must be done to eradicate Tuberculosis in the herds.

The Agricultural Officer has received admirable co-operation from the farmers but until this work is complete we shall never be able to say we are free from the danger of Tuberculosis.

The new Camp dentist, Dr. Schwagereit, has arrived in the Colony and, working as a team with his dental mechanic and carrying mobile equipment with him, has already undertaken a great deal of work in the Camp. Unfortunately it was necessary to repatriate the newly appointed Stanley dentist from Montevideo and subsequently it is now necessary to attempt to recruit another dentist for this vacancy.

The new Beaver seaplane arrived in Stanley on the 5th September, 1955, and was assembled in time to fly for the first time on the 29th September. The former Beaver seaplane is at present undergoing a Certificate of Airworthiness overhaul and it is expected to be ready to resume work by the end of February. The student pilot is making satisfactory progress. He has passed the Private Pilot's Licence ground examination and is now flying solo. Particular attention is being paid to the distribution and collection of mail by air from the Camp and it is intended to maintain and improve this important service. So far this year nearly 1,700 passengers have been flown, a remarkable number.

Unfortunately the "Philomel" suffered a breakdown earlier in the year and was out of action for several months. She is now running satisfactorily and directly her services are no longer required in connexion with the Air Survey of the Colony she should be available once again for her normal work. In the course of the past few months a new beacon was established at Knob Island, Fox Bay.

A new office has been obtained for the Radio Telephone Operator in the former Naturalist's Hut and a 350 watt transmitter has been installed. The necessary masts and aerials have been erected near the site and Honourable Members will doubtless agree that this has resulted in a considerable improvement in so far as this most important amenity and means of communication is concerned. The transmitting equipment now employed by the Radio Telephone Operator has made a considerable difference to the standard of reception in the Camp.

50 new Loudspeakers have been installed for rental by rediffusion listeners and a further 25 have now been ordered. Government has under consideration the installation of additional exchange facilities so that a greater number of telephone subscribers can be accommodated. During the past nine months the greater majority of incoming mails have arrived on weekends and the Postmaster and his staff have cheerfully undertaken a very considerable amount of additional overtime work. They work under great difficulties caused by lack of accommodation and it is proposed, as soon as possible, to ask you to provide money to construct new storage and sorting premises for the incoming and outgoing mail bags.

With effect from the 1st August, 1955, the Electricity Power House section was separated from the Public Works Department and established as a separate department of Government. Work on the new Power Station, which is a credit to the country, has been finally completed with the erection of two 300 ton oil fuel tanks and a pipe line feeding fuel from the tanks to the power Station.

There has recently been a big improvement in the Falkland Islands Defence Force which reflects much credit on all ranks. It has completed a very satisfactory training season with a night and day field exercise using live ammunition, and I think Honourable Members who have seen the Force on parade on recent ceremonial occasions will agree that they deserve a tribute for their fine bearing. I hope that plans for re-instituting the pre-war system of annual camps which are now under consideration will come to fruition.

Arrangements have been made through the Director of Colonial Surveys for a survey of the Falkland Islands to be carried out by an aerial photographic unit of the Huntings Group. The aircraft, belonging to the Canadian subsidiary of this firm, are expected to arrive in the Colony within the next few days. They will undertake the survey before continuing on their way to Deception Island, their base for the air survey of Grahamland. The cost of the survey of the Falklands is being met from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds.

This is the last meeting of this Council before the General Election. Membership is no bed of roses, it involves a good deal of inconvenience in attending meetings and all too often Members are the targets of ill-informed criticism. It is, nevertheless, necessary that unofficials should serve in this way and refresh and invigorate the official Members. They deserve the praise and thanks of the Public. This particular Council can look back upon a period of continuous progress with satisfaction.

I should like to conclude by thanking Honourable Members for the unfailing co-operation which they have given to me personally since I have been in the Colony. I particularly appreciate the fact that the advice I have received has been given with a wholehearted intention to promote the public interest and although there may be differences of opinion as to the means our ends have been common.

4. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the Table the following papers:—

- (i) Copies of subsidiary legislation made or approved by the Governor in Executive Council since the last meeting of the Legislative Council.
- (ii) Government Savings Bank Report for the period 1st January, 1954, to 31st March, 1955.
- (iii) Report of the Standing Finance Committee for the period March, 1955, to November, 1955.
- (iv) Harbour and Aviation Department Annual Report, 1954.
- (v) Annual Report of the Education Department, 1954.
- (vi) Annual Medical and Sanitary Report, 1954.
- (vii) Report of the Director General of the Oversea Audit Service on the accounts of the Falkland Islands for the period 1st April, 1953, to 31st March, 1954.
- (viii) Report of the Auditor on the accounts of the Falkland Islands for the period 1st April, 1953, to 31st March, 1954.
- (ix) A certificate of urgency in respect of a certain resolution.

5. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary in moving the Resolution revoking export duty on live sheep explained that Section 3 of the Customs Order imposes an export duty of 2/- per head on live sheep from and after the date of the commencement of operations of a Freezer in the Colony.

The Freezer, as Honourable Members are aware, the Colonial Secretary went on to say, has now been placed in the hands of a Receiver and consequently the raison d'être for this order no longer exists. Since the Freezer has ceased operations the tax payable in the case of live sheep exported from the Colony has been refunded under powers vested in the Governor-in-Council. The loss of revenue is negligible and Government considers it highly desirable that whenever possible farmers should find a market for surplus sheep. Such a market does in fact exist overseas at the present time and their export, as opposed to slaughter, brings revenue into the country. He then moved the adoption of the following resolution :—

"WHEREAS by Section 5 of the Customs Ordinance, it is enacted, that it shall be lawful for the Legislative Council from time to time by resolution to impose import or export duties of customs upon any goods whatsoever which may be imported into or exported from the Colony, and to revoke, reduce, increase or alter any such duties, and to provide for the importation or exportation of any goods without payment of customs duty thereon;

AND WHEREAS under the provisions of Section 3 of the Customs Order an export duty has been imposed on the exportation of live sheep at the rate of two shillings per sheep;

AND WHEREAS it is considered expedient to revoke the export duties of customs payable on all live sheep exported from the Colony;

NOW BE IT RESOLVED that the said export duty payable on all live sheep exported from the Colony and imposed under the provisions of Section 3 of the Customs Order be revoked."

The Honourable the Senior Medical Officer seconded and the resolution was adopted.

6. The Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth, seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer, moved the following Resolution :—

"BE IT RESOLVED that in view of the fact that the wife of the Colonial Secretary has been advised to proceed to the United Kingdom for urgent medical attention and as it is desirable that in the special circumstances she should be accompanied by her husband, the cost of the return passages should be met from public funds."

The Governor made clear that the payment of these passages was for a Government Official who was eligible for passages at Government expense, but who through misfortune was compelled to travel before he was due for a passage. It did not constitute a precedent for payment of passages at Government expense for members of the public in general who were compelled to travel to the United Kingdom for medical or compassionate reasons. He thanked the unofficial members with whom the resolution had originated.

The Resolution was adopted unanimously.

7. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary in moving the Bill "To impose penalties upon persons causing grass fires by negligence" said that Section 60 of the Summary Jurisdiction Ordinance, 1902, provided for the infliction of penalties, in the form of a fine, in the case of persons who either wilfully or negligently set on fire any grass or other herbage which was not in the possession of the persons concerned and without lawful authority.

This Ordinance was subsequently repealed and this section was not re-enacted in the Revised Edition of the Laws. Consequently, although in the case of an act of malicious damage, prosecution would lie under the provisions of the Malicious Damage Act of 1861, the present position is that by an individual act of gross negligence or carelessness, as opposed to a malicious act, vast tracks of sheep farming country and valuable pastures could, all too easily, be destroyed. Moreover, in such cases the only redress available to the owner of such land would be by means of a civil suit and, in this case, it is probable that the extent of damages that could be recovered from the negligent party would bear little relation to the extent of the damage that can be so easily caused in country such as this.

He did not need to remind Honourable Members of the recent example, in the case of the fire in the Peninsula here in Stanley how quickly such a fire, started in all probability by a picnic party, can get out of hand and control.

In these circumstances it is Government's view that more stringent measures should be introduced so as to provide that an act of negligence of this nature can be punished by the Courts as an offence against the law in addition to any civil damages that might subsequently be claimed and awarded.

The Bill that was now before Council for consideration contained such provisions. Honourable Members would observe that Clause 3 provided that the negligent burning of vegetation by a person who was not an owner or occupier and who had not obtained lawful authority would constitute an offence under the law.

Clause 4 of this Bill contained a very necessary provision to the effect that owners or occupiers of adjoining land should be given at least 2 days' notice of any intention to burn vegetation. It was, however, provided, as a safeguard in the case of those who legitimately burned vegetation on other farms, that the fact that such notice was given would constitute a sufficient defence to a prosecution under Clause 3.

It was Government's view that this Bill was, in the circumstances of the Falkland Islands, both desirable and necessary in the interests of the country as a whole.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary then proposed the first reading of the Bill — this was seconded by the Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth and no objection being made the Bill was read accordingly.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 to 5, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

8. The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer introduced the Bill "Further to amend the Savings Bank Ordinance" and said that the Bill had been drawn in consequence of an amendment made in 1954 to the Savings Bank Ordinance under which the end of the financial year of the Savings Bank was changed from the 31st December to the 31st March in 1955 and in 1956 and subsequent years to the 30th June.

In previous years when the financial year of the Savings Bank ended on the 31st December it was required under the Ordinance that the annual accounts be laid before the Legislature by the 31st March of the ensuing year, a period of three months, but in consequence of the change in the financial year the period allowed for the presentation of the accounts was extended to nine months.

The Secretary of State had enquired whether the Ordinance could be further amended at a convenient opportunity to provide for the accounts to be laid before the Legislature by the 30th September each year, thus retaining the original period of three months.

To do this, however, would mean creating a statutory obligation to summon the Legislature during the third quarter of the year, perhaps only to present the Savings Bank accounts.

It was proposed as an alternative that the Ordinance should be amended to provide for the accounts to be presented by the 31st December, thereby giving a greater degree of flexibility. The Secretary of State had expressed his approval of this alternative proposal and the Bill now to be considered gave effect thereto.

On being seconded by the Honourable Mr. A. Mercer the Bill was read a first time.

The Bill was read a second time and Council resolved itself into Committee.

The Bill passed the Committee stage without amendment, was read a third time and passed.

9. The Bill "Further to amend the Pensions Ordinance" was introduced by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer who stated that Clause 2 of the Bill had the effect merely of transferring the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 6 of the Principal Ordinance to sub-section (1) of Section 3 of the Ordinance.

Clause 3 of the Bill was a re-wording of the existing paragraph (vi) of section 6 of the principal Ordinance.

Clause 4 of the Bill arose out of a recommendation by the Secretary of State to the effect that steps should be taken to meet the circumstances of cases that might occur in which, though an officer had committed no offence meriting dismissal, with its attendant loss of pension, and, could not be said to be generally inefficient, it was advisable owing to his conduct or to his temperamental unsuitability or to some other defect of his character to dispense with his services. This clause provided for the grant of a pension, gratuity or other allowance at the discretion of the Governor-in-Council to any officer whose services had been terminated in these circumstances.

The Honourable Mr. S. C. Luxton seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and passed through all its stages without amendment.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

10. Introducing the Bill "To amend the Diplomatic Privileges (Extension) Ordinance" the Honourable the Colonial Secretary explained that under the provisions of the Diplomatic Privileges (Extension) Ordinance, diplomatic privileges and immunities are extended, in general, to officers of specified organisations, upon such officers who are employed on missions on behalf of the organisation, and upon persons who are representatives of member Governments on the governing body or committee of the organisation.

The object of the Bill, the Colonial Secretary went on to say, was to enlarge the field of diplomatic privileges and immunities to include non-governmental representatives and to provide that orders were so framed as to ensure that there were not conferred on any person, any immunities or privileges greater in extent than those which were required to give effect to any international agreement in this connection.

The net effect of the Bill therefore, on its becoming law, would be to widen the field of diplomatic privileges to include persons who were not necessarily officers of international organisations, but who were Government or non-government representatives of such organisations or other committees, and persons who might be employed on missions on behalf of the organisations.

In the circumstances of the Falkland Islands it was very unlikely that this legislation, which applied principally to the organisations of the United Nations would be often used. It was, however, for very obvious reasons, desirable that our legislation should be similar to that of the rest of the United Nations.

The motion for the first reading of the Bill was seconded by the Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy and the Bill was read accordingly.

The Bill was read a second time, committed and passed through all its stages, read a third time and passed.

The Council then adjourned sine die.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Minutes of the Meeting held on the 21st of April, 1956.

Present : His Excellency the Governor.
 The Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary.
 The Honourable the Senior Medical Officer.
 The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer.
 The Honourable Mr. A. Mercer, O.B.E.
 The Honourable Mr. E. T. Fern.
 The Honourable Mr. M. G. Creece, J.P.
 The Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth, J.P.
 The Honourable Mr. S. Miller, J.P.
 The Honourable Mr. H. C. Harding, J.P.
 The Honourable Mr. J. T. Clement.

1. The Honourable Mr. H. C. Harding, the Honourable Mr. J. T. Clement, the Honourable Mr. S. Miller and the Honourable Mr. M. G. Creece, after taking the prescribed Oaths assumed their seats in Council.

2. The Minutes of the Legislative Council Meeting, held on 16th of December 1955, were confirmed.

3. Prayers were read by the Reverend J. Gould.

4. His Excellency the Governor delivered the following address to Council :—

It has always been the custom for the proceedings of this Council to open with a prayer. Hitherto we have been fortunate in that one of the Honourable Members of Council has been a clergyman and I have called upon this Honourable Member to say a prayer. He is, unfortunately, no longer with us and I will therefore ask the Reverend Mr. Gould to say a prayer

On behalf of Council I welcome our new Members the Honourable Mr. Miller, the Honourable Mr. Creece, the Honourable Mr. Harding and the Honourable Mr. Clement. I am aware that some of these gentlemen, maybe all, have not sought membership of this Council of their own accord and they have either stood for election or accepted nomination from a sense of the duty they owe to the Colony. We appreciate their motives and their strong sense of their responsibility towards the public. We welcome their services which will be of the greatest benefit to this Council and to the Colony in general.

The Honourable Mr. Hardy is absent from the Colony in consequence of illness. I wish to express to him the sincere sympathy of Council and our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

In opening this Council I take the opportunity to read two messages which I have received as President of Council. The first is from the Right Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons and is in the form of a letter. It runs as follows:—

"My dear Governor,

(dated 22.11.55)

As Joint President of the United Kingdom Branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association, I am anxious to take advantage of the visit of Mr. Anthony Hurd, M.P., a Member of the United Kingdom Branch, to send by him my warm greetings and good wishes to Your Excellency as President of the Legislative Council of the Falkland Islands and of the Falkland Islands Subsidiary Branch of the Association.

The visit of a Member of this Parliament and Branch to the Falkland Islands is a rare, if not a unique, event, and it is our earnest hope that in the future others may follow in Mr. Hurd's footsteps. As Your Excellency is aware, since the Falkland Islands Branch was formed, we have had the pleasure of receiving two or three of its Members at Westminster, where they have been most welcome to us all. I am convinced that reciprocal visits of this sort are of great value in strengthening the bonds between our Legislatures as well as between this country and the Falkland Islands.

I would be grateful, therefore, if Your Excellency would convey to the Members of the Falkland Islands Branch the warm regards and good wishes of the Members of the United Kingdom Branch, with an assurance of the pleasure it gives us to see any visitors from the Islands at Westminster.

Yours sincerely,

W. S. MORRISON,

SPEAKER."

The second is from the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for the Colonies and reads as follows:—

"I am glad to have the opportunity of Mr. Anthony Hurd's visit to the Falkland Islands to send my greetings to you and your colleagues in the Legislative Council. Although in miles you are very far away from us you are much in our thoughts, especially in these times when such great interest is centred on the Southern latitudes. I should dearly like to visit your Islands myself, but alas! — I cannot at the moment foresee when this may be. Meanwhile I send you my best wishes for the New Year.

ALAN LENNOX-BOYD."

There is one more matter which I have to mention on this occasion and that is the announcement that His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh will be visiting this Colony early in the New Year. This announcement has caused the greatest delight to all of us. When learning of the visit of Her Majesty the Queen and His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh to other parts of the Empire we had all wished that it might be possible on some occasion to include a visit to this Colony, but our situation is so far removed from the main highways of communication of the world that we had hardly dared to hope that this would come about. I think it right that we should send to His Royal Highness an expression of our delight and joy at his decision and therefore move the adoption of the following Resolution :-

It is with profound pleasure that this Council has learned that His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh intends to visit the Falkland Islands early next year. Council requests that the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for the Colonies convey to His Royal Highness a respectful expression of their pleasure and an assurance that the warmest welcome awaits His Royal Highness in this Colony.

The Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary seconded the motion which was carried unanimously.

5. The Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth moved the adoption of the following Resolution :-

This Council requests His Excellency the President of this Council to reply to the Right Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons and Joint President of the United Kingdom Branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association in the following terms:-

When opening a new Legislative Council of the Falkland Islands on 21st April, 1956, I read out your letter of 22nd November, 1955, which you sent by the hand of Mr. Anthony Hurd, M.P.

The Council was touched by your message and by the fact that the Speaker of the House of Commons and Joint President of the United Kingdom Branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association should send them greetings by this personal channel. A motion was proposed by the senior Unofficial Member of Council, desiring me to reply to you in my capacity as President of the Council, expressing the deep appreciation by Council of your message and offering you as Speaker of the House of Commons and Joint President of the United Kingdom Branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association the warmest greetings and good wishes of Council. I was further desired to inform you that we were delighted to welcome Mr. Hurd in this Colony and we share your hopes that other Members of the House of Commons and of your Branch of the Association will follow in his footsteps. They will always be welcomed here.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer seconded the motion and the Resolution was adopted.

6. The Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth moved the adoption of the following Resolution :-

BE IT RESOLVED : The Legislative Council of the Falkland Islands warmly thanks the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for the Colonies for his message of greetings sent by hand of Mr. Anthony Hurd, M.P. The Council is aware of the heavy duties and responsibilities which rest upon the Secretary of State and which have so far prevented him from visiting these Islands, but if ever the opportunity for such a visit should offer it would be most welcome to this Colony.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer seconded and there being no objection raised the motion was carried.

The Income Tax Ordinance. (Cap. 32.)

Order by His Excellency the Governor in Council.

(under section 49 of the Ordinance)

O. R. ARTHUR,

Governor.

No. 1 of 1956.

Preamble.

Whereas it is provided by section 49 of the Income Tax Ordinance that if the Governor in Council by Order declares that arrangements specified in the Order have been made with the Government of any territory outside the Colony with a view to affording relief from Double Taxation in relation to Income Tax and any tax of a similar character imposed by the laws of that territory and that it is expedient that those arrangements should have effect, the arrangements shall have effect in relation to Income Tax notwithstanding anything in any enactment:

And Whereas by a Convention dated the 2nd day of May, 1951, between the Government of the United Kingdom and the Government of Norway, arrangements were made among other things for the avoidance of Double Taxation:

And Whereas provision is made in the said Convention for the extension by means of an exchange of notes between the Contracting Parties of the said Convention, subject to such modifications and conditions (including conditions as to termination) as may be specified in the exchange of notes, to any territory, for whose international relations the United Kingdom is responsible, which imposes taxes substantially similar in character to those which are the subject of the said Convention:

And Whereas by an Exchange of Notes dated the 18th day of May, 1955, the said Convention with certain modifications was applied to the Colony of the Falkland Islands: now, therefore, it is hereby declared by His Excellency the Governor in Council—

- (a) that the arrangements specified in the First Schedule to this Order, as modified by the provisions of the Second Schedule to this Order, have been made with the Government of Norway.
- (b) that it is expedient that those arrangements should have effect.

This Order may be cited as the Double Taxation Relief (Taxes on Income) (Norway) Order, 1956.

Made by the Governor in Executive Council at a meeting held on the 30th day of May, 1956.

D. R. MORRISON,
Acting Clerk of the Executive Council.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED KINGDOM AND THE NORWEGIAN GOVERNMENT FOR THE AVOIDANCE OF DOUBLE TAXATION AND THE PREVENTION OF FISCAL EVASION WITH RESPECT TO TAXES ON INCOME.

The Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the Government of Norway,

Desiring to conclude a Convention for the avoidance of double taxation and the prevention of fiscal evasion with respect to taxes on income,

Have agreed as follows :—

ARTICLE I

1. The taxes which are the subject of the present Convention are :

- (a) In Norway :

The national income tax, including the national defence tax on income, the communal income tax, the old age pension tax, the war pension tax, and the seamen's tax, and, for the purposes of Article XIX, the national property tax, including the national defence tax on property (hereinafter referred to as "Norwegian tax") ;

- (b) In the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland :

The income tax (including surtax) and the profits tax (hereinafter referred to as "United Kingdom tax").

2. The present Convention, shall also apply to any other taxes of a substantially similar character imposed in Norway or the United Kingdom subsequently to the date of signature of the present Convention.

ARTICLE II

1. In the present Convention, unless the context otherwise requires :

- (a) The term "United Kingdom" means Great Britain and Northern Ireland, excluding the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man;
- (b) The term "Norway" means the Kingdom of Norway, excluding Spitsbergen and Bear Island and Jan Mayen and the Norwegian dependencies outside Europe;
- (c) The terms "one of the territories" and "the other territory" mean the United Kingdom or Norway, as the context requires;
- (d) The term "tax" means United Kingdom tax or Norwegian tax, as the context requires;
- (e) The term "person" includes any body of persons, corporate or not corporate;
- (f) The term "company" means any body corporate;
- (g) The terms "resident of the United Kingdom" and "resident of Norway" mean respectively any person who is resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax and not resident in Norway for the purposes of Norwegian tax, and any person who is resident in Norway for the purposes of Norwegian tax and not resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax; a company shall be regarded as resident in the United Kingdom if its business is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom and as resident in Norway if its business is managed and controlled in Norway;
- (h) The terms "resident of one of the territories" and "resident of the other territory" mean a person who is a resident of the United Kingdom or a person who is a resident of Norway, as the context requires;

- (i) The terms "United Kingdom enterprise" and "Norwegian enterprise" mean respectively an industrial or commercial enterprise or undertaking carried on by a resident of the United Kingdom and an industrial or commercial enterprise or undertaking carried on by a resident of Norway, and the terms "enterprise of one of the territories" and "enterprise of the other territory" mean a United Kingdom enterprise or a Norwegian enterprise, as the context requires;
- (j) The term "industrial or commercial profits" includes rents or royalties in respect of cinematograph films;
- (k) The term "permanent establishment," when used with respect to an enterprise of one of the territories, means a branch, management, factory, or other fixed place of business, but does not include an agency unless the agent has, and habitually exercises, a general authority to negotiate and conclude contracts on behalf of such enterprise or has a stock of merchandise from which he regularly fills orders on its behalf. In this connexion -
 - (i) An enterprise of one of the territories shall not be deemed to have a permanent establishment in the other territory merely because it carries on business dealings in that other territory through a bona fide broker or general commission agent acting in the ordinary course of his business as such.
 - (ii) The fact that an enterprise of one of the territories maintains in the other territory a fixed place of business exclusively for the purchase of goods or merchandise shall not of itself constitute that fixed place of business a permanent establishment of the enterprise.
 - (iii) The fact that a company which is a resident of one of the territories has a subsidiary company which is a resident of the other territory or which carries on a trade or business in that other territory (whether through a permanent establishment or otherwise) shall not of itself constitute that subsidiary company a permanent establishment of its parent company.

2. Where under the present Convention any income is exempt from tax in one of the territories if (with or without other conditions) it is subject to tax in the other territory, and that income is subject to tax in that other territory by reference to the amount thereof which is remitted to or received in that other territory, the exemption to be allowed under this Convention in the first-mentioned territory shall apply only to the amount so remitted or received.

3. In the application of the provisions of the present Convention by one of the Contracting Parties any term not otherwise defined shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the meaning which it has under the laws in force in the territory of that Party relating to the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention.

ARTICLE III

1. The industrial or commercial profits of a United Kingdom enterprise shall not be subject to Norwegian tax unless the enterprise carries on a trade or business in Norway through a permanent establishment situated therein. If it carries on a trade or business as aforesaid, tax may be imposed on those profits by Norway, but only on so much of them as is attributable to that permanent establishment.

2. The industrial or commercial profits of a Norwegian enterprise shall not be subject to United Kingdom tax unless the enterprise carries on a trade or business in the United Kingdom through a permanent establishment situated therein. If it carries on a trade or business as aforesaid, tax may be imposed on those profits by the United Kingdom, but only on so much of them as is attributable to that permanent establishment.

3. Where an enterprise of one of the territories carries on a trade or business in the other territory through a permanent establishment situated therein, there shall be attributed to that permanent establishment the industrial or commercial profits which it might be expected to derive in that other territory if it were an independent enterprise engaged in the same or similar activities under the same or similar conditions and dealing at arm's length with the enterprise of which it is a permanent establishment.

4. Where an enterprise of one of the territories derives profits, under contracts concluded in that territory, from sales of goods or merchandise stocked in a warehouse in the other territory for convenience of delivery and not for purposes of display, those profits shall not be attributed to a permanent establishment of the enterprise in that other territory, notwithstanding that the offers of purchase have been obtained by an agent in that other territory and transmitted by him to the enterprise for acceptance.

5. No portion of any profits arising to an enterprise of one of the territories shall be attributed to a permanent establishment situated in the other territory by reason of the mere purchase of goods or merchandise within that other territory by the enterprise.

ARTICLE IV

Where -

- (a) an enterprise of one of the territories participates directly or indirectly in the management, control or capital of an enterprise of the other territory, or
- (b) the same persons participate directly or indirectly in the management, control or capital of an enterprise of one of the territories and an enterprise of the other territory, and, in either case, conditions are made or imposed between the two enterprises, in their commercial or financial relations, which differ from those which would be made between independent enterprises, then any profits which would but for those conditions have accrued to one of the enterprises but by reason of those conditions have not so accrued may be included in the profits of that enterprise and taxed accordingly.

ARTICLE V

Notwithstanding the provisions of Articles III and IV, profits which a resident of one of the territories derives from operating ships or aircraft shall be exempt from tax in the other territory.

ARTICLE VI

1. (a) Dividends paid by a company which is a resident of the United Kingdom to a resident of Norway, who is subject to tax in Norway in respect thereof and does not carry on a trade or business in the United Kingdom through a permanent establishment situated therein, shall be exempt from United Kingdom surtax.

(b) Norwegian tax on dividends paid by a company which is a resident of Norway to a resident of the United Kingdom, who is subject to tax in the United Kingdom in respect thereof and does not carry on trade or business in Norway through a permanent establishment situated therein, shall not exceed 5 per cent.

Provided that, where the resident of the United Kingdom is a company which controls, directly or indirectly, not less than 50 per cent. of the entire voting power of the company paying the dividends, the dividends shall be exempt from Norwegian tax.

2. Where a company which is a resident of one of the territories derives profits or income from sources within the other territory, there shall not be imposed in that other territory any form of taxation on dividends paid by the company to persons not resident in that other territory, or any tax in the nature of an undistributed profits tax on undistributed profits of the company, whether or not those dividends or undistributed profits represent, in whole or in part, profits or income so derived.

ARTICLE VII

1. Any interest or royalty derived from sources within one of the territories by a resident of the other territory, who is subject to tax in that other territory in respect thereof and does not carry on a trade or business in the first-mentioned territory through a permanent establishment situated therein, shall be exempt from tax in that first-mentioned territory.

2. In this Article -

(a) The term "interest" includes interest on bonds, securities, notes, debentures or on any other form of indebtedness;

(b) The term "royalty" means any royalty or other amount paid as consideration for the use of, or for the privilege of using, any copyright, patent, design, secret process or formula, trade mark or other like property, but does not include any royalty or other amount paid in respect of the operation of a mine or quarry or of any other extraction of natural resources.

3. Where any interest or royalty exceeds a fair and reasonable consideration in respect of the indebtedness or rights for which it is paid, the exemption provided by the present Article shall apply only to so much of the interest or royalty as represents such fair and reasonable consideration.

4. Any capital sum derived from sources within one of the territories from the sale of patent rights by a resident of the other territory, who does not carry on a trade or business in the first-mentioned territory through a permanent establishment situated therein, shall be exempt from tax in that first-mentioned territory.

ARTICLE VIII

1. Where under the provisions of the present Convention a resident of the United Kingdom is exempt or entitled to relief from Norwegian tax, similar exemption or relief shall be applied to the undivided estates of deceased persons in so far as one or more of the beneficiaries is a resident of the United Kingdom.

2. Norwegian tax on the undivided estate of a deceased person shall, in so far as the income accrues to a beneficiary who is resident in the United Kingdom, be allowed as a credit under Article XVI.

ARTICLE IX

1. Remuneration, including pensions, paid by, or out of funds created by, one of the Contracting Parties to any individual in respect of services rendered to that Party in the discharge of governmental functions shall be exempt from tax in the territory of the other Contracting Party, unless the individual is a national of that other Party without being also a national of the first-mentioned Party.

2. The provisions of this Article shall not apply to payments in respect of services rendered in connexion with any trade or business carried on by either of the Contracting Parties for purposes of profit.

ARTICLE X

1. An individual who is a resident of the United Kingdom shall be exempt from Norwegian tax on profits or remuneration in respect of personal (including professional) services performed within Norway in any year of assessment if -

- (a) he is present within Norway for a period or periods not exceeding in the aggregate 183 days during that year, and
- (b) the services are performed for or on behalf of a resident of the United Kingdom, and
- (c) the profits or remuneration are subject to United Kingdom tax.

2. An individual who is a resident of Norway shall be exempt from United Kingdom tax on profits or remuneration in respect of personal (including professional) services performed within the United Kingdom in any year of assessment, if –

- (a) he is present within the United Kingdom for a period or periods not exceeding in the aggregate 183 days during that year, and
- (b) the services are performed for or on behalf of a resident of Norway, and
- (c) the profits or remuneration are subject to Norwegian tax.

3. The provisions of this Article shall not apply to the profits or remuneration of public entertainers such as theatre, motion picture or radio artistes, musicians and athletes.

ARTICLE XI

A resident of one of the territories shall be exempt from tax in the other territory in respect of remuneration for services performed on ships or aircraft operating outside the other territory.

ARTICLE XII

1. Any pension (other than a pension of the kind referred to in paragraph (1) of Article IX) and any annuity, derived from sources within Norway by an individual who is a resident of the United Kingdom and subject to United Kingdom tax in respect thereof, shall be exempt from Norwegian tax.

2. Any pension (other than a pension of the kind referred to in paragraph (1) of Article IX) and any annuity, derived from sources within the United Kingdom by an individual who is a resident of Norway and subject to Norwegian tax in respect thereof, shall be exempt from United Kingdom tax.

3. The term "annuity" means a stated sum payable periodically at stated times, during life or during a specified or ascertainable period of time, under an obligation to make the payments in return for adequate and full consideration in money or money's worth.

ARTICLE XIII

A professor or teacher from one of the territories, who receives remuneration for teaching, during a period of temporary residence not exceeding two years, at a university, college, school, or other educational institution in the other territory, shall be exempt from tax in that other territory in respect of that remuneration.

ARTICLE XIV

A student or apprentice from one of the territories, who is receiving full-time education or training in the other territory, shall be exempt from tax in that other territory on payments made to him from abroad for the purposes of his maintenance, education or training.

ARTICLE XV

1. Individuals who are residents of Norway shall be entitled to the same personal allowances, reliefs and reductions for the purposes of United Kingdom tax as British subjects not resident in the United Kingdom.

2. Individuals who are residents of the United Kingdom shall be entitled to the same personal allowances, reliefs and reductions for the purposes of Norwegian tax as Norwegian nationals not resident in Norway.

ARTICLE XVI

1. Subject to the provisions of the law of the United Kingdom regarding the allowance as a credit against United Kingdom tax of tax payable in a territory outside the United Kingdom, Norwegian tax payable, whether directly or by deduction, in respect of income from sources within Norway shall be allowed as a credit against any United Kingdom tax payable in respect of that income.

Where such income is an ordinary dividend paid by a company resident in Norway the credit shall take into account (in addition to any Norwegian tax appropriate to the dividend) the Norwegian tax payable by the company in respect of its profits; and, where it is a dividend paid on participating preference shares and representing both a dividend at the fixed rate to which the shares are entitled and an additional participation in profits, the Norwegian tax so payable by the company shall likewise be taken into account in so far as the dividend exceeds that fixed rate.

Provided that for the purposes of this paragraph of this Article, the credit to be allowed for Norwegian communal income tax shall not exceed one-half of the said communal income tax.

2. Where United Kingdom tax is payable, whether directly or by deduction, in respect of income from sources within the United Kingdom, and that income is chargeable also to Norwegian tax, the Norwegian tax payable by the person entitled to such income on his total income chargeable to Norwegian tax shall be reduced by an amount which bears the same proportion to that Norwegian tax as the income from sources within the United Kingdom bears to the said total income. Provided that the Norwegian Ministry of Finance and Customs may decide that the deduction shall not exceed the amount of the United Kingdom tax.

Where such income is an ordinary dividend paid by a company resident in the United Kingdom, the deduction, in the event that it is restricted to the amount of the United Kingdom tax, shall take into account (in addition to the United Kingdom tax appropriate to the dividend) the United Kingdom profits tax payable by the company in respect of its profits; and, where it is a dividend paid on participating preference shares and representing both a dividend at a fixed rate to which the shares are entitled and an additional participation in profits, the profits tax so payable by the company shall likewise be taken into account in so far as the dividend exceeds that fixed rate.

3. Where income is derived from sources outside both the United Kingdom and Norway by a person who is resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax and also resident in Norway for the purposes of Norwegian tax, the income may be taxed in both countries (subject to any Convention which may exist between either of the Contracting Parties and the territory or territories from which the income is derived). A credit shall be allowed in accordance with paragraph 1 of this Article against any United Kingdom tax payable in respect of that income, equal to that proportion of the United Kingdom tax or the Norwegian tax, whichever is the less, which such person's income from sources within the United Kingdom bears to the sum of his income from sources within the United Kingdom and his income from sources within Norway; and a deduction shall be allowed in accordance with paragraph 2 of this Article against any Norwegian tax payable in respect of that income equal to that proportion of the United Kingdom tax or the Norwegian tax, whichever is the less, which such person's income from sources within Norway bears to the sum of his income from sources within the United Kingdom and his income from sources within Norway.

4. For the purposes of this Article, profits or remuneration for personal (including professional) services performed in one of the territories shall be deemed to be income from sources within that territory, except that the remuneration of a director of a company shall be deemed to be income from sources within the territory in which the company is resident, and the services of an individual whose services are wholly or mainly performed in ships or aircraft operated by a resident of one of the territories shall be deemed to be performed in that territory.

ARTICLE XVII

1. The taxation authorities of the Contracting Parties shall exchange such information (being information which is at their disposal under their respective taxation laws in the normal course of administration) as is necessary for carrying out the provisions of the present Convention or for the prevention of fraud or for the administration of statutory provisions against legal avoidance in relation to the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention. Any information so exchanged shall be treated as secret and shall not be disclosed to any persons other than persons (including a Court) concerned with the assessment, determination and collection of the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention. No information as aforesaid shall be exchanged which would disclose any trade, business, industrial or professional secret or trade process.

2. As used in this Article, the term "taxation authorities" means, in the case of the United Kingdom, the Commissioners of Inland Revenue or their authorised representative; in the case of Norway, the Ministry of Finance and Customs; and, in the case of any territory to which the present Convention is extended under Article XX, the competent authority for the administration in such territory of the taxes to which the present Convention applies.

ARTICLE XVIII

The Agreement of 18th December, 1924, between Great Britain and Norway for the reciprocal exemption from income tax in certain cases of profits accruing from the business of shipping, and the Agreement of 21st December, 1938, between the United Kingdom and Norway for the reciprocal exemption from taxes in certain cases of profits arising through agencies, shall not have effect -

- (a) in Norway, for any period for which the present Convention has effect in that country;
- (b) in the United Kingdom, in relation to any tax for any period for which the present Convention has effect as respects that tax.

ARTICLE XIX

1. The nationals of one of the Contracting Parties shall not be subjected in the territory of the other Contracting Party to any taxation or any requirement connected therewith which is other, higher or more burdensome than the taxation and connected requirements to which the nationals of the latter Party are or may be subjected.

2. The enterprises of one of the territories shall not be subjected in the other territory, in respect of profits or capital attributable to their permanent establishments in that other territory, to any taxation which is other, higher or more burdensome than the taxation to which the enterprises of that other territory are or may be subjected in respect of the like profits or capital.

3. The income, profits and capital of an enterprise of one of the territories, the capital of which is wholly or partly owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by a resident or residents of the other territory shall not be subjected in the first-mentioned territory to any taxation which is other, higher or more burdensome than the taxation to which other enterprises of that first mentioned territory are or may be subjected in respect of the like income, profits and capital.

4. Nothing in paragraph 1 or paragraph 2 of this Article shall be construed as obliging one of the Contracting Parties to grant to nationals of the other Contracting Party who are not resident in the territory of the former Party the same personal allowances, reliefs and reductions for tax purposes as are granted to its own nationals.

5. In this Article the term "nationals" means -

- (a) in relation to Norway, all Norwegian citizens and all juridical persons domiciled in Norway;
- (b) in relation to the United Kingdom, all British subjects and British-protected persons residing in the United Kingdom or any British territory to which the present Convention applies by reason of extension made under Article XX, and all legal persons, partnerships and associations deriving their status as such from the law in force in any British territory to which the present Convention applies.

6. In this Article the term "taxation" means taxes of every kind and description levied on behalf of any authority whatsoever.

ARTICLE XX

1. The present Convention may be extended, either in its entirety or with modifications, to any territory for whose international relations the United Kingdom is responsible and which imposes taxes substantially similar in character to those which are the subject of the present Convention, and any such extension shall take effect from such date and subject to such modifications and conditions (including conditions as to termination) as may be specified and agreed between the Contracting Parties in notes to be exchanged for this purpose.

2. The termination in respect of Norway or the United Kingdom of the present Convention under Article XXII shall, unless otherwise expressly agreed by both Contracting Parties, terminate the application of the present Convention to any territory to which the Convention has been extended under this Article.

ARTICLE XXI

1. The present Convention shall be ratified and the instruments of ratification shall be exchanged at Oslo as soon as possible.

2. The present Convention shall enter into force upon the exchange of ratifications and the foregoing provisions thereof shall have effect - for the taxable years beginning on or after 1st January, 1950.

(b) In Norway :

ARTICLE XXII

(b) In Norway :

for the taxable years beginning on or after 1st January in the calendar year next following that in which the notice is given.

Present : His Excellency the Governor.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary.

The Honourable the Senior Medical Officer.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer.

The Honourable Mr. J. T. Clement.

The meeting opened with prayers read by the Reverend J. Gould.

2. The Minutes of the Legislative Council Meeting, held on 21st April, 1956, were confirmed.

3. His Excellency delivered the following address to Council :

One of the Honourable Members of this Council has recently sustained a terrible loss. I do not wish to say anything to renew his grief, but I cannot omit to say that he has the profound sympathy, indeed affection, of us all. Another Member is in the United Kingdom recovering from a serious operation but we are delighted to know that the operation has been successful and his recovery has begun. He has our warmest wishes that it may be speedy and complete.

The Honourable Gentleman, the Colonial Secretary, when presenting the budget to you will go into the figures in detail, it is therefore unnecessary for me to do more than to describe the outline of the financial position and the proposals which will be put before you and to touch upon the past and proposed activities of Government, as is customary at the Budget Session.

Last year the budget approved by this Council provided for a deficit of £104,000 because Council considered it right that some of the money which had accumulated in reserve should be spent on capital improvement and on rectifying the inevitable shortcomings in maintenance consequent upon the extensive new works which had been put in hand in the previous few years. In the event it was found necessary to provide £40,000 more than had been estimated, for three principal reasons. £14,000 had to be found to meet our commitments on Darwin School which had not been fully provided for in the previous Estimates, it was decided to buy the dwelling houses at Ajax Bay, and it was found possible to spend more money during the period on the Roads and Water Scheme than had been expected. We also spent much more money than was estimated on passages. The Honourable Gentleman Mr. Gilruth during the debate on the budget, if I remember right, drew attention to the fact that the figure included was quite unreal and would almost certainly be overspent and this has proved to be so. An increased amount is being provided this year which it is hoped will prove a more realistic figure. On the other hand, there have been considerable savings in other items of expenditure, and revenue has turned out to be more fruitful than had been anticipated, so that the deficit is in fact only about £29,000 greater than had been expected. In return for this extra expenditure we have the Ajax Bay houses and future expenditure on the Roads and Water Scheme will not be as great as it would have been if the money had not been spent already.

Although next year it is proposed to continue with our steady programme of development, nevertheless the budget which will be presented to you is virtually balanced. We are able to continue spending money on capital improvement without dipping further into our reserves, in a very large measure because I have been recently informed by the Secretary of State for the Colonies that he has been able to approve an allocation of £50,000 from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds to the Falkland Islands for the period 1955-60. This is a generous act of Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom. Their own financial position is far from satisfactory, indeed, per head of population it is less satisfactory than our own, and they are still labouring under the financial consequences of war. Nevertheless they have provided a generous amount to help us with our improvement plans, for which we are truly grateful.

In reviewing the activities of Government I start with education because this year should be an exceptional one for education. On Saturday, the 2nd June, the Darwin Boarding School opened and this is a really important event in the Colony. You are aware that the Falkland Islands Company has provided a large sum of money towards the building of this school, which was decided upon to mark the centenary of the Company. I cannot imagine a more suitable monument and I take this opportunity to thank the Company for its generosity. We are fortunate in having Mr. Honeyman, who is already well-known here and has the confidence of parents, as our Head Master, and I also believe that we are fortunate in the staff which we have been able to recruit to serve under him. Starting an enterprise of this sort is not at all easy, as one difficulty is surmounted another one presents itself, but I have every confidence that Mr. Honeyman and his staff will make a success of their task which is of the first importance for this Colony.

You will be asked again to approve expenditure on the establishment of a boarding school at Port Howard since no expenditure was possible last year. This school is planned on a much more modest scale than the Darwin one and will at first do no more than provide accommodation for a very small number of boarders under the care and instruction of a resident master and his wife. The plans have been prepared so as to allow for extension if in the future, as the school becomes established, the need for more boarding accommodation should arise. The school building has been prefabricated and is expected to arrive in the Colony in November. It is to be built on contract and should be ready early next year. Meanwhile, vigorous steps have been taken to find a good head master since it is on him personally, and on his wife, that the success or failure of the school will depend. The prospects of securing a good one seem to be promising.

The scheme under which we send scholars to school in the United Kingdom continues to function satisfactorily. The scholars are doing very well indeed and compare well scholastically with children previously educated in the United Kingdom. Our scholars are also, as one would expect, proving highly satisfactory in other ways.

We still lack a Superintendent of Education but I hope this state of affairs will very soon come to an end and that I shall be able to announce the appointment of a new Superintendent in the near future.

The Public Works programme seems to be like the mythical Hydra; as fast as one horrid head is cut off another one grows. Much has been done on the renovation and repair programme of Government buildings but the work has proved to be much more extensive than had been expected. Those Honourable Members who are themselves responsible for maintenance of old buildings are aware that once you start stripping them down goodness knows what you will find, and the prospect of finding a job far worse than expected increases if the buildings have been neglected in the past. This has proved only too true of Government buildings in Stanley, an outstanding example being the Senior School where, when work started, it was found that the renovation necessary amounted almost to rebuilding. This has now been done, the Infants' School has been completed, most Government dwelling houses have been put in a reasonable state of repair, and further deterioration has at least been stopped. Work on the Nurses' Home which has been so long required is now approaching completion although here again, once the internal woodwork had been uncovered, the damage was found to be far more extensive than had been expected. Experiments are in hand for heating the hospital and its water supply by means of oil instead of peat, experiments which so far seem likely to show that oil firing will prove more efficient, cheaper and more economic in man power.

Much has been done but as one task is completed another presents itself. You will be asked to provide money for removing and re-erecting the Ajax Bay houses. You will also be asked to provide money to build a new Post Office sorting room which is an urgent requirement. Mails become heavier and heavier and conditions become more and more difficult so that staff which is frequently inexperienced is asked to cope with conditions which would put the most skilled and experienced staff in difficulties. This problem affects Council itself since the room provided as a Council Chamber has to be used for storing heavy parcel post and is being ruined. You will also be asked to provide money for a new telephone exchange to accommodate the new and additional equipment which should make a marked difference in the standard of telephonic communication. When we consider our limited man power available and the additional strain which will be thrown upon it by the preparations for the Duke of Edinburgh's visit, this programme is a heavy one and if the Department completes it, it will have done very well.

There remain two matters for which you will be asked to provide money. The first is the Roads and Water Scheme for Stanley. You will see that much of the money for this Scheme is being provided from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds. Last year more money was spent on the Roads project than had been considered possible when the Estimates were prepared, but this does not mean that the total estimate is likely to be exceeded. Progress made has not been showy since work has been delayed by bad weather but when actual road making has been interrupted other work, which it would be necessary to do at some stage but which does not appear for all to see, has quietly gone forward. When the concreting of Ross Road is complete, work will be begun on the Water Filtration Plant and new main pipeline from the head of the Bay to Stanley. I must emphasise that this does not mean that the road work has been abandoned. In many ways the Water Scheme is the more important but the state of the roads was such that we were losing considerable sums of money in damage to vehicles. It was therefore planned all along to give the Town one decent road, Ross Road, and thereafter start on the Water Scheme. When that is completed it is proposed to proceed with giving the remaining roads in Stanley a tarmac surface.

The last item is the Camp Tracks Programme which was put in hand early this year. There have been initial difficulties and teething troubles but I am sure that the advice given by the Unofficial Members of this Council and of Executive Council when the Scheme was under discussion, was sound and that the Honourable Gentlemen who spent so much time and trouble on choosing machinery will prove to have made a wise choice. I thanked them last year and I thank them again. It may be that experience will show that additional equipment will be required and if it is, I shall again seek the advice of the Honourable Gentlemen who have experience of such matters and I hope it will be forthcoming. Meanwhile we must realise that the Scheme is in the experimental stage and proceed with caution and for that reason the money provided in the Estimates allows for only a small amount of capital expenditure on additional equipment.

The Medical Services of this Colony continue to be first-class. We are exceedingly fortunate in our staff under the Senior Medical Officer, the Honourable Dr. Slessor. There is little to say about this Department except to point out the admirable service it gives. Dr. Jacoby has recently arrived to be Dentist in Stanley and this has freed Dr. Schwagereit for the work in the camp for which he was intended.

The Air Service has continued to operate well. There was considerable delay in overhauling the old Beaver aircraft, consequent upon the necessity for obtaining additional spare parts and this delay would have caused considerable inconvenience if it had not been for the foresight of Council in providing money last year to buy a second Beaver. Both are now in the air and so far as can be foreseen will suffice for our needs in the immediate future. The student pilot continues to make satisfactory progress to complete his training he will succeed in qualifying. The Air Service also continues mail distribution and thereby provides considerable facility to the camp. Much work has recently been done by the Philomel and she too has been trying to make regular voyages with parcel mail for the camp.

The Agricultural Officer's programme for eliminating tuberculosis in the dairy herds has continued satisfactorily and it is hoped in the near future that tuberculosis in cattle will be completely eradicated. The reception of imported animals has recently thrown some strain on this department but this strain has been satisfactorily met.

The Defence Force has had a good year. The camp which was held as an experiment proved an unqualified success and the number of recruits coming forward is witness to the increasing popularity of the Force. Not only has much work been done to make them an effective fighting unit, but their smartness on parade, which is usually a fair test of keenness and efficiency of a unit, has shown marked improvement. I expect Honourable Members, in common with myself, noticed the good turnout and arms drill of the Guard of Honour on the occasion of opening this Council. The progress of the Force reflects much credit on the Commandant, the Honourable Mr. Denton-Thompson, and other officers including the Adjutant, Lieutenant Jones, who, with Sergeant Major Goss has spared neither time nor trouble to improve the Force.

Lastly I should like to mention the Air Survey, which, as Honourable Members know, has been planned to be carried out at the expense of the United Kingdom Government. It was planned for the aircraft concerned to spend April in the Falkland Islands to do this survey, and had they done so they would have had sufficient fine weather to complete the photography. Unfortunately, they had to go north at once for repairs but it is hoped that the photography will be completed either in the Autumn of this year or the Spring of next.

The past year, or rather the period covered by the last budget, may have seen nothing much which is spectacular, nevertheless steady and solid progress has been made, and it is planned for this progress to continue during the period of the budget which is now presented to Council for its consideration. It should be a cause for satisfaction that this can be done without diminishing our reserve.

4. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the Table the following Paper :

The Double Taxation Relief (Taxes on Income) (Norway) Order, 1956.

5. The following question was asked by the Honourable Mr. S. Miller :—

“Will the Government announce the source and authority whereby the mechanical appliances and equipment for Camp Tracks were supplied both from England and locally and on whose advice was all this equipment detailed and also who was responsible for drawing up the contracts of the technicians imported for this track work. Secondly what was the sum spent nine months ago on repairs to ‘Pony’s Pass Road’ and who authorised this contract”.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary replied :—

1. The decision to purchase the two Buffalo drainage units was taken by the Governor-in-Council. The decision was made in the light of advice tendered to Government by an Unofficial Member of Executive Council and a Senior Unofficial Member of Legislative Council after exhaustive enquiries in the United Kingdom into problems connected with the construction of tracks over peat lands and with regard to the machinery required for the purpose. They concluded that drainage operations should be undertaken as the first step in the camp tracks programme and that the Cuthbertson Drainage units were the most suitable machines for the purpose.

Government was responsible for the purchase and supply of equipment provided locally.

The contracts for the Drainage Machine Operators were drawn up by the Crown Agents for Oversea Governments and Administrations, acting on behalf of the Falkland Islands Government. They were prepared after consultation with the Managing Director of James A. Cuthbertson Ltd. who, in accordance with advice tendered by Executive Council, was asked to assist in the recruitment of operators, and with the Falkland Islands Government.

2. The sum spent on the repairs to the Stanley-Pony’s Pass track which were undertaken in accordance with the advice tendered to Government by a Special Committee consisting of Unofficial Members of Legislative Council, under the chairmanship of an Unofficial Member of Executive Council, amounted to £5,263 2s. 9d. Government authorised the contract.

6. The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer, in moving the Bill “To amend the Registration of United Kingdom Patents Ordinance”, explained that the Bill set forth more clearly the grounds upon which any person interested in an invention could object to the issue of a certificate of registration.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer then proposed the first reading of the Bill — this was seconded by the Honourable Mr. M. G. Creece and no objection being made the Bill was read accordingly.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 & 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

7. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary in moving the Bill “To amend the Government Wharves Ordinance” explained that the Bill sought to further clarify the interpretation of “Boat”, to increase certain penalties and to increase wharfage fees in the case of certain classes of vessel.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary then proposed the first reading of the Bill — this was seconded by the Honourable Mr. S. Miller and no objection being made the Bill was read accordingly.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 to 4, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

8. The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer, introducing the Bill "To legalise certain payments made in the year 1954-55 in excess of the Expenditure sanctioned by Ordinance No. 10 of 1954", explained that this was purely a formal Bill and the expenditure had already been approved by Standing Finance Committee. It in no way reflected the present financial position of the Colony.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer then proposed the first reading of the Bill - this was seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary and no objection being made the Bill was read accordingly.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause, the Schedule and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

9. In introducing the Bill "To provide for the service of the period 1956-57", the Honourable the Colonial Secretary said :-

As my Honourable friend, the Colonial Treasurer has been engaged very largely in the difficult task of disposing of the Ajax Bay Freezer, it has fallen to me to present the estimates for 1956-57 for the consideration of this Council.

For the 15 month financial period that is now concluding Government budgeted for an estimated deficit of £104,310. It was for that period estimated that total expenditure would amount to £402,940 and total revenue would amount to £298,630.

In drawing up estimates of revenue for the financial period 1955-56 Government concluded that it was very probable that there would be a drop, but not a serious decline, in the price of wool, the economic backbone and staple of the country. In fact Government expectations were on this occasion accurate and it will be seen that the estimated total of £36,000 from the wool tax will have just been exceeded, so it is anticipated, by the close of the current financial period. The estimates of revenue in the case of Internal Taxation, covering as they do Income and Companies Tax have proved substantially accurate and the final total is expected to be within £200 of the estimated total in spite of an anticipated decrease of approximately £3,000 from companies tax. To counterbalance this however there has been an unexpected increase in the amount of revenue obtained from the duty on spirits and it is expected that this source of revenue will now yield approximately £25,000 as against an original estimate of £12,000. This satisfactory windfall, the result very largely of stockpiling, cannot unfortunately be anticipated in the forthcoming financial year. In fact taking all revenue heads into account it is expected that there will be an increase in the actual revenue, as against the original estimate of revenue, for 1955-56 amounting to approximately £25,442 - an increase made up by additional revenue from the consumption and sale of Electricity, £15,000 from Customs Duties and Fees and additional revenue from miscellaneous sources and interest rates and Colonial Development and Welfare.

On the other hand Government expenditure has increased very considerably during this current financial period. Instead of £402,000 Government has in fact spent, or will have spent, an estimated total of £457,000 a net increase of £55,000. This very substantial increase has been due to a number of factors and it is important that I should deal with the items of major importance in some detail.

The purchase of the Ajax Bay houses for the sum of £8,700 was one of the principal items of additional and unforeseen expenditure. I do not think that there will be any disagreement with regard to the purchase of these houses which, have so unfortunately in one respect, become available. Expenditure on the Darwin School for which provision was not included in the Estimates has amounted to £14,000 over and above that amount for which provision was foreseen in the Estimates and which was inserted for the purchase of equipment and furniture. A further principal and serious item of expenditure is that connected with the cost of overseas passages. The figure for which budgetary provision was made in the 1955-56 Estimates amounted to £10,000 but with the need to bring in additional staff for essential public services from overseas in addition to leave requirements, the cost has increased to an estimated figure of £20,000. This is an unavoidable commitment that could only be cut at the expense of our social services which, in a country so isolated, must of necessity be of a particularly high standard since we cannot readily and easily call upon outside sources for assistance and supplies. A further £7,000 over and above the figure which it was estimated could be spent during the current financial period on the Stanley Roads Scheme has had, or will have, to be spent. In addition to these items additional supplementary expenditure amounting to £3,590 has been incurred on Broadcasting Equipment (which in effect constitutes a revote).

Taking into account this additional expenditure and off-setting it against estimated savings on items for which budgetary provision has been made and increased revenue it is estimated that at the conclusion of the present financial year the total deficit will amount to £133,000 as opposed to the £104,000 deficit for which provision was made in the 1955-56 Budget.

FINANCIAL AND ECONOMIC POSITION OF THE COLONY.

The financial position of the Colony is at the moment undoubtedly healthy. It is provisionally estimated that on the 1st July, 1956, the General Revenue Balance will amount to £61,598, the Land Sales Fund to £271,053, and the Reserve Fund to £260,922, providing the Colony with an estimated free surplus - with which to begin the new financial period - of £593,930 or approximately the equivalent of two years Government expenditure if some moderate reduction were to be made in the rate of capital expenditure. In fact if one excludes capital expenditure to the tune of £60,000 which it is proposed should be spent in the next financial year, our reserves represent the equivalent of just over two years Government expenditure. Bearing in mind in particular the fact that this Government has no public debt and consequently is not committed at present to servicing loans, this must be regarded, particularly from the financial aspect, as a most satisfactory state of affairs. A further and equally important point is that the great majority of farms have, as a result of the greater prosperity experienced over the past few years, Reserve Funds on which to call for capital improvements, and to cushion a further decline in wool prices.

I think it is important to refer at this stage to one particularly vital factor, a factor which prevails in few other countries of the western world at the present time. Over the past year the general cost of living in the Falklands has, in spite of increased costs of materials obtained from overseas, remained extremely stable, and in fact recent cost of living indices have indicated that there is a drop and even a marked drop. While it must be clearly recognised that this has been due to quite a substantial degree to the movement of the Uruguayan exchange in our favour it must nevertheless be regarded as a modest achievement considering the very substantial injections of large scale capital expenditure into the Colony's economic veins, expenditure which in other instances has frequently proved to be inflationary in nature, particularly when large scale capital expenditure has taken place at a time of full employment. It must also be regarded as solid proof of the good sense and restraint of business, commerce and labour in the Falkland Islands. Significant feature is that for 1953-55 Savings Bank deposits exceeded withdrawals by nearly £92,000. The first five months 1956 withdrawals exceeded deposits by £30,000 but the level of deposits was maintained and substantial withdrawals can be accounted for by the large number of people who went on leave or holiday or left the Colony early this year.

Unfortunately one cannot leave it at that as one is compelled to recognise that those responsible for the financial and administrative management of this country must constantly bear in mind the inescapable fact that this country is based on a single economy and everyone whether farmer or housewife, civil servant or business man, artisan or labourer, living and working in the Falkland Islands lives entirely off the sheep's back and what can be obtained, in terms of real money, for the wool that the sheep produces on the free markets of the world. There has in fact been a drop in the wool price but it seems very likely that the decline in price has been halted, at least for the time being, and the market appears to be generally firmer. We have reason to believe that the average price yielded by Falkland Islands wool on the conclusion of the present series of sales, will be in the neighbourhood of 48 - 50d. In addition, of course, the decline in the price of wool will inevitably have some effect on other forms of revenue and it must be anticipated if the existing rates of taxation and duty are to be retained that there will be a decline albeit a moderate one, in the revenue obtained from Income and Companies Tax as a result of a smaller rate of profit and moderate decreases in the general level of the internal trading.

It is against this background therefore that the budget reflected in the Draft Estimates that are now before this Council for consideration has had to be considered and prepared. It is my view that the soundest criterion for the financial management of this country in existing circumstances must be conservative finance or - in other and plainer words - the budget must be balanced. It would be practicable and quite reasonable to draw further on our considerable reserves to meet capital expenditure. But it is my contention that our reserves must never be permitted, except in the gravest circumstances, to fall below a figure of half a million pounds and once that level is approached then it is essential that the budget should be stabilised by means of three possible methods :-

- (a) A drastic reduction in the general level of Capital and Recurrent Expenditure.
- (b) By means of increases or extensions in taxation which might well prove impracticable in the face of a general fall in wool prices, or
- (c) By resorting to a loan policy for further capital expenditure.

The Estimates before you reflect a deficit of £154, or in other words the budget has very nearly been balanced. And let me say at this stage that Government does not propose in respect of the forthcoming financial period to introduce any new measures of taxation, nor does it propose to raise the level of existing rates of taxation or duty. On the other hand in view of our vital commitments and the need for conserving our reserves it is not possible at this stage to afford any general measure of relief from taxation or duty.

The Draft Estimates before Council reflect an estimated total revenue of £341,689, and expenditure of £341,843. It must however be appreciated that the Estimated Revenue has been increased, to some extent artificially, by providing for the payment to the Falkland Islands Government of the £50,000 Falkland Islands Freezer debenture loan. As Honourable Members are unfortunately aware the Freezer is now in the hands of the Receiver who has a most difficult and unenviable task to perform. It is therefore to be hoped that during the course of the financial year 1956/57 the plant will be sold and the debenture repaid in full. In this connection provision has been included in the Estimates for payment of interest to the Falkland Islands Government amounting to just over £1,000. Provision has also been included for the repayment to Government of the £1,000 advanced to the Receiver with the approval of Standing Finance Committee to enable him to meet current expenses in connection with the disposal of the plant. Revenue is also benefited by the remarkably generous allowance by Her Majesty's Government from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds of the sum of £50,000 for the period 1955/60. This represents £10,000 a year over a five year period and as His Excellency has said in his address to Council, will be regarded and appreciated as a gift of very considerable generosity and as solid evidence of the close and continuing interest of Her Majesty's Government and peoples in the United Kingdom in the welfare and interest of the people of this Colony. It is proposed that £30,000 of this should be used in the 1956/57 financial year to meet the greater proportion of expenditure to be incurred on the roads and water filtration and pipeline projects which have already benefited to the extent of £37,400 from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds.

If the Freezer is not sold then there will be a substantial deficit but it must be remembered that so far as the long term factors and principles are concerned that capital expenditure on major items for which provision has been included in the Draft Estimates to be presented and which is to be met primarily from Colony sources amounts to very nearly £60,000 expenditure that need not be repeated in subsequent financial years unless major projects are approved and which would not be carried out if the financial position of the Colony were to deteriorate to any substantial degree.

With the permission of Honourable Members I would like at this point to refer in some detail to some of the major items of estimated revenue.

1. Government has estimated that Customs revenue for the financial year 1956-57 will amount to £45,950 as opposed to the revised estimate of £72,000 for the 15 month period 1955-56 a drop of £26,050. This has been largely accounted for by the estimated drop of £13,000 for duty paid on liquor which has been arrived at as a result of a survey of stocks of liquor held in the country as against the general level of demand and consumption. There is also an estimated drop of £10,000 in the amount it is estimated will be obtained from the export tax on wool and here Revenue has been calculated on the basis of the existing scale of duty of 1½d. per lb. on an average price ranging from 40 - 50d. per lb. Provision has also been made for an equivalent decrease in the estimated Internal Revenue which amounts to £10,000 and represents what is calculated to be the probable drop in Income and Companies Tax as a result of the lower wool income and a lower level of trading profits. There is a very substantial increase in the estimated revenue to be obtained from miscellaneous sources and this is due to the insertion of provision for the redemption of the Falkland Islands Freezer Company debenture to which I have already referred.

EXPENDITURE.

As I have already indicated Estimated Expenditure is calculated at £341,843, as opposed to a total Revised Estimate of Expenditure in the closing financial period of £457,107, a drop of £116,000 in the level of Government expenditure. Of the total estimated expenditure it is anticipated that £60,000 or £90,000 if one includes Capital Expenditure from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds, will be taken up by expenditure on capital items. To some of these I would like to refer in some detail.

Firstly there are the Stanley Roads and Water Projects which between them will require £8,000 as representing the Colony's contribution towards the total cost during the forthcoming year. The remaining £30,000 which it is estimated will be spent in 1956/57 on these two major projects is to come from Colonial Development and Welfare sources. Provision has also been included for the expenditure of £15,000 on the Camp Tracks Scheme which was begun last year with the purchase and importation of two Cuthbertson drainage machines. As a result of expert advice obtained by Government it was concluded that the first step on the construction of camp tracks should be drainage and it was for this purpose that these machines were obtained. Experiments have been carried out on the extent to which these machines are also capable of track making and it may well be that in the light of these experiments and the results of further consideration, additional capital expenditure may be required to purchase additional machinery. I would therefore emphasise that Government did not indulge in the purchase of additional and expensive equipment until it was seen to what extent the machines we already have meet our requirements and that this decision was taken as a deliberate act of policy. The provisional amount of £15,000 which has been inserted in the draft estimates represents estimated recurrent expenditure, provision for bridging materials and some moderate additional capital expenditure.

2. Provision amounting to £10,000 has also been included for the construction, with the approval of Standing Finance Committee, of the boarding school in the West Falklands to be situated at Port Howard, to which His Excellency referred in his opening address to Council. It must be emphasised that in the early stages the building would constitute only the quarters of a headmaster and his wife and accommodation for a few children. It is Government's intention to proceed cautiously on this project and the plans have so been prepared as to enable the school to be extended as the need arises.

A further £5,000 is accounted for by new communications equipment consisting of a telephone switchboard, exchange and teleprinter. The new postal department sorting office, the need for which was so clearly emphasised by His Excellency will account for a further £3,000. In this connection I think that Honourable Members will agree that it would be quite wrong to go on using the Council Chamber as a storage for several hundred mail bags at a time. The capital costs to be incurred in dismantling and re-erecting the Ajax Bay houses is estimated at £5,000. Finally, the sum of £8,500 is required for the erection of new office space to house a combined and centralised F.I.D.S. and Secretariat Administration. Funds were voted this current financial period for its construction, as an adjunct to the present Secretariat, but it has not been found possible to carry out the work. This in effect represents a revote but to offset the total expenditure involved there is a revenue item amounting to £5,500 which represents the F.I.D.S. contribution towards the cost of the work.

A further and important item of expenditure is the sum of £9,500 provided for under the carriage of mails. As Honourable Members are aware, under the terms of the present contract with the Falkland Islands Company, Government pays the sum of £6,000 per annum. In January 1955, the Chairman of the Company informed Government that the Company proposed to purchase a replacement for the "Fitzroy" but if it did so it would require an annual subsidy of £12,000 per annum. Executive Council agreed to the approval of the Legislature being sought for this additional subsidy which would be more in keeping with present day costs on the understanding that the new vessel would be larger and faster than the "Fitzroy" that she would make regular monthly voyages and there would be accommodation for 36 passengers. Negotiations have continued during the course of the last fifteen months and as Honourable Members are aware the Falkland Islands Company are now building a new 36 passenger 11 knot ship at a total cost of about £320,000. Subject to the approval of this Council, Government now proposes to enter into an agreement with the Falkland Islands Company for an annual subsidy of £13,200 per annum, or £14,200 if 8,000 to 9,000 cubic feet of refrigerated cargo space are incorporated in the new ship. This matter has received very careful consideration by Government and we are satisfied that the new ship will be a very marked improvement on the "Fitzroy" particularly as regards passenger accommodation and amenities and from personal enquiries I made during the course of my recent visit to the United Kingdom it seems clear that having regard to modern costs of shipbuilding and cargo vessel operations the proposed subsidy is reasonable and fair to both sides. Under the terms of the proposed new contract Government retains the rebate of 25% of all cargo and passenger rates on all bona fide Government personnel and cargo. It is anticipated that the new ship will be ready in March or April next year.

Finally, Honourable Members will be asked to approve financial provision amounting to £5,000 to meet the costs that will be incurred in preparations, renovations and transport connected with the visit, in the new year, of His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh, a visit to which we are all looking forward with expectation and delight.

To sum up, I would regard the budget now presented for your consideration as a stable and conservative one and one that represents the present stability of the Falkland Islands, the need to progress and to improve our services, communications and amenities and the need, against the background of our economic position, to conserve our resources and revenues. We propose in the coming financial year to spend £60,000 from our own resources, we will have the benefit of a lesser degree of Colonial Development and Welfare financial assistance than in the current financial period, we are compelled to anticipate a drop in wool revenue and a consequential decrease in the revenues obtained from Internal Taxation, the cost of many essential supplies and services are increasing, and yet – in spite of all these factors – we have a balanced budget and have effected a substantial reduction in the general cost of public expenditure.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary then proposed the first reading of the Bill. This was seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer and no objection being made the Bill was read accordingly.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time.

The Honourable Mr. S. Miller :—

Your Excellency,

I noticed in your address that you referred to Camp Tracks and I've felt for some time since I have been in here that some reference should be made to them, and I hope to make some few remarks in a constructive manner.

I noticed that you did say in your address that the Scheme was suffering from teething troubles – if that is a correct description it has got very bad teeth – but you also referred to the efforts of two Honourable Members and the Government in initiating this Scheme and I would like to say that I very much agree with it and I think that they deserve all praise for what they did and also I think they went to the right source, Mr. Cuthbertson; he is probably the World's, certainly the British, expert on roads, but I would also like to thank the Colonial Secretary who has been very helpful in putting all the files at my disposal last week in which I was able to find out all the odd gen that I did not know, and so far as I can see, from the initiation of this scheme, Mr. Cuthbertson was rather led up the wrong street because he appears to have made all his judgments on the aerial photographs that the Falkland Islands Company have of their drainage scheme with their Buffalo, and I have seen those photographs too and they seem to be of purely peaty country. Well, on the West at any rate, and probably to a large extent on the East, a very large amount of the country over which this road has got to go is hard country and the machinery that has been bought at considerable expense is quite inadequate for making roads on that type of country and at the present moment we have more or less come to a standstill on the West and it is a question of what we are going to do next. It is very difficult to see what we can do next except to hold on until we get some new type of machinery and I can only suggest that the scheme be temporarily suspended in the manner in which it is being conducted at present.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary :—

Your Excellency. Honourable Members.

There are one or two points that I would like to emphasise in connection with this Camp Tracks scheme. I would like to make it clear at the outset that Government welcomes and are grateful for all the advice and assistance that we are getting not only from the members from this Council but from farmers. This project is one that is entirely and completely new to the Falkland Islands. We had no means of assessing in detail what the problems would be. We took steps to obtain the best advice that was obtainable and I have little doubt that that advice was sound. We have, after the most exhaustive and careful enquiries in the United Kingdom, concluded that the first step in this Camp Tracks programme should be drainage. It was the idea that the traces should be drained and left to dry for a year before any road making was attempted. At the same time these machines have certain additional equipment and this was purchased in order to try out in the field and endeavour to ascertain to what extent they might help and assist in the actual making of tracks, but Government was anxious that as a first step we should drain and then experiment before we indulged in additional heavy capital expenditure and before we had succeeded in assessing the real facts of the problem with which we were faced.

It may very well be necessary to move the Buffaloes to draining other parts of the camp tracks traces in the Falkland Islands. Government will not insist on a rigid programme or attempt to do so but we are anxious to ensure that the Buffaloes should as far as possible and practicable carry out the purposes for which they are mainly designed, that is drainage.

With His Excellency's permission, I might say that I propose personally to fly to the West Falklands very shortly to discuss the next step with two of the farm managers who are mostly concerned in the West, and if it is found that additional machinery is required and would be of assistance to the programme, then a proposition would be put to this Council if additional funds are required in order to purchase such equipment. I think we can count on the co-operation and help of Members. We have never envisaged there will be no difficulties. We are now meeting certain difficulties but we are confident that they can be overcome.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer, then moved that the Bill and draft Estimates for 1956/57 be referred to a Select Committee of the House and the Council adjourned.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer on reporting back to Council stated that the Select Committee had unanimously agreed on the following alterations and additions to the draft Estimates :-

HEAD I. Governor. Personal Emoluments 1. i. Governor from £1500 to £2000.

HEAD V. Education. 14. Courses of Instruction from £680 to £280.

26. Training of Pilot from £400 to £480.

HEAD VII. Medical. 18. Temporary Clerical Assistance from £350 to £390.

His Excellency then declared the Council to be in Committee. Clause 1 was agreed to and Clause 2 was postponed until after consideration of the Schedule.

The Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The M.O. vacancy thus incurred was filled by Dr. Turner, who had been M.O. at Hope Bay, in the Dependencies. Dr. Ashmore was stationed at Darwin and Dr. Greenaway at Fox Bay, throughout the year. Mr. Duncan, Dental Officer at South Georgia, changed places with Dr. Schönfeld, so that Mr. Duncan could go on leave at the proper time. Dr. Schwagareit arrived in July. Although appointed as Camp Dentist, he had to spend most of his time in Stanley, as the Colonial Dentist vacancy could not be filled. The dentist appointed for this vacancy reached Montevideo, but suffered a nervous breakdown there and had to return home.

NURSING STAFF. Miss Strong went on leave in February and Miss Mackintosh was acting Matron. Miss Lippold went on leave at the end of her contract. Although application for a Nursing Sister to replace her had been made in July, 1954, the post has not yet been filled.

III. PUBLIC HEALTH.

There was an epidemic of an influenza-like upper respiratory infection in July; almost every household in Stanley was affected. Otitis media was a common complication. The general health of the community was good.

There was one new case of pulmonary tuberculosis. All the known, treated cases were examined periodically; six of them were admitted to hospital for further treatment.

IV. HYGIENE AND SANITATION.

1. SEWAGE DISPOSAL. The Town Council employs two night soil collectors. There are still just over one hundred houses in Stanley without modern sanitation.

2. WATER SUPPLY. The Stanley water supply is inadequate. In times of drought, which occur every year, water has to be pumped from the Moody Valley stream into the reservoirs. A start has been made on the new water scheme.

3. DAIRIES. There are three licensed dairies in Stanley. The dairy herds are inspected periodically by the Agricultural Officer, and all animals are Tuberculin-tested.

4. SLAUGHTER-HOUSES. There are two slaughter-houses in Stanley. They are regularly inspected by the Sanitary Inspector.

V. K. E. M. HOSPITAL.

With the completion of the all-electric laundry, all the major alterations and additions to the hospital have been made. The hospital has thirty-two beds, for the treatment of medical, surgical, obstetric and T.B. cases. Most of the wards face North, and are bright and cheery. The building is centrally-heated but the peat fuel does not heat the water adequately and electric radiators have to be used in the wards during cold spells.

VI. MEDICAL SERVICES IN THE CAMP.

For medical purposes, the Falklands are divided into three areas – Stanley and the North Camp, Lafonia and West Falklands. The S.M.O. and one M.O. are stationed in Stanley and see all cases in Stanley and the North Camp. One M.O. lives at Darwin, and deals with all cases in Lafonia. In the West Falkland, one M.O. lives at Fox Bay, and sees all patients in the West Falkland.

All settlements on the East and West Falklands can communicate direct with a doctor by telephone; some out-lying houses and the islands have radio-telephones.

Standard Medical Chests have been supplied to all settlements. When necessary, advice on the use of their contents can be given by telephone or R/T.

The Government Air Service is used extensively for the transport of doctors and patients. The Government-owned M.V. "Philomel" is at the call of the Medical Department, for use in emergency, but it was not required during the year.

VII. PRISONS AND ASYLUMS.

The gaol in Stanley is the only one in the Colony. The building is old, and would be much improved by some major alterations.

There is no asylum in the Colony. Cases requiring institutional treatment are sent to the United Kingdom. No case was sent there during the year.

VIII. METEOROLOGICAL.

The following data have been supplied by the Chief Meteorological Officer :—

			1954.	1955.
Total annual rainfall	25.21 inches	23.05 inches
Average daily sunshine	4.77 hours	4.6 hours
Maximum temperature	69°F.	70°F.
Minimum ,,	23°F.	22°F.
Mean relative humidity	85%	85%
Mean wind speed	16.8 knots	17.8 knots
Number of periods of calm	3 per month.	3 per month

IX. DEPENDENCIES.

The three Whaling Stations at South Georgia have their own medical organisation. Reports on their work are included in the Annual Report.

The Falkland Islands Dependencies employ a dentist at South Georgia. Mr. Duncan arrived at South Georgia in January, 1954 and left in April, 1955. He was relieved by Dr. Schönfeld.

The dental appointment in South Georgia has been most acceptable to the Whaling community. The Whaling Companies have provided all the necessary equipment for the dental surgeries and have been most co-operative in meeting the dentist's requirements.

Two medical practitioners were registered to practise in the Dependencies in 1955. Dr. Paul Massey was stationed at Hope Bay throughout the year.

DENTAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1955

The following report has been submitted by Dr. Schwagereit :—

1. EQUIPMENT. The Dental Surgery and laboratory are well equipped. The old Army Field Dental Equipment is still very useful for the Camp work, but a new outfit is now desirable.

2. STOCKS. Inconvenience has again been caused by the long-delayed arrival of orders from the United Kingdom.

3. DENTAL HEALTH OF THE COLONY.

(a) Stanley. The present state of dental health in Stanley is good. But it is regrettable to see how many children do not pay sufficient attention to the care of their teeth. With the arrival of another dental surgeon, a regular inspection of children should be carried out so that parents can be informed when treatment is necessary.

(b) Camp. With the post of Colonial Dentist still vacant, the work in Stanley has kept the Camp Dentist most of the time in town. Though it was possible to visit most of the settlements during the year, the dental condition in the Camp is still below the standard reached when Dr. Reichert was available for full Camp duties. The children, especially, suffer from the lack of regular supervision and much irreparable damage is caused by the too-early loss of their first teeth.

4. SUMMARY OF TREATMENT AND WORK.

(b)	Port Howard	(51)
	Pebble Island	(18)
(c)	Port Stephens	(41)
	Weddell Island	(12)
	Beaver Island	(11)
(d)	Darwin	(73)

In addition, short calls were made by plane to attend urgent cases at Lively Island, Port Stephens, West Point Island, Roy Cove, San Carlos and North Arm.

6. CONCLUSION. The problem of treating such a scattered population, in which the caries index is so much higher than in European countries, cannot be solved satisfactorily by one dental surgeon.

The medical reports received from the Whaling Stations are made up for the Whaling season and for the Winter. In the case of Leith and Husvik, one medical officer looks after both stations during the Winter and therefore his Winter Report is a combined one for both stations.

The meeting opened with prayers read by the Reverend J. Gould.

2. The Minutes of the Legislative Council Meeting, held on 4th June, 1956, were confirmed.

3. His Excellency delivered the following address to Council :

Honourable Members will recall that on the occasion of the opening of the new Legislative Council on the 21st April, 1956, a motion was proposed by the Senior Unofficial Member of Council desiring me to express to the Speaker of the House of Commons and Joint President of the United Kingdom Branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association the deep appreciation of Council of the message received from the Speaker and Joint President of the United Kingdom Branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association and offering him the warmest greetings and good wishes of Council. Similarly Council at the same time warmly thanked The Right Honourable the Secretary of State for the Colonies for his message of greetings sent by hand of Mr. Anthony Hurd, M.P. In this message Council intimated that it was aware of the heavy duties and responsibilities which rest upon the Secretary of State and which have so far prevented him from visiting the Falkland Islands. Council further intimated that if, however, the opportunity for such a visit should offer it would be most welcome to this Colony.

In accordance with your wishes I conveyed these messages to the Speaker of the House of Commons and to the Secretary of State. In reply I received the following message from the Secretary of State.

"Please convey to Members of Legislative Council my very warm thanks for their kind resolution".

I have also received a message from the Speaker's Secretary in which he says that the Speaker had asked him to say that he very much appreciated the kind way in which his letter was received by the Legislative Council and that he would bring to Mr. Hurd's notice the kind remarks made about him by Council and to Members of United Kingdom Branch of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association Councils my words of welcome on that occasion.

4. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary by command laid on the Table the following Papers.

- (i) Annual Medical and Sanitary Report, 1955.

- (iv) Government Savings Bank Report 1954/55 (Amended).
- (v) Report of the Standing Finance Committee for the period December, 1955, to September, 1956.

5. In moving the Resolution regarding the Address of Welcome to His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh, the Honourable the Colonial Secretary said that as Honourable Members were aware His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh has graciously consented to receive an address of welcome on the occasion of His Royal Highness's visit to the Falkland Islands and it was felt that the Legislature should now consider the terms of this Address. He then moved the following Resolution

"Be it resolved that a Select Committee be appointed by the President to consider and advise on the terms of the Address of Welcome to be presented by Council to His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh on the occasion of His Royal Highness's forthcoming visit to the Falkland Islands."

The Honourable Mr. H. C. Harding seconded the motion and the Resolution was carried.

The President then appointed the following Honourable Members to compose the Select Committee :-

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer.

The Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy, B.E.M., J.P.

The Honourable Mr. H. C. Harding, J.P.

6. The Resolution amending the Customs Order was introduced by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer who said

"The Customs Ordinance was amended in 1954 to provide for the imposition of different rates of import duty upon goods as shown to the satisfaction of the Collector of Customs to have been imported from certain scheduled territories instead of having been consigned from the British Empire (as provided for under the Customs Ordinance prior to this amendment).

When the amending Ordinance was passed and approved a resolution providing for equivalent amendment to the Customs Order should also have been introduced into the Legislature. Owing to an oversight this was not done and the omission should now be rectified."

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer then moved the adoption of the following Resolution :-

Whereas by Section 5 of the Customs Ordinance, it is enacted, that it shall be lawful for the Legislative Council from time to time by resolution to impose import or export duties of customs upon any goods whatsoever which may be imported into or exported from the Colony, and to revoke, reduce, increase or alter any such duties, and to provide for the importation or exportation of any goods without payment of customs duty thereon;

And whereas Section 2 of the Customs Order admits the importation of British Empire goods at preferential rates of customs duty;

And whereas it is considered expedient to extend the preferential rates of customs importation duties to include the goods of certain countries which are no longer members of the Commonwealth;

It is hereby resolved by the Legislative Council of the Falkland Islands that Section 2 of the Customs Order shall be amended as follows :-

- (a) by the deletion from the first column of Item 1 of the words "part of the British Empire" and the substitution therefor of the words "of the scheduled territories";
- (b) by the deletion from the first column of paragraph (c) of Item 2 of the words "British wines" and the substitution therefor of the words "wines produced in the scheduled territories";
- (c) by the deletion from the first column of Item 3 of the words "British Empire" wherever they occur and the substitution therefor of the words "scheduled territories".

The motion was seconded by the Honourable Mr. M. G. Creece and carried.

7. In moving the first reading of the Bill "To further amend the Customs Ordinance" the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer said

"The object of this Bill is to clarify the definition of 'export' and to define more precisely when goods are deemed to be exported.

A case arose some time ago in which whale oil from the shore station in South Georgia escaped into the sea after it had been placed on board a tanker which grounded in Leith Harbour.

Government contended that export duty was payable on the oil under the provisions of Section 209 (3) of the Customs Ordinance which states that the time of exportation shall be deemed to be the time when the goods are put on board the ship.

The owners took the view that export duty was payable only when the vessel left the territorial waters of the Colony or Dependency.

The dispute went to arbitration and Government lost the case on the interpretation of export in the definition clause.

The Bill now under consideration makes it quite clear that in the event of a similar occurrence there can be no doubt about the interpretation of export which is extended to ensure that the moment of export is when the goods are put on board the ship irrespective of any subsequent ports of call or damage that may be suffered.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. A. Mercer seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 to 3, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

8. The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer seconded by the Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy, proposed the first reading of the Bill "To amend the Old Age Pensions Ordinance, 1952" and said

"The object of this Bill is to make provision for the payment of old age pensions to pensioners residing overseas, irrespective of their country of residence and subject only to the overriding effects of exchange control regulations.

I may mention that the question of amending the Old Age Pensions Ordinance in this way has been raised in Council on a previous occasion.

This amendment provides for the deletion of paragraph C of Section 5 of the principal Ordinance, under which a pension was payable only to a person actually residing in the Colony. Clause 4 of the Bill extends from three months to six months the time during which a pension may be paid. This extension is important, as with our limited communications with the outside world, it would not always be possible to ensure that payment of a pension to a person residing, for example, in New Zealand, could be effected within the period of three months, as required by the principal Ordinance.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time, committed and passed through all its stages without amendment.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

9. The Bill "Further to amend the Public Health Ordinance" was introduced by the Honourable the Senior Medical Officer who said

"The object of the amendments to the Public Health Ordinance is to help prevent the introduction and spread of tuberculosis in the Colony.

When the T.B. Survey of the Falkland Islands had been completed in 1954, 94% of the population had been examined, and it was considered that all sufferers from Tuberculosis had been found. All those cases were treated, or are still undergoing treatment.

The benefit of the treatment has been not only the restoration to health of the patients, but also as a result of that, the removal of sources of infection which, had they gone undetected, must inevitably have led to new cases occurring.

The removal of sources of infection would be in vain, if fresh cases of Tuberculosis were introduced into the Colony by persons coming to live here. The first amendment is to prevent such an occurrence.

The second amendment is introduced to help prevent the spread of the disease. It could happen that a person suffering from tuberculosis might refuse treatment and refuse to co-operate with the medical authorities in their efforts to prevent dissemination of the germs. If such a case occurred, the Bill would enable the medical authorities to ensure proper isolation.

In this Colony, where the incidence of tuberculosis was so high, it is essential that everything be done to prevent further cases occurring. This Bill is an important step towards this object.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time.

His Excellency declared the Council to be in Committee and Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

The Council then adjourned sine die.

Annual Summary of the Education Department for the year 1955.

In June the new Infants' School in Stanley, built very largely with a grant from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds, was opened.

2. At the end of the year the boarding school built at Goose Green on the East Falklands as a joint project of Government and the Falkland Islands Company was completed and taken over by Government, which is to be responsible for maintaining and running it. It accommodates a total of forty boarders of both sexes and twenty day children.

3. Plans for a smaller boarding school to be built at Port Howard on the West Falklands have been approved and the building ordered. This school is planned on a very much more modest scale than the Goose Green School and will, in the first place, consist of a residence for a Headmaster and his wife and a few boarders. It is, however, so designed as to provide for expansion as and when the need arises. It is hoped that it will be opened early in 1957.

4. Repairs have been carried out to the Stanley school. It is hoped that when funds can be made available the school will be replaced by a more modern building.

5. The staffing position in the Colony throughout the year has been difficult. Nevertheless, the percentage of children in the Colony not receiving education (1.2%) has fallen to the lowest on record. This has been accomplished without increasing the length of the "beats" of the travelling teachers.

6. The travelling teacher system, while the best that could be devised in the past, has not proved satisfactory and is obviously, in the circumstances of the Falkland Islands, both inefficient and uneconomic. It is believed that the problem of education in the camp will be largely solved by the East and West Falklands Boarding Schools.

7. In Stanley children go to school at five and remain in the Infants' School until they are seven when they transfer to an all-range school. They remain there until they are at least fourteen. In the Camp, the countryside outside Stanley, they start school at five and either attend Settlement Schools or are visited by Travelling Teachers until they are fourteen.

8. The Superintendent of Education left the Colony on December 27th on transfer to The Gambia.

Totals	As above

In Stanley there is one Infants' School attended by children from the age of 5 to 7. At 7 they move to the All-Range school where they remain until they are at least 14. In the camp, the countryside, outside Stanley, there are nine small settlement schools and 11 travelling teachers visiting periodically the houses on their 'beats'. It is not possible to classify Camp Children any other way than the above.

There are no schools other than Government Schools and there are no Teacher Training, Technical or Vocational Schools.

Explanation to Table II.

Certificated teachers have all completed a Secondary School Course and have been trained in England. Uncertificated teachers have all completed a Secondary School Course, are all expatriates, and have a minimum qualification, a School Certificate.

Teachers shown as trained, but have not completed a Secondary School Course, have attended school in the Falkland Islands, have been pupil teachers for two years followed by one year as Teachers in Training and have then taught a class either in the Government School or have gone to the camp. Teachers marked as untrained have no course of teaching instruction but have worked, under the guidance of the Superintendent of Education, as Camp Teachers.

There are no schools other than Government Schools and there are no Teacher Training, Technical or Vocational Schools.

Explanation to Table III.

In compiling this Table, it has been assumed, as in past years, that the children in the Camp are educationally one year behind those in Stanley. This state of affairs is bound to exist where untrained teachers have small isolated classes and where travelling teachers visit the houses on an average of two weeks in every eight. In December there were 330 children of school age in the Colony: 152 attended school in Stanley, 174 were receiving education in the Camp, and 4 received no education.

TABLE IIIB. There are no Teacher Training Courses held in the Colony. Children may start training as teachers at the age of 16 and they join one of the certificated members of the staff in order to be trained in his or her class.

No external examinations are taken. A scholarship examination is held each year and two pupils may be transferred to boarding school in Dorset.

TABLE IV.

There are no technical or vocational courses in the Colony.

Pay and Working Rules for Hourly Paid Employees in Stanley.

These Rules shall constitute an agreement between Stanley Employers and the Labour Federation. The Agreement shall be reviewed annually in June and then signed by Government and the Falkland Islands Company, Limited, as employers, and the Labour Federation. The Agreement shall be effective for a period of twelve months beginning on the 1st January in the year following the annual review.

The first Agreement shall be retrospectively effective from the 1st July, 1955, except that overtime rates shall be retrospectively effective from the 1st August, 1955, and shall be binding until the 31st December, 1956.

1. Basis of Wage Rates.

Cost of Living Bonus shall be consolidated for Stanley Hourly Paid Employees and all wages shall be adjustable by negotiation, up or down, in accordance with the cost of living and the conditions in industry. Reviews shall take place at annual intervals and any changes based on the four previous Cost of Living Indices (published quarterly) shall operate automatically, any changes being applied to the nearest penny. The Craftsman's Rate shall be regarded as the basis for fixing all other rates and the existing relationships between the various rates shall be preserved.

(a) CRAFTSMEN.

All Craftsmen shall be paid at the full basic rate and the following Trades shall be recognised :—

Carpenters and Joiners	Masons
Blacksmiths	Plumbers
Painters	Electricians
Motor Mechanics

The normal entry to a Trade shall be by a full term of apprenticeship, but special arrangements shall be made for the absorption of men already practising Trades without previously serving apprenticeships. These arrangements are laid down in the apprenticeship regulations.

(b) APPRENTICES.

The rates of pay for apprentices shall be as follows—

Year.	Fraction of Craftsman's Rate.
1st	One Third
2nd	Two Fifths
3rd	One Half
4th	Two Thirds
5th	Four Fifths.

Serving apprentices may be offered a transfer to new indentures but shall be paid at their present rates until these are exceeded by the new rates.

(c) HANDYMEN.

This term includes those employees doing skilled or semi-skilled work in one or more trades, but who have not served an apprenticeship nor have been recognised by the Apprenticeship Board. The minimum rate for Handymen shall be one penny more than the Labourer's rate and the maximum one penny less than the Craftsman's rate.

(d) SLAUGHTERMEN AND LORRY DRIVERS.

Slaughtermen shall be paid one penny more than the Labourer's rate and shall be provided with suitable protective clothing and footwear.

All drivers of petrol, steam or diesel engines, whether stationary or mobile, shall be paid 2d. per hour more than the Labourer's rate while engaged in this work.

(e) LABOURERS.

Labourers shall be paid at 80% of the Craftsman's rate.

2. Actual Rates until December 31st, 1956.

The following rates shall apply until December 31st, 1956.

Class			Hourly Rate.
1. Tradesmen			2/11d.

4. Slaughtermen		2/5

	16-17	66 $\frac{2}{3}$	1/7
	17-18	80	1/10 $\frac{1}{2}$
	18	100	2/4

* = Boys already employed shall continue at their present rates until these are exceeded by the new rates given above. Present rates are as follows –

Age	% of man's rate
14–15	60	1/5 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.
15–16	60	1/5 $\frac{1}{2}$
16–17	70	1/7 $\frac{1}{2}$
17–18	75	1/9 $\frac{1}{2}$
18	100	2/4

The above hourly rates are minimum and employers may, if they so wish, offer higher rates, incentive bonuses, etc.

CASUAL LABOUR. There is now no work which justifies a casual labour rate.

3. Extra Payments.

(a) "DIRT" MONEY.

As a general guide, "Dirt" money should only be paid when the work in hand is substantially dirtier than the work which an employee is normally called upon to do. The normal rate is 1d. per hour, but up to 4d. may be paid for the dirtiest jobs and the precise rate for each job shall be agreed between Employer and Employees.

(b) "DANGER" MONEY.

Employees working on isolated structures, such as masts, at heights over 30 feet from the ground or where the structure joins the main roof of a building, shall receive from 4d. to 8d. per hour according to the risk involved. This does not apply to work on properly erected scaffolding.

(c) INCONVENIENCE PAY.

Employees required, by the employer, to carry their midday meal shall receive 1/- per day. Employees required to sleep away from home in a building not normally used as accommodation shall receive an allowance of 4/- per day. Employees required to sleep away from home in a recognised camp house or cook-house shall have their lodgings paid for by their employer.

(d) EXTRA SKILL OR RESPONSIBILITY.

(i) Any employee specifically detailed to supervise the work of three or more other employees shall receive 2d. per hour extra while taking this responsibility.

(ii) Any labourer employed on semi-skilled work which would normally fall to a Handyman (e.g. painting, fencing, concrete laying) shall receive pay as a Handyman (i.e. a minimum of 1d. per hour extra) while engaged on this work. The precise rate shall be fixed by the employer according to the nature of the work and the skill of the particular labourer so employed.

4. Working Hours.

The normal working hours shall be 45 hours per week made up as follows:–

Monday to Friday – 7.30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. with Dinner break from noon till 1 p.m.

Saturday – 7.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.

A refreshment break of fifteen minutes shall be allowed between 08.30 and 09.30 a.m., the precise time being laid down by the employer.

Other hours of work may be laid down by mutual agreement between employers and employees, provided that the total number of hours does not exceed 45 per week.

5. Overtime.

- (a) Overtime shall be paid for all hours worked outside normal working hours and overtime rates shall be as follows:–

TIME AND A HALF.

- (i) Between the end of the normal day and midnight.
- (ii) From 6 a.m. to the start of the normal working day, provided that work did not start before 6 a.m.

DOUBLE TIME.

- (i) Between midnight and 6 a.m.
 - (ii) From 6 a.m. to the start of the normal working day, if work commenced before 6 a.m.
 - (iii) On Sundays and recognised Public Holidays.
 - (iv) For meal hours or parts thereof, if work continues through the normal working day without a full meal-hour break.
 - (v) Double time rates shall also be paid during normal working hours if, exceptionally, an employee starts work before midnight and continues without a break into normal working hours. Double time rates shall then continue to apply until there is an (unpaid) break from work exceeding four hours, after which the normal rates will again apply.
- (b) An unpaid meal hour shall be allowed at a reasonable time if overtime is expected to continue for more than two hours beyond normal finishing time, and a paid refreshment break of not more than fifteen minutes shall be allowed in each subsequent 4-hour period.
- (c) Overtime is voluntary and an employee shall not be dismissed if he objects to working outside normal working hours. However, certain jobs may require attendance at times outside the normal hours and in these cases employees shall be given the option of a 45-hour week by allowing time off during normal working hours, at a time to be agreed with the employer.

6. Holidays.

(a) ANNUAL HOLIDAYS.

All employees shall be entitled to a paid holiday of one week (45 hours) in each completed year of work with one employer. The annual holiday shall be taken at a time to be mutually agreed between employer and employee but must fall between October 1st and March 31st unless the employee agrees to take it at another time. An employee who has completed six months with one employer but who leaves his employment before completing twelve months, shall be entitled to 2½ days (20 hours) paid holiday, before leaving such employment, except where he is dismissed for misdemeanour.

(b) PUBLIC HOLIDAYS.

These are days on which Government Offices are closed by notification in the Gazette and the following seven days shall be paid holidays for all employees :-

Good Friday, The Queen's Birthday, Empire Day, December 8th, Xmas Day, Boxing Day, and one other day to coincide with the Stanley Annual Sports Meeting.

Individual employers shall be entitled to decide whether or not to observe the remaining Public Holidays or to treat them as normal working days but in no circumstances may they be treated as unpaid holidays.

(c) Any allowance or special rates earned on both the working day preceding and the working day following the holiday shall be paid for the holiday.

(d) When a dated holiday falls on a Sunday the next working day shall be the holiday.

7. Sick Pay.

(a) Employees who have not completed one year's service with their employer shall not be entitled to sick pay.

(b) The following rules apply to employees who have completed one year's service with their employer.

(i) There shall be no entitlement to sick pay for the first week of absence caused by sickness, but an employee shall have the option of taking part or the whole of any annual leave due to him.

(ii) If sickness lasts for more than one week, an employee shall be entitled to half pay for the second, third and fourth weeks only.

(iii) Full pay shall be paid for any Public Holiday which falls during the first four weeks of sickness, provided that the employee, when he has recovered, returns to work for the same employer.

(c) An employer may demand a medical certificate before applying any of the rules 7 (b) (i), (ii), (iii).

(d) The Workmen's Compensation Ordinance shall apply in cases of sickness resulting from accidents at work.

8. General.

(a) Employment is normally terminated, either by employer or employee, at the end of the working week, but employment may be terminated at the end of any working day. A minimum of two hours' notice shall be given, except in the case of misdemeanour, when an employee may be summarily dismissed.

(b) When a party of employees are required to carry meals to their work, one employee shall be allowed reasonable time to heat meals for the rest of the party.

(c) Individual employers may lay down the time when employees shall appear for their wages, provided that the payment is completed within ten minutes of the end of the normal working day.

(d) An official or delegation of a recognised union may, with the employer's consent, attend at a job or shop at any time to interview workmen, but no meeting shall take place in working hours without the express permission of the employer. If a dispute arises, the employer or his nominee shall interview, by appointment, any official representative of his employees.

(e) All employers shall display for the benefit of their employees copies of regulations and agreements pertaining to wages and conditions of service of workers.

The Cost of Electricity to the Consumer.

Government has recently reviewed the cost of electricity to the consumer in Stanley in the light of experience obtained over the past year in the purchase and storage of bulk supplies of fuel and the cost of such supplies.

2. It has been decided to apply the principle that the electricity supply should pay for itself and should not be subsidised in any way either by Government or by any one section of the consumers. In order to apply this principle, in the interests of simplicity and in order to ensure that everybody pays no more and no less than the cost of the electricity he uses, it has been decided to abolish the existing two part tariff and to have only a single flat rate that will be reviewed annually in the light of production costs.

3. With effect, therefore, from the 1st January, 1957, and in accordance with Section 2 of the Electricity Supply (Amendment) Regulations, 1956, all electricity will be charged at a flat rate of 4½d. per unit. It must, however, be appreciated by the Public that this figure is related to the cost of production and if as a result of present events in the Middle East or other developments the costs of bulk supplies purchased by the Colony increase then it will be necessary to adjust the price to the consumer.

The following Loyal Address of Welcome delivered to His Royal Highness The Duke of Edinburgh by the Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy, B.E.M., J.P., on behalf of the Legislative Council on the occasion of His Royal Highness's visit to the Colony on 7th and 8th January, 1957, is published for information together with His Royal Highness's reply :—

LOYAL ADDRESS OF WELCOME TO HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH

"Your Royal Highness,

We, Her Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Legislative Council of the Colony of the Falkland Islands, present our humble duty to Her Majesty the Queen through you, Sir, and request you to convey to Her Majesty on your return the loyal greetings of the Falkland Islands.

We beg leave on behalf of the people of this Colony to welcome you to our shores. The occasion of the visit of Your Royal Highness is indeed historic in the annals of the Falkland Islands and we are grateful that you should have seen fit to include this Colony and its Dependencies in the course of your journey, embracing as it has, not only visits to the great countries of Australia and New Zealand, but also to Her Majesty's peoples in many of the small and isolated Colonies, of which we are one.

The first visit to the Falkland Islands of a Member of the Royal Family was in 1871, when His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh arrived in H.M.S. Galatea. In 1881, Prince George, later to become our beloved Sovereign King George V, entered Port William in H.M.S. Bacchante but he was prevented from landing by the receipt of orders to proceed to the Cape of Good Hope.

And now, Sir, seventy-six years later, it is our honour and privilege to extend this warm welcome to Your Royal Highness.

The people of this Colony are intensely loyal to the Crown and proud of their heritage. They are proud, also, that their Island home, situated as it is, so far from the Mother Country, is a part of that great family which constitutes the British Commonwealth.

Although the time Your Royal Highness has with us is short, we pray that you will enjoy your visit to the Falkland Islands and that fair winds will be encountered on the voyage home."

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS'S REPLY

"Mr. President and Members of the Legislative Council,

I thank you and all the people of the Falkland Islands for your very kind and warm welcome.

It will give me the greatest pleasure to convey your loyal greetings to The Queen, and I can assure you that these greetings coming as they do from the most southerly Colony of her Empire will give her most particular pleasure.

I am delighted to have had this opportunity of visiting these Islands and their Dependencies, especially as seventy-six years seems rather a long interval between visits of this sort.

I have discovered that there are very few places in the British Commonwealth to which the last Duke of Edinburgh did not go, in fact, of all the places

I have been to so far only the Chatham Islands and Grahamland had not welcomed him earlier.

I am very glad to hear that the wool industry upon which the whole prosperity of the Falkland Islands depends, is in such a flourishing condition.

I have just come from New Zealand, and, while there, I had a chance to see what marvels modern agricultural science can perform in the way of increasing production. Pastures have been improved to such an extent that they can now carry four times the amount of stock. Eight sheep where two were before, eight thousand where two thousand were before.

But I have no doubt that the sheep farmers of these Islands are well aware of the possibilities of well managed improvements; for without improvements prosperity does not last.

Thank you again for your words of welcome which bear eloquent witness to your loyalty to The Queen and to your pride of membership of our great brotherhood of peoples and nations.

I wish you all great happiness and continued prosperity.

PHILIP."

2. The Minutes of the Legislative Council Meeting, held on the 12th October, 1956, were confirmed.

3. His Excellency delivered the following address to Council.

Honourable Members of Legislative Council,

Since the last Budget Meeting of this Council, and in fact since its last meeting, we have had the great honour and privilege of a visit to the Colony by His Royal Highness the Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh. It was a visit that gave immense pleasure and satisfaction to the people of this Colony, and it was one that Prince Philip himself enjoyed and in which Her Majesty the Queen most graciously took the keenest interest. This happy occasion will always be remembered in the history of these Islands, and it demonstrated most vividly how close are the ties which bind us in loyalty and affection to the Throne.

Since my predecessor last addressed this Council, we have had a year of steady progress and development. Unfortunately, we have had our disappointments and setbacks as well.

As a result very largely of the Royal Visit, the Public Works programme was advanced and speeded up, and some of the work that was not scheduled to be undertaken for some time to come, was, in fact, carried out in 1956. We have, as I think Honourable Members will agree, our reward in the more satisfactory appearance and condition of our public buildings and Government properties, and in having reached the beginning of the last stages of the very heavy programme of repair and deferred maintenance on which this Council so wisely embarked a few years ago. I am sure Honourable Members will agree that it must be the task of Government, once the major programme is completed, to ensure regular and periodical maintenance, so that in future years the Colony is not again found with such a backlog of work and heavy capital expenditure.

I am glad to say that work on the new filtration plant is proceeding satisfactorily. Progress has not been as fast as Government had originally hoped, but it is clear that some of the complexities of the project, the amount of work involved, and the speed with which it could be completed, were underestimated, and we were, perhaps, rather too hopeful and optimistic. I am advised that provided no major difficulties arise, and we must always be prepared for them, the plant should be working early in the New Year, and we should then be relieved of some of the anxieties with regard to the recurrent shortages of water in Stanley that have constantly beset us during the past two years.

Once work on the filtration plant is completed, our labour resources will be devoted to the roads programme. At one time it was considered that it might be practicable to split the labour and undertake some of the work on the roads at the same time as the construction of the water filtration plant. As time went on, however, it became clear that not only would this involve an uneconomic distribution of labour, but it would defer a solution to the water supply problem that had become increasingly more pressing. It is expected that to complete the Stanley roads programme a further three years will be required with the labour resources now at our disposal.

Work on four of the Ajax Bay houses has been practically completed and they will be ready for occupation in the near future. A fifth house has very recently been dismantled and brought into Stanley. That will leave the large Manager's house to be brought in for erection during the next financial year. Work on the new telephone exchange is nearly finished, and it will be ready in time for the new equipment, which I hope will arrive within the next three or four months, and which will alleviate the shortage of lines and at the same time provide the facilities we require to meet future demands.

I should like now to turn to one of the most important, and indeed vital aspects of our life and indeed, of the future of the Falkland Islands – education. As my predecessor so rightly forecast when he last addressed Council, it has been a notable year for education. The past twelve months have set the seal of success on the Darwin Boarding School where there are now thirty-nine boarders and eleven day children. This has been a revolutionary development in the Falkland Islands, and I would like to pay a tribute to Mr. Honeyman and his staff who have worked so hard to make the school the success it has proved to be. But they themselves will be the first to admit that much credit too must go to the parents for their very ready co-operation with the Headmaster and teachers, and to the children themselves who have settled down so well, so quickly, and so happily in their new surroundings. The critical and, I am told, almost unprecedented water shortage that developed at Darwin last term, was certainly a setback, but I am glad to learn that efforts are being made to find additional sources of supply, and to avoid a repetition of such an unfortunate state of affairs.

The Port Howard house for the schoolmaster has been completed, and the Reverend J. E. Turner, the newly appointed Headmaster, and his wife are now in residence. We wish them every success in this new and important venture. In comparison to Darwin, of course, the West Falkland Boarding School is a very much more modest project. But it is designed with a view to expansion, and as demand grows and the whole boarding school experiment grows in status, Government has in mind extensions to the building to provide more accommodation for boarders and school activities. It is hoped that the school will be taking a few boarders in the very near future.

The overseas scholarship scheme is functioning well and at present we have five children at Dorset schools. So far eighteen children have benefited from this scholarship scheme and the nineteenth scholarship child, Daisy Clifton, will be going to the High School for Girls at Shaftesbury in September. We have, of course, had one or two disappointments, but the progress of the great majority has been very heartening, and in some cases the results have been outstanding. We owe much to the continuing co-operation and interest of the Dorset Education Authorities and there can be no doubt that the expenditure on this scheme has been fully justified. Education cannot and must never be allowed to stagnate, for if education stagnates then a nation stagnates, and Government must always be on the alert for new methods, new ideas, and new ways of improving the general standards of education. I am sure that Mr. Swann is very much alive to this and I am confident that he will be sustained in his task by your continuing interest and co-operation.

Included in the Estimates that will shortly be presented for your consideration, is provision for an Overseas Education Scheme. This is a new, and I believe important, measure of Government policy. It is now commonly accepted that there is an obligation on Government to provide facilities for secondary education. At the present time it is beyond our resources to do so, having regard to all our other commitments, involving as it would considerable sums of capital expenditure, in building a new school and in providing the additional staff, quarters and facilities required for such a project. But at least, for the present, we can provide a measure of financial assistance towards more advanced education, and consequently Government proposes, subject to your approval, to introduce an Overseas Education Scheme. The full details of the scheme will be announced later, but in general outline it will provide for a tax free grant of £150 for the first year and £100 a year for four years thereafter in the case of any child whose parents or guardians are living in the Falkland Islands, who is between the ages of eleven and eighteen, who is being educated abroad at a school approved by the Superintendent of Education, and who is considered by the Superintendent to be capable of benefiting from such education.

To turn to another important subject, that of health, I am afraid I have to record that there have been several further cases of tuberculosis during the period under review. Two or three of these cases were found amongst ships' officers or crews, and illustrate the care we must take to ensure that there is no general recurrence of this disease, once so prevalent in the Falkland Islands. I am confident that the recent legislation on this subject will assist the Medical Department in its efforts to diagnose the disease in its early stages and prevent the spread of infection.

I have been very impressed by the hospital and by the general standards of our Medical Department. I feel that we are indeed fortunate both in the hospital and its equipment and in our medical and dental staff. I am aware of the fact that the Department was seriously handicapped by staff shortages during 1956, and indeed it is still short of nursing staff. But it is clear that in spite of these difficulties the Department has never relaxed in any way its high standards of efficiency and service. During 1956, 151 patients were cared for in the hospital, and 1,200 people attended in the Out-patients Department or in their own homes by the medical staff in Stanley. In addition to this, of course, there are the numerous patients who have been cared for by our Camp doctors. As was to be expected, the Dental Department has had a busy year, and I am glad to learn that the greater proportion of the backlog of work has now been overtaken.

I was particularly pleased to hear that Doctor Greenaway, our Medical Officer in the West Falkland, has decided to return for a further tour of duty, and I am sure that Honourable Members will join me in welcoming this decision.

Finally, I think all Members will join me in congratulating the Hon. Dr. Slessor on his very well merited award of the O.B.E. This award reflects the greatest credit on him personally and on his Department.

Until we suffered the setback of having two aircraft engines "pack up" on us within a comparatively short time of each other, and well before they had flown the stipulated number of hours, the Aviation Department had had another good year. During the past twelve months our two Beavers have carried 1,716 passengers and made 325 medical calls. I do not think I need underline in any way the importance of these aircraft to our island life, but I feel sure that you would wish me to express the appreciation of all of us for the efficient way in which the Director of Civil Aviation and his colleagues in his Department have carried out their duties, and met the many and varying demands made upon them and their aircraft. I would not wish to tempt fortune, but I must say a special word of appreciation to the ground engineers for as much depends upon them as it does on the pilots for the safety of the aircraft and passengers, and I feel certain that both our pilots will be the first to agree with me. Arrangements are being made for the purchase of a fourth engine in order to mitigate, as far as possible, the chance of our again being placed in a position in which the aircraft can only be used for emergency medical flights, and I hope that the aircraft will be flying normally again early in August.

As Members are aware, the aerial cover of the Falkland Islands by Hunting Aero Surveys has been completed. For a number of years now a topographical survey of the Falklands had been on the list of work to be undertaken by the Directorate of Colonial Surveys, but unfortunately we have hitherto been low on the list of priorities. Now a third of the job is done. The next stage is the ground control. For this two surveyors will be coming out to work in the Falklands, and the first of them is expected to arrive on the first trip of the "Darwin". Government is endeavouring to ensure that calls on farms will be reduced to a minimum, but inevitably some assistance will be required. This is a most important project, and I am sure that Government can be confident of the ready support and assistance of all farm managers which will be very necessary if the ground control programme is to be successfully completed. The third stage will be the preparation and printing of our maps, but this part of the programme will, in all probability, take two or three years. I have no doubt that the resulting maps will be of assistance to shipping, aircraft and farmers.

Another department which has created a marked impression in my mind is the Power & Electrical Department. The Power House is certainly one of the best I have seen for its size anywhere, and here again, it is quite clear that the public in Stanley is served by an efficient department. As Members are aware, a new flat rate electricity tariff, based on production costs, was introduced with effect from the 1st of January this year. This new tariff meant, of course, that Government Departments and some of the larger private consumers would have to pay more for their electricity, but it did bring to an end the system under which many of the small consumers were, in effect, subsidising the large consumers of electricity. The immediate effect of the new tariff has been to increase the demand for electricity in Stanley by just over 20% in the first quarter of this year.

The Posts and Telegraphs Department is another Government Department that has experienced staff shortages during the period under review, and in particular the vacancies for W/T operators have thrown a heavy strain on Mr. Hooley and his colleagues. It reflects greatly to the credit of the Superintendent and his staff that in spite of these difficulties services have been maintained at a high standard throughout the year. I am glad to be able to say that we have at last been able to recruit another operator who will be arriving shortly. The service that this Department gives to the public will be considerably improved when the new telephone exchange comes into operation towards the end of this year, and with the installation of a teleprinter link between V.P.C. and the Post Office.

I am afraid that this Department will suffer a serious loss when Mr. Hooley, our Senior Operator, retires towards the end of this year. For 35 years he has been a loyal and devoted public servant and we owe much to him for the very high standards of efficiency which have been maintained in our telegraphic services with the outside world. He will, I know, carry into retirement the best wishes of us all.

I must also record that our small, but efficient, Police Force will also have vacancies in the next few months. Mr. Ikkint, the Chief Constable, leaves us in January, and Sergeant Norris, after 28 years' service, has decided to retire at the end of next month. I view the departure of these two officers both of whom have done so much for the Force, with real regret and I wish them every success and happiness in the future.

I am sure Members would also wish me to extend our best wishes for the future to the Honourable Mr. E. T. Fern, who will shortly be leaving us after completing his tour of duty in the Colony. I little thought when I first met Mr. Fern in the Kalahari Desert some 25 years' ago that our next encounter would be in the Falkland Islands.

Another project to which I would wish to refer, and one that is integrally tied up with an attempt to improve life and conditions in the Camp, is the Camp Tracks programme. I think all Members who have considered this project, and who have had something to do with it, will agree that the problem is a difficult one and one that is not susceptible to any quick or easy solution. It is a new project, we are still finding our way, and it is costing a lot of money. As members will recall, it was originally felt that the first move should be drainage of the camp track traces in an attempt to lower the water table. This, combined with bridging, was all it was felt could be done in the initial stages and in some cases, where it is folly to move the top vegetation cover, all that could be done short of a major all-weather road construction programme. The scheme has had setbacks and these have to some extent been due to the large number of mechanical breakdowns arising, very probably, from the fact that the tracks provided with the machine are too wide, generally speaking, for this type of country. This is being rectified.

It would seem that in some areas all that might be required is a rotovator, and the Honourable Mr. Miller's successful experiment in the West Falkland is an illustration of what can be done with this type of machine. In other areas, where there is clay or shale lying underneath, it may be possible to bulldoze off the top surface and, in effect, to make a track. It is the intention to carry out experiments with the bulldozer blades designed by Mr. Cuthbertson to fit the Buffalo. If these fail, then the drainage machine will have to be utilised solely for drainage of the traces in those areas where drainage is useful and necessary, and further consideration given to the extent to which track making, as opposed to drainage, is a practical and economic proposition. I am grateful for the close co-operation of farmers in this project, for without such co-operation and their assistance in providing close supervision and encouragement to the operators, the project cannot succeed.

There is, perhaps, a risk that we might too easily be deterred by the difficulties that have arisen and our apparent lack of physical progress compared to the time taken and money spent. I suggest that having profited by our experiences and, quite frankly, our failures, we should at least carry through the programme for a further year. I am very anxious to see for myself the work that is going on and to talk to farmers about it on the spot.

As we are all only too well aware, we are going through a prolonged period without mails, due to the delayed arrival of the s.s. "Darwin" and due to the fact that for the first time for some years we have not at present got one of Her Majesty's ships with us. I know, of course, that there is a feeling in some quarters that this state of affairs could have been avoided with a little more forethought by Government. Arrangements were made by the Falkland Islands Company, in conjunction with Government, for a fourth charter, and the R.R.S. "Shackleton" made an additional trip to Montevideo. Unfortunately, for operational reasons, neither the R.R.S. "John Biscoe" nor the "Shackleton" could be made available for any further period. Enquiries were made over a period of months to see if something could be done to fill the remaining gap. There was one possibility, but the shipowners in question required a minimum of £8,000 and total expenditure would have exceeded that figure by a substantial sum. I am sure, that in spite of the inconvenience we are suffering through lack of shipping, Honourable Members will agree that expenditure of this order would only have been justified in the event of some grave emergency.

This "shipping gap", combined with our misfortunes over aircraft engines, has, as I think Honourable Members will agree, brought home quite forcibly to us all the value and importance to the Colony of the "Philomel", originally purchased as a hospital boat. Since her refit in September of last year, she has steamed 4,297 miles, made over 80 visits to Falkland Islands ports of call, and carried over 850 tons of cargo in addition to mails and passengers. Under Mr. Grierson's direction and that of her captain, Mr. Sollis, she fulfils a most important and perhaps vital role in the Falkland Islands, particularly when it comes to serving some of the more remote camp stations and outlying islands.

Members will observe that following the decision taken at a recent meeting between representatives of the Sheep Owners' Association and Members of Executive and Legislative Councils, provision has been inserted in the Estimates to meet the cost of a soil survey. The figure inserted, however, must at this stage be regarded in the light of a token estimate. The general consensus of opinion expressed at the meeting was conveyed to the Secretary of State, and he has recently advised me that the whole question of a soil survey and the objectives of such a survey are being closely studied by the Macaulay Institute, whose advice I am sure should prove most valuable.

Important as a soil survey is for obtaining basic information, I venture to suggest it will be of little practical value unless it is closely integrated with a much wider programme of long term experimental work and pasture improvement. A soil survey now is timely, because it is the intention of the Falkland Islands Company to inaugurate an experimental programme of pasture improvement and to carry it out over a period of years. The soil survey should provide the basic information necessary for this programme, and also by providing general information on soil types throughout the Colony be of assistance to farmers in any pasture improvement schemes they are undertaking. The results of the Company's experiments will be generously available to all farmers and will, I trust, yield important results which will prove of real benefit to the industry.

Finally, before referring in general terms to the financial position, I should like to mention another matter of considerable public importance. Government has for some time been disturbed by the lack of recruits for the public service, by difficulties experienced in recruiting essential staff from overseas, and a prevalent feeling amongst the Civil Service that salaries and conditions are not commensurate with their responsibilities or present day conditions. It must, I think, always be remembered that apart from the normally high standards we have the right to expect from the public service, it is vitally important, in view of our geographical position and comparative isolation, to ensure that our essential services are of the highest standard. It is, I suggest, important that Government should be able to offer a remuneration and conditions of service that will attract the right people to the public service both from the Falkland Islands and from overseas. To that end, a special sub-committee of Executive Council was set up recently to consider and make recommendations with regard to the salaries and conditions of established Civil Servants. I am advised that the report of this Committee has been completed, and I have in mind that after consideration by Executive Council, the report and such proposals as it may contain will be submitted to the Legislature. I am sure that when it comes before you you will give the matter the very serious consideration that it merits.

I do not propose in this address to give you an account of the current year's workings, or to go into details of next year's proposals, of which you will hear in the course of the 1957/58 Budget that is shortly to be presented to you. I have been in the Colony but a few weeks, and have felt some diffidence about delivering the usual budget address, but perhaps you will forgive me if I mention some things which have struck me as a newcomer.

In this Colony we have, and rightly have, an extremely well equipped and extensive medical service, an air service net work that is probably unique, an extensive communications system, and now a boarding school that provides a high standard of tuition. We have also a non-contributory scheme for Children's Allowances. Not one of these basic services is self-supporting. For them to be so, we should have to raise the medical fees, the telegram and postage charges, the air fares, and the school fees very substantially, and beyond, perhaps, what the ordinary individual can afford. But, as individuals, we can send a telegram or a letter for a penny a word or a penny a stamp within the Falkland Islands. As individuals, we pay but a fraction of the cost of providing us with skilled medical attention and medical flights. Parents in the Camp can now send their children to what is, from all accounts I have heard, a first-rate boarding school, where there are far less children per class, and consequently a greater degree of personal attention, than is the case in very many schools in the United Kingdom, for an overall cost of £12 a year. We are improving our communications and our public utilities. We are building roads and financing overseas education and scholarships. In my opinion we are rightly doing all these things, but of course, the bill must be paid, and if it is not paid by the individual, it must be paid by the community as a whole. In view of this, I suggest the account which will be presented to you for payment, as detailed in the 1957/58 Estimates, does not appear to be in any way excessive.

And what of the revenue which gives us the means to pay for these and our other services? We cannot, of course, afford to be complacent, dependent as we are on but one industry and on world prices over which we have no control, but, with our reserves standing a little short of half a million pounds, our financial position can certainly be regarded as sound, and I believe we can look forward to the future with confidence.

4. Council then adjourned until 2.30 p.m.

5. On resuming the Honourable the Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the Table the following Papers:—

- (i) Report of the Commissioner of Currency for the period 1st April, 1955, to 30th June, 1956.
- (ii) Government Savings Bank Report for the period 1st April, 1955, to 30th June, 1956.

- (iv) Agricultural Department Report, 1955-1956.
- (v) Education Department Summary, 1956.
- (vi) Report of the Police and Prisons Department, 1956.

- (vii) Report of the Standing Finance Committee for the period September 1956, to May, 1957.
- (viii) Copies of subsidiary legislation made or approved by the Governor in Executive Council since the last Meeting of the Legislative Council.
- (ix) Report of the Director General of the Overseas Audit Service on the accounts of the Falkland Islands for the period 1st April, 1954, to 31st March, 1955.
- (x) Reports of the Auditor on the accounts of the Falkland Islands for the periods 1st April, 1954, to 31st March, 1955, and 1st April, 1955, to 30th June, 1956.

6. In moving the first reading of the Bill "Further to amend the Licensing Ordinance" the Honourable the Colonial Secretary said -

"Your Excellency and Honourable Members,

The object of this Bill is to rectify what in fact has become something of an anomaly. Section 63 of the Licensing Ordinance authorises any owner, lessee, manager or agent in charge of a station to sell liquors, without a licence, to shepherds and other bona fide employees in his employment provided that such station is not less than six miles from Stanley.

This means of course that the managers of Darwin, Fox Bay and Port Howard are unable to sell liquor to Government Officers, such as doctors and schoolteachers, who are normally resident, more or less permanently, on those stations.

Government considers that such persons should be placed on precisely the same footing, so far as the law is concerned, as people who are bona fide employees and that is the object of this Bill, which will amend section 63 by providing for the legal sale of liquor by the manager to other persons who are resident on the station.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth seconded and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time. His Excellency declared the Council to be in Committee. Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

7. In introducing the Bill "To amend the Electricity Supply Ordinance" the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer said -

"Your Excellency,

This Bill is a formal measure designed to change the title of the Public Officer in charge of the Power and Electrical Department. Prior to 1955 the Electrical Department came under the jurisdiction of the Public Works Department although for all intents and purposes it operated as a separate entity under the control of a Supervisor. The two Departments were separated in 1955 and it is now deemed desirable to change the title of the officer in charge of the Department from that of Supervisor to Superintendent.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The motion was seconded by the Honourable Mr. M. G. Creece and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed. Clauses 1 and 2 were agreed to. Clause 3 was amended by the substitution of the word "Supervisor" for the words "Executive Engineer". The Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to, the Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

8. The first reading of the Bill "Further to amend the Income Tax Ordinance" was moved by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer who said -

"Your Excellency,

This Bill now before Council provides for the incorporation of four separate and distinct amendments to the present Income Tax legislation and I propose briefly to explain the object of the amendments.

Throughout the principal Ordinance as it now stands reference is made to the word "Empire" in relation to taxation. The Ordinance refers to Empire Income Tax and Empire rate of tax. It refers also to His Majesty's Dominions. The Bill now under consideration provides for the substitution of the word "Commonwealth" for the word "Empire" or for the words "His Majesty's Dominions" where such words occur in the principal Ordinance. The word "Commonwealth" accords apparently with present day usage.

The second amendment to the principal Ordinance exempts from Income Tax any grant made from public revenue towards the education overseas of children between the ages of 11 and 18 years.

The third amendment affords some modicum of relief to the taxpayer inasmuch as it increases from £70 to £100 the allowance in respect of each child under the age of 16 years.

The fourth and final amendment provides for the removal of the present discrimination against foreign companies engaging in business through the medium of an agent in the Colony, a discrimination that dates back to the First World War. The effect of the amendment is to place non-resident foreigners and foreign companies who might do business here on the same basis as non-resident British subjects and British companies as far as liability to tax is concerned.

All amendments, if approved, will come into effect with the year of assessment commencing on 1st January, 1958, which means that the benefit of taxation relief will be enjoyed in respect of the year 1957."

The Honourable Mr. A. Mercer seconded and the Bill was read a first time. The Bill was read a second time after further motion made and seconded. His Excellency declared the Council to be in Committee and the Bill passed through all its stages without amendment.

9. The Honourable Mr. E. T. Fern introduced the Bill "Further to amend the Livestock Ordinance" and said -

"Your Excellency,

This Bill is introduced in order to remove the statutory obligation of farmers to notify their neighbours when they intend to gather their flocks.

It is therefore proposed to repeal Section 34 of the Livestock Ordinance. This section reads :-

'Every farmer who shall gather any flock for the purpose of shearing, dipping, dressing, cutting, tailing or ear-marking, or removal from the station or for any other purpose, shall, forty eight hours at least before gathering the same, give notice in writing to the occupiers of all the adjoining stations of his intention so to do.'

I doubt, Sir, if this obligation has ever been observed. I would go further, and say that I doubt if it could be carried out satisfactorily under present day conditions. It is certainly not only unnecessary but also impracticable.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. H. C. Harding seconded and the Bill was read a first time. The Honourable Mr. E. T. Fern then moved the second reading of the Bill and the Honourable Mr. H. C. Harding seconded.

In debate the Honourable Mr. S. Miller said -

"Your Excellency, as the original proposer of the amendment in this Ordinance, I feel it is a little incumbent upon me, as there are some Members round this table who don't know the original amendment in full, to make some explanation.

The Honourable Member opposite me has given you in detail the actual amendment; it was a small clause. I don't think any farmer knew anything of it, or if he did I have never heard of any farmer in all my years, and that is nearly 30 as farming manager, who observed it, and I only put it into my proposed amendment, because it was obsolete, and I thought it was time it was crossed out.

So much for that one.

But the main purpose of this amendment of mine - I can give it to you in full because there are some people here who do not know it - referred to the dipping regulation. I wish the second proviso to Section 11 subsection (1), to be deleted and the following proviso substituted :-

'Provided also that the Agricultural Officer may exempt the Owner of any farm from dipping until further notice if he is satisfied that sheep on that farm have been absolutely free of ked, lice and scab during the preceding sheep shearing season, and that the boundary fences of that farm are in sound condition and properly maintained.'

We hope, at least I suppose we do, in this Colony, to make some sort of progress on the job, and no industry, sheep or anything else, can hope to survive if it is not going to make progress. We all have had, and many still have, these parasites on the farm. There appeared to me that there might be some sort of financial reward to the owner if he can arrive at a state in which he can get rid of these insects, where he may be exempted from the very considerable expenses of the dipping operation. The actual expense of the dip itself is small in relation to the damage to the stock, the waste of a farm's time, and the loss of wool weight, and I have gone into this matter pretty fully and I have satisfied my own Directors that there is quite a loss.

I had managed to clear our particular place some years ago, but I still have to dip although we have nothing to dip for, and I maintain that if a farmer can arrive at that state there should be some means in the Ordinance whereby he can take advantage of them and not have to go through the considerable operation of dipping.

Britain and British Colonies usually pride themselves on being a little bit further ahead of other countries. Well, there has been a recent importation to the Falklands of 1,000 sheep from Latin American countries - from two separate farms in Chile. Those sheep were taken from two Chilean farms where they have not had to dip for seven in the case of one, and I think eight years in the case of the other, because they had nothing to dip for. That apparently is the state of affairs to which the Falklands are unable to arrive, and I think it is a deplorable situation, and I think when this motion was proposed it is a retrograde step for the Council to turn down, and although it has been turned down, and I accept that it has been turned down by Government, I felt it was incumbent upon myself to explain to Members who did not know what it was about and so enable them to think it over for another occasion."

The Honourable Mr. E. T. Fern replied as follows :-

"Your Excellency, annual compulsory dipping was introduced to combat external parasitic infection of sheep.

While Government welcomes the efforts of all farmers who are endeavouring to clean their flocks, and to keep them clean, no relaxation of control measures can be made without adequate safeguards. It would indeed, be a step in the wrong direction to take any risks in this connection.

If dipping exemptions are to be made, Government must be satisfied that the risk of the exempted flocks becoming re-infected is reduced to the absolute minimum.

Such exemptions can be granted on islands, once the flocks are clean, because there can be no contact with other flocks, and because all sheep imported can be cleaned (if necessary), before being admitted to that particular island.

On the other hand, before dipping exemptions can be allowed on any farm, three main factors are absolutely essential :-

1. The flocks must be free from external parasitic infection;
2. The fences bordering on neighbouring farms, must be sheep-proof;
3. The boundary with adjoining farms, must be double-fenced, and the intervening "no-mans-land", kept free from sheep.

Only in this way, can there be freedom from contact with sheep on adjoining farms."

The Bill was then read a second time and committed. Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to, the Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

10. In moving the first reading of the Bill "To amend the Dangerous Drugs Ordinance" the Senior Medical Officer said -

"Throughout the world more and greater efforts are being made to prevent the misuse of narcotics and dangerous drugs. This Bill concerns three of them - opium, cocaine and the amphetamines.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. J. T. Clement seconded and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time. His Excellency declared the Council to be in Committee. Clauses 1 to 5, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

11. The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer introduced the Bill "To legalise certain payments made in the period 1st April, 1955, to 30th June, 1956, in excess of the expenditure sanctioned by Ordinance No. 4 of 1955" and said -

"This Bill, Sir, might be termed the hardy annual of all Budget meetings of Council. I should perhaps hasten to explain, as I do every year, that this is not a request for additional funds but only a measure to legalise certain payments made during the period 1st April, 1955, to 30th June, 1956, in excess of the expenditure sanctioned by the Appropriation Ordinance of 1955. The expenditure of the various amounts shown in the Schedule has already been approved at earlier meetings of the Standing Finance Committee.

I beg, Sir, to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary seconded the motion and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed. Clauses 1 and 2 were agreed to as were the Enacting Clause, Title, Preamble and the Schedule. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

12. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary moved the first reading of the Bill "To provide for the service of the year 1957-58", said -

"As Members of this Council are aware my Honourable friend the Colonial Treasurer has for some months past been engaged as a member of the Executive Council sub-committee appointed to consider and make recommendations with regard to the salaries and conditions of service of established Civil Servants in addition to his other duties as Receiver of the Falkland Islands Freezer Company. Consequently it has fallen to my lot to again present the budget and estimates for your consideration.

I would like first to survey briefly the financial history, if I may refer to it as such, of the past twelve months.

For the 1956/57 financial year Government estimated that revenue would amount to approximately £341,000, a figure that included provision for £40,000 from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds, and that expenditure, including capital expenditure, would amount to an overall total of £342,000.

In the event, however, the revenue estimate proved to be optimistic and it is calculated that revenue will in fact amount to £275,000, a shortfall of £66,000 compared to the original estimate. This has been due principally to two factors. Firstly, the Ajax Bay Freezer has not been sold - and Honourable Members will recall that in presenting the current estimates to Council in June 1956, I emphasised that if the Freezer were not sold then there would be a substantial deficit on this year's accounts. Secondly, there has been an unforeseen drop in the sale of postage stamps, and instead of the £13,000 I originally budgeted for, the revised estimate shows a figure of £7,000 only.

There are also a number of other items under which revenue will not amount to as much as was originally expected. This includes Customs, under which Government now expects to receive some £2,000 less than estimated - and Harbour - in the case of which the long period towards the end of last year when the "Philomel" was undergoing rudder repairs, combined with an over optimistic revenue estimate, has resulted in a shortfall of approximately £3,000. Another factor that has affected the revenue position (and to a lesser extent expenditure also) is that the F.I.D.S. contribution of £5,500 towards the cost of building new offices adjacent to the Secretariat was not forth-coming because the offices were not built. This project has now been abandoned.

Of importance too is the fact that in respect of the current financial year we now expect to receive rather less than was budgeted for from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds. This is because that proportion of the £45,000 C. D. & W. Grant allocated to the water and roads projects is based on an annually calculated formula of 53% from C. D. & W. and 47% from Colony funds, in the case of the water project and 68% from C. D. & W. and 32% from Colony funds in the case of the roads scheme, a fact that was not known when the estimates were framed. Instead of spending £38,000 in the current financial year on these two schemes we will have spent approximately £30,000, thus reducing the C. D. & W. Grant proportionately. This does not of course mean we shall not get the money, it means only we shall get it later. All in all we expect to claim and receive a total of some £17,000 from C. D. & W.

Funds in respect of the current financial period instead of £30,000, for these two schemes and excluding the C. D. & W. allocation for the cost of the Aerial Survey.

Some of these items, however, are counterbalanced by increases in the revised figures of revenue as compared to the original estimates. There is a net increase of approximately £5,000 under the heading of "interest" which arises from a decision to credit interest from the Reserve Fund to general revenue following advice to that effect from the Director General of the Overseas Audit Service. It is expected also that there will be an increase of approximately £2,000 under internal revenue.

But, generally speaking, from the revenue aspect, the overall difference between the revenue figure as it was originally estimated and the revised estimate which reveals a shortfall of some £66,000 is due mainly to the fact that the Freezer has, unfortunately, not been disposed of in spite of the continued attempts of the Receiver who has, as Members are aware, tried every means possible to effect a sale and recover Government's investment in the project, and to the drop in the sale of Falkland Islands stamps. For this I can give no explanation other than it must be due to a decline in philatelic interest, which I hope will revive when we bring the outstanding denominations bearing the Queen's head into circulation later this year.

The overall expenditure figure for the current financial year, on the other hand, is expected to be within approximately £1,000 of the original estimate. Government originally budgeted for expenditure amounting to £342,000 and the revised figure for the financial year stands at £341,000, (or over £100,000 less than actual expenditure during the 1955/56 fifteen months period).

In comparison to the original estimates under the main expenditure heads, there has been increased expenditure during the period under review, under Aviation, Miscellaneous, Pensions and Gratuities, Power and Electrical. So far as the Aviation Department is concerned, the increase has been due firstly to what I think was a wise decision taken by the Standing Finance Committee of this Council to provide the Department with a more adequate supply of hangar equipment, secondly to unforeseen additional expenditure on overhauls of engines, equipment and instruments outside the Colony, thirdly to the need to purchase a new aero engine to replace the one that completed only 134 hours of its expected life and fourthly to a combination of an underestimate of the amount required to purchase petrol and oil and the need to stockpile fuel in the light of the shipping situation.

In the case of Miscellaneous, the increased expenditure is largely due to the costs incurred in connection with the visit of His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh, and to the write off of long outstanding advances, dating back to the war years, which are now considered to be irrecoverable, and the recent loan to the Stanley Sports Association to help meet the costs of the new stands on the race-course. There is an increase under Pensions and Gratuities due to new Pensions, Gratuities, and Arrears of contributions to other territories in respect of seconded officers, there was also a moderate increase under Power and Electrical, as in the event the Colony was able to take, and the tanker was able to offer, rather more oil than had originally been expected, and the opportunity of the presence of the tanker was naturally taken to "stock up" to the maximum possible extent.

It is estimated that additional provision amounting to £3,000 will be required under Public Works Recurrent, in order to meet the increased cost to Government of electricity. This arises from the recent abolition of the two-part electricity tariff and its replacement by a flat rate tariff based on the costs of production, which has had the effect of ending the system whereby the larger consumers, such as Government, were subsidised by the small consumers. Honourable Members will, however, notice that the draft estimates now presented for your consideration, provide for expenditure in respect of Heat, Light and Fuel to be met from individual departmental votes, thereby making each of the consuming departments responsible for control over their respective votes under this heading.

To offset these additional items, there will be savings under Head I, The Governor, Education, Posts and Telegraphs, and Public Works Special Expenditure and the net result is that total expenditure will amount to practically the same figure as that of the original estimate.

In many respects the year under review has been a particularly satisfactory one particularly from the economic aspects. As His Excellency has said, the financial position of the Colony remains sound, and the price of wool, our basic commodity, has risen substantially from 49d. to 65d.

The general level of farm, business and personal savings has risen during the period under review, and the total sum lying to the credit of Savings Bank depositors now stands at the unprecedented figure of £978,000 as compared to £969,000 at the end of June 1956. I appreciate, of course, that some of the higher figures in the Savings Bank are farm accounts, but even excluding Farm, Clubs and Church Funds, the amount due to private depositors stands at something over £800,000.

And now to turn to the future.

We calculate that on the 1st July, 1957, the Land Sales Fund will stand at £271,262, and the Reserve Fund at £263,246. Taking into account an estimated deficit of £43,193 on the General Revenue Balance Account, I estimate that on that date the free surplus will stand at (£491,315), just under half a million pounds.

In the forthcoming financial year, Government is budgeting for ordinary revenue amounting to £299,483 which includes provision for the sale of the Ajax Bay Freezer, or, alternatively, the possibility of the redemption by the Colonial Development Corporation of Government's debenture holding. In addition to this, Government expects to receive £17,000 from Colonial Development and Welfare. Including C. D. & W. and Land Sales the total estimated revenue figure stands at £316,786.

With the increase in the price of wool and on the basis of the existing scale of export duty of 2½d. per lb. on a gross selling price exceeding 60d, Government expects to receive £48,000 as compared with the revised estimate of £28,000 during the current financial period. Additional revenue from income and companies tax, resulting from the higher prices of wool, is not expected to accrue to Government until the 1958/59 financial year. So far as internal revenue is concerned, we are budgeting for receipts totalling £88,000, as compared to the revised estimate of £102,000 in respect of 1956/57 - when we were budgeting on the basis of the higher wool price of 1955. Import duties are estimated at £18,000 as compared to £14,000, the revised figure for the current financial year. The increase takes in to account a substantial shipment of whisky which is expected in the forthcoming financial year.

As against an estimated revenue figure of £316,786 total expenditure is estimated at £306,491 inclusive in both cases of revenue and expenditure under the C. D. & W. heads. Ordinary expenditure is estimated at £249,319, which means that ordinary expenditure and ordinary revenue will be almost in balance if one excludes altogether from ones reckoning the redemption of the Ajax Bay debenture of £50,000. Special expenditure, or expenditure on items of a "capital" nature from Colony funds is estimated to amount to £39,973.

Ordinary expenditure, or expenditure under the Personal Emoluments and Other Charges heads shows a decrease of £2,891 as compared to the revised figure for 1956/57. With permission of Honourable Members I should like to deal in some detail with some of the principal expenditure items that show an increase and the main items involving capital expenditure – and I propose to take first those that properly fall under the heading of recurrent expenditure.

Under Aviation I am proposing an additional £1,500 for Petrol and Oil as it is quite clear that there was an underestimate last year. In addition, there is provision for a new item amounting to £1,500 to cover the cost of overhauls of engines, equipment and instruments outside the Colony. Here again, insufficient provision has been made in the past to cover this important and expensive item.

We must of course expect increased expenditure under Education as we now have two boarding schools in addition to the camp teachers and the Stanley schools. This means in effect that we must now budget for expenditure amounting to approximately £26,500 a year under Personal Emoluments and Other Charges as compared to the £18,000 to £20,000 we formerly needed. In addition, the estimates must provide for the cost of the overseas education allowances scheme, to which His Excellency referred in his opening address, and for which a provisional figure of £1,500 has been included.

One of the principal items of recurrent expenditure is that connected with the carriage of mails. We must now provide an extra £7,200 for the new mail contract which will cost £13,200 per annum, and in addition, extra provision to meet Uruguayan postal charges on our air mails. In accordance with a recent decision by the Governor in Council, the estimate provides for a moderate and well justified increase in pensions which so far as the immediate increase is concerned, has been calculated on the basis of an overall upper limit of £1,000 per annum. The figure of £1,257 inserted in the 1957/58 estimates provides for the increase to be made retrospective from the 1st January, 1957.

Finally heat, light and fuel, to which His Excellency has already referred and to which I referred in commenting on the expenditure during the current financial period. I estimate that this will now cost Government departments an additional £3,000 a year, although, of course, this expenditure accrues, in the form of revenue, to the Power and Electrical Department – now organised on a self financing basis. This additional expenditure will, of course, be offset, to some extent, by the decrease in Government subsidisation of electricity. But in dealing with the subject of heat, light and fuel, I think the day has come when we must recognise that it will be necessary, and probably more economic, to convert the larger Government and public buildings to oil firing. Apart from its much greater efficiency, the physical task of cutting the peat Government requires annually, is rapidly exceeding the resources of man power available for the task.

Now I should like to turn to some of the major items of capital expenditure firstly, there is expenditure on camp tracks, for which approximately £10,000 has been provided in the estimates. This is, of course, a "one line" vote, and covers not only wages and fuel but also spares and bridging materials which Government has undertaken to provide.

Secondly, I estimate that expenditure on Stanley roads, which will cover approximately a six months period, will amount to £2,900 from Colony Funds, and £6,163 from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds, a total of just over £9,000.

As His Excellency has already intimated, it is hoped that the Water Filtration project will be completed early in the new year. It is estimated that what remains to be done before the work is finished will cost approximately £8,000 from Colonial Development and Welfare Funds, and just over £7,000 from Colony Funds, or a total of £15,000. If these estimates prove accurate in the event the scheme will then have cost £80,000 as compared to the original estimate including provision for imported labour and the labour camp, for the project of £75,000. Consequently the margin of error will be small indeed.

In addition to the expenditure on the roads themselves, expenditure amounting to £2,500 for the purchase of pipes, ducting and cable is provided for in order that these materials and items, which will be required for renewals and new connections, will be ready and at hand when the time comes to concentrate on the roads, thereby reducing to a minimum. I most sincerely trust any subsequent digging up of the surface.

Finally, quite substantial revotes are required, as a result of delayed deliveries, under Posts and Telegraphs, for the Teleprinter that is on order and that will link the Post Office with the Wireless Station and improve very considerably our communications system, and also for the new Telephone Exchange equipment, also on order and expected in the near future.

That then is the overall expenditure picture. Ordinary expenditure amounting to nearly £250,000, special expenditure of £40,000 and an additional amount of £17,000 from C. D. & W. sources, a total of £306,000 in all which, if the estimates prove substantially correct, will provide an estimated surplus of approximately £10,000.

I would like to conclude by paying a tribute to my Honourable friends the Unofficial Members of this Council. There are times perhaps when they are possibly tempted to agree with a comment I saw a day or so ago that described budget making as a curiously ponderous exercise in comparing a number of hypothetical figures with each other in order to produce an estimate which in fact never turns out to be achieved. And of course this is to some extent true because it would be a foolish man indeed who could claim that estimates, and remember they are only estimates, can turn out to be entirely accurate save by a miracle.

But it is of course most important that the figures in a set of printed estimates, dry and dull as they may be, should be closely and constructively examined because, they, and what they represent, affect the lives of every man, woman and child in the Falkland Islands in one way or the other.

For that reason great care is taken in their preparation and presentation. It has always been my experience, since I have been connected with the affairs of this Colony, that in both select committee and Finance Committee Government can always be assured of the full co-operation, assistance and advice of the Unofficial Members. There is frequently criticism, but it is of course right there should be criticism but in my experience such criticism has invariably been helpful and constructive and always put forward with the best interests of these islands in view.

I beg to move the Bill be read a first time."

This motion was seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary then moved that the Bill and the draft Estimates for 1957-58 be referred to a Select Committee of the House consisting of the Honourable the Unofficial Members and the Colonial Treasurer with the Colonial Secretary as Chairman and that the Council adjourn. This was seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer and the Council adjourned accordingly.

AND WHEREAS I shall have occasion to leave Stanley on the 1st day of September, 1957, for the purpose of visiting the East and West Falklands.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, EDWIN PORTER ARROWSMITH, Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Colony of the Falkland Islands and its Dependencies, do hereby appoint you AUBREY GORDON DENTON-THOMPSON, Colonial Secretary of the said Colony, to be my deputy within the said Colony during my temporary absence from Stanley as aforesaid and in that capacity to exercise, perform and execute for me and on my behalf during such temporary absence, all such powers and authorities by the above recited Letters Patent or otherwise vested in me, but subject always to the provisions of the said Letters Patent and to such instructions as you shall receive from me from time to time for your guidance.

Given under my hand and the Public Seal of the Colony this 31st day of August, 1957.

By His Excellency's Command,
A. G. DENTON-THOMPSON,
Colonial Secretary.

STAFF CHANGES.

MEDICAL AND DENTAL STAFF. The S.M.O. and Dr. Grave were stationed in Stanley throughout the year. Dr. Ashmore at Darwin, and Dr. Greenaway, at Fox Bay, both elected to remain in the Camp for the year.

Dr. Schwagereit worked in Stanley and in the Camp till the end of April, when Dr. Jacoby arrived, to fill the vacant post of Colonial Dentist. Thereafter, Dr. Schwagereit spent all his time in the Camp.

NURSING STAFF. The hospital has been understaffed throughout the year. During the past two years, repeated attempts have been made to recruit nursing sisters, but all were in vain. The result has been that the Matron and Nursing Sisters have been continuously over-working. Miss Mackintosh had to resign first and the Matron, who has given years of hard work and devoted service to the hospital, was unable to carry on for much longer. Her resignation, on health grounds, was accepted with great regret. Mrs. Fleuret became acting Matron on Miss Strong's departure. Miss Hooley was able to do part-time duties in the hospital; her help was greatly appreciated.

III. PUBLIC HEALTH.

The general health of the Colony has been good. There were no epidemics, but a severe common cold affected many during the Winter.

There were three new cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, two of them in young men who immigrated from England. Legislation was passed in October, making it compulsory for all immigrants to the Colony to have a radiological examination of the chest and a report certifying that they are free from pulmonary tuberculosis. The Regulation comes into force on the 1st January, 1957.

IV. HYGIENE AND SANITATION.

1. SEWAGE DISPOSAL. Stanley still requires the services of two night-soil collectors. The number of houses with modern sanitation is slowly increasing but, until the town water supply is greatly increased, and new main sewers have been built in several parts of the town, it will not be possible for all householders to instal flush closets.

2. WATER SUPPLY. A prolonged drought, in the late Spring caused a severe shortage of water, and continuous pumping from the Moody Valley Stream was necessary for six weeks.

3. DAIRIES. There are three licensed dairies in Stanley. The dairy herds are inspected periodically by the Agricultural Officer, and all animals are Tuberculin-tested.

4. SLAUGHTER-HOUSES. There are two slaughter-houses in Stanley. They are inspected regularly by the Sanitary Inspector.

V. K. E. M. HOSPITAL.

The hospital was painted throughout in the latter months of the year. The extension to the Nurses' Home has been completed, and is now ready for occupation.

Investigations are being made into the possibilities of using furnace oil for firing the central-heating boilers. Apparatus was installed for burning gas oil, and it worked extremely well. The high cost of gas oil, and the limited supplies available here make the use of furnace oil highly desirable.

VI. MEDICAL SERVICES IN THE CAMP.

For medical purposes, the Falklands are divided into three areas – Stanley and the North Camp, Lafonia and West Falklands. The S.M.O. and one M.O. live in Stanley. One M.O. is stationed at Darwin, in the Lafonia area, and one lives at Fox Bay, in the West Falkland, and sees all patients in the West Falkland and its adjacent islands.

Most houses in the Camp can communicate with their doctor either by land telephone or radio-telephone.

Standard Medical Chests have been supplied to all settlements.

The Government Air Service is being used more and more by the Camp Medical Officers. This saves them many hours of riding and travel in small boats. Flying was possible on all occasions when the call was urgent.

VII. PRISONS AND ASYLUMS.

The Gaol in Stanley is the only one in the Colony. In the course of the year, the building was re-roofed, re-plastered and re-decorated throughout.

There is no asylum in the Colony. Cases requiring institutional treatment are sent to the United Kingdom ; no such cases occurred in 1956.

VIII. METEOROLOGICAL.

The following data have been supplied by the Chief Meteorological Officer :—

		1955.	1956.
Total annual rainfall	...	23.05 inches	22.72 inches
Average daily sunshine	...	4.6 hours	4.16 hours
Maximum temperature	...	70°F.	67°F.
Minimum	...	22°F.	25°F.
Mean relative humidity	...	85%	85%
Mean wind speed	...	17.8 knots	16.8 knots
Number of periods of calm	...	3 per month.	7 per month

IX. DEPENDENCIES.

The three whaling stations at South Georgia each have their own medical organisation. Each has its own small hospital, equipped with operating theatre, X-Ray apparatus etc.

The Falkland Islands Dependencies employ a dentist at South Georgia. The post was filled by Dr. Schönfeld till January, when he left to do a dental tour of the F.I.D.S. bases. His place at South Georgia was taken by Mr. Smillie, who arrived early in May.

Six medical practitioners were registered to practise in the Dependencies in 1956. Three of them have been stationed at F.I.D.S. bases.

DENTAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1956 – DENTAL DEPARTMENT, STANLEY.

The following report has been submitted by Dr. Jacoby :—

1. EQUIPMENT. The Dental Surgery and laboratory are well equipped. Orders have been placed for a porcelain oven, so that porcelain crowns and inlays can be made.

2. STOCKS. The Department is now well stocked. Much inconvenience was again caused by the delayed arrival of plaster and plastic material from the United Kingdom.

3. DENTAL HEALTH. The present state of dental health in Stanley is good. More extensive use of local anaesthetics for conservative treatment has led to treatment being given to some who have always avoided dental treatment.

All the school children were examined ; about 20% required no treatment.

There still remain quite a number of patients who need full or partial dentures. The cost of partial dentures, in which gold has to be used at present, is too high for many patients. It is proposed, therefore, to procure equipment for the manufacture of partial dentures in stainless steel, and so lower the cost considerably.

All children in the recently opened school at Darwin were examined in July, and all necessary treatment was carried out. As the Darwin School gives a good opportunity for checking early caries in approximately fifty children, a regular six-monthly inspection is strongly recommended.

Every settlement in the Falklands, with the exception of Port Louis and Johnson's Harbour, which are close to Stanley, was visited at least once during the year. Lack of time prevented the completion of necessary work at Salvador, Rincon Grande, Port Stephens and West Point Island.

Several settlements received two visits. A comparison of the work required at the first and second visits is of interest.

Power of Court as to child's religious education.

15. (1) Upon an application by the parent for the production or custody of a child, if the Court is of opinion that the parent ought not to have the custody of the child, and that the child is being brought up in a different religion to that in which the parent has a legal right to require that the child should be brought up, the Court shall have power to make such order as it may think fit to secure that the child be brought up in the religion in which the parent has a legal right to require that the child should be brought up.

(2) Nothing contained in this section or in sections 12 to 14 (inclusive) of this Ordinance shall interfere with or affect the power of the Court to consult the wishes of the child in considering what order ought to be made under this section, or diminish the right which any child now possesses to the exercise of its own free choice.

Pay and Working Rules for Hourly Paid Employees in Stanley.

These Rules shall constitute an agreement between Stanley Employers and the Labour Federation and shall be reviewed annually in October by the Government and the Falkland Islands Company, Ltd. as employers, and the Labour Federation. These Rules shall be effective for a period of twelve months beginning on the 1st of January, 1958.

1. Basis of Wage Rates.

Wages shall be adjustable by negotiation, up or down, in accordance with the cost of living and the conditions in industry. Reviews shall take place at annual intervals and any changes based on the four previous Cost of Living Indices (published quarterly) shall operate automatically, any changes being applied to the nearest penny. The Labourer's Rate shall be regarded as the basis for fixing all other rates and the existing relationships between the various rates shall be preserved.

(a) CRAFTSMEN.

All Craftsmen shall be paid at the full basic rate and the following Trades shall be recognised :—

Carpenters and Joiners	Masons
Blacksmiths	Plumbers
Motor Mechanics

The normal entry to a Trade shall be by a full term of apprenticeship, but special arrangements shall be made for the absorption of men already practising Trades without previously serving apprenticeships. These arrangements are laid down in the apprenticeship regulations.

(b) APPRENTICES.

The rates of pay for apprentices shall be as follows—

Year.	Fraction of Craftsman's Rate.
1st	One Third
2nd	Two Fifths
3rd	One Half
4th	Two Thirds
5th	Four Fifths.

(c) HANDYMEN.

This term includes those employees doing skilled or semi-skilled work in one or more trades, but who have not served an apprenticeship nor have been recognised by the Apprenticeship Board. The minimum rate for Handymen shall be one penny more than the Labourer's rate and the maximum one penny less than the Craftsmen's rate.

(d) SLAUGHTERMEN AND LORRY DRIVERS.

Slaughtermen shall be paid one penny more than the Labourer's rate and shall be provided with suitable protective clothing and footwear.

All drivers of petrol, steam or diesel engines, whether stationary or mobile, shall be paid 2d. per hour more than the Labourer's rate while engaged in this work.

2. Actual Rates until December 31st, 1958.

The following rates shall apply until December 31st, 1958.

Class			Hourly Rate.
1. Tradesmen			3½d.
2. Apprentices	1st year		1/2
	2nd year		1¼
	3rd year		1/9
	4th year		2/4
	5th year		2/9
3. Handymen			2/11 to 3¼ according to ability.
4. Slaughtermen			2/11
5. Lorry Drivers, including men tending stationary engines or boilers			3/-
6. Labourers			2/10
7. Boy Labourers	Age	% of man's rate
	14-15	40	1½d.
	15-16	50	1/5
	16-17	66⅔	1/11
	17-18	80	2/3
	18	100	2/10

The above hourly rates are minimum and employers may, if they so wish, offer higher rates, incentive bonuses, etc.

CASUAL LABOUR. There is now no work which justifies a casual labour rate.

3. Extra Payments.

(a) "DIRT" MONEY.

As a general guide, "Dirt" money should only be paid when the work in hand is substantially dirtier than the work which an employee is normally called upon to do. The normal rate is 1d. per hour, but the precise rate for each job shall be agreed between Employer and Employees.

(b) HAZARDOUS WORK.

Employees working on isolated structures, such as masts, at heights over 30 feet from the ground or where the structure joins the main roof of a building, shall receive from 4d. to 8d. per hour according to the risk involved. This does not apply to work on properly erected scaffolding.

(c) INCONVENIENCE PAY.

Employees required, by the employer, to carry their midday meal shall receive 1/- per day. Employees required to sleep away from home in a recognised camp house or cook-house shall have their board and lodgings paid for by their employer.

(d) EXTRA SKILL OR RESPONSIBILITY.

(i) Any employee specifically detailed to supervise the work of three or more other employees shall receive 2d. per hour extra while taking this responsibility.

(ii) Any labourer employed on semi-skilled work which would normally fall to a Handyman (e.g. painting, fencing, concrete laying) shall receive pay as a Handyman (i.e. a minimum of 1d. per hour extra) while engaged on this work. The precise rate shall be fixed by the employer according to the nature of the work and the skill of the particular labourer so employed.

(e) PAINT SPRAYING.

Employees engaged on paint spraying shall be paid 6d. per hour extra and no other allowance.

4. Working Hours.

The normal working hours shall be 45 hours per week made up as follows :-

Monday to Friday - 7.30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. with Dinner break from noon till 1 p.m.

Saturday - 7.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.

A refreshment break of fifteen minutes shall be allowed between 08.30 and 09.30 a.m., the precise time being laid down by the employer.

Other hours of work may be laid down by mutual agreement between employers and employees, provided that the total number of hours does not exceed 45 per week.

5. Overtime.

- (a) Overtime shall be paid for all hours worked outside normal working hours and overtime rates shall be as follows :-

TIME AND A HALF.

- (i) Between the end of the normal day and midnight.
- (ii) From 6 a.m. to the start of the normal working day, provided that work did not start before 6 a.m.

DOUBLE TIME.

- (i) Between midnight and 6 a.m.
 - (ii) From 6 a.m. to the start of the normal working day, if work commenced before 6 a.m.
 - (iii) On Sundays and recognised Public Holidays.
 - (iv) For meal hours or parts thereof, if work continues through the normal working day without a full meal-hour break.
 - (v) Double time rates shall also be paid during normal working hours if, exceptionally, an employee starts work before midnight and continues without a break into normal working hours. Double time rates shall then continue to apply until there is an (unpaid) break from work exceeding four hours, after which the normal rates will again apply.
- (b) An unpaid meal hour shall be allowed at a reasonable time if overtime is expected to continue for more than two hours beyond normal finishing time, and a paid refreshment break of not more than fifteen minutes shall be allowed in each subsequent 4-hour period.
- (c) Overtime is voluntary and an employee shall not be dismissed if he objects to working outside normal working hours. However, certain jobs may require attendance at times outside the normal hours and in these cases employees shall be given the option of a 45-hour week by allowing time off during normal working hours, at a time to be agreed with the employer.

6. Holidays.

(a) ANNUAL HOLIDAYS.

All employees shall be entitled to a paid holiday of two weeks (90 hours) in each completed year of work with one employer. The annual holiday shall be taken at a time to be mutually agreed between employer and employee but must fall between October 15th and March 31st provided that an employer may close any department for two periods not exceeding one week each at any time between these dates. An employee who has completed six months with one employer but who leaves his employment before completing twelve months, shall be entitled to 5 days (40 hours) paid holiday, before leaving such employment, except where he is dismissed for misdemeanour.

(b) PUBLIC HOLIDAYS.

These are days on which Government Offices are closed by notification in the Gazette and the following seven days shall be paid holidays for all employees :-

Good Friday, The Queen's Birthday, Empire Day, December 8th, Christmas Day, Boxing Day, and one other day to coincide with the Stanley Annual Sports Meeting.

Individual employers shall be entitled to decide whether or not to observe the remaining Public Holidays or to treat them as normal working days but in no circumstances may they be treated as unpaid holidays.

- (c) Any allowance or special rates earned on both the working day preceding and the working day following the holiday shall be paid for the holiday.
- (d) When a dated holiday falls on a Sunday the next working day shall be the holiday.

7. Sick Pay.

- (a) Employees who have not completed one year's service with their employer shall not be entitled to sick pay.
- (b) The following rules apply to employees who have completed one year's service with their employer.
 - (i) There shall be no entitlement to sick pay for the first week of absence caused by sickness, but if sickness lasts for more than one week, an employee shall be entitled to half pay for the second, third and fourth weeks. While off work through illness an employee shall have the option of taking part or the whole of any annual leave due to him.
 - (ii) Full pay shall be paid for any Public Holiday which falls during the first four weeks of sickness, provided that the employee, when he has recovered, returns to work for the same employer.
- (c) An employer may demand a medical certificate before applying any of the rules 7 (b) (i), (ii).
- (d) The Workmen's Compensation Ordinance shall apply in cases of sickness resulting from accidents at work.

8. General.

- (a) Employment is normally terminated, either by employer or employee, at the end of the working week, but employment may be terminated at the end of any working day. A minimum of two hours' notice shall be given, except in the case of misdemeanour, when an employee may be summarily dismissed.
- (b) When a party of employees are required to carry meals to their work, one employee shall be allowed reasonable time to heat meals for the rest of the party.
- (c) Individual employers may lay down the times when employees shall appear for their wages, provided that the payment is completed within ten minutes of the end of the normal working day.
- (d) An official or delegation of a recognised union may, with the employer's consent, attend at a job or shop at any time to interview workmen, but no meeting shall take place in working hours without the express permission of the employer. If a dispute arises, the employer or his nominee shall interview, by appointment, any official representative of his employees.
- (e) All employers shall display for the benefit of their employees copies of Regulations and Rules pertaining to wages and conditions of service of workers.

A Bill for An Ordinance

To amend the Old Age Pensions Ordinance, 1952. Title.

BE IT ENACTED by the Legislature of the Colony of the Falkland Islands, as follows :— Enacting clause.

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Old Age Pensions (Amendment) Ordinance, 1958, and shall be read and construed as one with the Old Age Pensions Ordinance, 1952, hereinafter referred to as the principal Ordinance. Short title.

2. The Governor in Council may by Order declare that the provisions of the principal Ordinance shall not apply to such person or persons, or class or classes of persons, not being permanently resident in the Colony, as shall be specified in such Order, and such person or persons, or class or classes of persons, shall be deemed not to be employed or self-employed persons for the purposes of the said Ordinance, nor shall contributions under the said Ordinance be payable by or in respect of them. Exception of persons or classes of persons from the provisions of the principal Ordinance.

Commencement.

3. This Ordinance shall be deemed to have come into operation on the 1st day of July, 1952, and in any Order made thereunder it may be declared that such Order shall be deemed to have come into operation upon such date as shall be mentioned therein.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to provide the Governor in Council with the power to declare that the provisions of the principal Ordinance shall not apply to such person or persons, or class or classes of persons, not being permanently resident in the Colony, as shall be specified in an Order by the Governor in Council.

2. The reason for this amending legislation is that difficulties have arisen with regard to the liability of officers and crew serving on the Royal Research Ships "Shackleton" and "John Biscoe" who are domiciled in the United Kingdom and who are never likely to benefit from the provisions of the principal Ordinance. Because the two ships are registered in Stanley, even though they are employed in the service of the Dependencies to which the Ordinance does not apply, they are required by law to make certain contributions. It is considered that in the circumstances this arrangement is unnecessary and that the Governor in Council should be provided with the power to exempt such persons from the liability to pay contributions to the Falkland Islands Old Age Pension Fund.

Lieutenant Commander A. G. Cornabe and Lieutenant J. G. Brigham were appointed Chief Inspector of Accidents and Inspector of Accidents respectively for the purpose of the enquiry.

3. Having considered the evidence presented by the pilot (Mr. G. C. Toye), the Aircraft Engineers (Mr. M. Smith and Mr. D. Jones), passengers in the aircraft, Mr. A. Alazia, who was an eye-witness to the accident and others, the Board of Enquiry has expressed the opinion that the accident could only be attributed to one of the following causes :—

(a) The aircraft became prematurely airborne owing to the conditions prevailing at the time, stalled and dropped its port wing thus causing the port float to enter the water causing the aircraft to yaw and capsize.

(b) The port float, which was in a damaged condition had shipped sufficient water in its foremost compartment to cause asymmetric drag on the aircraft resulting in yaw and eventual capsize.

4. They have expressed the view that the most likely of these two possibilities was the first, namely, that the aircraft became prematurely airborne owing to the conditions prevailing at the time, stalled and dropped its port wing.

5. The Board of Enquiry has stated that in its view, no person can be considered directly to blame for this occurrence and that the aircraft was not, at the time of the accident, being operated outside its normal weight capacity,

6. The aircraft was salvaged from the Moro and brought into Stanley. Unfortunately, however, Government have been advised that the repairs necessary to make it airworthy again would be so extensive and costly that repair would not be an economic proposition.

Power of Court as to production of child.

13. If at the time of the application for a writ or order for the production of the child, the child is being brought up by another person, the Court may, in its discretion, if it orders the child to be given up to the parent, further order that the parent shall pay to such person the whole of the costs properly incurred in bringing up the child, or such portion thereof as shall seem to the Court to be just and reasonable, having regard to the circumstances of the case.

Power of Court to order repayment of costs of bringing up child.

14. Where the parent has -

- (a) abandoned or deserted his child; or
- (b) allowed his child to be brought up by another person at that person's expense for such a length of time and under such circumstances as to satisfy the Court that the parent was unmindful of his parental duties,

Court in making order to have regard to conduct of parent.

the Court shall not make an order for the delivery of the child to the parent, unless the parent has satisfied the Court that, having regard to the welfare of the child, he or she is a fit person to have the custody of the child.

Power of Court as to child's religious education.

15. (1) Upon an application by the parent for the production or custody of a child, if the Court is of opinion that the parent ought not to have the custody of the child, and that the child is being brought up in a different religion to that in which the parent has a legal right to require that the child should be brought up, the Court shall have power to make such order as it may think fit to secure that the child be brought up in the religion in which the parent has a legal right to require that the child should be brought up.

(2) Nothing contained in this section or in sections 12 to 14 (inclusive) of this Ordinance shall interfere with or affect the power of the Court to consult the wishes of the child in considering what order ought to be made under this section, or diminish the right which any child now possesses to the exercise of its own free choice.

Definition of "Court" and "parent".

16. For the purposes of sections 12 to 15 (inclusive) of this Ordinance the expression —

"Court" means the Supreme Court;

"parent" of a child includes any person at law liable to maintain such child or entitled to its custody.

Enforcement of orders for payment of money.

17. (1) Any person for the time being under an obligation to make payments in pursuance of any order for the payment of money under this Ordinance, shall give notice of any change of address to such person (if any) as may be specified in the order, and any person failing without reasonable excuse to give such a notice shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding £25 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months.

(2) Where the Court has made any such order, the Court shall, in addition to any other powers for enforcing compliance with the order, have power, in any case where there is any pension or income payable to the person against whom the order is made and capable of being attached, after giving the person by whom the pension or income is payable an opportunity of being heard, to order that such part as the Court may think fit of any such pension or income, be attached and paid to the person named by the Court, and such further order shall be an authority to the person by whom such pension or income is payable to make the payment so ordered, and the receipt of the person to whom the payment is ordered to be made shall be a good discharge to the person by whom the pension or income is payable.

Principle on which questions relating to custody, upbringing etc. of children are to be decided.

18. Where in any proceedings before any Court the custody or upbringing of a child or the administration of any property belonging to or held on trust for a child, or the application of the income thereof, is in question, the Court in deciding that question, shall regard the welfare of the child as the first and paramount consideration, and shall not take into consideration whether from any other point of view the claim of the father, or any right at common law possessed by the father, in respect of such custody, upbringing, administration or application is superior to that of the mother, or the claim of the mother is superior to that of the father.

Rules.

19. The Governor in Council may make Rules directing the manner in which applications to the Court are to be made and dealing generally with all the matters of procedure and incidental matters arising out of this Ordinance, and of carrying this Ordinance into effect.

The Meeting opened with prayers read by the Reverend J. O. Vere-Stead

1. The Minutes of the Meeting of the Legislative Council held on the 15th, and 16th October, 1957, were confirmed.

2. His Excellency delivered the following address to Council:

Honourable Members of Legislative Council.

I wish it were possible to record that since I addressed this Council at its budget meeting on the 26th June, 1957, we have had a period of steady progress and development uninterrupted by setbacks and disappointments. In some ways we have certainly progressed, but we have also had our share of setbacks, and foremost in our minds at this time are the difficulties we are having with our Air Service.

There recently occurred the unfortunate accident to the Beaver when it capsized on take-off at Douglas Station on the 19th February. I do not wish in any way to minimise the accident or its effects but I must record that we are all deeply thankful that there were no fatalities or even injuries to pilot and passengers.

As Honourable Members are aware an enquiry into the accident was held, and I am glad to be able to record that the Officers of the Royal Navy, both of whom are experienced pilots, who conducted the enquiry, have reported that in their view no one could be considered directly to blame for the accident. They also expressed themselves satisfied as to the engineering standards of the maintenance of the aircraft. They have, however, made certain recommendations with a view to improving the documentation of maintenance and defects and these have been accepted and are being implemented. I regret to say that the damage to the aircraft is such that its repair would not be an economic proposition and, in fact, Government have been advised that in addition to repairs taking perhaps more than a year, the complete expenditure would in the end probably amount to more than the cost of a new Beaver.

Unfortunately, that is not the end of our misfortunes, and the second Beaver is at present grounded with a defect that has not yet been determined. I fully realise that this is a serious matter and one which must inevitably cause some inconvenience and dislocation in our life and communications, so largely dependent as they are on the Air Service. I would, however, assure Council that everything possible is being done to trace and remedy the defect and put the aircraft back into service again. Government has every confidence in both our pilots and our engineers, and I would like to record my appreciation of the unstinted and efficient service they render to the whole community.

I think it goes almost without saying that these incidents have brought home to us the need and value of having two Beaver aircraft in the Colony, particularly when we consider how far away we are from fully equipped engineering workshops and our sources of spare parts. In these circumstances I have thought it right to suggest for the consideration of Standing Finance Committee that a new aircraft should be purchased as soon as possible.

I must also refer to another event that has inevitably caused much disappointment, although perhaps it was not entirely unexpected, particularly in view of the general and widespread drop in world commodity prices. The very satisfactory level of prices obtained for our Falkland Islands wool in 1957 has not been maintained this year and the average price has dropped, very considerably, from an overall average of 6½d. per lb. to something in the region of 48d. per lb. in the first of this year's wool sales. It is, I think, more than likely that we shall not see anything in the way of a recovery this year, if in fact we don't see a further drop, and we must hope that prices will improve considerably in 1959. In the meantime, and even though it is perhaps cold comfort, we must, I think, be thankful that for a number of years now times have been good and Government and farms have had the opportunity to build up financial reserves. Moreover, we should hope that even although we must inevitably suffer from the world wide drop in commodity prices, such a decline should in the long run go some way towards cheaper goods and halting or at least checking ever increasing inflation.

You will perhaps recall that in my last Budget address I said, in referring to camp tracks, that there was a risk that we might too easily be deterred by the difficulties that had arisen and our apparent lack of physical progress compared to the time taken and the money spent. I suggested that we should at least carry through the programme for another year. There has been better progress during the past few months but still not sufficient, in Government's opinion, to warrant continuing the programme for a further twelve months. It is my view that the most satisfactory form of assistance we can give the farms at the present time is to provide bridging materials, and the expenditure that has been included in the Estimates presented for your consideration is made up of the funds required to bring the scheme to a close by the end of September of this year, and a modest sum for the bridges and culverts required to complete the bridging on the San Carlos/Darwin and Port Howard-Chartres-Fox Bay/Roy Cove tracks.

I am afraid we must now recognise that by and large the project has not been as successful as was hoped, and there is no really easy or satisfactory half way step between on the one hand building a road at enormous cost, and on the other hand using the easier parts of the camp, very largely as it is, for Land Rover travel in dry conditions, cutting out where necessary and gradually in the process of time improving the worst places. My own feeling, however, is that the end of the scheme in its present shape and form will not mean the end of Land Rover and even motorcycle travel between settlements. I believe the scheme has in fact sparked interest in the possibilities of travelling by vehicle in the camp, and as time goes on the interest will develop and we shall see a gradual improvement in existing routes.

I have dealt so far with our setbacks and disappointments, but there are also some satisfactory events to record. The R.M.S. "Darwin" arrived here on her maiden voyage in August of last year, and I would like to take this opportunity to welcome her officially to the service of this Colony. I think everyone will readily agree that she is a fine ship, and that the Falkland Islands Company have indeed lived up to their responsibilities in building their vessel to such high and satisfactory standards.

A few days' ago, I had the pleasure of opening the new water filtration plant in Moody Valley which is now operating satisfactorily and efficiently. This is, I think, a model plant of its kind and a great credit to any progressive country of our size and population. I would like to pay a tribute to the Civil Engineer, Mr. Norman Barnes, to his German labour force, to the Power and Electrical Department, and to all those who have in one way or the other assisted in the construction of the plant and the pipe and transmission lines. Last, but certainly not least, I should also like to express our appreciation to Her Majesty's Government and to Members of this Council who have contributed and voted the funds required to turn this project into a reality. I think they have every reason to take a pride in the accomplished scheme.

Then there are the roads. While some of the Civil Engineering labour force are continuing with the work required to complete the roof over the town reservoir, others have now turned, as you will have seen, to the Stanley roads, and are making good progress. I must, however, sound a note of caution with regard to progress. As Honourable Members are aware, we are proceeding, as a matter of policy, with the renewal and laying of underground ducts for water and sewage connections at the same time as we are building the new roads, in order to ensure that in time to come the minimum amount of disturbance to the road surfaces will be necessary. This, of course, is the only sensible policy but, added to other engineering difficulties that will inevitably arise, it must to some extent slow down progress on the road surfaces.

Before turning to the general work of the Departments during the last nine months, I should like to refer briefly to the recent wage negotiations that finally resulted in an increase of 6d. an hour for unskilled labour and 5½d. an hour for skilled labour and better holiday conditions for Stanley hourly paid labour. I have been most particularly impressed by the way in which, in the Falkland Islands, we seem to be able to sit down round a table and discuss the implications of a very substantial demand for increased wages and improved conditions and reach agreement. It seems to me that this says much for the moderation, responsibility and sense of justice of both employers and the representatives of labour. I wonder whether in fact we fully appreciate how fortunate we have so far been in this respect.

In this general context, I would mention how much I appreciate the serious and constructive consideration given by the Select Committee of this Council to the proposals of the Sub-Committee of Executive Council that was appointed to consider and make recommendations with regard to the salaries and conditions of established Civil Servants, and whose report was adopted, with only minor amendments, by this Council towards the end of last year. In the event, the actual cost of the revision, which was made with retrospective effect to the 1st January, 1957, has been a great deal less than was expected, because of staff vacancies. You will now be asked to consider some further minor adjustments following upon the recent wage increases in the case of Stanley hourly paid labour. Here again, the adjustments that have been found necessary are considerably less than was at one time expected.

I would now like to turn, in very general terms, to the work of some of the Departments. Firstly the Medical Department. Here we have been faced with grave difficulties arising from the shortage of staff and the difficulty of obtaining a replacement, at very short notice, for Dr. Greenaway. Fortunately, we have been able to welcome Dr. Emerson who has agreed to assist us as a locum tenens until the end of the year. But the problem of the serious shortage of nursing staff has not been solved, and has only been alleviated by what I can term, without exaggeration or undue sentiment, the devoted work of Mrs. Fleuret and Miss Beal. We are all deeply grateful to them. In spite of these difficulties the department, not forgetting the Dental section, continues to provide the very high standard of service expected of it.

The Darwin Boarding School goes from strength to strength. The staff are efficient and deeply interested in the school and its success; and the children are well and happy. I have really been most impressed, as indeed I am sure you have been, with the Darwin School. With regard to the Port Howard School, Government has not been able to obtain the necessary domestic assistance required to ensure that the school functions properly as a boarding school. The present position is that we are endeavouring to build, as soon as possible, a small house for a cowman/gardener whose wife would be prepared to assist the Matron on the domestic side. In the meantime, however, the fact that we have a school master stationed at Port Howard, and have accommodation for him, means that some fifteen or sixteen children can receive normal whole time education.

I think we should now perhaps start turning our minds to the future of the Stanley School, where, after all, over a hundred of our future citizens are receiving their education. The Senior School is, as you are fully aware, a building of ancient vintage and one, moreover, that has a number of serious drawbacks, and in which it is difficult to banish that slight air of gloom. At the moment the budgetary position makes any major project difficult, but I hope to see the day when we have a really modern senior school, with facilities for teaching domestic science, and its own workshops, for I am sure we want to assist those responsible for education to give our youngsters the best possible start in life here in the Falkland Islands. This is just a thought that I might leave for you to consider and turn over in your minds.

The major Public Works programme is now running down and with the completion of one more project, the building of porches, bathrooms and chimneys at Hodson Villas, we shall see all our Government buildings in good order. I am aware that Members of this Council have, from time to time expressed serious concern lest ever again we should allow our buildings and property to become so dilapidated. You will see that Government is proposing for your consideration a policy of spending the equivalent of 2% of the approximate value of the buildings each year on maintenance, and has inserted the necessary financial provision in the draft Estimates to do so.

As I have said before, we have encountered our difficulties, great and small, and we must perhaps expect them. Some of them, such as the shortage of staff at the Wireless Station and the Hospital, are ones that are not of our own making, and have had to be overcome by the staff we have willingly and efficiently working longer hours. There have been mistakes and errors also, but speaking generally, I sincerely believe that the services our departments and Civil Service give to the Colony are of a high standard, and compare very favourably indeed with any country of comparable size and population. That is the view I formed when I first came here and I still adhere to it. In particular, I cannot leave the Departmental work without a special reference to Mr. Ikkint, our Chief Constable, who leaves us shortly. I would thank him for his valuable services to the Colony, commend him for the efficiency of our small police force, and wish him well in the future. He is, I am glad to say, to join the Dependencies staff in South Georgia where he will, I know, prove a great asset.

I am very glad to record that the second stage of the topographical survey of the Falkland Islands is going very well indeed under Mr. George Reid, the senior surveyor, and his colleague, Mr. John Evans. They are now following up on the ground the work started by Hunting Aero Surveys who were responsible for carrying out so effectively the aerial photography of the Falkland Islands. This was the first step in the topographical survey and the eventual production of accurate maps of the Falklands which will, I believe, prove of the greatest value. I am very glad, though not the slightest bit surprised, to hear that the surveyors engaged in this task have reported they have met with nothing but kindness, traditional hospitality, and every possible assistance wherever they have been working in the Falklands. Arrangements have also been made, in conjunction with the Secretary of State and the Director of Geological Surveys, for the photo interpretation of the aerial photographs of the Falkland Islands to be undertaken by the Geological Department of Birmingham University, with a view to seeing whether there is any prospect of mineral and oil deposits existing in the Falklands.

Nine months' ago, I referred in this Council to the proposal for carrying out a soil survey in the Colony, and said that the whole question and the objectives of such a survey were being closely studied by the Macauley Institute. Since I addressed you on this subject, there have been detailed consultations in London with experts attending the discussions. The conclusion has now been reached that it would be advisable to defer any further action for the time being, in order to provide time for some of the results of the experimental work now being carried out by the Falkland Islands Company and individual farmers to show results. We should then be in a better position to judge and assess the value and the results that could be expected from an agronomic and soil survey of the Colony with, perhaps, a long term programme of investigation, research and experimentation to follow. Last year I ventured to suggest, and I still adhere to the view, that a soil survey will be of little practical value unless it is closely integrated with a much wider programme of long term experimental work and pasture improvement. If we are ever to enter into some such project, it must be with full knowledge of the long term implications and the firm intention of persevering, even though results may not come for years – for that is the way of research, and even the most startling and dramatic successes in the field of research are based on years of painstaking, dull, and even dreary routine investigations. Before we come to such a decision we must be very sure of our ground and our intentions – and for that we must have all the information available on which to base the decisions.

I have referred generally to our major projects and schemes – some successful, some not so successful. You will, I hope, forgive me or will not think it out of place if I refer briefly and in passing to one minor project which cost very little, but which has, I think, given many people many hours of relaxation and pleasure, even those who have had indifferent luck – the importation of trout ova. The scheme has apparently succeeded beyond our wildest hopes, and the fishing stories we can now tell with pride have the merit of truth – even though they would hardly be met with anything but downright disbelief at the worst, or, at the best, polite scepticism, anywhere except in the Falklands, where two or three six to eight pounders and a couple of three pound minnows are now quite a common reward for a day on the river.

I do not wish to anticipate the details of the budget which is to be presented to you by the Colonial Treasurer, but will mention two projects that Government has in mind and which I hope you will consider. Firstly, there is the question of a new stamp issue. It is some years now since we have had such an issue, and in fact the present issue is not a complete set in as much as some values still carry the portrait of His Late Majesty King George VI and not that of Her Majesty the Queen. You will note that provision has been inserted in the draft Estimates to meet the initial costs of a new issue, and I have no doubt that if it is approved by this Council and the proposal meets with the approval of the Secretary of State, we shall be amply rewarded by increased revenue in the 1959/60 financial year.

Secondly, there is, in my opinion and that of the Senior Medical Officer, considerable scope for ophthalmic work in the Falklands, along the lines of the very successful T.B. survey, which could and should now be done. There are many people in the Falklands who have defective eyesight and for whom much could be done if we could obtain the services of a suitable person for a period of some months. What Government has in mind is that the Senior Medical Officer should make enquiries while he is on leave to see whether, and under what conditions, we could bring out a qualified person who would undertake a complete and thorough ophthalmic survey, test eyesight, and fit and provide the necessary lenses for anyone who needs and wants them. The project and the costs involved would then be submitted for your consideration. In the meantime, a small token vote has been inserted in the draft Estimates in order that you may, when considering the draft Estimates, consider also the principle of this proposal if you wish to do so.

I have now been in the Colony for just under a year, and have had the opportunity of meeting and talking with people in all walks of life, and of visiting many of the farm settlements. Nothing that I have seen has altered the impression I had gained when I first addressed this Council, the impression of a progressive but stable country where sound common sense, a respect for tradition, democratic institutions, and the rule of law prevail. Mistakes there have no doubt been, but in spite of our isolation and extensive lines of communication there are services and institutions here of which any country could, I think, be justly proud. Changes, perhaps great changes, there may be in the future. But if moderation and good sense prevail they will, I have no doubt, be for the better. Added to all this, our financial position, by any standards, is sound, and a source of satisfaction and confidence.

3. Council adjourned until 2.30 p.m.

4. On resumption the Honourable the Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the Table the following Papers :

- (ii) Financial Report, 1956/57.

- (vii) Chief Constable's Report, 1957.
- (viii) Copies of subsidiary legislation made or approved by the Governor in Executive Council since the last Meeting of the Legislative Council.

5. The Honourable Mr. S. Miller (Elected Member for the West Falkland) then moved the following Resolution :-

"This Council is gravely concerned that the Governor in Council has declined to introduce amending legislation, with specified safeguards, to provide for the exemption from the statutory obligation to dip placed on all farms under the provisions of the Livestock Ordinance, contrary to the advice of the great majority of the members of the Sheep Owners' Association, the authoritative source of advice and opinion on all livestock matters in the Falkland Islands who, at their general meeting held in 1957, expressed the view that such legislation should be introduced."

and said

"I suppose of course we all know the brief history of this Bill. I introduced it last winter and it was turned down in Council and I accepted that in a short speech I made in June because at the time the Governor in Council, at that Executive Council Meeting, had only the Council to whom to listen and that sounded reasonable enough. I was advised afterwards that if there was a sufficient body of authoritative opinion behind the amendment that it would have been a different matter, and that seemed to make it clear to me what to do. Therefore, when the Sheepowners' Association met in August I put the matter to them and it was discussed in considerable detail and then put to the vote and there was a majority of just over 80% in favour of the amendment to the Stock Ordinance, though with safeguards. Well, that seemed to me a pretty sound resolution to put forward again to Executive Council which I did. The subsequent history is that Executive Council turned the thing down, as far as I know, lock, stock and barrel.

Now, because the manner in which the subject was turned down by Executive Council rather worried me, a few weeks ago I discussed the thing with the people who were responsible for putting me here in the Council - the West Falkland people. And the opinion I have got to give now is theirs as well as mine - it is my opinion but they are right behind me and they have asked me to say it. They, and I, feel concerned that a matter concerning stock, upon which the only really responsible authority can be expressed by the industry, should have been turned down in Council in the manner in which it has been turned down, and which, unless I bring it up again before Legislative Council, is precluded from any further discussion. And here again, when I put the amendment once more before Legislative Council, I am up against another snag because at the present moment when we have Members serving on both Councils, any person who voted against it in Executive Council is presumably going to vote against it again at Legislative Council. And so if the amendment does therefore not have a chance of going through it would appear to be a waste of our time ever to bring it up. However, I decided that I should bring forward some sort of motion so that at least the thing could be aired in public. It would seem to me no small thing that Executive Council has done. I know that a few people have very different opinions about whether we should dip or not dip in certain circumstances, but after all it must be remembered that a very large majority of farmers were in favour of this amendment.

I know that there is quite a body of opinion in this Colony, mostly amongst the older farmers, that regards the sheep ked rather in the same way as diddle-dee and white grass – something we have got for ever and there are quite a lot of farmers who really do believe that. I know there are some people, people in responsible positions, who do not believe that Pebble Island are clear of ked and Pebble being an island now have immunity from dipping.

We have been clear at Roy Cove now just 20 years. We have had occasional infection – we have had it again this year and we have stamped it out; these things can re-appear but our situation is fully under control. For anybody to think that if this Amendment passed and the Colony was going to be in danger because a farm, – say ourselves – were taking advantage of it, is a theory that does not really bear investigation as in our case we have got the matter completely under control. Of course we can get an infection now and again and so will any other farm until the Colony is clear.

My neighbour, in particular, when I came in to this meeting, said "For goodness sake try and get this thing going". He said – "We are getting towards the stage where we shall be clear and will not want to dip all of the sheep".

But I think there should be far more serious thought about this thing than just brushing it aside like that in Executive Council. I know that the farmers on Executive Council are all farmers, past or present, who know what they are talking about. Even so I still think they have not given it enough thought. Without inferring anything against these farmers, they probably never have really thought that there could be a time when we could get rid of this particular insect, and it is not difficult to get rid of the ked.

About 60 odd years ago, this Colony had an infection of scab. I have had experience of scab in the Argentine and it is far more difficult to get rid of scab than keds, yet this Colony got clear of scab in about 4 years by ruthless methods. I am not suggesting that we should immediately import stock inspectors and adopt ruthless methods to get rid of the ked, but it is not such a problem as people seem to think, and some of us are trying to arrive at the state where we can obtain some relief from the expense and effort of dipping. And if every time – and I'm sure some Members must be getting tired of this amendment – if every time it is going to be brought up it is going to be turned down so ruthlessly it seems to me a retrograde action and not enough serious thought is being given to the matter.

I don't think there is anything much more that I can say but I, and the people on the West Falkland, wanted the matter aired in public because we felt it was being pushed to one side, and we did not like it. There are farmers around this table and I would like them to get up after me if they are so inclined and tear what I have said to pieces, after all it is not much good having a debate in Council – or anywhere else – if only one person gets up to speak and no-one else does. I would like to hear this thing discussed. I still think it is to the interest of this Colony to try to make some effort to arrive at the state we have arrived at in Roy Cove. There is too much complacency about this problem and we should look a bit further ahead than that and not regard this insect as something that we have with us forever."

The Resolution was not seconded but His Excellency permitted an open debate on the matter.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary said:—

"Your Excellency, Honourable Members. This is not an easy subject for a layman to deal with and quite clearly it is a matter of very serious concern to stockmen, but I would like to say from the outset that this matter has not been arbitrarily dealt with or brushed aside. It was given very serious consideration by Executive Council when it came before Council early in 1957, and again when it came before Council after the matter had been discussed at the last meeting of S.O.A. In fact it was discussed at considerable length and very carefully and Council were unable to agree that amending legislation should be introduced on that particular point, although they did accept, as members of this Council will remember, a second point connected with the notification of neighbours when farmers are gathering sheep and Government introduced amending legislation. That point too was put by Mr. Miller and accepted. At the time this proposal was before Council we had before us a recommendation of the Veterinary Officer who was here at the time, who felt and had expressed the view that it would be wisest to ensure, if such legislation were to be introduced, that the boundaries were at least double fenced. I do not really think that is a matter which has been most before us in our minds in dealing with this rather difficult question. I think if Government have erred, and I don't accept they have, we have erred perhaps a little on the side of caution. Because both Councils, this one as well, must take into account the fact that any measure we take with regard to stock in this country is of the utmost importance and affects the life and economy of the Colony and of the whole community. The Honourable Member for the West Falkland does claim that his farm has been free for a great number of years, although as he has himself told you, quite recently, I think perhaps somewhat to his surprise, he noticed that there was an infestation in some of his flocks. I would entirely agree, Sir, with the Honourable Member of the West Falkland when he says that we cannot merely accept the fact that ked will be, rather like the poor, always with us. If the day is reached when ked is no longer with us I am sure at the time early consideration would be given, provided we were absolutely certain it would be safe to do so, to legislation perhaps abolishing the dipping. But the point is this, that in spite of the fact that we have compulsory dipping on every mainland farm, this infestation is still fairly widespread and you are also placing whoever has to make the decision in a difficult, extremely difficult, position. We take it that a veterinary officer is asked to decide or advise Government as to whether particular farms should receive a dispensation and should be exempted from dipping. To do that he must really satisfy himself that that farm is completely and entirely clear of ked. And I do not believe for a moment that is an easy thing to do. And then there may well be another outbreak, as indeed there has been recently at Roy Cove, and it may be some time on some farms, not necessarily all, but it may be some time before that is found. And I feel that it would be a very difficult task indeed with the inter-related boundaries that we have for Government to ensure that every outbreak is immediately dealt with, and further that the infestation does not spread to neighbouring farms. Now I would like to emphasise that Government has no desire whatsoever to attempt to exercise dictatorial powers, there would be no object in doing that, but Government does have to take account of what it believes to be in the best interest of the industry and therefore of the whole Falkland Islands.

May be we are being cautious, but I am perfectly certain there is so much at stake that caution in this matter really is essential. And finally I would like to ask the Honourable the Elected Member of the West Falkland to accept the fact that this matter has been very carefully considered in detail, has not been brushed aside, and I can only regret that there is a difference of opinion but I would ask him to accept that it is an honest difference of opinion."

The Honourable Mr. T. A. Gilruth expressed his opinion as follows :-

"Obviously, the Member for the West Falkland feels very strongly about this, I think he probably is free from keds altogether, and his farm, being situated as it is, I think he'd take every precaution to ensure that it would remain free, and from his point of view he can't quite see why legislation should not be passed that would allow him to abolish dipping in that case. But, the thing as I see it, is that you can't legislate for the individual, you can't legislate for one farm because of its situation; because you know the manager; because you know his ability. If once legislation is passed, surely it applies to everybody, and where does the thing stop? The only safeguard that Mr. Miller may say that we should have is that the Agricultural Officer should go out and ensure that whoever applies for exemption from dipping should go out and make quite sure there is nothing there, but that is a pretty great task for any stock inspector."

The Honourable Mr. Miller in winding up the debate said :-

"If it is left for me to wind up, I have very little to say. I thank you for listening here, but I have one or two small points.

The Honourable Elected Member for the East said that it would be difficult for a stock inspector, if not impossible, to give a clear bill to any farm unless he saw every sheep. It would of course be quite impossible to do this, but then consider the present returns for dipping which are submitted to the Stock Department each autumn. The Department has to take farmers word for it that every sheep is dipped. We don't, in fact, dip every sheep, with the best of gathering some sheep get missed and on some farms may be rather more than 'some'. That is the main reason why the ked persists here. No, if a farmer wished to take advantage of not dipping in the event of any such amendment to the Stock Ordinance, the Department would have to take the manager's word for the freedom from infection and no farmer, unless he was qualifying for a lunatic asylum would try to evade dipping if he had something to kill - unless of course he did not mind if he lost his job. The idea would be absolutely fantastic.

I think too many farmers are inclined to think up too many obstacles which are in the way of any farm policy of trying completely to clear out keds. And the farmer can use the best dip in the world, but he won't clear his farm if he doesn't get all the sheep in for dipping; if he is putting dipped sheep back out where there are still some undipped he is largely wasting his time and the farm's money. Well, I have probably said quite enough on this matter, but at least I am glad that someone stood up and gave another opinion."

As the Resolution was not seconded it lapsed.

6. The Bill "To provide for the granting of a pension to William Bleaker Myles" was introduced by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer who said :-

"Your Excellency, this Bill is placed before Council firstly on the grounds of equity and secondly on what might be termed compassionate grounds.

When the Revised Conditions of Service were introduced in 1953, it was the intention that all male officers on the permanent establishment should become pensionable and that such officers should refund Government's contribution to the Provident Fund, plus interest.

When the Revised Conditions of Service were first considered, one officer in the Posts & Telegraphs Department, Mr. W. B. Myles was under 60 years of age. Before the Revised Conditions were finally approved, however, Mr. Myles reached 60 years of age and because Section 6 (1) (i) of the Pensions Ordinance precludes any person over 60 being granted pensionable status, he was not given the opportunity of accepting Revised Conditions which conferred pensionability.

Mr. Myles has served this Government for over 33 years and it seems unfortunate that he cannot now qualify for a pension because he happened to be over 60 years when Revised Conditions of Service were introduced.

Honourable Members are asked to give favourable consideration to the Bill which provides for the grant of pension.

No similar case of this kind has occurred in the Colony but it is not uncommon elsewhere. I may add Mr. Myles is the only serving officer affected in this way. I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. A. Mercer seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and committed.

Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to.

The Council resumed and the Bill was a read a third time and passed.

7. In introducing the Bill "To amend the Application of Enactments Ordinance, 1954" the Honourable the Colonial Secretary said :-

"As Honourable Members will see from their order papers and the draft Bills that are to be considered by this Legislature at this meeting, Government is proposing to introduce a Guardianship and Custody of Children Bill.

The Guardianship of Infants Act of 1925, which is a U.K. Act, has been specifically applied to this Ordinance of 1954.

Before the Guardianship and Custody of Children Bill can become law it is necessary to amend the Application of Enactments Ordinance in such a way as to delete the Application of the Guardianship of Infants Act of 1925 which would then no longer apply to this Colony.

This Bill therefore must be considered in conjunction with the immediately following Bill.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The motion was seconded by the Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy and the Bill was read a first time.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time, committed and passed through all its stages without amendment.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

8. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary then introduced the Bill "To consolidate the law relating to the Guardianship and Custody of Children and matters incidental thereto" and said :-

"There are at present three Acts in force in this Colony connected with the custody of children :-

- (i) The Guardianship of Infants Act 1886.
- (ii) The Custody of Children's Acts of 1873 and 1891.
- (iii) Guardianship of Infant Act 1925.

The Government of Jamaica recently enacted legislation that constitutes a convenient codification of the provisions in a number of English Acts of Parliament and the Secretary of State has drawn the attention of this Government to the fact that this legislation might be useful for reference and guidance in other Colonies.

A number of important provisions have been included in this Bill. In particular that legislation would establish two very important principles.

- (i) that the welfare of a child should be of paramount consideration in dealing with matters of Custody and Guardianship and in this connection I would draw your attention to Clause 18 of the Bill;
- (ii) that in these matters the rights of the father of the child should not be superior to those of the mother or the claim of the mother superior to that of the father.

I think all members of this Council will agree that the law dealing with this difficult question, which fortunately but seldom comes before our courts, except possibly in the case of divorce, should be clearly codified and stated so that the courts can be under no misapprehension as to where their duty and responsibility lie. Moreover, and this is an important point, the codification in the form of this Bill does assist and help the courts in carrying out their responsibilities.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy seconded.

The Bill was read a first time and on further motion made and seconded, was read a second time.

His Excellency declared the Council to be in Committee and Clauses 1 to 20 were agreed to as were the Enacting Clause and the Title.

Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

9. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary proposed the first reading of the Bill "To provide for the vesting in the Research Council set up under the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research Act, 1956 (4 and 5 Eliz. II, c. 58) of certain premises in Stanley" and said :-

"Some years ago the property known as No. 3 Brandon Road Stanley was sold to the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research.

Unfortunately it has been discovered by the legal Advisers to Her Majesty's Government who have drawn Her Majesty's Government's attention to the fact that the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research was not, entitled to purchase the property as it is not a body corporate entitled to acquire and hold such property.

In these circumstances you are asked to approve and pass the Scientific and Industrial Research Council (Vesting of Property) Bill which is now before you for consideration and which would invest the property in the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, which is a body corporate with power to acquire and hold land under the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research Act of 1956.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. M. G. Creece seconded and the Bill received its first reading.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and His Excellency declared the Council to be in Committee.

Clauses 1 to 3 were agreed to and stood part of the Bill.

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary seconded by the Honourable Mr. M. G. Creece then moved that an Enacting Clause reading "BE IT ENACTED by the Legislature of the Colony of the Falkland Islands as follows :—" be inserted.

This Clause and the Title were agreed.

Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

10. In introducing the Bill "To amend the Old Age Pensions Ordinance, 1952" the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer said :—

"Your Excellency, this Bill to amend the Old Age Pensions Ordinance is drawn to give the Governor in Council the necessary powers to declare by Order in Council that the provisions of the principal Ordinance shall not apply to such person or persons who are not permanently resident in the Colony.

A difficulty has arisen with regard to the application of the principal Ordinance to the crews of the R.R.S. "John Biscoe" and the R.R.S. "Shackleton" who are domiciled in the United Kingdom.

Both vessels are registered in Stanley and it has been ruled that all personnel serving in them must be considered as persons "gainfully employed in the Colony" and as such they must contribute to the pension scheme.

This gives rise, however, to serious administrative difficulties, particularly as regards to refunds of contributions when the crew sign off in the United Kingdom.

The difficulties can be resolved by the exemption from the ordinance of officers and crews of the two vessels who are not domiciled here and who are never likely to benefit from the scheme.

The Bill under consideration gives the Governor in Council the necessary powers to do this.

Accordingly, Sir, I beg to move that the Bill be now read a first time."

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

The second reading was moved and seconded and the Bill was read a second time.

The Council resolved itself into Committee.

The Bill passed the Committee without amendment.

Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

11. The Bill entitled "An Ordinance to amend the Harbour Ordinance" was read a first time having been proposed by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary and seconded by the Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy.

When introducing the Bill the Honourable the Colonial Secretary said :—

"Although oil pollution arising from the discharge of diesel and fuel oil into the seas off the coast of the Falkland Islands and Dependencies has not become a major problem as it is in the case of many other countries, Government feels it advisable to introduce legislation to deal effectively with such pollution as and when instances do arise, though, in the case of the Colony, fortunately very rarely.

Probably one of the worst cases can be seen along the beaches of King Edward Cove in South Georgia where there was serious pollution as a result of whale catcher fuel tanks having been overfilled, some years ago, by the tanker transport the "Harpon".

There is at present no legislation in force under which action can be taken against the person or concern responsible for negligent or avoidable discharge of fuel and diesel oil into a harbour, and we think it necessary that there should be such legislation.

The Bill now before this Council is a relatively simple one and provides for the imposition of heavy penalties in the case of the discharge of fuel or diesel oil into a harbour.

But in legislation of this nature it is advisable to state the conditions under which a person or concern prosecuted for the offence of discharging fuel or diesel oil into harbours may enter a defence.

It would for instance be quite unreasonable to impose a fine of £500 on the owner of a vessel which is damaged and as a result of the damage oil escapes into the sea. Moreover it is reasonable that in the case of a leakage that was not due to any want of reasonable care and as soon as practicable after the escape was discovered all reasonable steps were taken for stopping and reducing it, heavy penalties should not be imposed.

This principle is accepted in legislation of this nature and is contained in Clause 21B of the Bill.

I beg, Sir, to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable Mr. A. L. Hardy seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time.

In the Committee stage Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to and stood part of the Bill.

The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

12. The Bill "To legalise certain payments made in the period 1st July, 1956, to 30th June, 1957, in excess of the Expenditure sanctioned by Ordinance No. 4 of 1956" was introduced by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer who explained that this was the hardy annual of all Budget Sessions and emphasised that it was not a request for additional funds but a Bill to legalise certain payments made in the period 1st July, 1956, to 30th June, 1957, in excess of the expenditure sanctioned by Ordinance No. 4 of 1956. He then proposed the first reading of the Bill. This was seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary and the Bill was read accordingly.

The Bill was read a second time on further motion made and seconded.

In Committee Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause, Title, Preamble and Schedule were agreed to and stood part of the Bill.

Council resumed and the Bill received its third reading and was passed.

13. The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer in moving the first reading of the Bill entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the service of the year 1958-59" said :—

"Your Excellency, Honourable Members. This Bill constitutes the main business of the present meeting of Council.

Before outlining the Estimates for 1958/59 I propose to give a brief summary of the estimated financial position as it will be at the end of the current year. I should emphasise that we have more than three months to go before the end of the present financial year and although it is difficult to forecast with any degree of accuracy what the final picture will be, the figures I give will not be far wide of the mark.

The revised estimate of revenue for the year amounts to £310,520 as compared with the approved estimate of £311,786. Honourable Members will recall that the sum of £50,000 was included in revenue for the redemption of the Freezer debenture. I regret to say that the Freezer remains unsold at this date although the possibility of a sale taking place is now reasonably hopeful.

Despite this large drop in expected revenue the estimate is still very close to the approved figure. This is attributable in part to the receipt from Colonial Development and Welfare funds of £28,000 which should have been brought to account during the previous year. Revenue has also increased by £22,000 as a result of funds received in connection with the Aerial Survey although, of course, there is a corresponding increase in expenditure under this particular heading.

Departmental revenue has also increased in several cases. On the other hand two departments did not quite realise the amounts they expected.

Total ordinary expenditure is estimated at £251,037 as compared with the approved estimate of £249,519. It is important to note that approved ordinary expenditure did not include provision for increased salaries for the Civil Service neither did it take into consideration the recent increase in hourly wages. Despite the fact that both of these items have been included in the figure of £251,037 for revised ordinary expenditure, the approved estimate has been exceeded by only £1,518. Savings have been effected by the fact that so many departments continue to be understaffed.

The overall picture for the current year is that after including the sale of the Freezer in revenue we budgeted for an estimated surplus of £7,155. As the Freezer has not yet been sold it would be logical to say that the estimated surplus of £7,155 would be turned into a deficit of approximately £43,000 plus the cost of higher salaries and wages.

Such is not the case, however, and the estimated deficit is only £12,891. Taking all factors into consideration I feel that the general financial position can be regarded as satisfactory.

I come now to the Estimates for 1958/59. As Honourable Members will consider the Estimates in detail when in Select Committee I propose to confine my remarks to the general financial position.

As we are all aware there has been a serious decline in wool prices which reflects adversely on revenue. The estimated amount to be derived by way of wool tax is reduced from £47,658 during 1957/58 to £28,125 in 1958/59 a fall of over £19,000. Fortunately this is more than offset by the increased receipts from Income Tax and Companies Tax brought about by the higher price obtained for wool in 1957/58.

Continuing on the revenue side Honourable Members will be glad to see that the contribution to be received from the Dependencies has been increased from £10,000 to £15,000.

Total ordinary revenue is estimated at £272,635 and from Colonial Development and Welfare funds £16,886. It is proposed to transfer from reserves the sum of £14,434 to finance the estimated expenditure from Colony funds on Stanley roads. Total revenue is estimated at £303,955.

Total ordinary expenditure is estimated at £268,170 against ordinary revenue of £272,635 and these two figures are important when considering the general financial position of the Colony.

In most cases ordinary departmental expenditure is slightly higher than during the current year. In most cases this is caused by higher salaries and wages. It is more than likely, however, that a number of posts will remain unfilled resulting in savings at the end of the year.

For consideration in Select Committee is the matter of pensions. Until 1956 the Colony always followed the United Kingdom Pensions (Increase) Acts under which varying increases were awarded to offset the higher cost of living during and since the last war. Pensions were increased locally in 1957 but, unlike previous increases, we adopted here only half of the increase awarded in the United Kingdom under the provisions of the 1956 Pension Increase Act. Honourable Members will be asked to consider increasing pensions, where applicable, to the full amount of the last award in the United Kingdom.

Expenditure on stamps under Posts & Telegraphs has increased by £4,000. This is to meet the initial charges that will be incurred in preparing engravings and dies for a complete new set of Colony stamps which it is hoped will be on sale in 1959/60. Revenue derived from the sale of stamps will, of course, be very much larger when the new issue goes on sale.

The increase in Public Works Recurrent expenditure is due largely to higher wages for hourly paid staff.

It will be recalled that prior to 1953/54 essential repairs and maintenance to Government buildings were allowed to fall into arrears as a result of which the Colony has been faced with a major, and costly repairs and maintenance programme. It is proposed as a matter of policy to spend each year on general repairs and maintenance 2% of the value of Government buildings. This will entail an annual expenditure of £6,000 on buildings valued at approximately £300,000 but regular maintenance will ensure that the Colony is not again faced with such a backlog of essential and costly repairs as has been experienced in the past.

Also included under the heading of Public Works Recurrent expenditure is an item of £6,000 to complete the general building programme in Stanley. It is proposed to spend this sum on the installation of bathrooms, fireplaces and porches at Hodson's Villas and bathrooms in three other Government owned houses. The completion of this work will bring to an end the major building programme although consideration must be given at some future date to the erection of a new Senior School in Stanley. It is hoped that Colonial Development and Welfare assistance will be available in meeting a part of the cost of a new school.

Under the heading of Special Expenditure it is proposed to spend £14,434 as the Colony's share of the cost of Stanley roads with further expenditure to the order of £16,886 being met from C. D. and W. funds. As I mentioned earlier it is proposed to meet the Colony's share of the cost by a transfer from reserves.

No doubt one of the first things Honourable Members look for on receiving their Estimates is whether we are budgeting for a deficit or a surplus. I regret to say that we are faced with a deficit, albeit a small one, of £7,525. Against this background, however, must be borne in mind the fact that special expenditure is costing £26,424 and although £14,434 of this sum is being found from reserves net special expenditure is still estimated at £11,990.

The most important factor is that ordinary revenue is estimated to exceed ordinary expenditure by £4,465 and after taking into consideration the fact that we have reserves estimated at £522,249 as at the 30th June, 1958, I am convinced that the ship of state is sailing on a pretty even keel.

I beg, Sir, to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary seconded and the Bill was read a first time.

The second reading was proposed by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer and seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary and there being no objection the Bill was read a second time.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary then moved that the Bill and the draft Estimates for 1958/59 be referred to a select Committee of the House and that Council adjourn.

This was agreed and the Council adjourned accordingly.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer reported back to Council at 5 p.m. on 28th March and said that the Select Committee had agreed to the following amendments to the draft Estimates :-

By the deletion of the words "Three hundred and eleven thousand four hundred and eighty pounds" in the fourth line and the substitution of the words "Three hundred and nine thousand four hundred and fifty-three pounds"; and by the deletion of the figure "£311,480" in the side notes and the substitution therefor of the figure "£309,453."

The Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

14. Before adjourning His Excellency informed Council that the Colonial Secretary had reported their wish that the Senior Medical Officer should proceed on leave immediately, in the interests of his health. His Excellency went on to say that he was most grateful to Members expressing their opinion on this matter and he would respect their wishes but with no relief in view it was taking a risk. Nevertheless His Excellency hoped it would be possible to arrange something - a F.I.D.S. Doctor was willing to remain until May but he would like a Doctor to remain for a longer period. The Commanding Officer of H.M.S. Protector was being approached with a view to his Medical Officer remaining in the Colony and Dr. Slessor taking over as Ship's doctor on the voyage home.

His Excellency then expressed his thanks to Members for their useful and constructive suggestions and their hard work in considering the Estimates during the last two days.

As a number of Members were proceeding on leave to England and Scotland in the near future His Excellency wished them a very pleasant holiday - to other Members, returning to the Camp, a safe return home.

The Council adjourned sine die.

MEDICAL AND DENTAL STAFF. Dr. Grave went on leave in January, and resigned in July. Dr. Ashmore went on leave in March, and returned to the Colony in October. During his absence, his place was taken by Dr. Curtis. Dr. Greenaway went on leave from Fox Bay in September. Towards the end of the year, he suddenly decided not to return to the Colony. Dr. Marshall has been stationed at Fox Bay since September.

Dr. Schwagereit went on leave in May. In February and March, he visited the F.I.D.S. bases. Dr. Wollman, his successor, arrived in April and started work in the Camp immediately. While there, he became ill, and was admitted to hospital in August. In November, he was flown to England for further investigation and treatment. He will not be able to return to the Colony.

NURSING STAFF. The hospital has been very seriously under-staffed. With the departure of the T.B. Sister early in August, the T.B. wing of the hospital had to be closed. The Acting Matron and one trained Nursing Sister have had to be responsible for all the nursing. In addition, one of them has to be present at the daily clinics, special clinics and all confinements. This has meant long hours of duty for both and much loss of off-duty time. The Colony is indeed fortunate in having two such willing, skilled and uncomplaining Nursing Sisters.

Recruitment of local girls as Staff Nurses has not been satisfactory.

III. PUBLIC HEALTH.

An Influenza epidemic in Stanley during the Winter months, and a larger incidence of colds and upper respiratory ailments than usual, lowered the standard of health considerably. Although there were contacts with Chile while the epidemic of Asian Influenza was at its height there, no cases occurred in the Colony.

There were two new cases of pulmonary tuberculosis; both were in members of visiting ships. Of the known cases among Colony residents, there were several relapses, which necessitated their admission to hospital. Although a repeat T.B. survey has not yet been arranged, many people have asked for radiological chest examinations, and these have been done.

IV. HYGIENE AND SANITATION.

1. SEWAGE DISPOSAL. Over two hundred houses in Stanley are equipped with flush closets, which drain into the harbour. But there are still about one hundred houses without modern sanitation, and for these the Stanley Town Council employs two night-soil collectors.

2. WATER SUPPLY. The new Water Works and pipe-line are nearing completion and will be brought into use early in the New Year. During last Summer, there was the usual drought, resulting in an acute shortage of water for some weeks.

3. DAIRIES. There are three dairy herds in Stanley, all privately owned. The cows are inspected regularly by the Agricultural Officer and all are Tuberculin tested.

4. SLAUGHTER-HOUSES. There are two slaughter-houses in Stanley. Both are inspected regularly by the Sanitary Inspector.

V. K.E.M. HOSPITAL.

His Royal Highness, the Prince Philip, visited the hospital on the 7th January. His Royal Highness inspected the hospital and the Nurses' Home and met all members of the staff and all the patients. It was indeed a memorable occasion and a very happy one.

In December, Sir Eric Pridie, Chief Medical Officer, Colonial Office, visited the Colony. During his stay, he saw several of the settlements, and spent a few days at Darwin and Fox Bay. He also visited South Georgia and, had the "Shackleton" not been damaged, would have visited some of the F.I.D.S. bases in Antarctica.

Sir Eric Pridie is the first senior official of the Colonial Office to visit the Falkland Islands and Dependencies, and his visit was very much appreciated.

The hospital has been working under difficulties, due to shortage of staff. In spite of this, the number of patients admitted for treatment was only fifteen less than in 1956.

The pilot fuel oil plant for the central-heating system was installed late in December, and is working satisfactorily.

VI. MEDICAL SERVICES IN THE CAMP.

For medical purposes, the Falklands are divided into three areas – Stanley and the North Camp, Lafonia and the West Falklands. The S.M.O. and one M.O. are stationed at Stanley. One M.O. lives at Darwin, in the centre of the Lafonia area. The fourth doctor lives at Fox Bay, and sees all patients in the West Falkland and its adjacent islands.

Most houses in the Camp can communicate with their doctor either by land telephone or radio-telephone.

A medical chest, containing the most-used medicines, tablets and dressings, is kept at each settlement. Advice on the use of the various medicaments is given when necessary.

The M.O. at Darwin has been provided with a Land Rover and the West Falkland M.O. will have one soon.

The Government Air Service is used extensively by the Camp medical officers. As in previous years, it was always possible to have a plane for urgent cases, even though it meant, on one occasion, landing at Stanley by moonlight.

VII. PRISONS AND ASYLUMS.

The gaol in Stanley is the only one in the Colony.

There is no asylum in the Colony. Cases requiring institutional treatment are sent to the United Kingdom. No such cases occurred in 1957.

VIII. METEOROLOGICAL.

The following data have been supplied by the Chief Meteorological Officer :—

		1956.	1957.
Total annual rainfall	22.72 inches	23.4 inches
Average daily sunshine	4.16 hours	4.37 hours
Maximum temperature	67°F.	70°F.
Minimum	25°F.	21°F.
Mean relative humidity	85%	84%
Mean wind speed	16.8 knots	17.3 knots
Number of periods of calm	7 per month.	5 per month

IX. DEPENDENCIES.

The three Whaling Companies at South Georgia have their own medical organisations, and recruit their medical officers themselves.

The hospital at Leith Harbour has been completely rebuilt. It is a commodious, comfortable and very well equipped hospital. At Huisvik, the small hospital is being rebuilt. At Grytviken, the hospital is too small but plans have been made for a new building.

Mr. J. B. Smillie, L.D.S., employed by the Falkland Islands Dependencies, has been stationed at South Georgia throughout the year. The Whaling Companies have provided very well equipped dental surgeries for his use.

Three medical officers were registered to practise in the Dependencies in 1957.

(d) X-ray Examinations. ... 36

2. SCHOOL EXAMINATION.

In November, all Stanley school children were examined. Most of the children who received treatment after their 1956 dental examination needed little or no treatment. It is regrettable that all children do not report early for treatment, but wait till major work is necessary.

All children attending the Boarding-school at Darwin were examined by the Camp dentist.

3. DENTAL HEALTH OF THE COLONY.

The dental health of the Colony is good. In Stanley, there is now no waiting list for dentures. In the Camp, this is unfortunately not so; the Camp dentist, Dr. Wollman, became ill after being in the Colony only four months.

4. SUMMARY OF WORK DONE IN THE CAMP.

Colonial Treasury,
Stanley, Falkland Islands.
30th August, 1958.

The Honourable,
The Colonial Secretary.

Sir,

I have the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Government Employees' Provident Fund for the period 1st July, 1957, to 30th June, 1958, together with the accounts and statements listed below.

1. Revenue and Expenditure Account.
2. Deposits and Withdrawals Account.
3. Investments Adjustment Account.
4. Reserve Account.
5. Statement of Assets and Liabilities.
6. Summary of Transactions.
7. Statement of Investments held at 30th June, 1958.

2. The number of contributors to the fund at 30th June, 1958, was 40, compared with 39 at 30th June, 1957. The total amount due to depositors at 30th June, 1958, was £7,081 : 14 : 2, compared with £8,155 : 14 : 0 a year earlier.

3. The income of the fund exceeded expenditure by £82 : 12 : 2 but this was largely offset by a loss of £46 : 13 : 4 on the sale of investments and a further fall of £15 : 1 : 11 in the market value of investments.

4. The Reserve account remains in deficit as the result of the low value at which the investments are quoted at 30th June, 1958, and the Fund is still overinvested as the result of withdrawals again exceeding deposits, bonuses, etc.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

L. GLEADELL,

Acting Colonial Treasurer.

A Bill for
An Ordinance
Further to amend the Customs Ordinance.

BE IT ENACTED by the Legislature of the Colony of the Falkland Islands, as follows :—

Enacting clause.

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Customs (Amendment) Ordinance, 1959, and shall be read as one with the Customs Ordinance, hereinafter referred to as the principal Ordinance.

Short title.
Cap. 16.

2. Paragraph (a) of section 31 of the principal Ordinance is amended by the deletion of the words "three months" and the substitution therefor of the words "six months".

Amendment of section 31 of the principal Ordinance.

Ref. 1764.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to extend the period for which the Collector of Customs may permit goods to be temporarily imported without payment of duty thereon, in order to conform with the International Convention to facilitate the importation of commercial samples etc., ratified by Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom on 21st October, 1955, and which Convention has been extended to the Colony.

Triennial Report on the Education Department, 1955-57.

PART 1.

Historical.

There is no record of any school at Port Louis, the first capital of the Falklands, and it is unlikely that there was one. By 1846 however, three years after the transfer of the capital to Stanley from Anson, the room used as a church served during the week as a schoolroom. The fourteen pupils, nine of whom were girls, contributed £18 : 4s. towards the salary of the schoolmaster and Government made an annual grant of £20. Three years later the school population had grown to 28, there being an equal number of boys and girls. In 1850 the children were being taught by a Chelsea pensioner, one of a number which had been sent to the Colony to form a small garrison. Two years later Government reduced its grant to £18 but contributions from the parents gave the master a total salary of £44. In 1853 there were 47 pupils of whom "twenty can read and write".

2. In 1855 the first of several short-lived private schools was opened: this one was for "young female scholars" and seven children attended it. Six years later the Government school had a roll of 117, attendance was voluntary and the schoolmaster had started evening classes.

3. Meantime no provision of any kind had been made for educating children in the camp, the countryside outside Stanley, but Governor Callaghan in 1876 suggested the employment of travelling teachers. His pre-occupation with the Colony's finances probably prevented him from putting his suggestion into effect. The first step in this direction came a few years later when the Falkland Islands Company built a school at Darwin, its farming centre on East Falkland, and supplied a schoolmaster. Thus by 1880 there were three schools in the Islands: two in Stanley and one at Darwin. For West Falkland and the outlying parts of East Falkland nothing was being done.

4. In 1885 the Colonial Chaplain, Dean Brandon, who in his thirty years' residence in the Colony was a tower of strength both spiritually and culturally, reported that the Government School in Stanley was well attended and that the teaching was thorough, but that in the camp, education was in a very backward state. Two years later he again drew attention to the fact that neither the Government nor the sheepowners, with the exception of the Falkland Islands Company, were doing anything for the education of the camp children. Even in Stanley some children did not go to school and he urged that attendance be made compulsory.

5. In 1891 a Roman Catholic School was opened in Stanley and continued in existence until the early days of the last war. Three years later Stanley possessed four schools; two run by Government, the Roman Catholic School and a short-lived Baptist School. Another private school closed during the same year.

6. In 1896, twenty years after Governor Callaghan's recommendation two itinerant teachers were appointed by Government for West Falkland and a few years later the Falkland Islands Company started to recruit travelling teachers for Lafonia, that part of East Falkland south of Darwin.

7. In 1909 an Education Ordinance came into force making provision for the employment of pupil teachers and raising the school leaving age to 14. The travelling teachers continued to carry on their difficult work and made some progress where the co-operation of parents was forthcoming. By the end of 1919 there were two travelling teachers on East Falkland and three on West. Five years earlier two farms had engaged governesses for the instruction of the managers' children. A few other farms followed suit and some allowed the other children in the settlement to benefit. The outbreak of the first World War put an end to this scheme.

8. In 1947 a new Education Ordinance was introduced under the terms of which all education up to school leaving age was to become free by 1949. In 1948 Government became responsible for education throughout the Colony and the Falkland Islands Company ceased to employ teachers, though from 1952 to 1956 the Company once again engaged teachers to teach in Lafonia. In 1957 all teachers were once again recruited and employed by Government.

9. Education is free throughout the Colony; in Stanley it is compulsory between the ages of 5 and 14; in the camp it is compulsory for all children of 5 and 14 living within one mile of a settlement school and of all children from 7 to 14 living within two miles.

10. During 1957 the Government Schools in Stanley had an average of 156 pupils of whom 33 were infants. In the Colony as a whole 301 children received education.

11. On 11th June 1955 a new Infants' School was opened in Stanley. The building was financed by a grant from the Colonial Development and Welfare Fund and accommodates two infant classes and the first two classes of the Senior School. Early in 1956 a boarding school partly paid for by the Falkland Islands Company, was opened at Darwin on East Falkland. A smaller boarding school at Port Howard on West Falkland was completed in May 1957. Small one-room settlement schools were in existence at San Carlos and Fitzroy on East Falkland and at Roy Cove, Chartres, Hill Cove, Fox Bay East and Port Stephens on West Falkland. These settlement schools were staffed by uncertificated travelling teachers though the boarding schools have qualified staff.

12. The standard of education in Stanley is rather lower than that of an all-range school in the United Kingdom and lack of facilities for teaching woodwork, domestic science and other practical subjects are a drawback. There is a voluntary two year course available above the age of 14 allowing for more advanced work which in some subjects reaches General Certificate of Education standard. Few, however, take advantage of this course.

13. The establishment of the boarding schools and an improvement in the recruitment of travelling teachers has alleviated the problem of camp education to some extent, but the system of travelling teachers leaves a lot to be desired and the problem will eventually only be solved when there is sufficient boarding school accommodation to absorb all camp children of school age.

14. The school year is now divided into three terms with an eight week break at Christmas time and two fortnightly breaks, one at the end of May and the other at the beginning of September.

PART II.

General Summary of the Educational System and Policy and Comments on Current Development.

15. Education in the Colony falls into the following categories :

- (a) Education in Stanley.
- (b) Boarding School Education.
- (c) Camp Education not included in (b).
- (d) Further Education.

16. Children in Stanley are expected to enter the Infants' School at the beginning of the term in which they reach the age of five : they must do so in any case on their fifth birthday. They transfer to the primary course between the ages of 7 and 8.

17. The Government School in Stanley is an all-range school providing compulsory education to the age of 14 with voluntary extension to 16. The Infants and the first two classes of the Senior School are accommodated in one building, the remaining classes of the Senior School in another. At the end of 1957 there were 156 pupils of whom 33 were infants. The number of pupils staying on after the age of fourteen was 7.

18. The Continuation Class which contains the children who stay on voluntarily after the age of 14, was formed in the time of Governor Cardinall (1941), with the aim of providing a secondary standard of education and of preparing pupils for the General Certificate of Education. The greatest obstacles in achieving this object have been and remain, staffing difficulties. Many parents feel that there is nothing to be gained by their children continuing at school after the age of 14, because, owing to the shortage of labour in the Colony, they are immediately employable on leaving school. On the other hand some parents are not satisfied that there is no secondary education in the Colony, and this may well be a factor in the steady flow of emigration from the Colony.

19. At Darwin on East Falkland the boarding school opened in 1956 has proved a marked success. In 1957 there were 39 boarders and ten day children. There is a long list of children waiting to be admitted and applications for entry as far ahead as 1960 have been made. The success of this boarding school demonstrates that the attitude of the people in the camp is changing and that a great demand for education by the ordinary people now exists. A second smaller boarding school opened in May 1957 at Port Howard on West Falkland. This school has accommodation for 6 boarders but owing to difficulties in obtaining domestic staff, no boarders have been admitted. It is hoped to accommodate them in the first half of 1958. In 1957 fourteen children attended as day children. Government pays half the fares, by air or by sea, of children attending the boarding schools and parents are called upon to pay £12 per annum as a boarding charge.

20. Children in the camp, except those at Darwin Boarding School or at Port Howard received their education from travelling teachers or in one case from a teacher permanently resident at a farm settlement. These travelling teachers, in 1957 nine in number, have farm settlements as their headquarters but travel to isolated shepherds' houses where there are children and stay for shorter or longer periods depending on the number of children to be taught.

21. At the end of 1957 there were 82 children receiving education from travelling teachers. There were also approximately 6 children receiving education from farm managers' wives with the assistance of the Education Department. The system of travelling teachers is at best a poor substitute for boarding schools.

22. The curriculum of the Government Schools in 1957, included Religious Knowledge, English, Arithmetic, History, Geography, Nature Study, Arts and Crafts, Music, Games and Physical Education. The older children also took Needlework and Woodwork. The curriculum at the two boarding schools followed the same pattern. In the camp the course followed by the travelling teachers, prescribed by the Education Department was simpler with more emphasis on the three "R's".

23. To keep in touch with standards in the camp the Superintendent of Education received reports on each child three times a year, and normally makes an annual tour of East and West Falkland to advise on the spot.

24. Broadcasting for schools has not been a great success in the camp. This is chiefly due to the fact that most houses depend on wind-charged batteries for their power and this can be ill-spared on school broadcasts. There were no broadcasts in 1957. Transcriptions from the B.B.C. and the C.B.C. are broadcast and prove popular. The preference is for the lighter type of entertainment, and serious music and talks are not popular.

25. Parents in the camp are encouraged to send their children to Stanley to board in private households and an allowance of £2 per month and half fares by air are paid by Government.

26. A few children, 19 since 1944, have been awarded Overseas Scholarships to Grammar Boarding Schools in Dorset, in the United Kingdom. In some cases they have done exceedingly well. Nevertheless the general standard of education in the Falklands is not high. The standard in the camp is lower than that in Stanley. The first and most immediate aim of the Department is to raise the education level throughout the Islands. The first necessity in carrying out this project is the regular recruitment in the United Kingdom of trained, qualified staff. Secondly, a new Senior School in Stanley is necessary, with not only a modern lay-out and equipment, but also sufficient boarding accommodation to cater for all the children in the camp not already provided for at the present boarding schools. A start has already been made in obtaining more modern textbooks and class-room furniture and in the next two or three years this stage will have been accomplished. Thirdly, the school leaving age should be raised to fifteen.

27. Evening Classes were held in Stanley during the Winter months. The subjects in 1957 were, Shorthand, Typewriting, Mathematics, English, Crafts and Spanish. All Government employees under the age of 18 attended compulsorily. There was a better attendance in 1957 than in previous years.

28. Films of educational value are shown in the Government School. There is now a large variety of films on various topics, most of which have been received from the Central Office of Information, London.

29. A Central Film Library run by the Superintendent of Education obtains feature films and distributes these and the educational films to 12 farm settlements which now possess projectors. These feature films are paid for by the farm stations concerned and the Film Library is run on a non-profit making basis.

30. Strip film projectors are held by most of the settlement schools and film strips are regularly received from the Central Office of Information.

31. The Boys' Brigade continues to flourish, and their turn-out on ceremonial occasions does them great credit. A Life Boys Unit was formed in 1949. The Girls' Life Brigade is also proving to be successful. The Junior Football League reformed in 1957 is very popular. Badminton, Folk Dancing and Squash all have their following. Ballroom dancing remains as popular as ever.

32. In 1957 there were 14 trained, qualified teachers including one graduate (but not including the Superintendent of Education who is also qualified and a graduate), employed by the Education Department. Of these, four were teaching in Darwin School, one at Port Howard School, one at Port Stephens at a small settlement school, one at Stanley Infants' School and seven in the Senior School at Stanley. 1957 was a good year for the recruitment of qualified staff in the United Kingdom, for service in the Falklands. Nevertheless over the period under review the Department has been seriously handicapped by fluctuations in the number of qualified staff. Salaries have been increased but they are not up to the level of the Burnham Scale; the comparatively lower salaries in the Falklands, the shortage of teachers in the United Kingdom and the fact that other Colonies are able to offer more attractive salaries account for the lack of continuity in recruitment which in turn adversely affects the standard of education.

33. Locally recruited untrained teachers receive salary in the scale £200 to £375. Qualified teachers, if men, are in the scale £540 to £850 and if women, £540 to £640, the entry point into the scale depending upon qualifications and experience.

34. Teachers recruited in the United Kingdom for schools must be certificated. Camp teachers recruited in the United Kingdom or locally are normally uncertificated. Some locally recruited teachers have undergone a two-year period of training in the Stanley schools given by a certificated member of staff. Four staff at the Government Schools in Stanley were untrained. They were originally recruited because of shortage of staff.

PART III.

CHAPTER 1.

Legislation and Administration.

35. In 1955 the fee charged for attendance at the Continuation Class after the age of 14 was abolished. Early in 1957 the school year was divided into three terms (see para. 14). In 1957 too, an Overseas Education Allowances Scheme was introduced to assist parents who have children attending school elsewhere in the Commonwealth or in South America. (See para. 47.)

36. There are no educational establishments in the Colony other than those provided by Government and the Superintendent of Education is responsible for educational standards throughout the Colony and acts as Inspector of Schools.

37. Under the Education Ordinance of 1947, parents are required to have their children educated wherever there is a recognised school and wherever classes are held by a recognised teacher.

38. Parents are encouraged to send their children to school at the beginning of the term in which they become five and they are required to attend until the end of the term in which they attain the age of 14.

39. The Scholarship Committee (see para. 26), consists of the Colonial Secretary, the Superintendent of Education and two members nominated by the Governor. (See also para. 47.)

CHAPTER 2.

Finance.

40. Expenditure from Colonial Revenue and from the Colonial Development and Welfare Scheme D/970 for the period under review was as follows :

	From Colonial Revenue	From C. D. & W.
1954/55	£12,998	£1,086
1955/56	£17,282	£2,076
1956/57	£27,208	£ 953

CHAPTER 3.

Primary Education.

41. The Infants' Department in Stanley contains two classes. There are 4 classes in the Junior Section. The standard of work is not as high as that of a Junior School in the United Kingdom.

42. At Darwin School there is one infants' class and three Junior classes. The standards here are also low compared with the United Kingdom as the education of these children has long been neglected and there is a considerable lee-way to make up.

43. In the settlement schools and at Port Howard School, work is on an individual basis and there are no infant, junior or secondary sections.

CHAPTER 4.

Secondary Education.

44. There is no Secondary Grammar Education in the Colony. In Stanley children may stay on for two years over the statutory school leaving age and should they complete the course they may reach a standard comparable with the ordinary level of the United Kingdom General Certificate of Education in a limited number of subjects. The Senior Section of the Government School followed a full syllabus outlined in para. 22.

CHAPTER 5.

Technical Education and Training.

45. There is no technical education or training in the Colony.

CHAPTER 6.

University and other Post-secondary Education including Overseas Scholarships.

46. There is no University or Post-secondary Education in the Colony. By arrangement with the Dorset County Council, two scholarships are offered each year, tenable at Boarding Grammar Schools in Dorset. The Education Department is very grateful to the County Education Officer and the schools in Dorset which make these scholarships possible. The scholarship includes the payment of passages, board and tuition fees. (See paras. 26 and 39.)

47. An Overseas Education Allowances Scheme introduced in 1957 offers allowances to parents of children between the ages of 11 and 18 who have their children educated in any part of the Commonwealth outside the Colony or in South America. The allowances are paid for five years, £150 in the first and £100 in succeeding years. (See para. 35.)

CHAPTER 7.

Training of Teachers.

48. In 1957 a special allowance was given to a member of the Stanley School staff who undertook to train girls who had completed a two-year course in the Continuation Class, though the scheme had been going on for some time. One teacher has been trained, one will complete her training in 1958 and one girl has undertaken to remain in the Continuation Class with a view to being trained.

CHAPTER 8.

Physical Conditions in Schools.

49. The Senior School in Stanley is a 50 year old wooden building. It has three large and four small classrooms, three of which face away from the northern sunny side. The cloakrooms are small and inadequate. There is a central heating system which keeps the school comfortably warm. There is no assembly hall and one classroom leads directly into the next. The furnishings are poor and the desks are antiquated. A small hut houses the woodwork centre which accommodates 6 boys. There is no domestic science room. The playground is very small.

50. The Infants' School in Stanley is a modern building opened in 1955. It has four classrooms, an assembly hall and a staff room. All toilet facilities are in the building itself. It has a fairly large playground recently covered with macadam.

51. The Darwin Boarding School opened in 1956 is a modern building and has ample classroom space, a dining hall also used as an assembly hall, dormitory accommodation for 39 boarders, and a wood-work centre separate from the main building.

52. At Port Howard the schoolmaster's house has accommodation for 6 boarders and the school itself, built by J. L. Waldron, Ltd., the farm owners, has recently been extended.

53. The other settlement schools are simple one room affairs either completely on their own or forming part of the farm Station's community centre.

CHAPTER 9. Home Backgrounds of Children.

54. Most of the children in the Colony have good homes. A majority of the parents are keen to see their children well educated. There is, however, a relatively high number of broken homes and the evils of this are reflected in some of the children. In a Colony where there is little poverty there is also a proportion of children who receive too much pocket money.

CHAPTER 10. Religious Teaching.

55. Apart from normal Scripture lessons and the morning assembly, the clergy of the three churches, Church of England, the United Free Church and the Roman Catholic Church, visit the Government School twice weekly to give appropriate instruction. The headmaster of Darwin School takes the Free Church services at Darwin settlement and religious instruction at Darwin School. The headmaster of Port Howard School is a clergyman and gives regular periods of religious instruction. Travelling teachers have scripture as part of their syllabuses. During the last three years the children of the Falklands have been brought closer into contact with Christian principles and teaching than ever before.

CHAPTER 11. Training in Citizenship

56. There is no formal training in citizenship though the children in the Continuation Class at the Government School have a prefect system and receive some instruction in Civics. The Boys' Brigade and the Girls' Life Brigade also play their part in moulding character.

CHAPTER 12. Sports, School Societies and other Social Activities.

57. All the children have a games period each week. The elder children play football and hockey, rounders and shinty. Some junior cricket gear has arrived and a start will be made with cricket when the weather permits. A sports meeting for children is organized by the Stanley Working Men's Club annually. Children's events, mounted and foot are included in the Stanley Sports' Association's annual meeting at Christmas time. All the children in the camp are accomplished riders and this applies to many children in Stanley too, as they spend quite a deal of their holiday time in the camp. A Junior Football League, re-started in 1957 has proved most popular. Annual sports meetings are held at Darwin on East Falkland and at various stations in turn on West Falkland where again children's events are included.

CHAPTER 13. Co-operation with other Government Departments Local Authorities and other public bodies.

58. All Government Departments co-operate to the full with the Education Department. The Town Council readily puts its hall at the schools' disposal for meetings and prize-givings, and the gymnasium for badminton. The Church Council have allowed the Senior School to use the Parish Hall, a building next to the school playground, for Physical Education. The Falkland Islands Company have permitted parties of boys to be shown round the Company's workshops.

CHAPTER 14. Adult Education.

59. The only form of adult education which the Department controls is the evening classes which take place during the winter months. (See para. 27.)

3. Extra Payments.

(a) "DIRT" MONEY.

As a general guide, "Dirt" money should only be paid when the work in hand is substantially dirtier than the work which an employee is normally called upon to do. The normal rate is 1d. per hour, but the precise rate for each job shall be agreed between Employer and Employees.

(b) HAZARDOUS WORK.

Employees working on isolated structures, such as masts, at heights over 30 feet from the ground or where the structure joins the main roof of a building, shall receive from 4d. to 8d. per hour according to the risk involved. This does not apply to work on properly erected scaffolding.

(c) INCONVENIENCE PAY.

Employees required, by the employer, to carry their midday meal shall receive 1/- per day. Employees required to sleep away from home in a recognised camp house or cook-house shall have their board and lodgings paid for by their employer.

(d) EXTRA SKILL OR RESPONSIBILITY.

(i) Any employee specifically detailed to supervise the work of three or more other employees shall receive 2d. per hour extra while taking this responsibility.

(ii) Any labourer employed on semi-skilled work which would normally fall to a Handyman (e.g. painting, fencing, concrete laying) shall receive pay as a Handyman (i.e. a minimum of 1d. per hour extra) while engaged on this work. The precise rate shall be fixed by the employer according to the nature of the work and the skill of the particular labourer so employed.

(e) PAINT SPRAYING.

Employees engaged on paint spraying shall be paid 6d. per hour extra and no other allowance.

4. Working Hours.

The normal working hours shall be 45 hours per week made up as follows :-

Monday to Friday - 7.30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. with Dinner break from noon till 1 p.m.

Saturday - 7.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.

A refreshment break of fifteen minutes shall be allowed between 08.30 and 09.30 a.m., the precise time being laid down by the employer.

Other hours of work may be laid down by mutual agreement between employers and employees, provided that the total number of hours does not exceed 45 per week.

5. Overtime.

- (a) Overtime shall be paid for all hours worked outside normal working hours and overtime rates shall be as follows :-

TIME AND A HALF.

- (i) Between the end of the normal day and midnight.
- (ii) From 6 a.m. to the start of the normal working day, provided that work did not start before 6 a.m.

DOUBLE TIME.

- (i) Between midnight and 6 a.m.
 - (ii) From 6 a.m. to the start of the normal working day, if work commenced before 6 a.m.
 - (iii) On Sundays and recognised Public Holidays.
 - (iv) For meal hours or parts thereof, if work continues through the normal working day without a full meal-hour break.
 - (v) Double time rates shall also be paid during normal working hours if, exceptionally, an employee starts work before midnight and continues without a break into normal working hours. Double time rates shall then continue to apply until there is an (unpaid) break from work exceeding four hours, after which the normal rates will again apply.
- (b) An unpaid meal hour shall be allowed at a reasonable time if overtime is expected to continue for more than two hours beyond normal finishing time, and a paid refreshment break of not more than fifteen minutes shall be allowed in each subsequent 4-hour period.
- (c) Overtime is voluntary and an employee shall not be dismissed if he objects to working outside normal working hours. However, certain jobs may require attendance at times outside the normal hours and in these cases employees shall be given the option of a 45-hour week by allowing time off during normal working hours, at a time to be agreed with the employer.

6. Holidays.

(a) ANNUAL HOLIDAYS.

All employees shall be entitled to a paid holiday of two weeks (90 hours) for each completed year of work with one employer. The annual holiday shall generally be taken between 15th October and 31st March, but may be taken at any other time by mutual arrangement between employer and employee, provided that an employer may close any department for two periods not exceeding one week each at any time between 15th October and 31st March.

An employee who is employed on 1st January shall be entitled to two weeks paid holiday in the period 15th October to 31st December but he must complete the year with the same employer.

An employee who has completed six months with one employer but who leaves his employment before completing twelve months shall be entitled to five days (40 hours) paid holiday before leaving such employment, except where he is dismissed for misdemeanour.

(b) PUBLIC HOLIDAYS.

These are days on which Government Offices are closed by notification in the Gazette and the following seven days shall be paid holidays for all employees :-

Good Friday, The Queen's Birthday, Empire Day, December 8th, Christmas Day, Boxing Day, and one other day to coincide with the Stanley Annual Sports Meeting.

Individual employers shall be entitled to decide whether or not to observe the remaining Public Holidays or to treat them as normal working days but in no circumstances may they be treated as unpaid holidays.

- (c) Any allowance or special rates earned on both the working day preceding and the working day following the holiday shall be paid for the holiday.
- (d) When a dated holiday falls on a Sunday the next working day shall be the holiday.

7. Sick Pay.

- (a) Employees who have not completed one year's service with their employer shall not be entitled to sick pay.
- (b) The following rules apply to employees who have completed one year's service with their employer.
 - (i) There shall be no entitlement to sick pay for the first week of absence caused by sickness, but if sickness lasts for more than one week, an employee shall be entitled to half pay for the second, third and fourth weeks. While off work through illness an employee shall have the option of taking part or the whole of any annual leave due to him.
 - (ii) Full pay shall be paid for any Public Holiday which falls during the first four weeks of sickness, provided that the employee, when he has recovered, returns to work for the same employer.
- (c) An employer may demand a medical certificate before applying any of the rules 7 (b) (i), (ii).
- (d) The Workmen's Compensation Ordinance shall apply in cases of sickness resulting from accidents at work.

8. General.

- (a) Employment is normally terminated, either by employer or employee, at the end of the working week, but employment may be terminated at the end of any working day. A minimum of two hours' notice shall be given, except in the case of misdemeanour, when an employee may be summarily dismissed.
- (b) When a party of employees are required to carry meals to their work, one employee shall be allowed reasonable time to heat meals for the rest of the party.
- (c) Individual employers may lay down the times when employees shall appear for their wages, provided that the payment is completed within ten minutes of the end of the normal working day.
- (d) An official or delegation of a recognised union may, with the employer's consent, attend at a job or shop at any time to interview workmen, but no meeting shall take place in working hours without the express permission of the employer. If a dispute arises, the employer or his nominee shall interview, by appointment, any official representative of his employees.
- (e) All employers shall display for the benefit of their employees copies of Regulations and Rules pertaining to wages and conditions of service of workers.

BE IT ENACTED by the Legislature of the Colony of the Falkland Islands, as follows :— Enacting clause.

PART I.

REGISTRATION OF FOREIGN JUDGMENTS.

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Foreign Judgments (Reciprocal Enforcement) Ordinance, 1959. Short title.

2. (1) In this Ordinance, unless the context otherwise requires, the following expressions have the meanings hereby assigned to them respectively, that is to say — Interpretation.

“Appeal” includes any proceeding by way of discharging, or setting aside a judgment or an application for a new trial or a stay of execution ;

“Country of the original court” means the country in which the original court is situated ;

"Judgment" means a judgment or order given or made by a court in any civil proceedings, or a judgment or order given or made by a court in any criminal proceedings for the payment of a sum of money in respect of compensation or damages to an injured party, and includes an award in proceedings on an arbitration if the award has, in pursuance of the law in force in the place where it was made, become enforceable in the same manner as a judgment given by a court in that place ;

"Judgment creditor" means the person in whose favour the judgment was given and includes any person in whom the rights under the judgment have become vested by succession or assignment or otherwise ;

"Judgment debtor" means the person against whom the judgment was given, and includes any person against whom the judgment is enforceable under the law of the original court ;

"Original court" in relation to any judgment means the court by which the judgment was given ;

"Registration" means registration under Part I of this Ordinance, and the expressions "register" and "registered" shall be construed accordingly ;

"Registering court" in relation to any judgment means the court to which an application to register the judgment is made.

(2) For the purposes of this Ordinance, the expression "action in personam" shall not be deemed to include any matrimonial cause or any proceedings in connection with any of the following matters, that is to say, matrimonial matters, administration of the estates of deceased persons, bankruptcy, winding up of companies, lunacy, or guardianship of infants.

Power to extend Part I of Ordinance to foreign countries giving reciprocal treatment.

3. (1) The Governor, if he is satisfied that, in the event of the benefits conferred by this Part of this Ordinance being extended to judgments given in the superior courts of any foreign country, substantial reciprocity of treatment will be assured as respects the enforcement in that foreign country of judgments given in the Supreme Court of the Colony and judgments given on appeals therefrom, may by Order in Council direct —

- (a) that this Part of this Ordinance shall extend to that foreign country ; and
- (b) that such courts of that foreign country as are specified in the Order shall be deemed superior courts of that country for the purposes of this part of this Ordinance.

(2) Any judgment of a superior court of a foreign country to which this Part of this Ordinance extends, other than a judgment of such a court given on appeal from a court which is not a superior court, shall be a judgment to which this Part of this Ordinance applies, if —

- (a) it is final and conclusive as between the parties thereto ; and
- (b) there is payable thereunder a sum of money, not being a sum payable in respect of taxes or other charges of a like nature or in respect of a fine or other penalty ; and
- (c) it is given after the coming into operation of the Order in Council directing that this Part of this Ordinance shall extend to that foreign country.

(3) For the purposes of this section, a judgment shall be deemed to be final and conclusive notwithstanding that an appeal may be pending against it, or that it may still be subject to appeal, in the courts of the country of the original court.

(4) The Governor may by a subsequent Order in Council vary or revoke any Order previously made under this section.

4. (1) A person, being a judgment creditor under a judgment to which this Part of this Ordinance applies, may apply to the Supreme Court at any time within six years after the date of the judgment, or, where there have been proceedings by way of appeal against the judgment, after the date of the last judgment given in those proceedings, to have the judgment registered in the Supreme Court, and on any such application the court shall, subject to proof of the prescribed matters and to the other provisions of this Ordinance, order the judgment to be registered :

Application for, and effect of, registration of foreign judgment.

Provided that a judgment shall not be registered if at the date of the application –

- (a) it has been wholly satisfied ; or
- (b) it could not be enforced by execution in the country of the original court.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance with respect to the setting aside of registration –

- (a) a registered judgment shall, for the purposes of execution, be of the same force and effect ; and
- (b) proceedings may be taken on a registered judgment ; and
- (c) the sum for which a judgment is registered shall carry interest ; and
- (d) the registering court shall have the same control over the execution of a registered judgment ;

as if the judgment had been a judgment originally given in the registering court and entered on the date of registration :

Provided that execution shall not issue on the judgment so long as, under this Part of this Act and the Rules made thereunder, it is competent for any party to make an application to have the registration of the judgment set aside, or, where such an application is made, until the application has been finally determined.

(3) Where the sum payable under a judgment which is to be registered is expressed in a currency other than the currency of the Colony, the judgment shall be registered as if it were a judgment for such sum in the currency of the Colony as, on the basis of the rate of exchange prevailing at the date of the judgment of the original court, is equivalent to the sum so payable.

(4) If at the date of the application for registration the judgment of the original court has been partly satisfied, the judgment shall not be registered in respect of the whole sum payable under the judgment of the original court, but only in respect of the balance remaining payable at that date.

(5) If, on an application for the registration of a judgment, it appears to the registering court that the judgment is in respect of different matters and that some, but not all, of the provisions of the judgment are such that if those provisions had been contained in separate judgments those judgments could properly have been registered, the judgment may be registered in respect of the provisions aforesaid but not in respect of any other provisions contained therein.

(6) In addition to the sum of money payable under the judgment of the original court, including any interest which by the law of the country of the original court becomes due under the judgment up to the time of registration, the judgment shall be registered for the reasonable costs of an incidental to registration, including the costs of obtaining a certified copy of the judgment from the original court.

Rules of Court.

5. (1) The Governor in Council shall, subject to the provisions of this section, have power to make rules for the following purposes —

- (a) For making provision with respect to the giving of security for costs by persons applying for the registration of judgments ;
- (b) For prescribing the matters to be proved on an application for the registration of a judgment and for regulating the mode of proving those matters ;
- (c) For providing for the service on the judgment debtor of notice of the registration of a judgment ;
- (d) For making provision with respect to the fixing of the period within which an application may be made to have the registration of the judgment set aside and with respect to the extension of the period so fixed ;
- (e) For prescribing the method by which any question arising under this Ordinance whether a foreign judgment can be enforced by execution in the country of the original court, or what interest is payable under a foreign judgment under the law of the original court, is to be determined ;
- (f) For prescribing any matter which under this Part of this Ordinance is to be prescribed.

(2) Rules made for the purposes of this Part of this Ordinance shall be expressed to have, and shall have, effect subject to any such provisions contained in Orders in Council made under section one of the Foreign Judgments (Reciprocal Enforcement) Act, 1933, as are declared by the said Orders to be necessary for giving effect to agreements made between Her Majesty and foreign countries in relation to matters with respect to which there is power to make rules of court for the purposes of this Part of this Ordinance.

(3) Without prejudice to the provisions of subsection (1) of this section the rules contained in Part IV of the Rules of the Supreme Court shall continue to have effect as if they had been made under the power conferred by the said subsection.

Cases in which registered judgments must, or may, be set aside.

6. (1) On an application in that behalf duly made by any party against whom a registered judgment may be enforced, the registration of the judgment —

- (a) shall be set aside if the registering court is satisfied —
 - (i) that the judgment is not a judgment to which this Part of this Ordinance applies or was registered in contravention of the foregoing provisions of this Ordinance ; or
 - (ii) that the courts of the country of the original court had no jurisdiction in the circumstances of the case ; or
 - (iii) that the judgment debtor, being the defendant in the proceedings in the original court, did not (notwithstanding that process may have been duly served on him in accordance with the law of the country of the original court) receive notice of those proceedings in sufficient time to enable him to defend the proceedings and did not appear ; or
 - (iv) that the judgment was obtained by fraud ; or
 - (v) that the enforcement of the judgment would be contrary to public policy in the country of the registering court ; or
 - (vi) that the rights under the judgment are not vested in the person by whom the application for registration was made ;

- (b) may be set aside if the registering court is satisfied that the matter in dispute in the proceedings in the original court had previously to the date of the judgment in the original court been the subject of a final and conclusive judgment by a court having jurisdiction in the matter.

(2) For the purposes of this section the courts of the country of the original court shall, subject to the provisions of subsection (3) of this section, be deemed to have had jurisdiction –

- (a) in the case of a judgment given in an action in personam –

- (i) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original court, submitted to the jurisdiction of that court by voluntarily appearing in the proceedings otherwise than for the purpose of protecting, or obtaining the release of, property seized, or threatened with seizure, in the proceedings or of contesting the jurisdiction of that court ; or
- (ii) if the judgment debtor was plaintiff in, or counter-claimed in, the proceedings in the original court ; or
- (iii) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original court, had before the commencement of the proceedings agreed, in respect of the subject matter of the proceedings, to submit to the jurisdiction of that court or of the courts of the country of that court ; or
- (iv) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original court, was at the time when the proceedings were instituted resident in, or being a body corporate had its principal place of business in, the country of that court ; or
- (v) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original court, had an office or place of business in the country of that court and the proceedings in that court were in respect of a transaction effected through or at that office or place ;

- (b) in the case of a judgment given in an action of which the subject matter was immovable property or in an action in rem of which the subject matter was movable property, if the property in question was at the time of the proceedings in the original court situated in the country of that court ;

- (c) in the case of a judgment given in an action other than any such action as is mentioned in paragraph (a) or in paragraph (b) of this subsection, if the jurisdiction of the original court is recognised by the law of the registering court.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (2) of this section, the courts of the country of the original court shall not be deemed to have had jurisdiction –

- (a) if the subject matter of the proceedings was immovable property outside the country of the original court ; or
- (b) except in the cases mentioned in sub-paragraphs (i), (ii) and (iii) of paragraph (a) and in paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of this section, if the bringing of the proceedings in the original court was contrary to an agreement under which the dispute in question was to be settled otherwise than by proceedings in the courts of the country of that court ; or
- (c) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original proceedings, was a person who under the rules of public international law was entitled to immunity from the jurisdiction of the courts of the country of the original court and did not submit to the jurisdiction of that court.

Powers of registering court on application to set aside registration.

7. (1) If, on an application to set aside the registration of a judgment, the applicant satisfies the registering court, either that an appeal is pending, or that he is entitled and intends to appeal, against the judgment, the court, if it thinks fit, may, on such terms as it may think just, either set aside the registration or adjourn the application to set aside the registration until after the expiration of such period as appears to the court to be reasonably sufficient to enable the applicant to take the necessary steps to have the appeal disposed of by the competent tribunal.

(2) Where the registration of a judgment is set aside under the last foregoing subsection, or solely for the reason that the judgment was not at the date of the application for registration enforceable by execution in the country of the original court, the setting aside of the registration shall not prejudice a further application to register the judgment when the appeal has been disposed of or if and when the judgment becomes enforceable by execution in that country, as the case may be.

(3) Where the registration of a judgment is set aside solely for the reason that the judgment, notwithstanding that it had at the date of the application for registration been partly satisfied, was registered for the whole sum payable thereunder, the registering court shall, on the application of the judgment creditor, order judgment to be registered for the balance remaining payable at that date.

Foreign judgments which can be registered not to be enforceable otherwise.

8. No proceedings for the recovery of a sum payable under a foreign judgment, being a judgment to which this Part of this Act applies, other than proceedings by way of registration of the judgment, shall be entertained by any court in the Colony.

Power to apply Part I of Ordinance to British dominions, protectorates and territories under trusteeship.

9. (1) Where the Governor is satisfied that reciprocal provisions have been made by the legislature of any part of Her Majesty's dominions outside the United Kingdom for the enforcement within that part of Her dominions of judgments obtained in the Supreme Court of the Colony, the Governor may by Order in Council direct that this Part of this Ordinance shall extend to judgments obtained in a superior court in that part of Her Majesty's dominions in like manner as it extends to judgments obtained in the courts of foreign countries, but subject, however, to the provisions contained in subsection (2) of this section, and on any such Order being made this Part of this Ordinance shall extend accordingly.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 3 or in subsection (1) of section 4 of this Ordinance any judgment obtained in a superior court of a part of Her Majesty's dominions to which this Part of this Ordinance has been extended shall be a judgment to which this Part of this Ordinance applies notwithstanding that it was given before the coming into operation of this Order, but the time limited for the registration of a judgment so given shall be twelve months from the date of the judgment or such longer period as the Supreme Court may allow.

(3) References in this section to Her Majesty's dominions outside the United Kingdom shall be construed as including references to any territories which are under Her Majesty's protection and to any territories administered by the government of the United Kingdom or by the government of any part of Her Majesty's dominions under the trusteeship of the United Nations.

PART II.

MISCELLANEOUS AND GENERAL.

General effect of certain foreign judgments.

10. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a judgment to which Part I of this Ordinance applies or would have applied if a sum of money had been payable thereunder, whether it can be registered or not, and whether, if it can be registered, it is registered or not, shall be recognised in any court in the Colony, as conclusive between the parties thereto in all proceedings founded on the same cause of action and may be relied on by way of defence or counter-claim in any such proceedings.

(2) This section shall not apply in the case of any judgment —

- (a) where the judgment has been registered and the registration thereof has been set aside on some ground other than —
 - (i) that a sum of money was not payable under the judgment ; or
 - (ii) that the judgment had been wholly or partly satisfied ; or
 - (iii) that at the date of the application the judgment could not be enforced by execution in the country of the original court ; or
- (b) where the judgment has not been registered, it is shown (whether it could have been registered or not) that if it had been registered the registration thereof would have been set aside on an application for that purpose on some ground other than one of the grounds specified in paragraph (a) of this subsection.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be taken to prevent any court in the Colony recognising any judgment as conclusive of any matter of law or fact decided therein if that judgment would have been so recognised before the passing of this Ordinance.

11. (1) If it appears to the Governor that the treatment in respect of recognition and enforcement accorded by the courts of any foreign country to judgments given in the superior courts of the Colony is substantially less favourable than that accorded by the courts of the Colony to judgments of the superior courts of that country, the Governor may by Order in Council apply this section to that country.

Power to make foreign judgments unenforceable in Colony if no reciprocity.

(2) Except in so far as the Governor may by Order in Council under this section otherwise direct, no proceedings shall be entertained in any court in the Colony for the recovery of any sum alleged to be payable under a judgment given in a court of a country to which this section applies.

(3) The Governor may by a subsequent Order in Council vary or revoke any Order previously made under this section.

12. Where a judgment under which a sum of money is payable, not being a sum payable in respect of taxes or other charges of a like nature or in respect of a fine or other penalty, has been entered in the Supreme Court against any person and the judgment creditor is desirous of enforcing the judgment in a foreign country to which Part I of this Act applies, the court shall, on an application made by the judgment creditor and on payment of such fee as may be prescribed for the purposes of this section, issue to the judgment creditor a certified copy of the judgment, together with a certificate containing such particulars with respect to the action, including the causes of action, and the rate of interest, if any, payable on the sum payable under the judgment, as may be prescribed :

Issue of certificates of judgments obtained in the Colony.

Provided that, where execution of a judgment is stayed for any period pending an appeal or for any other reason, an application shall not be made under this section with respect to the judgment until the expiration of that period.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this legislation is to provide, on a basis of reciprocity, for the enforcement in the Falkland Islands of the judgments of the superior courts of foreign countries.

The Income Tax Ordinance (Cap. 32)

ORDER

E. P. ARROWSMITH,

No. 12 of 1958.

Governor.

Whereas it is provided by section 49 of the Income Tax Ordinance that if the Governor in Council by Order declares that arrangements specified in the Order have been made with the Government of any territory outside the Colony with a view to affording relief from Double Taxation in relation to Income Tax and any tax of a similar character imposed by the laws of that territory and that it is expedient that those arrangements should have effect, the arrangements shall have effect in relation to Income Tax notwithstanding anything in any enactment : Preamble.

And whereas by a Convention dated the 16th day of April, 1945, and a protocol thereto dated the 6th day of June, 1946, and a further protocol thereto dated the 25th day of May, 1954, and a further protocol thereto dated the 19th day of August, 1957, between the Government of the United Kingdom and the Government of the United States, arrangements were made among other things for the avoidance of Double Taxation :

And whereas provision is made in the said Convention as amended by the said protocols for the application by means of a notification of extension given by either of the said Governments to the other Government and acceptance thereof by the other Government of the said Convention as amended, subject to such modifications, if any, as may be specified in the notification, to all or any of its Colonies, overseas territories, protectorates or territories in respect of which it exercises a mandate or trusteeship, which impose taxes substantially similar in character to those which are the subject of the said Convention :

And whereas by acceptance of a notification dated the third day of December, 1958, the said Convention as amended, with certain modifications, was applied to the Colony of the Falkland Islands : now, therefore, it is hereby declared by His Excellency the Governor in Council -

- (a) that the arrangements specified in the First Schedule to this Order, as modified by the provisions of the Second Schedule to this Order, have been made with the Government of the United States of America;
- (b) that it is expedient that those arrangements should have effect.

This Order may be cited as the Double Taxation Relief (Taxes on Income) (United States of America) Order, 1958. Title.

Made by the Governor in Executive Council on the 29th day of December, 1958.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

PART I.

CONVENTION BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED KINGDOM OF GREAT BRITAIN AND NORTHERN IRELAND AND THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA FOR THE AVOIDANCE OF DOUBLE TAXATION AND THE PREVENTION OF FISCAL EVASION WITH RESPECT TO TAXES ON INCOME.

The Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and the Government of the United States of America,

Desiring to conclude a Convention for the avoidance of double taxation and the prevention of fiscal evasion with respect to taxes on income,

Have appointed for that purpose as their Plenipotentiaries :

The Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland :

The Right Honourable the Earl of Halifax, K.G., Ambassador Extraordinary in Washington; and

The Government of the United States of America :

Mr. Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., Secretary of State;

Who, having exhibited their respective full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed as follows :—

ARTICLE I

1. The taxes which are the subject of the present Convention are :—

(a) In the United States of America :

The Federal income taxes, including surtaxes and excess profits taxes (hereinafter referred to as United States tax).

(b) In the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland :

The income tax (including surtax), the excess profits tax and the national defence contribution (hereinafter referred to as United Kingdom tax).

2. The present Convention shall also apply to any other taxes of a substantially similar character imposed by either Contracting Party subsequently to the date of signature of the present Convention or by the Government of any territory to which the present Convention is extended under Article XXII.

ARTICLE II

1. In the present Convention, unless the context otherwise requires :—

(a) The term "United States" means the United States of America, and when used in a geographical sense means the States, the Territories of Alaska and of Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

(b) The term "United Kingdom" means Great Britain and Northern Ireland, excluding the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man.

(c) The terms "territory of one of the Contracting Parties" and "territory of the other Contracting Party" mean the United States or the United Kingdom as the context requires.

(d) The term "United States corporation" means a corporation, association or other like entity created or organised in or under the laws of the United States.

(e) The term "United Kingdom corporation" means any kind of juridical person created under the laws of the United Kingdom.

(f) The terms "corporation of one Contracting Party" and "corporation of the other Contracting Party" mean a United States corporation or a United Kingdom corporation as the context requires.

(g) The term "resident of the United Kingdom" means any person (other than a citizen of the United States or a United States corporation) who is resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax and not resident in the United States for the purposes of United States tax. A corporation is to be regarded as resident in the United Kingdom if its business is managed and controlled in the United Kingdom.

(h) The term "resident of the United States" means any individual who is resident in the United States for the purposes of United States tax and not resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax, and any United States corporation and any partnership created or organised in or under the laws of the United States, being a corporation or partnership which is not resident in the United Kingdom for the purposes of United Kingdom tax.

(i) The term "United Kingdom enterprise" means an industrial or commercial enterprise or undertaking carried on by a resident of the United Kingdom.

(j) The term "United States enterprise" means an industrial or commercial enterprise or undertaking carried on by a resident of the United States.

(k) The terms "enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties" and "enterprise of the other Contracting Party" mean a United States enterprise or a United Kingdom enterprise, as the context requires.

(l) The term "permanent establishment" when used with respect to an enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties means a branch, management, factory, or other fixed place of business, but does not include an agency unless the agent has, and habitually exercises, a general authority to negotiate and conclude contracts on behalf of such enterprise or has a stock of merchandise from which he regularly fills orders on its behalf. An enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties shall not be deemed to have a permanent establishment in the territory of the other Contracting Party merely because it carries on business dealings in the territory of such other Contracting Party through a bona fide commission agent, broker or custodian acting in the ordinary course of his business as such. The fact that an enterprise of one of the Contracting Parties maintains in the territory of the other Contracting Party a fixed place of business exclusively for the purchase of goods or merchandise shall not of itself constitute such fixed place of business a permanent establishment of such enterprise. The fact that a corporation of one Contracting Party has a subsidiary corporation which is a corporation of the other Contracting Party or which is engaged in trade or business in the territory of such other Contracting Party (whether through a permanent establishment or otherwise) shall not of itself constitute that subsidiary corporation a permanent establishment of its parent corporation.

2. For the purposes of Articles VI, VII, VIII, IX and XIV a resident of the United Kingdom shall not be deemed to be engaged in trade or business in the United States in any taxable year unless such resident has a permanent establishment situated therein in such taxable year. The same principle shall be applied, mutatis mutandis, by the United Kingdom in the case of a resident of the United States.

3. In the application of the provisions of the present Convention by one of the Contracting Parties any term not otherwise defined shall, unless the context otherwise requires, have the meaning which it has under the laws of that Contracting Party relating to the taxes which are the subject of the present Convention.

ARTICLE III

1. A United Kingdom enterprise shall not be subject to United States tax in respect of its industrial or commercial profits unless it is engaged in trade or business in the United States through a permanent establishment situated therein. 2. The term "nationals" as used in this Article means -

- (a) in relation to the United Kingdom, all British subjects and British protected persons, from the United Kingdom or any territory with respect to which the present Convention is applicable by reason of extension made by the United Kingdom under Article XXII; and
- (b) in relation to the United States, United States citizens, and all persons under the protection of the United States, from the United States or any territory to which the present Convention is applicable by reason of extension made by the United States under Article XXII; and includes all legal persons, partnerships and associations deriving their status as such from, or created or organised under, the laws in force in any territory of the Contracting Parties to which the present Convention applies.

3. In this Article the word "taxes" means taxes of every kind or description, whether national, federal, state, provincial or municipal.

ARTICLE XXII

1. Either of the Contracting Parties may, at the time of exchange of instruments of ratification or thereafter while the present Convention continues in force, by a written notification of extension given to the other Contracting Party through diplomatic channels, declare its desire that the operation of the present Convention shall extend to all or any of its colonies, overseas territories, protectorates, or territories in respect of which it exercises a mandate, which impose taxes substantially similar in character to those which are the subject of the present Convention. The present Convention shall apply to the territory or territories named in such notification on the date or dates specified in the notification (not being less than sixty days from the date of the notification) or, if no date is specified in respect of any such territory, on the sixtieth day after the date of such notification, unless, prior to the date on which the Convention would otherwise become applicable to a particular territory, the Contracting Party to whom notification is given shall have informed the other Contracting Party in writing through diplomatic channels that it does not accept such notification as to that territory. In the absence of such extension, the present Convention shall not apply to any such territory.

2. At any time after the expiration of one year from the entry into force of an extension under paragraph 1 of this Article, either of the Contracting Parties may, by written notice of termination given to the other Contracting Party through diplomatic channels, terminate the application of the present Convention to any territory to which it has been extended under paragraph 1, and in such event the present Convention shall cease to apply, six months after the date of such notice, to the territory or territories named therein, but without affecting its continued application to the United States, the United Kingdom or to any other territory to which it has been extended under paragraph 1 hereof.

3. In the application of the present Convention in relation to any territory to which it is extended by notification by the United Kingdom or the United States references to the "United Kingdom" or, as the case may be, the "United States" shall be construed as references to that territory.

4. The termination in respect of the United States or the United Kingdom of the present Convention under Article XXIV or of Article VI shall, unless otherwise expressly agreed by both Contracting Parties, terminate the application of the present Convention or, as the case may be, that Article to any territory to which the Convention has been extended by the United States or the United Kingdom.

5. The provisions of the preceding paragraphs of this Article shall apply to the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man as if they were colonies of the United Kingdom.

ARTICLE XXIII

1. The present Convention shall be ratified and the instruments of ratification shall be exchanged at Washington as soon as possible.

2. Upon exchange of ratifications, the present Convention shall have effect -

2. The termination of the present Convention or of any Article thereof shall not have the effect of reviving any treaty or arrangement abrogated by the present Convention or by treaties previously concluded between the Contracting Parties.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Minutes of the Meeting held on 25th March, 1959.

Present: His Excellency the Governor.
 The Honourable the Colonial Secretary.
 The Honourable the Senior Medical Officer.
 The Honourable A. L. Hardy, B.E.M., J.P.
 The Honourable M. G. Creece, J.P.
 The Honourable A. Mercer, O.B.E.
 The Honourable H. C. Harding, O.B.E., J.P.
 The Honourable L. C. Gleadell.

The Meeting opened with prayers read by the Reverend J. O. Vere-Stead.

1. After taking the prescribed Oath the Honourable L. C. Gleadell assumed his seat on Council.
2. The Minutes of the Meeting of the Legislative Council held on the 26th, 27th and 28th March, 1958, were confirmed.

3. In introducing the Bill entitled "Further to amend the Customs Ordinance", the Honourable L. C. Gleadell said

Your Excellency,

The object of this Bill is to extend, from 3 to 6 months, the period for which the Collector of Customs may permit goods to be temporarily imported without payment of duty, in order to conform with an International Convention, ratified by Her Majesty's Government in 1955, and which has been extended to the Falkland Islands.

The particular circumstances in which the provisions of Section 31 would be applied are unlikely to arise unless, at some future date, an import tax is imposed on such things as machinery, instruments and advertising films, and manufacturers consider that the Falkland Islands market offers sufficient possibilities to justify the importation of their products for demonstration purposes only.

Nevertheless, in order to fall in line with current international practice in this matter we should make this slight amendment to our law, and I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable A. Mercer seconded and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time. In the Committee Stage Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to and stood part of the Bill. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

4. "The Retiring Allowance to Nurses (Revival)" Bill was introduced by the Honourable the Senior Medical Officer who said

"Your Excellency,

This Bill is introduced for two purposes. The first is to preserve the rights of Nurses who have been deprived of a retiring allowance as a result of the repeal of the Retiring Allowance to Nurses Ordinance of 1926. The second is to increase the allowance of 8/4 per annum for each month served, as specified in the Ordinance of 1926, to £1 per annum for each month of service.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

This was seconded by the Honourable L. C. Gleadell and the Bill was read accordingly. On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and His Excellency declared the Council to be in Committee. Clauses 1 to 3, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to and stood part of the Bill. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

5. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary then introduced the "Whale Fishery Amendment" Bill and said

"A simple amending Bill designed to bring our legislation into line with agreed International practice as established and laid down by the 1956 amendments to the International Whaling Convention in three particular respects.

The amended Convention prohibits the taking of humpback whales (the megaptera nodosa) in the waters south of 40° South latitude between 0° longitude and 70° West longitude for a period of five years. It is of course desirable that our legislation should conform with the international practice, but in fact the prohibition will not affect the South Georgia industry which relies almost entirely on the fin whale and the occasional, a rare occurrence these days, blue whale. The amending Bill provides for this prohibition.

It is widely recognised and accepted throughout all the whaling fleets that the species, size and yield of whales taken should constitute an important factor in the terms and conditions upon which gunners and crews are engaged and that no bonuses, in particular, should be paid to the gunners or crews of catchers that take milk filled, lactating or undersized whales. The principle behind these rules is of course conservation and here again it is highly desirable that our laws should conform with international practice. In fact it is the prevailing practice in the case of the South Georgia industry, and the amending Bill will make obligatory what is already the existing custom and what is insisted upon at the present time by the Companies concerned.

I beg, Sir, to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable A. L. Hardy seconded and the Bill was read a first time. The Bill was read a second time on further motion. His Excellency declared the Council to be in Committee and the Bill was passed through all its stages without amendment. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

6. When introducing "The Foreign Judgments (Reciprocal Enforcement)" Bill the Honourable Colonial Secretary said

"Although this Bill is perhaps a relatively long one and at first sight perhaps a little complicated, it is in fact a relatively simple piece of enabling (and principally commercial) legislation. It provides for the enforcement in the Falkland Islands, of the judgments of the superior Courts of foreign countries, and it follows and incorporates the general principles of the relevant part of the equivalent United Kingdom Legislation of 1933 as modified by the United Kingdom Administration of Justice Act. The Bill you are now being asked to consider is also similar in form and content to legislation that other Colonial territories have already enacted or are being asked to enact on the grounds that in the case of legislation of this nature, uniformity in United Kingdom and Colonial legislation is highly desirable.

Now if this Bill becomes law, it would be possible in certain circumstances for the judgment of a superior Court in, for instance, Federal Germany, to be enforced here in the Falkland Islands.

But there are of course a number of important provisos and safeguards and there are certain important conditions that must be fulfilled before that could happen.

Firstly, the Governor in Council must be entirely satisfied that if the Supreme Court of the Falklands and Dependencies is to be asked to enforce the judgments of the superior Courts of a foreign country, then that country will, on a reciprocal basis, itself enforce the judgments of the Supreme Court of the Falklands in its own territory and in coming to a decision on this point the Governor in Council would no doubt have the benefit of the advice of Her Majesty's Secretaries of State for the Colonies and Foreign Affairs.

Secondly, the judgment in the foreign Court must be final and conclusive between the Parties. It must in fact be a clear cut and enforceable decision by the Court without any loose ends that might create difficulties or doubts with regard to enforcement.

Thirdly, the judgment of the foreign Court must provide for the payment of a sum of money – but that sum of money must not be payable for taxes or other charges of a similar nature and it must not be payable in satisfaction of a fine or other penalty. In other words the intention of the legislation is to provide for the satisfactory settlement, on an international basis, of such matters as commercial disputes involving a financial settlement and maintenance orders.

Fourthly, a judgment could not be registered for enforcement by our Court if it has already been wholly satisfied or if it could not be enforced by execution in the country of the original Court.

These then are the main principles of the legislation and I should at this point reiterate that it is in fact enabling legislation. It does not automatically follow that because this law is on the statute book then the judgments of the superior Courts of a whole variety of foreign countries will become enforceable on the Falklands. Before that could happen the Governor in Council would, as I have already pointed out, have to be satisfied as to the question of reciprocity and a specific Order in Council applying the legislation to the specific country in question would be required. In fact I would say that so far as it is possible to judge at the moment, only comparatively infrequent use would be made of the powers provided by this legislation.

The Bill goes on to provide for the machinery for registering in the Supreme Court the Judgments of the Courts of a foreign country to which the provisions of the Ordinance have been extended; for the enforcement of such judgments and for the setting aside of registered judgments by the registering Court; in particular the Bill specifies in detail [Clause 6 (2)] the circumstances under which the Courts of the original country shall be regarded by the Supreme Court as having had the requisite jurisdiction for the purposes of registering and enforcing a foreign judgment in this country and the circumstances – Clause 6 (3) under which such Courts may not be regarded as having had the necessary jurisdiction.

Clause 9 provides for the application of this legislation to any part of Her Majesty's dominions, to any countries under Her Majesty's protection or to any countries administered by Her Majesty's Government, subject always of course to the same basic principle of reciprocity.

Finally Part II of the Bill specifies (Clause 10) the general effect of certain foreign judgments and sets out the circumstances under which a judgment may or may not be relied upon in any Court of the Colony, as conclusive in all proceedings founded on the same course of action. In other words it sets out the circumstances under which either of the Parties to a dispute could rely upon such a judgment by way of defence or counter claim in any proceedings arising out of the same circumstances as gave rise to the original action in the foreign Court.

There is then the final safeguard provided under Clause 11 which would enable the Governor in Council to make foreign judgments unenforceable in the Colony if he is satisfied that the necessary reciprocity is not forthcoming from the foreign country concerned.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable M. G. Creece seconded the motion and the Bill received its first reading. On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time and Council went into Committee. Clauses 1 to 12 together with the Enacting Clause and Title were agreed to, the Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

7. Before moving adjournment the Honourable the Colonial Secretary congratulated the Honourable Mr. Gleadell on an admirable maiden speech.

The Council then adjourned sine die.

- (a) it has been wholly satisfied ; or
- (b) it could not be enforced by execution in the country of the original court.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Ordinance with respect to the setting aside of registration –

- (a) a registered judgment shall, for the purposes of execution, be of the same force and effect ; and
- (b) proceedings may be taken on a registered judgment ; and
- (c) the sum for which a judgment is registered shall carry interest ; and
- (d) the registering court shall have the same control over the execution of a registered judgment ;

as if the judgment had been a judgment originally given in the registering court and entered on the date of registration :

Provided that execution shall not issue on the judgment so long as, under this Part of this Act and the Rules made thereunder, it is competent for any party to make an application to have the registration of the judgment set aside, or, where such an application is made, until the application has been finally determined.

(3) Where the sum payable under a judgment which is to be registered is expressed in a currency other than the currency of the Colony, the judgment shall be registered as if it were a judgment for such sum in the currency of the Colony as, on the basis of the rate of exchange prevailing at the date of the judgment of the original court, is equivalent to the sum so payable.

(4) If at the date of the application for registration the judgment of the original court has been partly satisfied, the judgment shall not be registered in respect of the whole sum payable under the judgment of the original court, but only in respect of the balance remaining payable at that date.

(5) If, on an application for the registration of a judgment, it appears to the registering court that the judgment is in respect of different matters and that some, but not all, of the provisions of the judgment are such that if those provisions had been contained in separate judgments those judgments could properly have been registered, the judgment may be registered in respect of the provisions aforesaid but not in respect of any other provisions contained therein.

(6) In addition to the sum of money payable under the judgment of the original court, including any interest which by the law of the country of the original court becomes due under the judgment up to the time of registration, the judgment shall be registered for the reasonable costs of an incidental to registration, including the costs of obtaining a certified copy of the judgment from the original court.

Rules of Court.

5. (1) The Governor in Council shall, subject to the provisions of this section, have power to make rules for the following purposes –

- (a) For making provision with respect to the giving of security for costs by persons applying for the registration of judgments ;
- (b) For prescribing the matters to be proved on an application for the registration of a judgment and for regulating the mode of proving those matters ;
- (c) For providing for the service on the judgment debtor of notice of the registration of a judgment ;
- (d) For making provision with respect to the fixing of the period within which an application may be made to have the registration of the judgment set aside and with respect to the extension of the period so fixed ;
- (e) For prescribing the method by which any question arising under this Ordinance whether a foreign judgment can be enforced by execution in the country of the original court, or what interest is payable under a foreign judgment under the law of the original court, is to be determined ;
- (f) For prescribing any matter which under this Part of this Ordinance is to be prescribed.

(2) Rules made for the purposes of this Part of this Ordinance shall be expressed to have, and shall have, effect subject to any such provisions contained in Orders in Council made under section one of the Foreign Judgments (Reciprocal Enforcement) Act, 1933, as are declared by the said Orders to be necessary for giving effect to agreements made between Her Majesty and foreign countries in relation to matters with respect to which there is power to make rules of court for the purposes of this Part of this Ordinance.

(3) Without prejudice to the provisions of subsection (1) of this section the rules contained in Part IV of the Rules of the Supreme Court shall continue to have effect as if they had been made under the power conferred by the said subsection.

Cases in which registered judgments must, or may, be set aside.

6. (1) On an application in that behalf duly made by any party against whom a registered judgment may be enforced, the registration of the judgment –

- (a) shall be set aside if the registering court is satisfied –
 - (i) that the judgment is not a judgment to which this Part of this Ordinance applies or was registered in contravention of the foregoing provisions of this Ordinance ; or
 - (ii) that the courts of the country of the original court had no jurisdiction in the circumstances of the case ; or
 - (iii) that the judgment debtor, being the defendant in the proceedings in the original court, did not (notwithstanding that process may have been duly served on him in accordance with the law of the country of the original court) receive notice of those proceedings in sufficient time to enable him to defend the proceedings and did not appear ; or
 - (iv) that the judgment was obtained by fraud ; or
 - (v) that the enforcement of the judgment would be contrary to public policy in the country of the registering court ; or
 - (vi) that the rights under the judgment are not vested in the person by whom the application for registration was made ;

- (b) may be set aside if the registering court is satisfied that the matter in dispute in the proceedings in the original court had previously to the date of the judgment in the original court been the subject of a final and conclusive judgment by a court having jurisdiction in the matter.

(2) For the purposes of this section the courts of the country of the original court shall, subject to the provisions of subsection (3) of this section, be deemed to have had jurisdiction –

- (a) in the case of a judgment given in an action in personam –

- (i) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original court, submitted to the jurisdiction of that court by voluntarily appearing in the proceedings otherwise than for the purpose of protecting, or obtaining the release of, property seized, or threatened with seizure, in the proceedings or of contesting the jurisdiction of that court; or
- (ii) if the judgment debtor was plaintiff in, or counter-claimed in, the proceedings in the original court; or
- (iii) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original court, had before the commencement of the proceedings agreed, in respect of the subject matter of the proceedings, to submit to the jurisdiction of that court or of the courts of the country of that court; or
- (iv) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original court, was at the time when the proceedings were instituted resident in, or being a body corporate had its principal place of business in, the country of that court; or
- (v) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original court, had an office or place of business in the country of that court and the proceedings in that court were in respect of a transaction effected through or at that office or place;

- (b) in the case of a judgment given in an action of which the subject matter was immovable property or in an action in rem of which the subject matter was movable property, if the property in question was at the time of the proceedings in the original court situated in the country of that court;

- (c) in the case of a judgment given in an action other than any such action as is mentioned in paragraph (a) or in paragraph (b) of this subsection, if the jurisdiction of the original court is recognised by the law of the registering court.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (2) of this section, the courts of the country of the original court shall not be deemed to have had jurisdiction –

- (a) if the subject matter of the proceedings was immovable property outside the country of the original court; or
- (b) except in the cases mentioned in sub-paragraphs (i), (ii) and (iii) of paragraph (a) and in paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of this section, if the bringing of the proceedings in the original court was contrary to an agreement under which the dispute in question was to be settled otherwise than by proceedings in the courts of the country of that court; or
- (c) if the judgment debtor, being a defendant in the original proceedings, was a person who under the rules of public international law was entitled to immunity from the jurisdiction of the courts of the country of the original court and did not submit to the jurisdiction of that court.

Powers of registering court on application to set aside registration.

7. (1) If, on an application to set aside the registration of a judgment, the applicant satisfies the registering court, either that an appeal is pending, or that he is entitled and intends to appeal, against the judgment, the court, if it thinks fit, may, on such terms as it may think just, either set aside the registration or adjourn the application to set aside the registration until after the expiration of such period as appears to the court to be reasonably sufficient to enable the applicant to take the necessary steps to have the appeal disposed of by the competent tribunal.

(2) Where the registration of a judgment is set aside under the last foregoing subsection, or solely for the reason that the judgment was not at the date of the application for registration enforceable by execution in the country of the original court, the setting aside of the registration shall not prejudice a further application to register the judgment when the appeal has been disposed of or if and when the judgment becomes enforceable by execution in that country, as the case may be.

(3) Where the registration of a judgment is set aside solely for the reason that the judgment, notwithstanding that it had at the date of the application for registration been partly satisfied, was registered for the whole sum payable thereunder, the registering court shall, on the application of the judgment creditor, order judgment to be registered for the balance remaining payable at that date.

Foreign judgments which can be registered not to be enforceable otherwise.

8. No proceedings for the recovery of a sum payable under a foreign judgment, being a judgment to which this Part of this Act applies, other than proceedings by way of registration of the judgment, shall be entertained by any court in the Colony.

Power to apply Part I of Ordinance to British dominions, protectorates and territories under trusteeship.

9. (1) Where the Governor is satisfied that reciprocal provisions have been made by the legislature of any part of Her Majesty's dominions outside the United Kingdom for the enforcement within that part of Her dominions of judgments obtained in the Supreme Court of the Colony, the Governor may by Order in Council direct that this Part of this Ordinance shall extend to judgments obtained in a superior court in that part of Her Majesty's dominions in like manner as it extends to judgments obtained in the courts of foreign countries, but subject, however, to the provisions contained in subsection (2) of this section, and on any such Order being made this Part of this Ordinance shall extend accordingly.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 3 or in subsection (1) of section 4 of this Ordinance any judgment obtained in a superior court of a part of Her Majesty's dominions to which this Part of this Ordinance has been extended shall be a judgment to which this Part of this Ordinance applies notwithstanding that it was given before the coming into operation of this Order, but the time limited for the registration of a judgment so given shall be twelve months from the date of the judgment or such longer period as the Supreme Court may allow.

(3) References in this section to Her Majesty's dominions outside the United Kingdom shall be construed as including references to any territories which are under Her Majesty's protection and to any territories administered by the government of the United Kingdom or by the government of any part of Her Majesty's dominions under the trusteeship of the United Nations.

PART II.

MISCELLANEOUS AND GENERAL.

General effect of certain foreign judgments.

10. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a judgment to which Part I of this Ordinance applies or would have applied if a sum of money had been payable thereunder, whether it can be registered or not, and whether, if it can be registered, it is registered or not, shall be recognised in any court in the Colony, as conclusive between the parties thereto in all proceedings founded on the same cause of action and may be relied on by way of defence or counter-claim in any such proceedings.

(2) This section shall not apply in the case of any judgment —

- (a) where the judgment has been registered and the registration thereof has been set aside on some ground other than —
 - (i) that a sum of money was not payable under the judgment; or
 - (ii) that the judgment had been wholly or partly satisfied; or
 - (iii) that at the date of the application the judgment could not be enforced by execution in the country of the original court; or
- (b) where the judgment has not been registered, it is shown (whether it could have been registered or not) that if it had been registered the registration thereof would have been set aside on an application for that purpose on some ground other than one of the grounds specified in paragraph (a) of this subsection.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be taken to prevent any court in the Colony recognising any judgment as conclusive of any matter of law or fact decided therein if that judgment would have been so recognised before the passing of this Ordinance.

11. (1) If it appears to the Governor that the treatment in respect of recognition and enforcement accorded by the courts of any foreign country to judgments given in the superior courts of the Colony is substantially less favourable than that accorded by the courts of the Colony to judgments of the superior courts of that country, the Governor may by Order in Council apply this section to that country.

Power to make foreign judgments unenforceable in Colony if no reciprocity.

(2) Except in so far as the Governor may by Order in Council under this section otherwise direct, no proceedings shall be entertained in any court in the Colony for the recovery of any sum alleged to be payable under a judgment given in a court of a country to which this section applies.

(3) The Governor may by a subsequent Order in Council vary or revoke any Order previously made under this section.

12. Where a judgment under which a sum of money is payable, not being a sum payable in respect of taxes or other charges of a like nature or in respect of a fine or other penalty, has been entered in the Supreme Court against any person and the judgment creditor is desirous of enforcing the judgment in a foreign country to which Part I of this Act applies, the court shall, on an application made by the judgment creditor and on payment of such fee as may be prescribed for the purposes of this section, issue to the judgment creditor a certified copy of the judgment, together with a certificate containing such particulars with respect to the action, including the causes of action, and the rate of interest, if any, payable on the sum payable under the judgment, as may be prescribed:

Issue of certificates of judgments obtained in the Colony.

Provided that, where execution of a judgment is stayed for any period pending an appeal or for any other reason, an application shall not be made under this section with respect to the judgment until the expiration of that period.

A Bill for An Ordinance

Title.

To amend the Old Age Pensions Ordinance, 1952.

Enacting clause.

BE IT ENACTED by the Legislature of the Colony of the Falkland Islands, as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Old Age Pensions (Amendment) Ordinance, 1959, and shall be read and construed as one with the Old Age Pensions Ordinance, 1952, hereinafter referred to as "the principal Ordinance".

Amendment of section 10 of the principal Ordinance.

2. Section 10 of the principal Ordinance is amended by the repeal of sub-section (3) thereof and the substitution therefor of the following sub-section —

“(3) The sum required to be paid under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) as the case may be, of this section may be paid in such instalments as may be prescribed : Provided, however, that the payment of the said sum shall be completed within the period of eight years from the date of the coming into operation of this Ordinance : And Provided further that where a person who is qualifying for a pension under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) hereof attains the age of 65 years before the payment of the said sum has been completed no sum shall be paid on account of a pension to or in respect of such person until the full amount payable by him has been paid, but the first payment on account of pension to or in respect of such person shall be made on the first Friday following the payment of the final instalment.”

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

To extend the period within which persons between the ages of 50 and 65 years at the commencement of the Old Age Pensions Ordinance in 1952 may qualify for a pension by the payment of a lump sum to satisfy the contribution conditions, thus enabling those persons to qualify for a pension who intend retiring outside the Colony and now wish to avail themselves of the Old Age Pensions scheme consequent on an amendment to the law allowing pensions to be paid to persons resident abroad.

The Meeting opened with prayers read by the Reverend J. O. Vere-Stead.

2. The Minutes of the Meeting of the Legislative Council held on the 25th March, 1959, were confirmed.

3. His Excellency then addressed Council as follows :—

Honourable Members of the Legislative Council.

It is customary at the budget meeting of the Legislature for the Governor to review briefly the events and progress of the past year, to consider the economic and financial state of the Colony, and to refer in general terms to the ideas and projects that Government has in mind for the future, and intends to put forward for your consideration.

In reviewing the events of the past there are, as always, setbacks and disappointments to take into account. On the whole, however, I think that I can say that the past year has been one of satisfactory if modest progress in the sphere of Public Administration, and in the all-important field of farming it has, in my opinion, been one in which we have seen some quite notable achievements. It is to the latter field that I would like to refer to first of all.

As Honourable Members are aware there has been an increasing amount of discussion over the past few years on the steps that should be taken to improve our pastures, probably the most important problem that we in these Islands are faced with to-day, particularly when increased carrying capacity is assuming far greater importance than ever before. There are not unnaturally strongly differing opinions on what should be done, how it should be done, and who should do it. All this discussion is good and stimulates interest. But time is passing, and even when we talk in terms of decades we owe it to those who follow that we do not delay too long. For that reason alone, we must, I think, pay tribute to the very impressive work in the way of pasture experimentation and improvement that is being done by the Falkland Islands Company at Darwin, under the direction of Mr. Gilruth, and by Bertrand and Felton at Roy Cove under the management of Mr. Miller.

I have recently been fortunate enough to see for myself the work being done at Roy Cove, where several hundreds of acres have been ploughed and regrassed with Yorkshire Fog. I understand that in the not too distant future there may be seed to spare from Roy Cove at an economic price, and, if that is achieved, it will certainly mark a notable step forward. I have been impressed, too, at the progress made at Darwin where by mechanised seeding some 5,700 acres have been planted mostly with Yorkshire Fog. I, personally, do not think that it is possible to over-emphasise the importance of this work, and I sincerely trust that the economy of the industry will permit its continuation, and its expansion, until it becomes the rule rather than the exception throughout the Falklands.

Insofar as the Departments of Government are concerned, I do not propose to delve into too much detail, but there are a number of matters and problems to which I should like to refer. Firstly, there are two medical projects that Government has had in mind, and for which this Council has provided the necessary funds. We have, I am glad to say, secured the services of an Ophthalmic Surgeon to carry out the much needed ophthalmic survey of the Colony. I think all Members are agreed on the value and importance of this scheme. Secondly, there is the project for making poliomyelitis vaccine available to all children, as a first step, in the Colony. Arrangements are in hand to import the vaccine, and the Senior Medical Officer is now considering the steps that should be taken to implement the scheme. I would emphasise that it is the intention that the vaccine should be free. The Senior Medical Officer will discuss and explain the scheme over the wireless, and it will then be up to the parents to make up their own minds as to whether or not they will have their children inoculated. It is, however, my earnest hope that the great majority of parents will follow the example of so many parents in the United Kingdom and have their children done.

Before turning to other matters, I should like to wish Dr. Marshall a speedy recovery from his ill-health; and to wish Dr. Jacoby who is leaving shortly all good fortune in the future, and to thank him for the very good work that he has done for us while he has been our Dental Surgeon here in Stanley. The question of a replacement for Dr. Jacoby is giving rise to some anxiety, for the dentist we had secured to take his place unfortunately had to withdraw for domestic reasons. We are now considering one or two possibilities, but I am afraid that I cannot say definitely that we have found someone, and that we will not be left without a dentist in the Falklands, at any rate for a short time. Finally, let me say a word of appreciation to our new Matron, Miss Brown, and to the nursing staff who always work so well and so willingly.

There is one particularly unsatisfactory feature of our life that has come to the fore comparatively recently, and I refer to the continued violation of our mails. It is a sad reflection on affairs when one realises that hardly a mail arrives in the Falklands these days without at some stage or the other having first been broached and several mail bags rifled. The matter has been taken up with the Secretary of State, and I know that it has also been brought to the personal attention and notice of the Postmaster General. It does at least seem clear that it is the systematic work of an organised gang with time at their disposal.

Mails have been sorted by the Post Office staff immediately on arrival, and when ever flying conditions have allowed a mail drop has been carried out the day after the mail gets in. I know how much mail from overseas means to people, particularly those with children away at school, and the Post Office and Air Service do all they can to enable residents in the Camp to reply to letters by the next outgoing mail.

I very much hope that the new definitive issue of stamps will be available to the General Public early in the new year. In the meantime, there are certain unsatisfactory features about the new design which will have to be rectified, and which I shall be taking up in London.

I know that Members will be interested to learn that the Posts and Telegraphs Department has been carrying out tests with the United Kingdom to see whether it would be possible to open a reliable radio-telephone link and service with the United Kingdom with the equipment that we now have, suitably modified where necessary. It is too early yet to say whether or not this will be possible, particularly as one must bear in mind that a public service must be reliable and cannot be too much of a makeshift affair. It is, however, of interest to mention that in the course of one of the recent tests our staff here were talking to one of the G.P.O. engineers in his own London home through the ordinary telephone service.

Work on the roads has gone steadily ahead, and there will very soon be a link up with Ross Road in the Western part of Stanley. At the same time, and as an integral part of the roads project, work has gone steadily ahead with the laying of underground ducting, and the installation of underground sewage connections. Unfortunately, the German group have now made up their minds to leave the Colony in August, and that will inevitably bring to an end the roads project as we know it, although I hope, that given the weather, they will be able to make some impression on Fitzroy Road, the next priority, before they leave. It is Government's intention to attempt to continue with the roads scheme, on a much more modest scale, if a small Falkland Islands gang can be got together for the purpose. But I think that everyone will appreciate that if the numbers available are too few, or if the output is unsatisfactory, then it would be unwise and uneconomic to continue. But I believe that we should continue if we can, because so many of the roads are in such a bad condition that repairs will be necessary, and repairs are, after all, little else but a waste of money in these circumstances. Moreover, I sincerely trust that it will be possible to carry on with the very important work of laying underground sewer and cable connections.

So far as other Public Works projects are concerned, the Hangar has been re-roofed; and work is progressing very well, on contract to the Falkland Islands Company, with the installation of bathrooms and Rayburn cookers in Hodson Villas, a much needed and I understand a much appreciated amenity.

Except for the epidemic of whooping cough that struck in the third term of 1958, our schools have had a good year, a year culminating in the award of three overseas scholarships as compared with none in the previous year, and only one in the year before. With these three we shall have five scholarship children in England, and I am confident that these newcomers will appreciate the opportunities that they have been given, and in their turn will contribute to the uniformly high standard set by their predecessors, a standard that has been such a marked feature of the scholarship scheme.

There are now twenty children receiving whole time education at Port Howard in the West Falkland, where, in addition to the teachers at Port Howard and Fox Bay, there are five travelling teachers. Darwin School is full with a regular number of 39 children, and there is still a waiting list. For my part, I am certain that when the financial situation permits, we should give the most serious consideration to providing additional residential and indoor recreational space at this fine school. Before passing on from the subject of Darwin School, let me say that I am sure it would be the wish of all Members that I should express our appreciation of the very fine work done at Darwin by Mr. and Mrs. Ward who will be leaving the Colony in a few days. They have done much for education in this Colony, and we are grateful.

I have no wish to tempt fortune, but I must at the same time say that it is most satisfactory that we have now had at least one plane in the air for practically all possible flying days for very nearly a year, with the exception of a brief spell in September, when, as Honourable Members will recall, the planes had to be grounded for modifications to be made to the fuel pumps. In the case of the Air Service some statistical information is of interest. During the period June, 1958 – April, 1959, flying took place on 153 days and 1,693 passengers were carried. The planes carried 6,450 lbs. of freight in the same period.

I should mention here that of the two faulty engines one has now been put into working order and returned without charge. The other, which so seriously disrupted flying in 1958, is still in the hands of the Inspectors of the Air Registration Board to which the circumstances were reported. We are awaiting a full report and opinion from the Engineering Advisers to the Crown Agents before considering what further action should be taken. Preliminary legal opinion on the subject of possible compensation is not, however, very encouraging.

I suppose at one time or another people in all Colonies, both in and out of Government service, have thought that if the Secretariat were to burn down much useless paper would be disposed of. But when this actually happens, as it did in Stanley on the afternoon of the 9th of March, it is a serious matter and leads to much inconvenience to Government and the public. How the fire began will, I fear, remain a mystery, but except for the prompt appearance of the Fire Brigade, and the admirable efforts of a large number of volunteer helpers, to whom I am most grateful, the loss of Government records and equipment would have been much greater than it was. The Secretariat and the Treasury reopened for business in temporary quarters within a commendably short period, and the Colonial Secretary and the Colonial Treasurer are to be congratulated on the speed with which they got their departments going again.

Mr. Trees had little opportunity to work in his temporary quarters, for he left the Colony on transfer soon after the fire, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank him for his services to the Colony, and to wish him and Mrs. Trees every happiness in the Gambia.

Of the Bills which will be before Council at this session, the most important is, of course, the Appropriation Ordinance, but there is another important measure that is to come before you, and I hope that you will feel able to give it sympathetic consideration. I refer to the Pensions Increase Bill which is to be introduced by the Acting Colonial Treasurer. He will explain to you its full intentions and import, and I will say no more at this stage except to commend it to you as a measure of simple justice.

It is, of course, inevitable that our thinking and policy on financial matters are very largely dominated at the present time by the continuing low price of wool, following the substantial drop in the overall average price from 64d. in 1957 to 41d. in 1958. The results of the first 1959 sale were not encouraging, but fortunately there was at least a modest recovery when the second sales took place last month, and we must now hope that this improvement will be sustained.

The implications of the very much lower wool price so far as the finances of Government are concerned are, of course, serious. In the case of the three principal sources of Government revenue – Wool Tax – Companies Tax and Income Tax, the amount that Government expects to receive in the 1959/60 financial year is less by £71,000 than the amount that Government expects to receive in the current financial year. I need not emphasise to Honourable Members, all of whom have been very closely concerned and connected with Government administrative and financial problems for over three years, and in some cases indeed for very much longer, what this means in terms of framing the estimates of revenue and expenditure, because the fact is that the costs of administration, and the public and social services, are really geared to a wool price of something in the upper regions of the 50d. bracket.

It is, therefore, only to be expected that the budget that will be presented shortly for your consideration by the Honourable the Acting Colonial Treasurer will be in the nature of a "holding" budget, and one that will contain no provision for any major extensions or improvements in the public and social services; and, in the field of special expenditure, will include provision only for those items or projects which prudence and the public interest seem to suggest should be purchased or implemented, in spite of the overall financial position.

But let me also say this – it is too early yet to attempt to establish a definite long term trend in our economic life and affairs, and an improvement is quite probably just as much to be expected as any worsening or even continuation of things as they are. Therefore, although it is undoubtedly very right that we should exercise the greatest care and caution with regard to public expenditure, I am just as sure that it would be equally wrong to permit an atmosphere of undue pessimism to pervade our counsels and unduly influence our policy.

4. The Council adjourned.

6. The Honourable L. C. Gleadell then introduced a Resolution to amend the Customs Order (No. 3) 1948 and said

Your Excellency,

Paragraph 2 (2) (d) of the Customs Order at page 142 of Volume II of our Laws, provides for duty on malt liquor, including mum, spruce, cider and perry, at the following rates

In cask	– per gallon	1/-.
In bottle	– per dozen reputed quarts	2/-.
In bottle	– per dozen reputed pints	1/-.

A considerable quantity of beer is now imported in cans, the contents of which vary between 12 and 14½ fluid ounces according to the brand. The Customs Order as it now stands makes no provision for this type of container and the Collector of Customs has been charging duty at the appropriate rate of 1/- for each dozen reputed pints of 13½ ounces. The importers of cans containing only 12 fluid ounces have, therefore, been paying slightly more duty on the contents than the importers of cans containing 14½ fluid ounces.

There is also considerable variation in the fluid contents of reputed quarts. Some contain 21 fluid ounces, others 21½, 22, 22½ and 23 fluid ounces.

Imports of beer in cask have to all intents and purposes ceased.

In order to overcome the obvious unfairness of charging a flat rate of duty of 1/- per dozen reputed pints and 2/- per dozen reputed quarts when there is such variation in the contents of cans and bottles, it is proposed that duty on beer should in future be charged on the actual fluid contents of the containers and that the present rates per cask and bottle be replaced by a flat rate of 1/2 per gallon. This rate will maintain the revenue at its present annual level.

I beg to move the adoption of the following resolution :-

WHEREBY it is provided in Section 5 of the Customs Ordinance, 1943, that it shall be lawful for the Legislative Council from time to time by Resolution to impose import or export duties of customs upon any goods whatsoever which may be imported into or exported from the Colony, and to revoke, reduce, increase or alter any such duties and to provide for the importation or exportation of any goods without payment of customs duties thereon.

AND WHEREAS it is deemed expedient to alter paragraph 2 (2) (d) of the Customs Order (No. 3) 1948.

NOW, THEREFORE, this Council resolves that for the said paragraph 2 (2) (d) of the Customs Order (No. 3) 1948, there shall be substituted the following :-

"2 (2) (d) On beer (including ale, stout and porter) and other fermented beverages - per gallon - 1/2d."

The Honourable H. C. Harding seconded and there being no objection the Resolution was adopted.

7. The Honourable A. L. Hardy then moved the adoption of the following Resolution :-

WHEREBY it is provided in Section 16 (1) of the Pensions Ordinance that it shall be lawful for the Governor in Council to grant to the legal representative of an officer who dies in the service a commuted pension award.

AND WHEREAS it is deemed expedient in certain circumstances to make additional provision in the case of an officer who dies in the service and who at the time of his death has a large amount of accumulated leave to his credit.

NOW, THEREFORE, this Council resolves that in any case in which the amount that would have been earned during the course of accumulated leave had the officer lived to take such leave exceeds the amount due under a commuted pension award, the Governor in Council shall be empowered to grant, in addition to the commuted pension award, an ex gratia payment equal to the difference between the gratuity payable on death and the amount equivalent to that which would have been earned during the time the officer was taking his accumulated leave had he lived to take it.

In introducing the Resolution the Honourable A. L. Hardy said

"In 1958 a senior Government official died while still in the Service and at the time of his death he had due to him 851 days of accumulated leave. The gratuity that was payable on his death to his legal representative under the provisions of the Pensions Ordinance in fact came to rather less, by approximately £200, than the amount that he would have earned during his leave had he lived to take it.

It is of course evident that it would not be right in such cases for the estate to benefit from both a gratuity payable on death and a gratuity representing the cash value of leave that the officer did not live to take. On the other hand we on the representative side and indeed I am sure that all Members would agree, feel that there should be some financial recognition at least of the accumulated leave due in such cases as the one to which I have referred.

Therefore we are proposing that in addition to the gratuity payable on death Government should give sympathetic consideration to the payment of an ex gratia award equal to the difference between the gratuity payable on death and the amount equivalent to that which would have been earned during the time the officer was taking his accumulated leave, had he lived, where the latter amount is greater than the gratuity payable on death. Because we recognise that it would be invidious to single out one case for beneficial treatment and as there are still a small group of officers to which this could apply, we think it proper to incorporate our views in a resolution so that the principle of this proposed ex gratia award and the circumstances under which we feel that it should be made are clearly established."

The Resolution was seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary. In debate the Honourable S. Miller enquired whether the proposed Resolution would commit Government to heavy expenditure in the future. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary replied "No - only a few officers could be concerned". The Resolution was then adopted unanimously.

8. The Honourable L. C. Gleadell, Acting Colonial Treasurer, in moving the first reading of the Bill entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the service of the year 1959-60" said

Your Excellency,

Behind the single column of figures in the Schedule to this Bill is the detail of the Estimates that Honourable Members will have the opportunity of discussing in Select Committee. I shall therefore confine myself to commenting on the major proposals of the budget and to a review of the general financial position.

The Colonial Treasurer, when presenting the budget for 1958/59 told Council that Revenue was expected to amount to £289,271, that expenditure was estimated at £309,453, that it was proposed to transfer £14,434 from the Reserve Fund to cover the cost of work on the Stanley Roads, and that there would be an estimated deficit of £5,748. Now, over twelve months later, it seems that his figures will be particularly accurate. The Revised estimate of Revenue is £292,770 (or £3,000 more than the original figure) and Revised Expenditure is put at £321,602 (or £12,000 more than the original estimate). The Revised deficit is £12,050 after providing for the transfer to Revenue from Reserve Fund of £16,782 to meet estimated expenditure on the Roads.

It is estimated that at 30th June, 1959, our total reserve balances will amount to £509,270.

So much for the current year; now what of 1959/60. As was foreseen quite some time ago, when the average price for the 1957/58 wool clip was learned to be little better than 40d. per lb., revenue under Companies and Income Tax will be substantially reduced. From an estimated £88,000 and £34,000 for the current year, revenue from these two sources next year is expected to drop to £36,000 and £24,000 respectively – a combined decrease of £62,000.

The first sales of the 1958/59 clip produced an average price of slightly less than 40d. per lb. and revenue from Export Duty has therefore been calculated at the sliding scale rate of 1d. per lb. This will amount to £19,000. The later sales, however, show a measure of improvement and I am given to understand that there is now a possibility that the overall average for the entire clip might well be something better than 40d. per lb., in which case revenue will benefit to the extent of an additional £9,000.

A new set of Colony stamps is being prepared and it is expected that they will be on sale about January, 1960. It is hoped that the issue will prove popular with the collectors and revenue from the sale of stamps has been increased to £25,000.

The total estimated ordinary revenue is £213,249, or £59,032 less than was estimated for the current year.

The Bill that is now before Council provides for expenditure amounting to £309,939, so that there is an estimated deficit of £96,586.

Closer examination of this deficit shows that it can be divided into three distinct sections which, in order of significance, are

1. Ordinary expenditure exceeds ordinary revenue by £42,346.
2. Special Expenditure, excluding the Roads and associated works, amounting to £26,416.
3. The Stanley Roads, together with the Renewal of Water Pipes and the laying of cables, £27,824.

The fact that ordinary expenditure exceeds ordinary revenue by more than £42,000 is a matter to cause concern and I am sure it will be given very careful consideration by Honourable Members who sit in Select Committee.

The second group includes provision for a large oil tank at the Power Station, and for the oil to fill it. Together they will cost £21,500. These items have been included as the result of suggestions in Standing Finance Committee, but in view of the budgetary position it will be for consideration whether or not to proceed with the proposal in the coming financial year. A sum of £3,000 is provided to complete the installation of oil firing equipment at the Darwin Boarding School.

The third group includes Roads which, of course, it has always been recognised would have to be financed mainly from Reserves. Expenditure on Roads is estimated at £24,824 as compared with an estimated £31,320 for the current year. The German labour gang have notified Government of their intention to leave the Colony in September, and from then on it is hoped to continue work with a small local gang of 12 to 14 men.

No provision appears in the Estimates of Revenue for assistance from Colonial Development and Welfare funds because, at the time they were drawn up, it appeared most improbable that funds could be made available before 1960/61. There is now a strong indication that funds will be made available earlier than this and consideration will shortly be given as to how they can best be applied.

There, Sir, are what might be called the bones of the budget. Reserve balances totalling £509,270; Revenue £213,353, Expenditure £309,939; a deficit of £96,586 to be covered by a transfer from the Reserve Fund, and the likelihood of assistance from Colonial Development and Welfare funds at an earlier date than expected.

I think it could be described as a cautious budget. It provides for the unchanged continuation of existing services and projects but introduces no new proposals of the type that, once started, cannot easily be stopped. It would appear to be too early yet to take stringent economy measures although this does not mean that the estimates should not be subjected to careful examination and, where possible, pruning. No new taxation measures are proposed.

Economies (if they are to be resorted to) or new measures of taxation that are likely to reduce expenditure or increase revenue by something of the order of £50,000, require careful planning, and the period between now and the next budget could well be devoted to consideration of the matter, in the light of course of developments on the wool market.

I beg, Sir, to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary seconded and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion made and seconded the Bill was read a second time. The Honourable L. C. Gleadell seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary then moved that the Bill and the draft Estimates for 1959/60 be referred to a select Committee of the House and that Council adjourn.

Council adjourned.

The Honourable L. C. Gleadell reported back to Council at 9.30 a.m. on 7th May and stated that the Select Committee had agreed to the following amendments to the draft Estimates:—

Clause 2 was agreed to with the following amendments :-

The Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to and the Council resumed. The Bill was then read a third time and passed.

9. The Honourable L. C. Gleadell seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Secretary then moved the first reading of the Bill "To legalise certain payments made in the year 1957-58 in excess of the expenditure sanctioned by Ordinance No. 7 of 1957" and said

"Your Excellency,

This Bill is a legal formality that closes the 1957/58 chapter of our financial history. The schedule sets out the Heads under which, and the amounts by which, actual expenditure exceeded the amounts provided in the Appropriation Law for 1957/58; all have been dealt with in detail by the Standing Finance Committee and are included in their Reports to this Council."

The Bill received its first reading and on further motion made and seconded was read a second time. In Committee, Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause, Title, Preamble and Schedule were agreed to. Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

10. In introducing the Bill "To amend the Legislative Council (Elections) Ordinance" the Honourable the Colonial Secretary said

"This Bill is an important piece of constitutional legislation in as much as on becoming Law it amends the Legislative Council (Elections) Ordinance in such a way as to alter the procedure whereby the name of an elector is placed on the Electoral Roll and alter also the existing residential qualifications for voting on polling day.

Under our existing law the responsibility for taking the initiative to see that his name is on the Register of Voters rests with the voter himself. He must apply to the Registration Officer to have his name put on the Electoral Roll. In Government's view it would be desirable to conform more closely in this respect with current United Kingdom practice.

This Bill does this. Instead of the voter having to write in and have his name put on the list, the Registration Officer will be responsible - when an election is pending - for drawing up and publishing for the information of the general public a list of those people in his area who appear to him to be entitled to vote. It will then be up to any person who has been inadvertently left off the list to apply to have his name put on it. Thus under this amending legislation the formalities - and some formalities are inevitable - will be very much simpler for the individual voter.

The second important point in this Bill is one connected with the entitlement to vote. Under our existing law only those persons who have resided in the electoral area concerned for the full qualifying period - which is defined as 12 months - may vote in that electoral area and if he has recently moved say from the East Falkland to the West Falklands or from the Camp to Stanley or from Stanley to the Camp he is deprived of his vote unless when the election takes place he has been there for the full twelve months.

The Bill now before you provides that a person who on the qualifying day or the day when a vacancy from among the elected Members occurs, has in fact resided in the Colony for a period of twelve months may vote in the electoral area in which the vacancy has occurred provided that on the qualifying day he is residing in that area. For instance a man who moves from Fox Bay to San Carlos only a few weeks before an election occurs in the East Falklands Camp constituency may vote in that election provided he was normally residing in San Carlos when the seat became vacant. That he couldn't do at the moment. I think that all Members will agree that this is a much more sensible and desirable arrangement.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable T. A. Gilruth seconded and the Bill was read a first time. On the second reading His Excellency declared Council in Committee and the Bill passed through all its stages without amendment. Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

11. The Bill "Further to amend the Pensions Ordinance" was introduced by the Honourable L. C. Gleadell who stated

"Your Excellency,

In 1953, the conditions of service under which Civil Servants worked, were revised, and a new emolument known as Expatriation Pay, or Overseas Allowance, was introduced. It was intended as a pensionable emolument and was accepted as such by those officers who were in receipt of it. The law relating to pensions, however, was not amended at the time to include this allowance as a pensionable emolument and the first object of this Bill is to adjust the oversight with retrospective effect from 1st October, 1953.

Opportunity is now taken to correct a drafting error wherein the word "subsection" appears in Section 16 (1) (b) instead of the word "section".

The principal Ordinance provides for pensions for the dependants of officers who die as the result of damage to vessels or vehicles on which they are travelling in the course of duty. The need to add "aircraft" to this section will be obvious to all.

Section 5 of this Bill is designed to bring our Ordinance into line with current legal phrasing.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable the Senior Medical Officer seconded and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion made and seconded the Bill received its second reading and the Council went into Committee. Clauses 1 to 5 were agreed to as were the Enacting Clause and the Title. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third and passed.

12. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary, seconded by the Honourable M. G. Creece, moved the first reading of the Bill "To amend the Defence Force Ordinance" and said

"Your Excellency, I must confess that at first sight this Bill appears to be a somewhat complicated piece of legislation although its object is a very simple one. The principal provisions of the Bill are -

Firstly, the replacement of section 25 of the existing legislation by those sections of the new Army Act of the United Kingdom which concern discipline and the trial and punishment of military offences (and which might be applicable in the case of the F.I.D.F. and in the circumstances of the Falkland Islands). These sections would apply to members of the Defence Force attached to or otherwise acting as part of Her Majesty's regular forces or to members called out for active service.

Secondly, it will bring Defence Force procedure connected with the requisitioning of means of transport into line with the procedure followed by the regular forces so that there would not be two separate systems in operation at the same time if Defence Force personnel and regular troops were operating in the country at the same time.

In the event of a serious emergency it is of course always likely that the Defence Force would be operating in conjunction with the regular forces in the Colony and in such circumstances this amending legislation would simply ensure that all persons serving in uniform would be on precisely the same basis as regards discipline and the Defence Force and the regular forces would and could act in precisely the same manner under the same regulations and in accordance with the same procedure in the event of it being necessary to requisition vehicles or billet troops."

The Bill was read a first time and no objections being raised it was read a second time. In Committee, Clauses 1 to 5, the Enacting Clause and the Title and Schedule were agreed to. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

13. In introducing the Bill "To amend the Old Age Pensions Ordinance, 1952", the Honourable L. C. Gleadell said

"Your Excellency,

The Old Age Pensions Ordinance, when it was introduced in 1952, provided for a minimum of ten years contributing to qualify for a pension. Contributing normally was to cease at 60 years of age and pensions were payable as from 65 years of age.

For the benefit of men who were over 50 years of age, but not 65 years, on 1st July, 1952, provision was included in the Ordinance for "buying-in" by means of lump sums where men were between 60 and 65 years, and a combination of lump sum and weekly contributions where men were between 50 and 60 years. A minimum payment equal to ten years contributing as a self employed person was a condition attached to the ultimate payment of a pension. A time limit of three years was set for the period of buying in.

Not all who could have bought themselves in did, in fact, do so, and during the past few years there have been several enquiries regarding the possibility of extending the period for the benefit of those who, for one reason or another, have had second thoughts on the matter. Since the three year period ended there has been an important amendment to the Ordinance which now provides for pensions to be paid abroad.

The Government's Legal Adviser has expressed the opinion that an extension of the buying in period is not inconsistent with the scheme.

The Bill that is now before Council proposes to extend the buying in period to eight years from 1st July, 1952; that is to say it will end on 30th June, 1960.

The number of men affected is thought to be small and from the financial angle the effect on the Fund will be insignificant.

One point that should perhaps be emphasised is that the extended buying in arrangement (if this Bill becomes law) will apply to all men who were between 50 and 65 years of age on 1st July, 1952, and they will be able to buy themselves in even though their present age is over 65. The payment of a pension to men over 65 years of age will not commence until the Friday following the payment of their final instalment.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable A. Mercer seconded and the Bill was read a first time. After the second reading the Council went into Committee and Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and Title were agreed to. Council resumed and the Bill received its third reading and was passed.

14. The Honourable the Colonial Secretary then moved the first reading of the Bill "To apply certain Acts of Parliament in the Colony" and said

"Your Excellency,

The object of this Bill is to apply to the Colony two United Kingdom law reform measures connected with civil actions in the courts. The two measures are the Law Reform (Enforcement of Contracts) Act of 1954 and the Law Reform (Limitations of Actions) Act of 1954.

Sir Henry Webb, Government's Legal Adviser, has recommended this step because he considers it desirable that in respect of the matters covered by these two Acts the law of the Colony and English law should agree.

The Statute of Frauds, which applies to the Colony, provided that certain contracts could not be enforced by action in the courts unless the contracts could be proved by the production of a written memorandum signed by the defendant. The 1954 Act removes this requirement in the following cases.

1. Agreements by an Executor or Administrator to pay out of his own estate a debt or damages due by the deceased.
2. Agreements made in consideration of marriage.
3. Agreements that could not be performed within a year of the making of them.

The Sale of Goods Act required a similar memorandum in an action for the price of goods sold of the value of £10 or upwards unless it could be proved that the defendant had accepted and actually received the goods, or had made a payment on account of the price.

Now, under the 1954 Act, in all these cases the contract may be proved in court by oral evidence.

Now there are the implications of the Law Reform (Limitation of Actions) Act to consider. Firstly - under the provisions of Public Authorities Act an action against a Public Authority for civil damages had to be brought within six months of the act that gave rise to the legal action or within six months of any continuing damage or injury arising out of that act ceasing. Now under the new Act the period of limitation is made the same as in other cases of tort, namely six years, or in the case of an action for personal injuries, three years.

Under the new Act the period of limitation in actions for damages for personal injuries caused by negligence, nuisance or breach of duty, is made one of three years. Similarly the limitation period in the case of fatal accidents is altered from one year to three years. Finally the new Act repeals the provision of the Law Reform Act of 1934 that only permitted an action for damages against the estate of a deceased person if the cause of action arose within six months of the death of the deceased. An example of this would be the case of a driver injuring someone by negligence in driving a car and then himself dying. Under the previous legislation the accident would have had to have taken place not longer than six months before the death of the driver in question for the injured party to be able to bring an action against the estate.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable A. L. Hardy seconded and the Bill was read a first time. On further motion the Bill was read a second time. In Committee, Council agreed to Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause, Title and the Schedule. Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

15. The Bill "To provide for the increase of pensions payable in respect of public service in pensionable offices in the Colony" was introduced by the Honourable L. C. Gleadell who said

"Your Excellency,

Following the lead given by Her Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, this Government has in 1944, 1947 and 1952, made increases in the amounts paid to its pensioners. The additional funds required have been approved on each occasion but no legislation has been introduced to give the increases the necessary legal authority. The first object of this Bill is to correct this oversight.

Because of certain limitations as regards total income only eight of our pensioners benefited from the increases in 1947 and 1952. The United Kingdom Pensions (Increase) Act of 1956 removes the restrictions of the Acts of 1947 and 1952 and in addition grants a ten percent increase on the basic pension, or a flat increase of £100 per annum, whichever is the less.

The Bill that is now before Council proposes that similar action be taken in respect of Falkland Islands pensioners, with retrospective effect from the 1st January, 1957.

The increases for pensions awarded before 1947 vary from 30 to 40%. For pensions awarded before 1953 the increase is a flat £26 per annum. The increases are shared by all overseas territories where the officers have served. The total cost will be about £735 per annum.

A pension is calculated on the retiring salary of an officer and in no circumstances can it exceed two thirds of his retiring salary. Salaries in 1947 were roughly half of those paid to-day (a Cost of Living Bonus was paid but it was non-pensionable). A simple calculation shows, therefore, that a pension awarded in, for example, 1946, even if it was the maximum, could not exceed one third of the salary paid for the same office to-day, and it seems that many of our older pensioners to whom these proposed increases would apply, must find themselves in circumstances approaching hardship. Despite the present poor state of the Colony's revenue I am sure that it is the wish of this Council that those who have served the Colony in the past should be able to enjoy their retirement in modest comfort, free from too much anxiety as the result of post war inflation, and I therefore beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Honourable the Colonial Secretary seconded and the Bill was read a first time. The Bill then received its second reading and the Council went into Committee. All 10 Clauses were agreed to as were the Enacting Clause, Title and the First, Second and Third Schedules. Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

16. Before adjourning His Excellency expressed his thanks to Council for the very careful and thorough consideration they had given the 1959-60 Estimates during the past three days.

Council adjourned sine die.

An Ordinance
To amend the Legislative Council (Elections) Ordinance.

ENACTED by the Legislature of the Colony of the Falkland Islands, as follows :—

WHEREAS by certain Letters Patent under the great seal of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, bearing date at Westminster the 13th day of December, 1948, constituting the office of Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Colony of the Falkland Islands, it is amongst other things declared that there shall be an Executive Council in and for the said Colony which shall consist of such persons as may be directed under the Royal Sign Manual and Signet.

J. BOUND,

Acting Colonial Secretary.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Minutes of the Meeting held on 26th June, 1959.

Present: His Honour the Officer Administering the Government.
 The Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary.
 The Honourable the Senior Medical Officer.
 The Honourable A. L. Hardy, B.E.M., J.P.
 The Honourable M. G. Creece, J.P.
 The Honourable A. Mercer, O.B.E.
 The Honourable H. C. Harding, O.B.E., J.P.
 The Honourable T. A. Gilruth, J.P.
 The Honourable S. Miller, J.P.
 The Honourable L. C. Gleadell.

The Meeting opened with prayers read by the Reverend W. F. McWhan, M.B.E.

2. The Minutes of the Meeting of the Legislative Council held on the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th May, 1959, were confirmed.

3. The Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the Table the following Paper:

Certificate of the Director General of the Oversea Audit Service on the Accounts of the Falkland Islands for the year ended 30th June, 1958.

4. The Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary seconded by the Honourable T. A. Gilruth moved the first reading of the Bill "Further to amend the Live Stock Ordinance" and said

Your Honour,

The effect of this Bill may lead to something of considerable importance to the one industry of this Colony – that is as we all know – sheep farming.

Over the years, the industry has been subjected to such pests as keds, scab and lice and the method of combating this has been dipping by the immersion method.

Recently, experiments have been carried out at Douglas Station by another method – that of spray dipping, using a special preparation known as Dieldrin. Our present law does not permit dipping other than by means of immersion, and this must be carried out by the end of July at the latest. It is considered, however, that it would be advisable to allow the sheep that have been sprayed dipped to go through until shearing time without being dipped by immersion. This, however, would be contrary to the law and the proposed amendment would give the Governor in Council power to permit the experiment to be carried through to its conclusion – and if it is successful – it would further permit the extension of spray dipping throughout the Colony as an alternative to immersion.

I beg, Sir, to move the first reading of the Bill.

The Bill was read a first time and no objections being raised it was read a second time. In Committee Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and Title were agreed to. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

5. In introducing the Bill to "Further amend the Road Traffic Ordinance" the Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary stated

Your Honour,

The proposed amendments to the Road Traffic Ordinance will in effect –

- (a) provide for a lesser sentence than automatic disqualification, for holding or obtaining a driving licence for a minor motoring offence; but still provide for automatic disqualification in the case of driving – or attempting to drive, or being in charge of a motor vehicle on a road, while under the influence of drink – or a drug – to such an extent as to make the person concerned incapable of having proper control of the vehicle.
- (b) make it an offence
 - (i) to drive a motor vehicle whilst disqualified for holding a licence;
 - (ii) to obtain a licence while disqualified for holding a licence;
 - (iii) to obtain a licence – in the case of a person whose licence has been endorsed – without giving particulars of such endorsement; and
- (c) provide for penalties for the offences aforementioned.

I beg to move the first reading of the Bill.

The Honourable A. Mercer seconded and the Bill was read a first time. After the second reading the Council went into Committee and Clauses 1 and 2, the Enacting Clause and the Title were agreed to. Council resumed and the Bill received its third reading and was passed.

Before adjourning His Honour conveyed Council's congratulations to the Honourable L. C. Gleadell on his recent promotion to the post of Colonial Treasurer.

Council adjourned sine die.

Assented to in Her Majesty's name this 30th day of June, 1959.

7. (1) For the purpose of carrying out investigations into the causes and circumstances of any accident to which these Regulations apply the Governor shall appoint some fit and proper person as Inspector.

Inspector's Investigation.

(2) The Inspector shall carry out an investigation of the accident, whether or not such accident is one whereof notification is required to be given under Regulation 4.

(3) Public notice that such investigation is taking place shall be given in such manner as the Governor may think fit and shall state that any person who may desire to make representations concerning the circumstances or causes of the accident may do so in writing within a time to be specified in the notice.

8. With respect to an Inspector's Investigation, the following provisions of this Regulation shall have effect:—

(1) The Inspector by whom the investigation is made shall have power —

- (a) by summons under his hand to call before him and examine all such persons as he thinks fit, to require such persons to answer any question or furnish any information or produce any books, papers, documents and articles which the Inspector may consider relevant, and to retain any such books, papers, documents and articles until the completion of the investigation;
- (b) to take statements from all such persons as he thinks fit and to require any such person to make and sign a declaration of the truth of the statement made by him;
- (c) to have access to and examine any aircraft involved in the accident and the place where the accident occurred, and for that purpose to require any such aircraft or any part or equipment thereof to be preserved unaltered pending examination;
- (d) to examine, remove, test, take measures for the preservation of, or otherwise deal with the aircraft or any part thereof or anything contained therein;
- (e) to enter and inspect any place or building the entry or inspection whereof appears to the Inspector to be requisite for the purposes of the investigation;
- (f) to take measures for the preservation of evidence.

(2) Where an accident has occurred in or over the Colony to an aircraft registered in any country other than the Colony, the Governor may authorise an investigator appointed by the duly competent authority of that other country to carry out an investigation, and in that event the Governor shall so far as he is able facilitate inquiries by the investigator so appointed;

(3) The investigation shall be held in private;

Provided that —

Where it appears to the Governor that it is expedient to hold a Public Inquiry into the causes and circumstances of an accident to which these Regulations apply, he may direct that the investigation be held in public.

Public Inquiries.

(4) Where it appears to the Inspector that in order to resolve any conflict of evidence or that for any other reason it is expedient so to do, he may permit any person to appear before him and call evidence and examine witnesses;

(5) Where it appears to the Inspector that any degree of responsibility for the accident may be attributed to any person, and if it appears to the Inspector to be practicable so to do, that person or, if he be deceased, his legal personal representatives shall be given notice that blame may be attributed to him and be permitted to make a statement or give evidence and to produce witnesses and to examine any witnesses from whose evidence it appears that he may be blame-worthy;

(6) Every person summoned by the Inspector as a witness in accordance with this Regulation shall be allowed such expenses as the Governor may from time to time determine.

9. Upon the completion of an investigation, the Inspector shall make a report to the Governor. He shall state the circumstances of the case and his conclusions as to the cause of the accident, adding any observations and recommendations which he thinks fit to make with a view to the preservation of life and the avoidance of similar accidents in future. He shall also state to what extent effect has been given to the provisions of paragraph (5) of Regulation 8. The Governor may cause the whole or any part of such report to be made public in such manner as he thinks fit.

10. (1) Every investigation held in public under these Regulations shall be conducted in such manner that, if a charge is made against any person, that person shall have an opportunity of making a defence;

(2) When an investigation has been directed to be held in public the Governor may cause a notice, to be called a notice of inquiry, to be served upon the owner, operator, hirer and person in command of any aircraft involved in the accident, as well as upon any person who in his opinion ought to be served with such notice. The notice shall contain a statement of the questions which on the information then in the possession of the Governor he intends to be raised on the hearing of the inquiry, and he may, at any time before the hearing of the inquiry, by a subsequent notice amend, add to, or omit any of the questions specified in the notice of inquiry;

(3) The owner, the operator, the hirer, the person in command and any other person upon whom a notice of inquiry has been served, shall be deemed to be parties to the proceedings;

(4) Affidavits and statutory declarations may, by permission of the Inspector and saving all just exceptions, be used as evidence at the hearing;

(5) At the time and place appointed for holding the inquiry the Inspector may proceed with the inquiry whether the parties, upon whom a notice of inquiry has been served, or any of them are present or not;

(6) The inquiry shall be held in public save to the extent to which the Inspector is of opinion that in the interest of justice or in the public interest any part of the evidence, or any argument relating thereto should be heard in camera.

Rehearing of Public Inquiries.

11. (1) The Governor may, in any case where an investigation has been held in public, direct a rehearing thereof either generally or as to any part thereof and shall do so

(a) if new and important evidence which could not be produced at the inquiry has been discovered, or

(b) if for any other reason there is in his opinion ground for suspecting that a miscarriage of justice has occurred;

(2) If the Governor directs any inquiry to be reheard, he may order that it shall be reheard either by the Inspector by whom it was heard in the first instance or by some other person appointed by him to hold the rehearing;

(3) Any rehearing shall be subject to and conducted in accordance with the provisions of these Regulations.

12. Where an Investigation relates to an accident which has occurred in or over the Colony to an aircraft registered in any country other than the Colony, an accredited representative of the country in which the aircraft is registered, or of any country which has, on request, furnished information in connection with the accident, may take part in the investigation; he may be accompanied by such technical and other advisers as may be considered necessary by the authorities of the country by which he is appointed. General.

13. (1) A person shall not obstruct or impede an Inspector or any person acting under the authority of the Governor in the exercise of any powers or duties under these Regulations.

(2) A person shall not without reasonable excuse (proof whereof shall lie on him) fail after having had the expenses (if any) to which he is entitled tendered to him, to comply with any summons or requisition of an Inspector holding an Investigation under these Regulations.

14. (1) Nothing in these Regulations shall limit the powers of any authority under sections 530 to 537 inclusive of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894;

(2) Nothing in these Regulations shall limit the power of the Governor under the Act of cancelling, suspending or endorsing any licence, certificate or other document.

shall be liable to a fine not exceeding £500.

Special defences.
(Oil in Nav. Waters Act, 1958, s. 4.)

4. (1) Where a person is charged with an offence under the last preceding section as the owner or master of a vessel, it shall be a defence to prove that the oil or oil residues or mixture in question was discharged for the purpose of securing the safety of the vessel, or of preventing damage to the vessel or her cargo, or of saving life:

Provided that a defence under this subsection shall not have effect if the court is satisfied that the discharge of the oil or oil residues or mixture was not necessary for the purpose alleged in the defence or was not a reasonable step to take in the circumstances.

(2) Where a person is charged as mentioned in the preceding subsection, it shall also be a defence to prove—

- (a) that the oil or oil residues or mixture escaped in consequence of damage to the vessel, and that as soon as practicable after the damage occurred all reasonable steps were taken for preventing, or (if it could not be prevented) for stopping or reducing, the escape of the oil or oil residues or mixture, or
- (b) that the oil or oil residues or mixture escaped by reason of leakage, that the leakage was not due to any want of reasonable care, and that as soon as practicable after the escape was discovered all reasonable steps were taken for stopping or reducing it.

(3) Where a person is charged with an offence under the last preceding section as the occupier of a place on land, or as the person in charge of any apparatus, from which oil or oil residues or a mixture containing oil is alleged to have escaped, it shall be a defence to prove that the escape of the oil or oil residues or mixture was not due to any want of reasonable care, and that as soon as practicable after the escape was discovered all reasonable steps were taken for stopping or reducing it.

(4) Without prejudice to the last preceding subsection, it shall be a defence for the occupier of a place on land, who is charged with an offence under the last preceding section, to prove that the discharge was caused by the act of a person who was in that place without the permission (express or implied) of the occupier.

(5) Where a person is charged with an offence under the last preceding section in respect of the discharge of a mixture containing oil from a place on land, it shall (without prejudice to any other defence under this section) be a defence to prove –

- (a) that the oil was contained in an effluent produced by operations for the refining of oil;
- (b) that it was not reasonably practicable to dispose of the effluent otherwise than by discharging it into waters to which the last preceding section applies; and
- (c) that all reasonably practicable steps had been taken for eliminating oil from the effluent :

Provided that a defence under this subsection shall not have effect if it is proved that, at a time to which the charge relates, the surface of the waters into which the mixture was discharged from the place in question, or land adjacent to those waters, was fouled by oil, unless the court is satisfied that the fouling was not caused, or contributed to, by oil contained in any effluent discharged at or before that time from that place.

(6) Where any oil or oil residues or mixture containing oil or oil residues is discharged in consequence of –

- (a) the exercise of any power conferred by sections five hundred and thirty to five hundred and thirty-two of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894 (which relate to the removal of wrecks by harbour, conservancy and light-house authorities), or
- (b) the exercise for the purpose of preventing an obstruction or danger to navigation, of any power to dispose of sunk, stranded or abandoned vessels which is exercisable by a harbour authority, and apart from this subsection the authority exercising the power, or a person employed by or acting on behalf of the authority, would be guilty of an offence under the last preceding section, in respect of that discharge, the authority or person shall not be convicted of that offence unless it is shown that they or he failed to take such steps (if any) as were reasonable in the circumstances for preventing, stopping or reducing the discharge.

5. (1) If any oil or oil residues or mixture containing oil –

- (a) is discharged from a vessel into the waters of a harbour in the Colony for the purposes of securing the safety of the vessel, or of preventing damage to the vessel or her cargo, or of saving life, or
- (b) is found to be escaping, or to have escaped, into any such waters from a vessel in consequence of damage to the vessel, or by reason of leakage, or
- (c) is found to be escaping or to have escaped into any such waters from a place on land,

Duty to report discharges of oil into waters of harbours.

(Oil in Nav. Waters Act, 1958. s. 10.)

the owner or master of the vessel, or the occupier of the place on land, as the case may be, shall forthwith report the occurrence to the harbour master, stating, in the case of a report by the owner or master of a vessel, whether it falls within paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) of this subsection, and, if he fails to do so, shall be guilty of an offence under this section :

(2) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding two hundred pounds.

6. (1) Proceedings in respect of offences under this Ordinance, or any regulations made thereunder, may be taken before the magistrate or any two justices of the peace in a summary manner, or in the Supreme Court :

Provided that any fine imposed by the Magistrate or two justices of the peace shall not exceed one hundred pounds exclusive of costs.

(Oil in Nav. Waters Act,
1958, s. 12. (4).)

(2) Where, immediately before the date which (apart from this subsection) would be the date of expiry of the time for bringing proceedings in a court of summary jurisdiction in respect of an offence alleged to have been committed under this Ordinance, the person to be charged is outside the Colony, the time for bringing proceedings shall be extended until the end of the period of two months beginning with the date on which he next enters the Colony.

(Oil in Nav. Waters Act,
1958, s. 12 (5).)

(3) Proceedings for any offence under this Ordinance may be taken against a person at any place at which he is for the time being.

Enforcement and application of fines.

(Oil in Nav. Waters Act,
1958, s. 13.)

7. (1) Where a fine imposed by a court in proceedings against the owner or master of a vessel for an offence under this Ordinance is not paid at the time ordered by the court, the court shall, in addition to any other powers for enforcing payment, have power to direct the amount remaining unpaid to be levied by distress or pounding and sale of the vessel, her tackle, furniture and apparel.

(2) Where a person is convicted of an offence under section 3 of this Ordinance, and the court imposes a fine in respect of the offence, then if it appears to the court that any person has incurred, or will incur, expenses in removing any pollution, or making good any damage, which is attributable to the offence, the court may order the whole or part of the fine to be paid to that person for or towards defraying those expenses.

Application of Act to Crown.

(Oil in Nav. Waters Act,
1938, s. 16 (1).)

8. (1) The provisions of this Ordinance do not apply to vessels of Her Majesty's navy nor to Government ships in the service of the Admiralty while employed for the purposes of Her Majesty's navy.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.Minutes of the Meeting held on 26th September, 1959.

Present : His Honour the Officer Administering the Government.

The Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary.

The Honourable the Senior Medical Officer.

The Honourable the Colonial Treasurer.

The Honourable A. L. Hardy, B.E.M., J.P.

The Honourable M. G. Creece, J.P.

The Honourable A. Mercer, O.B.E.

The Honourable H. C. Harding, O.B.E., J.P.

The Meeting opened with prayers read by the Reverend J. O. Vere-Stead.

2. The Minutes of the Meeting of the Legislative Council held on the 26th June, 1959, were confirmed.

3. The Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary, by command, laid on the Table the following Question with the reply thereto :—

By the Honourable T. A. Gilruth, J.P.

Question : "Is it the intention of the Government to increase the Pension allowance to old people when sufficient funds in the Old Age Pension Scheme allow this to be undertaken? If so, can Government give any indication as to when such pension increases might be expected?"

By the Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary.

Reply : "It is Government's intention to increase benefits payable under the provisions of the Old Age Pensions Ordinance to the maximum extent consistent with the sound and efficient management of the Old Age Pensions Fund.

The working of the Old Age Pensions scheme and the benefits the Fund can afford in the light of its present and future probable commitments are now being examined by the Government Actuary in the United Kingdom and his advice and recommendations are awaited. Consequently Government is not yet in a position to indicate what improvements may be expected or when they might be implemented. It is, however, Government's policy to implement any recommendations with regard to improved benefits that may be forthcoming with the minimum amount of delay."

4. The Honourable the Acting Colonial Secretary seconded by the Honourable the Colonial Treasurer moved the first reading of the Bill "Further to amend the Whale Fishery Ordinance" and said "Your Honour,

The object of this Bill is to correct a minor drafting error in the Whale Fishery (Amendment) Ordinance, 1959, and ban the use of underwater detection equipment as a hunting device by whale catchers operating from the shore based factories at South Georgia.

It is the majority opinion of the experienced whalers in South Georgia that the continued and widespread use of underwater detection equipment, such as Asdic, will drive the whales further south and eventually out of cruising range of the shore based catchers. Whaling from South Georgia would then become an uneconomic proposition.

The matter was originally raised by the whalers themselves and scientific advice (British and Norwegian) was sought and both agreed that the continued use of Asdic by shore based catchers would be detrimental to the whaling industry at South Georgia.

In the interests of the preservation of the industry and in the light of this advice backed by the majority opinion of the industry itself — it is proposed to ban the use of Asdic.

I therefore beg to move the first reading of the Bill."

The Bill was read a first time and no objections being raised it was read a second time. In Committee, Clauses 1—3, the Enacting Clause and Title were agreed to. The Council resumed and the Bill was read a third time and passed.

Council adjourned sine die.

Assented to in Her Majesty's name this 29th day of September, 1959.

Pay and Working Rules for Hourly Paid Employees in Stanley.

These Rules shall constitute an agreement between Stanley Employers and the Labour Federation and shall be reviewed annually in October by the Government and the Falkland Islands Company, Ltd. as employers, and the Labour Federation. These Rules shall be effective for a period of twelve months beginning on the 1st of January, 1960.

1. Basis of Wage Rates.

Wages shall be adjustable by negotiation, up or down, in accordance with the cost of living and the conditions in industry. Reviews shall take place at annual intervals and any changes based on the four previous Cost of Living Indices (published quarterly) shall operate automatically, any changes being applied to the nearest penny. The Labourer's Rate shall be regarded as the basis for fixing all other rates and the existing relationships between the various rates shall be preserved.

(a) CRAFTSMEN.

All Craftsmen shall be paid at the full basic rate and the following Trades shall be recognised :—

Carpenters and Joiners	Masons
Blacksmiths	Plumbers
Painters	Electricians
Motor Mechanics

The normal entry to a Trade shall be by a full term of apprenticeship, but special arrangements shall be made for the absorption of men already practising Trades without previously serving apprenticeships. These arrangements are laid down in the apprenticeship regulations.

(b) APPRENTICES.

The rates of pay for apprentices shall be as follows—

Year.	Fraction of Craftsman's Rate.
1st	One Third
2nd	Two Fifths
3rd	One Half
4th	Two Thirds
5th	Four Fifths.

(c) HANDYMEN.

This term includes those employees doing skilled or semi-skilled work in one or more trades, but who have not served an apprenticeship nor have been recognised by the Apprenticeship Board. The minimum rate for Handymen shall be one penny more than the Labourer's rate and the maximum one penny less than the Craftsmen's rate.

(d) SLAUGHTERMEN AND LORRY DRIVERS.

Slaughtermen shall be paid one penny more than the Labourer's rate and shall be provided with suitable protective clothing and footwear.

All drivers of petrol, steam or diesel engines, whether stationary or mobile, shall be paid 2d. per hour more than the Labourer's rate while engaged in this work.

2. Actual Rates until December 31st, 1960.

The following rates shall apply until December 31st, 1960.

Class					Hourly Rate.
1. Tradesmen	3/5½d.
2. Apprentices		1st year			1/2
		2nd year			1/4½
		3rd year			1/9
		4th year			2/4
		5th year			2/9
3. Handymen					2/11 to 3/4½ according to ability.
4. Slaughtermen	2/11
5. Lorry Drivers, including men tending stationary engines or boilers					3/-
6. Labourers	2/10
7. Boy Labourers	Age	% of man's rate
	14-15	40			1/1½d.
	15-16	50			1/5
	16-17	66⅔			1/11
	17-18	80			2/3
	18	100			2/10

The above hourly rates are minimum and employers may, if they so wish, offer higher rates, incentive bonuses, etc.

CASUAL LABOUR. There is now no work which justifies a casual labour rate.

3. Extra Payments.

(a) "DIRT" MONEY.

As a general guide, "Dirt" money should only be paid when the work in hand is substantially dirtier than the work which an employee is normally called upon to do. The normal rate is 1d. per hour, but the precise rate for each job shall be agreed between Employer and Employees.

(b) HAZARDOUS WORK.

Employees working on isolated structures, such as masts, at heights over 30 feet from the ground or where the structure joins the main roof of a building, shall receive from 4d. to 8d. per hour according to the risk involved. This does not apply to work on properly erected scaffolding.

(c) INCONVENIENCE PAY.

Employees required, by the employer, to carry their midday meal shall receive 2/- per day. Employees required to sleep away from home in a recognised camp house or cook-house shall have their board and lodgings paid for by their employer.

(d) EXTRA SKILL OR RESPONSIBILITY.

(i) Any employee specifically detailed to supervise the work of three or more other employees shall receive 2d. per hour extra while taking this responsibility.

(ii) Any labourer employed on semi-skilled work which would normally fall to a Handyman (e.g. painting, fencing, concrete laying) shall receive pay as a Handyman (i.e. a minimum of 1d. per hour extra) while engaged on this work. The precise rate shall be fixed by the employer according to the nature of the work and the skill of the particular labourer so employed.

(e) PAINT SPRAYING.

Employees engaged on paint spraying shall be paid 6d. per hour extra and no other allowance.

4. Working Hours.

The normal working hours shall be 45 hours per week made up as follows :-

Monday to Friday - 7.30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. with Dinner break from noon till 1 p.m.

Saturday - 7.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.

A refreshment break of fifteen minutes shall be allowed between 08.30 and 09.30 a.m., the precise time being laid down by the employer.

Other hours of work may be laid down by mutual agreement between employers and employees, provided that the total number of hours does not exceed 45 per week.

5. Overtime.

- (a) Overtime shall be paid for all hours worked outside normal working hours and overtime rates shall be as follows :-

TIME AND A HALF.

- (i) Between the end of the normal day and midnight.
- (ii) From 6 a.m. to the start of the normal working day, provided that work did not start before 6 a.m.

DOUBLE TIME.

- (i) Between midnight and 6 a.m.
 - (ii) From 6 a.m. to the start of the normal working day, if work commenced before 6 a.m.
 - (iii) On Sundays and recognised Public Holidays.
 - (iv) For meal hours or parts thereof, if work continues through the normal working day without a full meal-hour break.
 - (v) Double time rates shall also be paid during normal working hours if, exceptionally, an employee starts work before midnight and continues without a break into normal working hours. Double time rates shall then continue to apply until there is an (unpaid) break from work exceeding four hours, after which the normal rates will again apply.
- (b) An unpaid meal hour shall be allowed at a reasonable time if overtime is expected to continue for more than two hours beyond normal finishing time, and a paid refreshment break of not more than fifteen minutes shall be allowed in each subsequent 4-hour period.
- (c) Overtime is voluntary and an employee shall not be dismissed if he objects to working outside normal working hours. However, certain jobs may require attendance at times outside the normal hours and in these cases employees shall be given the option of a 45-hour week by allowing time off during normal working hours, at a time to be agreed with the employer.

6. Holidays.

(a) ANNUAL HOLIDAYS.

All employees shall be entitled to a paid holiday of two weeks (90 hours) for each completed year of work with one employer. The annual holiday shall generally be taken between 15th October and 31st March, but may be taken at any other time by mutual arrangement between employer and employee, provided that an employer may close any department for two periods not exceeding one week each at any time between 15th October and 31st March.

An employee who is employed on 1st January shall be entitled to two weeks paid holiday in the period 15th October to 31st December but he must complete the year with the same employer.

An employee who has completed six months with one employer but who leaves his employment before completing twelve months shall be entitled to five days (40 hours) paid holiday before leaving such employment, except where he is dismissed for misdemeanour.

(b) PUBLIC HOLIDAYS.

These are days on which Government Offices are closed by notification in the Gazette and the following seven days shall be paid holidays for all employees :-

Good Friday, The Queen's Birthday, Empire Day, December 8th, Christmas Day, Boxing Day, and one other day to coincide with the Stanley Annual Sports Meeting.

Individual employers shall be entitled to decide whether or not to observe the remaining Public Holidays or to treat them as normal working days but in no circumstances may they be treated as unpaid holidays.

(c) Any allowance or special rates earned on both the working day preceding and the working day following the holiday shall be paid for the holiday.

(d) When a dated holiday falls on a Sunday the next working day shall be the holiday.

7. Sick Pay.

(a) Employees who have not completed one year's service with their employer shall not be entitled to sick pay.

(b) The following rules apply to employees who have completed one year's service with their employer.

(i) There shall be no entitlement to sick pay for the first week of absence caused by sickness, but if sickness lasts for more than one week, an employee shall be entitled to half pay for the second, third and fourth weeks. While off work through illness an employee shall have the option of taking part or the whole of any annual leave due to him.

(ii) Full pay shall be paid for any Public Holiday which falls during the first four weeks of sickness, provided that the employee, when he has recovered, returns to work for the same employer.

(c) An employer may demand a medical certificate before applying any of the rules 7 (b) (i), (ii).

(d) The Workmen's Compensation Ordinance shall apply in cases of sickness resulting from accidents at work.

8. General.

(a) Employment is normally terminated, either by employer or employee, at the end of the working week, but employment may be terminated at the end of any working day. A minimum of two hours' notice shall be given, except in the case of misdemeanour, when an employee may be summarily dismissed.

(b) When a party of employees are required to carry meals to their work, one employee shall be allowed reasonable time to heat meals for the rest of the party.

(c) Individual employers may lay down the times when employees shall appear for their wages, provided that the payment is completed within ten minutes of the end of the normal working day.

(d) An official or delegation of a recognised union may, with the employer's consent, attend at a job or shop at any time to interview workmen, but no meeting shall take place in working hours without the express permission of the employer. If a dispute arises, the employer or his nominee shall interview, by appointment, any official representative of his employees.

(e) All employers shall display for the benefit of their employees copies of Regulations and Rules pertaining to wages and conditions of service of workers.

No. 36. 26th October, 1959.

The following message from the Right Honourable Alan Lennox-Boyd, P.C., M.P., retiring Secretary of State for the Colonies, is published for general information :-

"For the last five years I have been proud to be Secretary of State for the Colonies.

On giving up this high office I would like you to know how greatly I have valued the help which I have always had from you and all those taking part in the Government of your territory.

I am very grateful to the members of the overseas service for their devoted work and to the large numbers of men and women outside the service who are helping forward the progress and happiness of the Colonial peoples.

The times that I have spent as Minister and then Secretary of State for the Colonies have been the happiest and most interesting, and I hope the most worthwhile periods of my life.

I have been proud to play my part in the emergence of independent nations within the Commonwealth and elsewhere to help forward sound constitutional advance.

I have rejoiced in the spectacular social development particularly in health and education and in the massive economic advance on which the progress of the future so much depends.

I have greatly enjoyed my many visits to the territories, the insight that this has given me into their problems and the opportunity to make a multitude of friends of all nations, races and creeds.

As I said in my letter to the Prime Minister, this office is the one which I have always wanted to hold, and it is with deep regret that I now leave it.

All of you, Governors, Ministers, Government Officers, and other friends outside the administration, I send my warmest thanks and prayers for your future happiness and prosperity. ALAN LENNOX-BOYD."
